The "Evidently Captaining Is Somehow Easier & More Fun When You Sorta Suck Instead Of Being A Good Thrower" Edition

TOURNAMENT WINNERS

"A" Division - This Is Element (13-5)

This final played out in three chapters: a very tight string of singles that left Element up 7-5; a quite lengthy DCkt group listing session; and a pretty abrupt DCkt sweep that makes the final look lopsided.

"B" Division - Shaunt Be Shutout (13-9)

Shaunt rolls twice and survives once to join Element as not just the only two teams to finish the season/tournament without a loss, but also as the only two teams to finish with fewer than two losses.

"C" Division - Mike's Garage (14-10)

The #6 seed Garage was the spring's tournament Cinderella, in the craziest of divisional tournaments (one dart away from the bottom four advancing to the semis), winning three consecutive nailbiters.

"D" Division - One Armed Bandits (13-11)

The Bandits finally come through on their high potential (somebody picked them as a top-two finisher at the season start), romping through the quarterfinals before taking out the top two in nailbiters.

"E" Division - Game of Throws (13-11)

In the season's most heart-stopping run to a set of Mugs, the Game comes from a bottom-three-in-the-division spot to full-on glory with clutch winning scores of 12+-12, 13-11 and 13-11.

"F" Division - All Flights Matter (13-9)

One-Eyed Willie and Company, sitting at 0-2 after week 3 of the season, run the table the rest of the way to become one of four teams this season to complete the season/tournament double.

"G" Division - Bull Hunters (14-8)

After doing Show Me Your Tips a favor in week 14 that got them the season title, the Hunters were having no part of being quite so generous to their ladder-climbing compadres in the finals.

"H" Division - Bulls Up! (14-4)

After an 0-2 start to the season (and their RDL existence), Bulls Up! put it all together and won 14 of their last 15, including a sort of leisurely tournament stroll that never included a set of 501.

REGULAR SEASON WINNERS

"A" Division - This Is Element (14 wins, 0 losses)

2nd place - Appetite for Destruction

"B" Division - Shaunt Be Shutout (14 wins, 0 losses)

2nd place - Them Handsome Devils

"C" Division - Dartistic License (13 wins, 1 loss)

2nd place - The Bunkers

"D" Division - We've Got Big Bulls (10 wins, 2 losses)

2nd place - Bullseye Brewers

"E" Division - Hump Day! (9 wins, 3 losses)

2nd place - Red-eye Rangers

"F" Division - All Flights Matter (10 wins, 2 losses)

2nd place - Death Throw

"G" Division - Show Me Your Tips (10 wins, 2 losses)

2nd place - Wayne Gretzky

"H" Division - Bulls Up! (11 wins, 3 losses)

2nd place - Chalker's Nightmare

Rosters of all season- and tournament-winning teams are on page 4.)

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

Ok, well, at first glance 37 tiebreakers doesn't seem like a big number for a full season, but when you consider that we had four divisions with three matches each week instead of four... and then we tossed in a whole bunch of forfeits... then poof, that's quite a total after all.

C division posted the top number with 8 tiebreakers (with 2 of those in the tournament). D and H were close behind with 7 each (with 2 in the tournament for D), followed by E with 6 (with 1 in the tournament), then G with 4, then B and F with 2 each (with 1 in the tournament). A division came in last again (as is often the case, it seems), this time with only 1 tiebreaker.

There were six teams (2 in C, 1 in D, 1 in E, and 2 in H) that played in three or more tiebreakers, and two of those went ahead and played in a fourth. Tips & Shafts in H division put up a 2-2 record, with all four of those coming during the regular season... which was fine... but the Cardiac Kids award for most tiebreakers played really has to go to Cheap Shots in C division. The Cheapies' fourth 1001 came during the tournament, dropped them to 1-3 in the extra leg, and sadly for them was the end of their season. That isn't going to also earn them the Heartbreak Award for the season though, as H division's Irish Ton went a crushing 0-3... and finished one match behind the 2nd place team and two matches behind the 1st place team. Yep, the 1001s pretty much cost Irish Ton the H title... bummer.

FALL 2017 RDL SEASON INFORMATION

I am putting these dates in many locations (pages 1, 4, 8, 40) because they might be the most important thing for you in this newsletter.

Wednesday, July 29th - Fall season registration, The Upper Deck (online registration should be available in the days immediately prior to the 19th - Membership Director Heather Bohanan will likely be in charge of early registration, and she will likely hook it up through the website with Phil Robertson and accept payments through PayPal)

Wed., Aug. 2nd - Preseason capt's. mtg./packet pickup, Upper Deck

Wednesday, August 9th - Start of Fall season match play

Monday, Sep. 11th - Fifth week captains' meeting, site TBD

Wed., Nov. 15 / 29, Dec. 6 - Fall season divisional tournaments

Saturday, December 9th - Fall season banquet, site TBD

THE RDL FAMILY GROWS SOME MORE!

A couple more members of our RDL family have... added to their own personal families! To the right, we have Mr. Philip Gaertner, the brand new son of Rif Raf captain Brian Gaertner. That is, of course, Brian holding Philip, who joined us on March 17th. Brian also sent me some more "posed" photos, but I went with this one because it was candid, and it included our very happy new dad. But Philip wasn't the only newcomer! The lower left photo is Mr. Wyatt Palmisano, the brand new son of Never Trust A Dart's Andrew Palmisano and his wife Kathy. Wyatt made his debut on March 30th, and dad proudly reported that he didn't even miss a match. Ummm... Andrew... is that a good thing? Anyway, congrats to both the Gaertners and the Palmisanos on their fabulous new bundles of joy. See you two young men here in the pages of the Tons in about 18 years or so?

FALL 2017 PENALTY SUMMARY

Oh, my goodness... All I'm going to say (to 98% of the teams anyway) is YES!!! Two seasons ago I wrote that the league had probably set a record for fewest penalties, and then this season you went ahead and surpassed that effort. Congratulations, and thank you.

Overall, there were only SIX total penalties for a total of 61 lost points, and only 4 of the 60 teams had even one penalty. 1 team in C, 1 team in E, and 2 teams in G each got a penalty or two, and... that's it. The other 56 teams had a clean penalty slate this season. That is flippin' awesome.

All in all, there were 2 phone penalties (for a total loss of 10 points), 2 mail penalties (32 points), and 2 ineligible player penalties (19 points).

While the Big Bulls in C division led the league in penalties (well, tied, with 2) and points lost (32), and they dropped from 4th to 5th in the C standings, they were not the biggest penalty-based losers this season. That title absolutely, unequivocally, wholly goes to G division's Train Station Shooters, whose intentional ineligible players got them booted from the season and got some of their members banned for a year. Oh, and what else did they lose? I'm betting they lost the trust of pretty much everyone here in the RDL. Or maybe that was just mine...

in 301: Andrew Borgna (wk.1), Sherry Hiltbrunner (wk.12), Matt Cochran (wk.13).

in cricket: Jon Lisk (wk.1), Kevin Casey (wk.7), Mark Rossbach (wk.12), Amy Massey (wk.13), Luke Davis (wk.14),

NEED SOME SUMMER DART OPTIONS?

Leagues? Blind draws? Tournaments? We have 'em all!

Wednesdays - Brown's Billiards In-House Summer League

Brown's is hosting its 3rd annual In-House League, with a player draft for teams on May 24th (you do not have to be present). $20 per player, season is 10 weeks, and league plays starts May 31st at 8 p.m. The league has 100% payout, and Brown's adds $20 per team. For more info: David Huffman, (919)369-7656; or Rom Knight, (919)985-0378; or Brown's Billiards (919)878-9092.

Tuesdays - BCDL - Durham Handicapped Steel-Tip League

The Bull City Dart League continues its year-round play, but the season that starts in the summer doesn't match the RDL break quite as well as in some years. The final location of registration is The Tavern in downtown Durham, but that registration doesn't close until 7 p.m. on August 8th. The league website is www.thebcdl.org and the league plays Tuesday nights throughout Durham and RTP, and uses a rolling handicap system to level the playing field quite a bit. Teams consist of 4-8 players (about 6 is the norm), and dues are $25/player per season.

Bull City Dart League

Thursday league - TDL - in Chapel Hill/Durham

The registration information for the TDL isn't out yet, but the spring finals are on June 8th. So I would expect the registration meeting to occur sometime soon after that. Check www.ibiblio.org/ncdarts/t dl/ for information updates soon. The teams in TDL consist of 6-10 players per team, and dues are $20/player per season. I believe this past season the league used 4 bars in Chapel Hill and 2 in Durham, although I'm not certain that list is necessarily static, and is likely more determined by the number of teams that are registered (and bar availability).

Or maybe a blind draw...

Page 8 lists the regular weekly blind draws offered by RDL host establishments, and there are a bunch. But I have also confirmed both The Upper Deck AND Sharky's Place will be having weekly Wednesday draws for every week this summer. They will have basically the same features as their regular draws listed on page 8, except that there is no Wednesday "triple shot" at the Deck.

And for those lookin' for a bigger tournament...

Check pages 20 and 21 for fliers for events in nearby locales, and also the calendar on page 8 for a couple more. If you can only hit one of those, I wholeheartedly recommend... THE 12TH ANNUAL WRECK AT THE DECK !!! (see pg. 20). Yep, one of the best ADO tournaments on the annual calendar is right in your back yard yet again. June 2nd-4th at The Upper Deck on Harrison Avenue. Too good and too close to pass up... And

Sharky's Place 5800 Duraleigh Road -in the Yuppie Center near US 70 intersection	919-783-5448 NW Raleigh

"HOT DARTS" CALL-IN GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines you should use for the minimum number of all-star points to report when calling in your scores.
 "A" Div. = 4.5 or more ASPs; "B" Div. = 4.0 or more ASPs
 "C, D" Divisions = 3.5 or more ASPs
 "E, F, G" Divs. = 3.0 or more ASPs; "H" = 2.5 or more ASPs
 Also, call in any fast games, high ins, high outs, or other amazing feats that you think warrant a little recognition (e.g., Ins & Outs higher than a Ton, 24-dart cricket games, 15-dart 301s, 24-dart 501s, Ton-70s and up, 5-Bulls+, etc.).
Extra note: it's also ok to call in "fast games" in each set, even if they don't necessarily meet the maximum dart counts above.

SEASON-LONG TROPHY DART MINIMUM GAMES PLAYED REQUIREMENTS

To be eligible for all-star point ave. & singles win %-age awards, you must play at least 66% of this season's projected games:
for Divisions "A" (except teams A3 and A5), "B", "C" (except teams C2, C4 and C7) and "H" (8 teams / division):
Singles win %-age: min. of 19 Singles Games Played
All-star pt. Average: min. of 37 Total Games Played for Divs. "D", "E" & "F", and also team G5 (7 teams / div.):
min. of 16 Singles Games Played, 32 Total Games Played for teams A3, A5, C2, C4 and C7 (due to 1 forfeit received):
min. of 18 Singles Games Played, 35 Total Games Played for teams G1, G3, G4 and G7 (due to 1 forfeit received):
min. of 15 Singles Games Played, 30 Total Games Played for teams G2 and G6 (due to 2 forfeits received):
min. of 14 Singles Games Played, 27 Total Games Played

THE FORTY-FIRST SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
 (This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional MVPs

A Division	Robbie Phillips	This Is Element	E Division	Grey Jones	Red-eye Rangers
B Division	Sal Reitano	Shaunt Be Shutout	F Division	Dave Surber	All Flights Matter
C Division	Will Bennett	Dartistic License	G Division	Joe Rigert Sr.	Wayne Gretzky
D Division	Patrick Merkle	We've Got Big Bulls	H Division	Jim Butterworth	Bulls Up!

All of RDL -- Joe Rigert, Sr. -- Wayne Gretzky

"A" Division

Tom Brown	This Is Element	Yet another season winning over 80%.
John Kramer	This Is Element	3 seasons and he has never lost a match.
Chad Massengill	This Is Element	Nearly broke the all-time singles record.
Tim Mozzetti	Appetite for Destruc	Gets more and more clutch set by set.
Robbie Phillips	This Is Element	Insert any phrase of awesomeness here...
Scott Stankevich	Appetite for Destruc	Was an absolute monster this season.
Wil Tan	This Is Element	Wednesday work is over, and game on.
Joe Work	North Raleigh Alliar	Plays his best against the best opponents.

"B" Division

John Carroll	Shaunt Be Shutout	They won this division the day he joined.
Kevin Foushee	Shaunt Be Shutout	With more SCKt wins, could be B top dog.
Brian Howard	Shooter McGavin	Wow...had >71% of his team's DCKt wins.
Jess Jur	Rif Raf	At some point he'll be a full-timer, right?
Dave Krasnow	Them Handsome De	Kras is making being on this page a habit.
David Martin	Rif Raf	Strong, but slowly lagged from set to set.
Sal Reitano	Shaunt Be Shutout	Breakthrough season was an amazing one.
Joe Zawrotniak	Rif Raf	3 super sets, followed by mediocre 501.

"C" Division

Will Bennett	Dartistic License	Led top C team every week from the start.
Jeff Cashin	Never Trust A Dart	I guess we just sit him in the DCKt sets?
Dennis Fitzgerald	Big Bulls	Started out hot in 301, and slowly tailed.
Matt Goss	Fire For Effect	Not his best season ever, but still strong.
Josh Hall	Cheap Shots	His solid season carried Cheapies to 3rd.
Simon Healy	Dartistic License	Now this was one heck of a solid return.
Andy Krestalude	The Bunkers	Top shot on an amazingly balanced team.
Hugh Vance	Dartistic License	This is your third guy? Runaway winners.

"D" Division

Ryan Madey	We've Got Big Bulls	Super solid 75+% in every set is awesome.
Patrick Merkle	We've Got Big Bulls	Holy cow... 34-2 in the last 3 sets? Geez.
Aden Simpson	Armed and Hammer	Uh oh... new leader of the Simpson line?
Mike Snyder	Bullseye Brewers	Three superb sets, and then some 501 slip.
Ken Trefzger	One Armed Bandits	This guy has really become a machine.
Jason Thomas	Ted's DeploraBull E	Repeat after me: List...yourself...more...
Lou Tuffillaro	We've Got Big Bulls	I suppose maybe we just sit him in 501.
Tom Winters	Dynamic Darts	Huge season considering the team's 1-11.

"E" Division

Tony Alcon	Sofa Kings	Captain was solid for oh-so-close finishers.
Randy Baldwin	Hump Day!	Just exactly how do the Randys win
Randy Deemer	Hump Day!	most everything except DCKt?
Jim Gallagher	Coach's Last Stand	Another solid showing, and full time now.
Grey Jones	Red-eye Rangers	Every season getting even better. Sweet.
Roger Keim	Sofa Kings	If he played more often, do they win E?
Tim McNamara	Something Inapprop	He's really sort of out of place here in E.
Joe Munroe	Shark Shooters	Ummm... does not play well with others?

"F" Division

Sean Bosier	Death Throw	Really here because he rocked SCKt / 501.
Stan Converse	Ducks of War	Mr. Big Singles managed 50/50 doubles.
Sebastian Dehnel	Chatham Street Elite	You don't go 9-0 in SCKt by random luck.
Tim Ellis	Ducks of War	Started off great early, slowed toward 501.
Jeremy Limerick	All Flights Matter	One eye, three darts, piles of cricket wins.
Dave Surber	All Flights Matter	Clear top gun on division's clear top team.
Justin Vick	Don't Hit the Scorek	Biggest stick on a team close to climbing.
Zack Willis	Death Throw	Looks like there's a new top Willis, eh?

"G" Division

Andy Bowen	Walking the Wire	Best season yet for already good shot.
Mike Bumpass	Bull Hunters	Only team's 3rd best due to 501 napping.
Brad Bushman	Show Me Your Tips	Geez, 80+% in every set... flippin' wow.
Lee Jeffreys	Bull Hunters	At any point, top shot on G's top(?) team.
Bob Lane	Show Me Your Tips	Another with a great first-3-sets record.
Joe Rigert, Sr.	Wayne Gretzky	Most important to any team's success.
John White	Walking the Wire	Not spectacular, but another solid season.
Vic White	Bull Hunters	Really? They just found Vic hanging out?

"H" Division

Anthony Brownd	Chalker's Nightmare	Does no top player win in 501 anymore?
Jim Butterworth	Bulls Up!	How do you argue with 11+ wins per set?
Jeremy Cominole	Irish Ton	See Brownd (and many others) above...
Luke Davis	Brown's Bombers	Super singles, just stays afloat in doubles.
Chris Fox	Irish Ton	See Brownd (and many others) above...
Karl Frederick	Bulls Up!	Seriously? 11-0 in 501? That's amazing.
Jonathan Lawrenc	Chalk it Up	Led a 9-5 fourth place team in all 4 sets.
Jon Lisk	Tips & Shafts	Big singles... did he fuel the tourney run?

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

-The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): Tough to make this group season, since four divisions had byes, and then one of those lost a team midseason. That leaves the Quadruple Double Club with four members this season: Sid Mitchell of Appetite for Destruction and Robbie Phillips of This Is Element in A division, Will Bennett of Dartistic License in C division, and Jim Butterworth in H division. The last two (and nearly Phillips also) actually joined the club of four-11-win-sets players... pretty impressive.

-The Iron Man/Woman Award: I will have to go back and look this up to be sure, but I think we might have a new record for lowest game total to lead a division (since G had both a bye and a team that was kicked out quite early in the season). In the end, this season's Iron Man Award goes to Mark Rossbach of Irish Ton in H division with 63 games played. And the possible new record holder is Lauren Gaines of Wayne Gretzky in G, who led her division with only 46 games(!). The lowest leader ever? Maybe... Anyway, the other honorable mentions (for divisional leaders) go to: Chad Massengill (Element), Robbie Phillips (Element) and Joe Work (Alliance) with 56 in A; Chris Schon (McGavin) with 60 in B; Mikey Hindle (Cheapies) with 62 in C; William McEwen (Ted's) and Frank Allison (Machine) with 51 in D; Dave Maley (Sofa), Walter Harrell (Sofa), Jeff Rudy (Game) and Larry Warshawsky (Hump Day!) with 50 in E; and Amy Elekonich (Chatham Street Elite) with 53 in F.

-The Team Attendance Award winners: Four teams made a decent run at joining this club this season, but nobody is a slam dunk entrant. Hump Day! in E played mostly the same six, as did The Bunkers in C and Them Handsome Devils in B (who really just sort of lost their captain some nights... doh!). In the end, the closest-to-perfect nominee here is the same as last season, as B div.'s Shooter McGavin has only carried 6 team members for a full year now...

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

As usual, I'm left with the option of trying to bluff my way through this part, or just telling the truth. And since I know that some of you squirrel away every last thing I've ever written about your team, I guess I better give real results... dang.

In my preseason picks (usually the toughest every season given the imminent roster changes/additions), I think I did really well. I hit four division winners, another of my picks won its tournament, and I completely owned a few divisions (A, C, and F). I had a little too much faith in Coach in E, I acknowledged then that I didn't know what to do with We've Got in D, and I had never seen Bulls Up! in H before (though I did pretty much nail the order of those Ihad seen).

My weekly prediction results you can peruse pick-for-pick on the other side of this sheet of paper. I kicked quite a bit of butt this season, falling just short of a 75% correct pick rate (which I think I would have easily hit if we hadn't had the pile of forfeits lost into the wind). That's really better than even I expect me to do. Only 5 teams ended up fooling me even as often as not, with two of those coming in my problem division (C, only 62% correct). My least successful team though was the One Armed Bandits in D, with whom I went 5-7... but only after I hit each of their last three matches (so this could've ended up much worse, eek!).

Last but not least were my tournament predictions... And in these, I didn't do anywhere near as well as I usually do. I was a weak 19-8 in the quarterfinals (with yet another forfeit that day), a moderate 10-6 in the semifinals, and a sorta decent 4-4 in the finals. That makes my final record 33-18, and yes, it's true that often a wrong pick early can cost me a second or third pick later... but still, this wasn't all that great. To be fair though, a huge portion of those incorrect picks came in C, D and E divisions... a disgusting 7-12 in those divisions. Wow. At least my dark horse picks delivered (my D #4 won it all, and my C #7 took out the #2), and my Surest Things indeed were (every one of those turned out exactly true).

JK'S TEAM-BY-TEAM, WEEK-BY-WEEK MATCH PREDICTION RESULTS

(I introduced this page twenty-seven seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the two 'o' symbols indicate the teams for which I was only 0.500, and the three 'x' symbols indicate the teams that fooled me more often than not. Oh, wow, this could have been a record-setting year for me. Nearly 75% correct is a pretty strong pick rate, and it's kind of alarming to see how many of my wrong guesses were fueled by not solving about 5-8 teams (mostly in C, D and H, with a bit of B and I sprinkled in there). That group drove a huge portion of the matches that I got wrong. Also, too many matches dumped due to forfeit... ugh. - JK

I now run this column during seasons in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers follow the questions. No peeking...

[Note: as with most historical statistics questions that I can ask here in the Trivia column, the following questions includes only the most recent 42 (now 43) seasons, as that is the amount of time I have been statistician - records prior to that are largely incomplete and unavailable, and some things like doubles and overall records for individual weren't even tracked in many of the prior seasons.]

Week 7 question: How many individual weren't even tracked in many of the prior seasons) times has a team being removed for the season (due to multiple forfeits in all cases prior to this season) resulted in a division with only 6 teams still competing for the remainder of the season?

Week 8 question: What is the record for longest team win streak, in terms of number of RDL weeks between losses (since some seasons have a bye and thus not as many matches by no fault of the team), and which team has it?

Week 9 question: In how many of my 43 seasons as the RDL statistician have there been one or more matches forfeited in A div.?

Week 10 question: (and this one already sets up the next week's question) There are presently 2 players showing up in the stats as divisional singles win percentage leaders who have yet to lose even one singles game. In my previous 42 seasons as statistician, how many people have managed an undefeated singles record (with enough games played to qualify for the season-long award)?

Week 11 question: As noted in the week 10 answer, nobody has ever made it all the way through an A division season undefeated in singles. What is the greatest number of games into an undefeated string to start an A season that anyone has ever reached, and who did it?

Week 12 question: Ok, let's run with this singles win stuff a bit... In the past 42 seasons, what percentage of the divisional singles win percentage champs (all divisions included) started their seasons with a loss in their first singles game?

Week 13 question(s): Last ones on the singles champions train of thought for now... Of those 328 divisional singles champs, how many of them were female, and what is the highest division title ever claimed by a female? Who was it?

Week 14 question: Has any team in the past 42 seasons finished 7-7 (or 6-6 in a 7-team division) and had both a win and a loss against every other team in the division (and who was it, and when)?

Week 7 answer: This season's removal of the Train Station Shooters is the 4th time a division has been left with only 6 teams. The first was in the Fall of 1999 when the Neighbors in C forfeited their third match in week 13, leaving the division with only 6 teams for one week. Then in the Fall of 2008, there were TWO divisions (A and H) that were left with only 6 teams - Shadows Fall in A forfeited out with 6 weeks to go, while the Pussy Kat Dolls forfeited out with a huge 8 weeks to go.

Week 8 answer: Well, when this question was asked, the answer was Lunatic Fringe, with 45 weeks unbeaten (starting in the Sp96 season and reaching into the Fa97 season). But as of the time that this answer was written, Element had tied that record! Element's win the week prior made for 45 consecutive RDL regular season and tournament weeks without a loss (one of those weeks was a bye). That string started at the beginning of the Fa15 tournament and is currently still active. [Answer update for the banquet Tons: With Element's run through the end of this season's A tournament, Element's record unbeaten string has now reached 54 RDL weeks, following the Fall 2015 tournament wins with three undefeated full-season/tournament runs.]

Week 9 answer: Surprisingly, there has been at least one forfeit in 9 of the 43 A divisions during my tenure here. And in those 9 seasons, 12 different teams have had at least one forfeit. Of those 12 teams, it turns out that 10 had exactly that one forfeit (although Nine Lives has time this season to add to their total, but let's hope they don't). The two teams that forfeited more than once both forfeited their way out of the season -- Here for the Beer in Sp05, and Shadows Fall in Fa08 (with that dropout leaving A with only 6 teams for more than half of that season). [Answer update for the banquet Tons: This season, Nine Lives later became the first A division team to forfeit 2 matches in a season without also forfeiting a third match and being removed from the schedule.]

Week 10 answer: There have only been 9 undefeated singles seasons in my 42 (now 43!) seasons here with RDL, and TWO of those came just last season! (Translation: It's frickin' hard to get through a full dozen or more games of 301 without a hiccup.) Those nine, from earliest to most recent (with division and record): Fa98 - Galen Gillett - F - 20-0; Sp05 - Mike Reynolds - E - 26-0; Fa06 - Robb Beeson - G - 19-0; Sp08 - Vicente Martinez - E - 28-0; Fa08 - Jimmy Davis - B - 22-0; Sp10 - Phillip Eastmead - C - 28-0; Fa11 - Stan Converse - G - 20-0; Fa16 - Dan Naylor - C - 24-0; Fa16 - Randy Baldwin - F - 25-0. Yep, that's right... never been done in A division, and the record for most singles wins in a season is 28 (the perfect number for 2 wins per night for a full 14-week, bye-free, forfeit-free season).

Week 11 answer: Ok, I'll admit it... I originally set this question up in anticipation of my teammate Chad Massengill still being undefeated in singles as I type this. But... the RDL is frickin' deep and any set can be a loss, and that's exactly what happened to Massengill at the hands of David Huffman in his week 10 cricket game (and that was after Huffman just barely missed the third dart of a shot at a 161-Out in 301 against Massengill - he really had it out for him!). That loss ended Massengill's season-starter A division streak at 19, which leaves him with the 4th-longest perfect start to a season. The 3rd longest was 20 games by Allen Smith of Dart Shadows in the Fa99 season (losing wk12 cricket to Kent Butters on the way to a 23-2 season). The 2nd longest was 21 games by Billy West of So What! in the Sp98 season (losing wk12 cricket to Kurt Kunttu on the way to a 23-1 season). And the record-holding season starter A streak is a monstrous 26 games by Brian Blake of Just A Little High in the Fa11 season (losing wk14 301 to Tom Brown on the way to a 27-1 season - not surprisingly, that 27-1 mark is also the best A division singles win percentage season ever - and no, I haven't looked up whether any other division has had a season with a higher win percentage that obviously would have to include at least one blocker slot in addition to the typical 28 sets in a 14-match season).

Week 12 answer: Holy cow, this answer surprised even me. In the past 42 seasons, we've had a total of 309 divisions. And those divisions, due to tied records in the top spot, have produced 328 divisional singles win percentage champions. And of those 328, 16.5% of them started their personal singles seasons with a loss! 16.5%!!!! 54 of the 328 titlists started their seasons as a game loser. I was stunned when I saw that number come out. Just for kicks, let's go a little further... 2.6% of the titlists (8 of the 328) started out 0-2. And then there's John Iager of the Grateful Darts in the Fall 1999 D league... Iager started out a ridiculous 0-3 before running off 13 straight wins (barely making the 16-game minimum) and taking home the D crown! So if you drop a game or two to start out next season, fear not... maybe you're just setting yourself up to join a pretty large club. [Answer update for the banquet Tons: None of the 8 divisional singles win percentage champs this season lost their first game of the season, so we are now at 54 of 336, for a rate of 16.1% of titlists starting with a loss.]

Week 13 answer: In the past 42 seasons (the time that maybe soon we'll start calling "the modern era" of the RDL), we have indeed had 328 divisional singles champs. And of those 328, we

THIS SEASON'S LYRICS QUIZZES... REVISITED

Much like the column of this season's trivia questions on the previous page, I've listed here each lyrics quiz from this season. Each lyric is listed exactly as it was during the season. Each lyric is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers are listed at the bottom of the page (and continuing onto the next page). No peeking... So who's ready to re-play "Name the band/singer and song (and weekly theme)"?

have had 2 representing the ladies in the house. In the Fall of 1999, Ginger Rivenbark of Woody's Gang took the G division title with a stellar 21-1 record. But the real hero for the ladies here was Danica Kelso of Rocking "B" Jiggles (yes, that really was their team name), who took the C crown (yes, the team with "B" in their name played in C) with an 18-3 mark. Had lots of other ladies come close, but few as high as Kelso's C division run. [Note: yes, I too assumed that Deb Blackwelder and/or Kris Kilsdonk would've been on this list at least a couple times... feels like they've been knocking back wins for years and years. - JK] [Answer update for the banquet Tons: no ladies joined the division winners club this season, so our statistics now sit at 2 of 336 (instead of 2 of 328).]
Week 14 answer: Well, since we've completed this spring's regular season matches, we can answer this question for 43 seasons (instead of just 42). Due to the fact that no even-record teams this season fit the requirement for this question, the answer didn't change this season. And that answer is... Yes, 3 different teams have pulled off the '1-1 record against all opponents' scenario!! That's so crazy... both beating and losing to every opponent. Just awesome and weird at the same time. The maybe weirder part? All 3 times that it has happened have come in D division! In the Fall 2000 season, Smackdown's 7-7 landed them in 5th, 2 matches behind the leaders. In the Spring 2001 season, UZMALL's 6-6 also landed them in 5th. And then in the Fall 2013 season, Death Throw's 7-7 mark actually squeezed them all the way up into 3rd place of 8 teams.

[Like the last several seasons, we used three-song groups each week (except for the extended set in week 11 and the traditional long week 14 set) and also included a theme each and every week. Adds a layer to the game for everybody and has been hugely popular. Here are the themes for each week, including the week 14 fifteen-song set for which the top guesser impressively nailed 11 of the songs...

Week 2 theme: If you need me to explain this one to you, then you need to get your head out of the ground, ya ostrich. Also, if you don't see the theme in this one, there's a wall some of our group would like you to go stand behind for a bit. Week 3 theme: The objectification and use of women. Seems like I heard somewhere that it's not just sort of back "in" again, but is actually seemingly celebrated a bit, right? (Now there is a sentence I never thought I would type...)

Week 4 theme: Well... it could be lying... or suspicions... or maybe what we consider to be truth... Alright, fine, how about we just call the theme 'alternative facts' and be done with it? Good? Great. Week 5 theme: The news not being what you want it to be any more... or maybe even just not being accurate, and just being tweaked to fit whatever someone else wants it to be. Either of those pretty much seems to be spot on for the past many weeks, eh?

Week 6 theme: Hmmm... songs about asking who are, saying it's not you, and saying not to ask any probing questions... all in a week when we reported premeditated and intentional skirting of the league rules via player impersonation. Geez, sure was lucky timing that those songs all come up at exactly the same time. Week 7 theme: Narcissism and self-importance, in honor of any of our league members that put a little extra over-importance on themselves or their teams.

Week 8 theme: Well, this one was a little more abstract... though some people's guesses were really pretty close! The theme was Ivanka Trump and her continued production of goods in China (nearly a shipment a day!) while everyone is supposed to be "buying American" and "hiring American". Or maybe I misunderstood, and really it's just "everyone else" who is supposed to be buying or hiring American. Silly me. Oh, wait... I guess maybe the theme was actually hypocrisy. Ha! (And yes, I realize that's almost a daily theme in some ways...)

Week 9 theme: Well, after last week's theme, I said it was time for lighter and fun-ner... so... we just went straight to the fun. Week 10 theme: Marching... Crazy/Mad... Basket... UNC in the Final Four... of course it's March Madness/the Final Four!

Week 11 theme: Well, this was a larger-than-usual set of songs for a regular season week, but that's because these artists were chosen for a specific reason. In honor of the St. Baldrick's event hosted by Keith Gibbs and The Upper Deck, and attended/supported in large part by RDL members, that was highlighted in the week 10 newsletter... these six singers are all cancer survivors!! That's right, some compilation of research and care, which may well have included events such as the one here, has led to advances that have kept these amazing artists right here with us, continuing to produce their art for all to enjoy... and continuing to fight on behalf of others that still need the help... and continuing to simply be loved by their families. Tough to ever put a value on that. Maybe at some point, somebody, somewhere, will write about childhood cancer and its survivors in some sort of past tense. Here's to hoping, and here's to those that care enough to help even when it isn't immediately for someone they know.

Week 12 theme: Misery, pain, agony... anything you might feel right after you miss that one shot for the whole season title, right? Though admittedly, that specific example probably doesn't hurt 'so good'. Week 13 theme: Well, it was pretty simple... you just take the first word from each song and you have Saturday Night Live (and Elton's song almost even jumped ahead with the first two words!). Week 14 theme: Song titles that all include the word 'me'. Yep, it was all about ME!! The songs were listed in order by the band name/singer's last name, alphabetically.

RDL QUOTABLES

So this season I've saved a handful of my favorite quotes from throughout the season, to make one big happy, funny column. Should hopefully be good for at least a few chuckles...

Quote #1: from Brian Gaertner of Rif Raf after their week 1 match, during which teammate Dennis Horger had to face past national champ Dan Naylor in SCkt: "It was 15 darts for Dan. Poor Dennis. He didn't know what hit him. As I was heading up to chalk that game, I said to Dennis 'May God have mercy on your soul.' And God did. Dennis only had to step up to the line 4 times."

Quote #2: from Sebastian Dehnel of Chatham Street Elite, in reference to his previous team's (OT Outlaws in Fall 2016 D div.) removal from the season due to too many forfeits: "Glad to hear I was part of an unprecedented team melt down. I wouldn't have it any other way. Haha. Our mantra was "we made the playoffs", since all teams make the final tournament. Due to our meltdown, we didn't make the playoffs. Kind of ironic."

Quote #3: from Shawn Budd of Just A Bit Outside, back in week 5 in reference to 'letting a player go' from their team: "And as for the severance, he gets to keep the team shirt I bought him. First generation JABO design shirt will be worth a fortune someday, so he's lucky he gets to keep it."

Quote #4: from Tina Boutieller of Chalker's Nightmare back in week 6: "Oh, I suck real good." [Sure, maybe she was talking about her dart game... Or maybe she wasn't. And yes, I told her I wouldn't quote her that week. I didn't say anything about the bigger Tons issue a couple months later. - JK]

Quote #5: from the Bull Hunters, to me in week 7, when they reported their score after winning in a week when I didn't pick them in my predictions: "Ye of little faith." [Seriously?! I picked against the Hunters TWO times this whole season. And one of those two they DID lose. Interestingly, I was only 6-4 in my Bull Hunters pick this season... so clearly I was he of too much faith. - JK]

Quote #6: from an F division captain after his/her team had the actual pleasure of playing against the Ducks of War, a match after playing... well... a team that is maybe a bit less fun to be around than the Ducks: "After last match, it was really refreshing to play a team that had things like, ya know, intelligence... charisma..." [I wonder how many F teams are thinking they know what the other team sort of being reference here is. :o) - JK]

Quote #7: from a B league player, assessing his opposition right after his team had just lost to the opposition being assessed: "You only have two good motherfuers on the team." [Ummm... you get that this comment is a bigger putdown of your own team than of the other/winning team's, right? - JK]

Quote #8: from Jason Thomas of Ted's DeploraBull Emporium in week 14: "Interesting story (it had to have happened before, but I don't remember it...) I was throwing on board 2, while Jimmy [Dzengaleski, of Dynamic Darts] was on board 1... I threw my first 2 trip20s, and heard everyone cheering behind me... Then I threw the third, and heard everyone gasp and say 'oh man, so close! That's a 140, and was so close to a 180!'... I turned around in a 'Y'all need to get your eyes checked, all three are in there!' tone... Turns out, they were all cheering for Jimmy, who was on pace (dart for dart) for a 180 with me... Opponent or not, that would have been pretty cool, simultaneous 180s." [You guys all heard that, right? I'm pretty sure that JT just said "hey, look everybody, I got a 180!" Yeah, yeah, yeah... yay for you JT. Sure, that was a story about Jimmy and nearly awesome timing. Oh, and that sound that you just heard just now? That was probably JT smacking me for turning what was a pretty good dart story into a joke at his expense. Ah well... he's used to me. - JK]

THREE OF RDL'S COMPLETE BADASSES

Sometimes I collect stories and tidbits about the amazing stuff some of our league members do. Here are 3 of my recent favorites.

RDL BADASS #1 - David Romanchek, of Nine Lives

In week 13, Romanchek's Nine Live squad faced longtime RDL heavyweight Appetite for Destruction, who is led by Sid Mitchell, one of the league's very best for the better part of a decade. I will let Sid describe this one: "I'm still in shock on David R's finish against me in cricket! Best as I can remember... I'm relatively comfortably ahead going down to the final couple of numbers with a slight advantage. Basically the game was sitting where I had all numbers closed but 15's (still needed all 3) and he had all numbers closed but 20's (still needed all 3), and we both needed bulls and I was a few points ahead. We had both thrown mediocre to this point where I had a couple of 4 marks and he had a 5 mark. He then throws and blanks on 15's. I'm thinking trip 15 and 3 bulls in my turn to wrap the game up. Well, I only hit one 15 (not good but also not worried). He then proceeds to throw a 7 mark on the 15's to close and take about a 55 point lead. I answer with a 5 mark on the 20's to take about a 45 point lead. He then hits a trip 20 on first dart and one 15 on his other two to close all numbers and cut the lead to about 30. I close the 15's taking all 3 darts (again not great but not worried with only needing 3 bulls to his 5). Well you can guess what happens next! David steps up and throws a 5bull!! I never even got a chance to throw again, hence why I'm still in shock this morning! To top it off, he could hardly even walk with stitches in the bottom of his foot from a bad cut! Just shows you never get too comfortable or underestimate your opponent!"

RDL BADASS #2 - Robbie Phillips, of This Is Element

Alright, of course you already know that Phillips is a badass if you've read even one Tons in the past several years. But a couple weekends ago, he popped something that was awesome even for him. He was at Nationals (for about the 7,423rd time, right?), and was trying to advance out of his preliminary round-robin bracket (the field is generally broken into about four groups that each play a full round-robin among themselves, with the two from each group advancing to the final eight-man round-robin for the title). It came down to him needing to win his final leg of his final group match to force a tie and a one-game playoff to see who advanced to the final group. And what would you, the reader, do in that situation? Vomit? Pee yourself a little? Hide in a corner? Or would you set up 170 and then pop the damn thing to hammer home the win? I would probably opt for one of the body functions... but not Phillips. He goes all center-stage and sticks the perfecto. [Test results as to whether Phillips's body actually even contains adrenaline haven't come back from the lab yet...] Note: sadly, it was an "off day" for Phillips and he finished as only the first alternate for the trip to England. Flippin' slacker...

RDL BADASS #3 - John Jenkins, of Armed and Hammered

Ok, I've absolutely saved the best for last in this column. I think this item actually might start a new league record / trivia question / hall of fame item. Honestly, it's really pretty difficult to grasp just how freakin' cool this one is. In the final week of the regular season, Jenkins hit the second-highest out in the entire RDL (and easily the highest in his division) this season with a stellar Ton-49. Great shot, right? Even for national champ Phillips up above that would be a great one. But here's the kicker... Jenkins is 74 years old. Yep, he's one of the league's glorious elder statesmen. And he just hit an out in league play that is more than double his age. At the age of 74. That HAS to be a league record. And maybe one that will stand forever? How many just 40- or 50-year-olds out there have never hit an out of twice your current age in a match?

WHEN YOUR TEAM... UMMMM... LOVES YOU??

All teams are made up of people that are at least "sort of" friends, right? Well, the reality is that some teams are definitely tighter than other teams, and being on those types of team is really pretty great. At least most of the time, that is. Then there are those times that are great and awful at the same time. Here are two of the very best of those... Upper right photo: according to The Handsome Devils, this is what happens when you rush out the door on your way to a 7 pm tournament match... yes, that's Alex Sarantos (of the Devils) wearing two different shoes and not realizing it. Yep, he went out the door wearing two completely different shoes! And his team had the immediate foresight to snap a photo... and then send it to me to share with all of you guys! Ha! Geez, thanks, teammates... Bottom photo: Jeremy Limerick, captain of All Flights Matter, had to have a bit of emergency eye surgery this season (he'll be fine), and then made the mistake of referring to himself as One-Eyed Willie in his next VoiceMail message. I, of course, immediately shared that with all of you (because... duh). And how did his teammates show their support for their fearless leader? Well, you can see for yourself below. Just to be clear, Jeremy's teammates are the five better-looking guys out of the six in the photo.

AND OUR VERY OWN PHOTOSHOP SCANDAL!!

A couple seasons ago, a few teams sent me team photos after their tournament matches, and I noted that I thought that was kind of great, and included them in the banquet Tons. Well, Shaunt Be Shutout followed suit this season after they clinched the B season/ tournament double. But... hey... Billy Maccini is out of town for work... and isn't his personal image (far left) a little bit lighter than his teammates'? Oh, how Kardashian of those photoshoppers...

Anyway, the B champ folks next to the ghostly image of Maccini are: John Carroll, Sal Reitano, Kevin Foushee, Eugene Foushee, C.J. Jobe, Rick Bradshaw, and Tyler Wright. Congrats, and welcome back to A...

RULE CHANGE IDEAS?

Just this month, I sent the RDL Board an 8-page document, offering 12 potential rule changes and/or clarifications. I'm sure they'll be talking about at least some of them this summer. If you want to put your two cents in, you should let them know soon. The topics included: == wearing headphones during matches == what happens when people play the wrong opponent == dumping the 2nd place plaques == what to do if the chalkers answer to a math question is "I don't know" == what chalkers can tell throwers during a game of cricket == throwing the remaining darts after busting == postponing matches to after the week 14 match date == moving the scoresheet deadline to Friday == dumping the VoiceMail system altogether == clarifying features of the webmaster role == rewriting the paltry by-laws requirements listed for the weekly newsletter == and maybe dropping the hard copy Tons. Is that enough stuff for you? :o)

I APOLOGIZE FOR... WELL... NOTHING

I have to be honest... I love that it clearly freaking kills some of you guys that I sit myself out of dart matches sometimes. There's a small group of you that just can't resist commenting about it, often repeatedly during the night, roughly every single time our teams play each other. You're obsessed with it. You stew about it, you re-hash it, and you bring it up over and over. And you know what? I... don't... give... a... st.

The reality is that I'm an average A division player captaining a team chock full of way-above-average A division players. And I have never made any claims to the contrary. I do the stats, trust me, I know how my game measures up to others'. I've played about 640 games in A before I formed Element, and just over 700 since I formed Element. I won just under 50% of my games before Element, when my team hovered from 2nd through 6th in A. After Element formed, my singles climbed to a little over 55% and my doubles jumped up to 78% (shocking, right?). Thus, I beat about half of my opponents when my team wasn't at the top, and more than that when I was no longer facing any of my current teammates.

I've averaged about 33 games played per season during my time in A, though that average has dropped to about 26 since the first season of Element. Given that my schedule usually makes me miss a match or two each season, and that we have two byes in about 40% of the seasons, I've averaged just under 3 games per match since I reached A, and just a little over 2 per match since the first season of Element. Sooo... as one of the lower-end guys on a team of state champs, national champs, even world champs, I play a little over half the sets. Not enough for your requirement for me? Well, guess how much I care about that fact.

The bottom line is that I sit myself in the bigger sets in the bigger matches because... I'm smart. Duh. Or maybe more to the point, I'm not stupid. Our team (which, contrary to a lot of grumbling opinions over the years, has been built entirely without recruiting any player on any of our A competitors in any season ever - don't believe me? I have a full all-time team roster and will go through every single player with you and whence they came) runs as well as it does because I'm completely honest with every guy on the team about their role, and about how I list when push comes to shove. Want to play more? Then play better. And that applies to me as well. So if I play others repeatedly in the biggest matches, it's because that's what is best for the competitive advantage of the team. And I am completely ok with that.

So, if you want an apology from me for sitting myself sometimes, please feel free to choose from among these apologies: #1 - "I'm sorry that I'm smart"; or #2 - "I'm sorry that you can't help spending more time worrying about me than about yourself"; or #3 - "I'm sorry that not only do not I care that it bothers you, but I actually find that part humorous"; or #4 - "I'm sorry that I seem to have the ability to turn a pile of huge talents and big egos into a cohesive family of friends, that rarely disagrees, and that happens to win lots of dart matches with me steering the ship." There... any of those apologies make you feel better?

Alternatively, how about we switch spots? You take multiple days each and every weekend for the next couple decades to write the newsletter, and I'll go hang out, practice, and hit blind draws every week. Sound good? [I do have to admit though, that one of my favorite things is when one of these guys starts making comments, then he draws me in singles, and then I whip his a. Happens at least half the times we line up. :o)]

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

Nowadays, it's a fact... this column has become a banquet Tons staple. I have no idea why so many are so keen on taking a peek into the oddness that is my head, but you are. So without further ado, let's open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. I'm never sure what's about to hit the page, but anyway... whatever...

-- Generally, this column starts with a Survivor item, but I've got a few episodes recorded and I'm behind, so I will simply say this: the first time Debbie was on, when they listed a different profession for her every time she was on screen, due to her ridiculous stories about being an expert in... everything. I miss that hilarity this time.

-- Anyway, while I'm on the topic of television shows, whose brilliant idea was it to cancel Mike & Mike in the Morning from the ESPN2 lineup?? That news release might as well have said "the reason Jason won't watch anything but live sports or NFL news on ESPN ever again." Were they just too intelligent to be on television discussing sports? Seriously, what the hell? Maybe this means we'll get another thousand hours each year of Stephen A. Smith railing on and blustering nothingness and stupidity to anyone within earshot (which is a long radius when Smith opens his mouth). Oh, gee, lucky us. The end of an era...

-- Music trivia bonus question for all the fans of the weekly lyrics quiz (I'll drop a hint later in the column, and then the answer toward the end): What one band or singer holds the record with FOUR albums that reached #1 on the chart during the same year?

-- I'm sure it's just me, and I have no idea why it's funny to me, but when Jeremy Limerick (captain of All Flights Matter) calls in his team's results and starts the message with a goofy "what's up, fuer?", I can't help but laugh. Every time. I guess maybe he just has the right personality and/or voice to pull it off repeatedly.

-- Write this down... some of the guys on Irish Ton are going to climb the talent ladder faster and higher than others who happen to have the same natural talent level. I have no idea if they are naturally inclined to be good at darts (face it, that is a huge factor in who does/doesn't become good), but at least a couple of them have the right desire level and approach to exceed whatever level would normally be their personal ceiling. Talked to a couple of them at my team's A division final... they were out seeing what was what, picking up tips, talking about practice routines, etc. Just a great early commitment to attacking the game from the start, with input from those who attacked it before them. Pretty excellent.

-- Quick vote... which is more pointless and boring? Watching someone eat a bowl of chicken broth with a disposable fork, or watching NBA playoff games? Good lord... I just saw a story about Cleveland and Golden State being a combined 19-0 in the playoffs so far this year. The people reporting said that they thought that 3 of those 19 games could have turned out the other way with a couple lucky bounces or a key play. Really... that's the state of a major professional sport here? Two teams, including one that gives its best players a vacation about every 3 or 4 games all season, are so much better than the other supposed top teams that it takes luck or huge key breaks for those others to win any games at all? Wow, where do I sign up to buy the preposterously overpriced tickets? Can't wait...

-- Bonus trivia music question hint: It's a band, and in 1967, they sold more albums than The Beatles and Rolling Stones combined.

-- This past week at my match over in the Bull City Dart League, one of our opponents started a turn in '01 with 39 points remaining, ended the turn with 3 points remaining, never had a shot at a winning double, and only missed the number at which he was aiming with one dart during the entire turn. No, seriously. Any idea what he hit? I'll give you time to think about it... I'll put the answer later in the right column on this page...

-- At what point did every frickin' movie become about a superhero, or at least come from a comic book?

-- Two related thoughts on football(ish): First, I think it's really hilarious that Tom Brady has been listed on the NFL injury report 132 times in his career, and he has played in the game... 132 times. Belichick loves playing with the system, and I love him for it. (Yes, there was also the season when Brady was immediately put on Injured Reserve, but those players aren't listed in the weekly injury list.) Second, could Brady's wife Gisele Bundchen be any bigger of an idiot? She tweets stuff about the organization and the league not respecting Brady... making him sooo popular with the league higher-ups. She tweets stuff about the Patriots losing because Brady can't both throw the ball and catch the ball... giving Brady a bunch of locker room explaining to do. And now she tells the world that Brady has had a string of concussions for years... bringing the entire sports world's attention right back to him. How tone deaf and utterly stupid is she? Well, like everyone else, I've always recognized the whole real-world "higher up the hotness scale let's you get away with more" reality, and she is soooo far beyond anything that any hotness could ever cover despite any ridiculous 'super model' status, whatever that is. She is... dumb, arrogant, oblivious... whatever. Ugh. Go away.

-- You ever watch Bones? I love the Lance Sweets character. I think that guy is awesome. Intelligently funny and interesting.

-- Remember back in week 1 when I wrote the "best new names" column? Well, I'm not changing my favorite for the season, but I do want to add a note: I had tagged Shaunt Be Shutout as a "name with a word that I'm not even sure is a word." Well, it turns out that "We shaunt be shutout!" was Donald Grubb's weekly battle cry after their A div. team had scored its first point of the night. Odd name? Yes. Awesome tribute? Oh, hell yes.

-- Bonus trivia music question answer: It was The Monkees! Yes, four actors who could sing, who were brought together to make a silly sitcom about a band that ironically couldn't hit it big like bands such as The Beatles. Four #1 albums, one year. How many of your favorite bands have even put out four albums in a six-year span, much less close enough that all four peaked in the same calendar year? Crazy.

-- Answer to how you get to 3 from 39 without even getting a shot (from left column): he threw at the 7, but hit double-7 and left 25; then he threw at the 9, but hit the 12, leaving 13; then he threw at the 5, but hit the double-5, leaving 3. Three darts, two hitting the number at which he aimed, never got even, and left 3. (No, he did not win that game, though my teammate did let him have a shot or two at the 3...)

-- So Chris Cornell (of Soundgarden and Audioslave fame) took his own life this past Wednesday... sure, that's a little different (and possibly even sadder) than dying due to a freak accident or a sudden heart attack, etc. But for me, it's yet another reminder that you had better live your life every day. No guarantees that there will be a tomorrow. And while you're at it, tell those you love that you love them... often. No guarantees that if there is a tomorrow, that you will have it with those people. We are fragile creatures, and life is precious. Take the time to appreciate it, and also to appreciate those that make yours so worth living. Until next time, my friends... I wish you a summer of health and happiness... already looking forward to seeing you in the fall...

RDL BOARD MEMBER HISTORY - 43 SEASONS - SPRING 1996 THROUGH SPRING 2017

Alright, if you read the newsletter with any regularity (and especially the trivia column), you know that I've been here keeping the league statistics and writing the newsletter for twenty-two and a half years (43 seasons). So, you're all familiar with me and my big mouth. But are you familiar with the folks that actually make the real decisions for the league? I sit up front here, and I type stuff to you all the time, and I send you stuff, and I use my loud voice at the captains' meetings and banquets, but the reality is that all league policies and rules are set by your elected set of Board members. It's those 5-7 volunteers per season who actually hold all the power (and have a bunch of responsibilities for the standard volunteer rate of... nothin!). And a bunch of those volunteers have come back time after time after time to make sure that our hobby keeps rolling without a hiccup. All in all, there have been 7 offices for the first 26 of these 43 seasons, then 6 offices for the most recent 17 seasons (the External Organizations position was dropped after 2008), so there have been 284 total officer-seasons. Of those 284, 14 have remained vacant, leaving 270 total officer-seasons. And a grand total of only 39 league members have filled those 270 spots, with Heather Bohanan (33 seasons), Kevin Coyne (21), Jason Thomas (18), J.P. Evans (15), Dave Berry (11), and Cathy Moeschet (11) leading the parade of the selfless givers of their time (at least during this 43-season time window). Below are all the officers for all of my 43 seasons here, so you can see exactly who you can/should thank. (* = officer who joined the Board midseason due to a vacant office)

Tournament Board Sponsorship Form

The Carolina Dart Association is proud to host the 13th annual Wreck at the Deck Charity Dart Tournament to benefit "me fine" Foundation on June 2nd through June 4th, 2017.

Much of our success is directly due to the support of our members, community, and the participation of fellow NC and Raleigh Dart League darters.

We are seeking board sponsorships for this year's tournament. If you, your association or your company are interested, please fill out the information below, return it and check to:

Carolina Dart Association
 c/o Maridy Knight
 3223 Rowena Avenue
 Durham, NC 27703

All sponsorships will be on an 8" x 24" banner posted on the stanchions. Email all artwork and logos to bjcotton69@hotmail.com. Please have all information sent by 05/14/2017.

Name of Sponsor

Sponsorships are $30.00 for 1 banner, $50.00 for 2, and $90.00 for 4. Please make checks payable to: Carolina Dart Association.

Your support is appreciated and we look forward to seeing everyone at the tournament! If you have any questions please call or text Barbara at (919)210-0020; email bjcotton69@hotmail.com
