After surviving five darts at the tiebreaker double by the Coral Reefers, The Bogarts prevailed on Shane Murray's dead-center double-16 (solidifying further his position as the division's top gun). The Bogarts' win makes 5 teams that won the season & tournament.

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED

I now run this column during season in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week # when it ran, and the answers are at the end. No peeking…

Week 5 question(s): What is the lowest point total that an RDL team has scored for a season since 1995 (I only have full records since I became statistician in 1996)? Who did it, and when?

Week 6 question(s): How many games of -01 since 1996 have been thrown in the RDL, in which the winning player/team averaged 40+ points per dart? (This question was directly inspired by a submission of a great darting story by an RDL member - see week 7 Tons, page 6 for details.) (Oh, and… I'm sort of assuming we haven't had any 40+ point-per-dart cricket games. Plus, unless a cricket game is 9 darts or fewer, I could never verify the average was high enough.)

Week 7 question(s): How many RDL members are there this season? How many have there been in each of the past four seasons? (Hint: the league has been growing nicely…)

Week 8 question(s): This season we have two winless teams averaging over 9 pts/match. Pretty impressive number for 0 wins. What is the record weekly point average for a winless team (at least since 1995, as that's how long my personal records are)?

Week 9 question(s): Last week, Rif Raf's 24-match win streak was broken. How many streaks longer than that has the RDL had in the past 11 years (the time length of my records)?

Week 11 question: When is the last time that the RDL didn't have didn't have a single team make it through the regular season with fewer than two losses? (I don't have the answer to this one yet, and I only have complete records back through 1995, so if it's before that, then I won't have this answer…)

Week 12 questions: Presently, the leaguewide High Out is not held by an A division thrower, and the leaguewide Fast Singles Cricket is a tie between an A division thrower and a non-A division thrower. How many times in the last 11 years (the length of my complete records) has a non-A division thrower held the leaguewide High Out or Fast Singles Cricket game? Who had them, and what were the Out and dart totals?

Week 5 answers: (As I'm sure most of you would assume, I did not include teams that forfeited multiple times during a season.) The title for low point total belongs to Tossing Heads, who rang up 66 points in a 14-week season in A division in the Spring 1997 season, for an average of just a bit over 4.7 points/match. An honorable mention goes to the Fall 2000 Horsemen of A division, who chalked up 55 points in a 12-week season and lost 10 of those to penalties (although they did forfeit one match).

[Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: Clearly, this record has been broken this season. A division's Cheap Shots will be looked upon as "historic" if nothing else. But kudos to them… Those who aren't in our division didn't get to see how sportsmanlike they were in accepting their dubious fate. Rather impressive character.]

Week 6 answers: 3. There was one game of 301: 7 darts by Tom Brown of The Fifth Element on 9/14/05 (43.0 points per dart). And there have been two games of 501: 11 darts by John Carroll & Jerry Oakley of Dogs of War on 11/3/99 (45.5 points per dart), and 12 darts by Dale Hyler & Jason Kilts of BOOM! on 11/1/00 (41.8 per dart).

Week 7 answers: 474 this season, 453 last season, 418 in Spring '06, 414 in Fall '05, and 415 in Spring '05.

Week 8 answers: 8.0, twice, both in the Fall '03 season, by Dogs of War III in C, and by Coral Reefers in F, in 12-week seasons.

[Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: Shortly after I wrote this question, both of the teams chasing this record started winning. How selfish! Could have been a greatly improved trivia answer…]

Week 9 answers: Five. And three of those five were just barely longer. The big two: Lunatic Fringe, 45 matches in Sp96-Fa97, all in A division; and Wireless, 41 matches in Sp04-Sp05, in divisions D/C/B. The next three: The Element, 26 matches in Sp05-Fa05, all in A division; Lunatic Fringe (again), 25 matches in Fa02-Fa03, all in A division; and AFLAC (the Ducks), 25 matches in Fa01-Fa02, in divisions G/F.

Week 11 answer: Well, the best answer that I can give for this one is… 1994 or earlier. I have full records starting in 1996, and I have the final newsletters for the two seasons in 1995, and no season has had 2+ losses for all teams even once in all that time.

SPRING 2007 PENALTY SUMMARY

After a BIG penalty season in the Fall, things toned down a whole bunch this time around. More teams were penalized this season than last (22, vs. 19 last season), but there were many fewer total penalties (30, vs. 37 last season). And on top of that, only one team in the entire RDL dropped a spot due to a penalty (The Dog in C division dropped from 5th to 6th). In total, the league cranked out 12 fifth week captains' meeting penalties (for 60 points), 1 ineligible player penalty (for 10 points), 7 mail penalties (for 112 points), and 10 phone penalties (for 50 points), for a grand total of 211 points lost. The breakdown by divisions was: A division (3 penalties - 26 points), B division (5 penalties - 36 points), C division (5 penalties - 36 points), D division (2 penalties - 15 points), E division (5 penalties - 25 points), F division (5 penalties - 47 points), and G division (5 penalties - 47 points).

The biggest losers? Well, aside from the aforementioned Dog , we have a few nominees. Rebels Without A Cause and Designated Divers were penalized the most often (4 times and 3 times, respectively), while Designated Divers (37 points), Overtime Outlaws (32 points, which would have cost them a set of 2nd place plaques if they had scored 1 more point this season), Rebels Without A Cause (31 points), and The Dog (21 points), were the only teams penalized more than 16 points.

ANSWERS TO THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS

[Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: Shortly after I wrote this question, The Bogarts got dumped, and history was made - 2+ losses for everybody!]

Week 12 answers: I'll bet this will surprise some of you… 13 different non-A div. people in 12 different seasons have held or tied for the leaguewide High Out, and 12 different non-A div. people in 10 different seasons have held or tied for the leaguewide Fast Singles Cricket game. High outs: Dennis Keever (Fa96 - PMS - E - 130-tie), Bill Gordon (Sp98 - Black and Tans - D - 147), Jerry Oakley (Fa98, Dogs of War - B - 148), Maryjane Johnson (Sp99 - Darting Eyes - C - 143), Chris Hoyt (Fa99 - Dixie Chickens - C - 138), George Sutphen (Sp00 - Horsemen - B - 126-tie), Jim Markov (Sp01 - Dynamic Darts - F - 140), Paula Delp (Fa01 - D. V. Needed - B - 130), Jack Gibson (Sp02 - Nine Lives - B - 147-tie), John Tighe (Sp02 - Don't Know - F - 147-tie), Steve Motley (Sp03 - Bubba's Garage - E - 129), Randy Deemer (Fa03 - Starving Dartists - B - 148), and Mikey Hindle (Fa05 - Bubba's Garage - B - 151-tie). Fast Singles Crickets: John Carroll (Sp96 - Dogs of War - D - 16 darts-tie), Greg Crumpler (Sp97 - Burnt Weeny's Revenge - C - 12 darts), Lynn Bartlett (Fa98 - Been There, "F"d That - F - 15 darts-tie), Richard Boyd (Sp99 - Scavengers - D - 15 darts-tie), James Odom (Sp99 - Damn Yankees! - F - 15 darts-tie), Chuck Greer (Fa99 - Volume of a Cue Ball - B - 15 darts-tie), Bill Stasko (Sp00 - Heroes in Trouble - E - 18 darts-tie), David Arensdorf (Fa01 - Sharky's Machine - E - 15 darts-tie), Bob McCredie (Fa01 - Horsemen - C - 15 darts-tie), Jeff Wenhart (Fa03 - Kozmic Debris - E - 16 darts-tie), Mike Reynolds (Sp05 - Tailgaters - E - 15 darts), Kevin Kendall (Sp06 - Mojo's Jerksquad - E - 13 darts).

[Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: While the leaguewide High Out was eventually claimed by an A division player (Jeremiah Millar of the Shadows), Timmy King of The Replacements in B division managed to tie Robbie Phillips of Out Of Our Element for the Fast Singles Cricket game (see page 5).]

"HOT DARTS" CALL-IN GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines you should use for the minimum number of all-star points to report when calling in your scores.
"A" Division = 4.5 or more ASPs
"B" Div. = 4.0 or more ASPs; "C" Div. = 3.5 or more ASPs
"D", "E", and "F" Divisions = 3.0 or more ASPs
"G" Division = 2.5 or more ASPs
Also, call in any fast games, high ins, high outs, or other amazing feats that you think warrant a little recognition (e.g., Ins & Outs higher than a Ton, 24-dart cricket games, 15-dart 301s, 24-dart 501s, Ton-70s and up, 5-Bulls+, etc.).

SEASON-LONG TROPHY DART MINIMUM GAMES PLAYED REQUIREMENTS

To be eligible for all-star point %-age ('01 and cricket are now separate awards) and singles win %-age awards, you must play in at least 66% of the total projected games this season:
for Division "A":
Singles win %-age: min. of 16 Singles Games Played
All-star pt. %-age: min. of 16 '01 games, or 16 Ckt games for all other Divisions (except teams B4, C2, C3, E1, and F4):
Singles win %-age: min. of 19 Singles Games Played
All-star pt. %-age: min. of 19 '01 games, or 19 Ckt games for B4,C2,C3,E1,F4 (due to forfeits rcvd.): 18 in each category

THE TWENTY-FIRST SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
(This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional MVPs
All of RDL	Jim Davis	Rebels Without A Cause
A Division	Jeremiah Millar	The Shadows
B Division	Jim Davis	Rebels Without A Cause
C Division	George Bubanic	Bag O' Nuts
D Division	Lyman Kiser	One-Armed Bandits
E Division	Evan Rosenoff	Tres Equis
F Division	Robb Beeson	Off Constantly
G Division	Shane Murray	The Bogarts

"A" Division
Brian Blake	The Shadows	Pretty good, eh? But still my bch…
Tom Brown	Out Of Our Element	Not his best season, but still strong.
Marshall Chavis	The Shadows	Hit the big shots at the biggest times.
Mark Knight	Dodge Darts	Was one dart from A singles crown.
Jeremiah Millar	The Shadows	New addition made all the difference.
Robbie Phillips	Out Of Our Element	Mr. Fast Game is obviously included.
Mike Seward	Cereal Killers	When he was gone, team fell apart.
Wil Tan	Out Of Our Element	Joe Nationals beat all the top guns.

"B" Division
Scott Butters	Rebels w/out Cause	Great late add delivered for the Mugs.
Jim Davis	Rebels w/out Cause	Double-u. Oh. Double-u.
John Dunleavy	Brew Crew	Was a 501 monster in a close division.
Billy Hamilton	The Replacements	What a find for Falco and company…
Timmy King	The Replacements	Owns this division if Davis was gone.
Trey Rodgers	Rebels w/out Cause	12-1 in SCkt, then pairs up w/ Davis?!
Jason Thomas	The Replacements	Great in early sets, good in late ones.
Tom Wiegand	Dogs of War	Took over as new Top Dog of War.

"C" Division
Jose Aguilar	Bag O' Nuts	Few more 301s and he passes George.
Tommy Beaird	Bag O' Nuts	Capt. Nut was, amazingly, 3rd on team.
George Bubanic	Bag O' Nuts	11+ wins in every set is freakin' hot.
Donald Grubb	AADA	Almost hauled short team to Mugs.
Jerry Shengulette	Never A Dull Mome	Can't explain that DCkt record…
Brett Thompson	The Dog	Dog limped home, but Brett rolled.
Randy Wilcox	Never A Dull Mome	Too much 'enjoying' during singles?
Tom Winters	Dynamic Darts	Perennial C all-star may be in D in Fall.

"D" Division
Deb Blackwelder	Wire We Here	With a 501 partner, could own D div.
Jason Grannis	Effects / Influence	His moving is a HUGE loss for Effects.
Bob Hansen	No Respect	Nothing flashy, just solid all the way.
Steve Hix	The Hostile Amish	Monster season led Amish to D title.
John Iager	Grateful Darts	Earned HALF his team's doubles wins.
Lyman Kiser	One-Armed Bandits	Best player on dangerous upset team.
Walter Taylor	One-Armed Bandits	Really only trails Kiser in 301 wins.
John Wells	Effects / Influence	The best Wells in D. But just barely.

"E" Division
Rob Barwick	Rif Raf	Maybe E's dominant shot. Wins a LOT.
Jim Doroshenko	Kozmic Debris	Led Debris all Spring, then to Mug final.
David Hoyt	Rif Raf	WHY not list him in DCkt? Seriously.
Jess Jur	Damn Yankees!!	If only the ASPs were double-outs…
Jon Kenney	Bennington Brawlers	22-4 in crickets sets ties with Barwick.
Keith Ohrberg	Rif Raf	Not the best dbls, but still dangerous.
Mark Pfahlert	Da Bulls	Part-timer with inexplicable DCkt W/L.
Evan Rosenoff	Tres Equis	Clear driving force in XXX's #2 finish.

"F" Division
Sean Ackley	Designated Divers	33-9 after 301 for a near-0.500 team…
Robb Beeson	Off Constantly	Still playing way out of his normal div.
Stan Converse	Who's Your Ducky?	Might be best "3rd fiddle" in league.
Ronnie Knott	Board 2 Death	Three 10-win sets is pretty dominant.
Jonathan Lane	Board 2 Death	Led B2D in great 3-team race to the end.
David Martin	Who's Your Ducky?	One of four in RDL undefeated in SCkt.
Zak Mayhew	Off Constantly	Was the hammer when Beeson wasn't.
Steve Tollerton	Who's Your Ducky?	75% or better in every set. Boom.

"G" Division
Adam Bennett	Overtime Outlaws	Ok, so he'll be our cricket specialist…
Scott Fuhrman	Overtime Outlaws	If only he could play more often.
Geoffrey Gilbert	Crown Royalty	Slowly tailed off from 301 to 501.
Shane Murray	The Bogarts	Any other season, he's league MVP.
Worth Pearsall	Crown Royalty	Great record, and…only 5 penalty pts.!
Brian Smith	The Bogarts	New capt. + new team = big success?
J.J. Tant	Overtime Outlaws	Still playing like he was up in C div.
Nate Wade	Coral Reefers	Perennial G hammer. Yawn…

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

-The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): Three big winners filled up this section this season (with none from A div., as those teams were only facing a 12-match schedule). The season's top gun was Jim Davis of Rebels Without A Cause in B division, who cranked up at least 12 wins in all four sets, and doing it despite his team forfeiting a match in honor of Craig Cashwell. Holy cow, what a season! Close behind were: George Bubanic of Bag O' Nuts in C division (who had 11+ wins in every set), and Shane Murray of The Bogarts in G division (who had 10+ wins in every set, in one of the best RDL debuts ever). Great seasons for those guys. Wow. We have five honorable mentions this season (for four nine+-win sets): Jose Aguilar of Bag O' Nuts in C, Jason Grannis of Effects of the Influence in D, Lyman Kiser of One-Armed Bandits in D, and Stan Converse and Steve Tollerton of Who's Your Ducky? in F division.

-IronMan/Woman Award: You would think that no A division players could compete for this award this season (with only 12 matches). But you would be wrong… Alas, the Iron Man Award this season goes to David Romanchek of Nine Lives in B with 64 games. The honorable mentions for other division leaders go to: Steve Hoffmann of Lunatic Fringe in A with 62 (in 12 matches!); Brett Thompson of The Dog in C with 59; Mike Raquet and Brian Shaffer of Boondock Saints Again in D with 63; Evan Rosenoff of Tres Equis, Kristy Dancy and Jessica Baynor of FFAB in E with 59; John Marsh of Designated Divers in F with 63; and Justin Harvey of One Markers, Brian Smith and Shane Murray of The Bogarts in G with 58.

-The Team Attendance Award winners: The days of a team having six players play every set all season appear to have gone long ago. But we have a few teams that were pretty tight, dependable groups this season. Check out the balance of their games played on pages 31/33/34: Bag O' Nuts in C division, The DIVE Bombers and FFAB in E division, and Board 2 Death in F division. My votes for the two winners are the two Board member-bearing E squads.

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

So last season I pointed out that we had all learned the following: "It is always easier to get match predictions right in your own division." And for the most part that is usually true. However, this season my problem wasn't with figuring out my own division; it was with figuring out my own team. I missed a third of my team's matches for the first time ever. Yikes. That was my worst pick rate in all of A. Weird, eh?

Anyway, a quick perusal of my preseason predictions first… These are always very tough because teams change so much after the first rosters, but I did pretty well. Most of the races went pretty close to what I predicted, with a few exceptions: #1 - I picked Team #5 in C division. In retrospect, I can say only this: "Oops." #2 - I missed the Amish. Had most of the rest of D in order, but I didn't see them taking that title. #3 - I almost nailed F, but I had the Ducks winning that week 14 showdown. Soooo close. And #4 - I never guess a new team in G, and it appears from now I probably should…

As for my weekly picks, you can see those for yourself on page 9, but the bottom lines there are these: #1 - Another 70%+ season makes for several of those in a row. #2 - I hit two teams every match of the season + tourney, and while one of those was Cheap Shots, the other was the Ducks (which was a much tougher pick set in that great F race). #3 - AADA showed up with a different number of players all season, and I never did figure out how to predict how many would be there, so I went 6-6 with them (with 2 forfeits). And #4 - Screw The Dog. They fooled me in 8 of the first 9 weeks, and came in at 6-8, the only team for which I was below 0.500. Dang them…

Finally, there were the tournaments. And how did I do there? Well, B and C divisions could have skipped their tournaments and just read the Tons, as I got both of those right from beginning to end. I hit 22 of the 27 first round matches, 10 of the 14 semis, and 4 of the 7 finals, for a final tally of 36-12. Not bad for having to pick all three rounds before the tourneys start. And… two of my dark horses (#4 and #5 seeds) made the finals in C and D divs.

JK'S TEAM-BY-TEAM, WEEK-BY-WEEK MATCH PREDICTION RESULTS

(I introduced this page seven seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the one 'o' symbol indicates the team for which I was only 0.500, and the one 'x' symbol indicates the lone team that fooled me more often than not. [But after a 1-8 start with The Dog, a 6-8 finish ain't so bad… And, while I was only 6-6 with AADA, in all fairness, they forfeited twice and it was impossible to tell who would show up for them each week.]

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

Another good season for fans of 1001 drama! We had three dozen tiebreaker legs this season, two of those being tournament matches (and both of those being finals matches!). G division led the way with 10 tiebreakers (including its title match), followed by D and E divisions with 6 each, B and C divisions with 5 each, then F division with 3, and finally A division with but a lonely 1 tiebreaker (which was quite exciting, and most decidedly won by the right team!).
16 of our 55 teams never saw an extra game this season, while 18 teams played one, 12 teams played two, 6 teams played 3, and 3 teams played an a pretty heady 4 extra games. And who are the Heartbreak Award winners this season? That would be Katmandu of G division, who suffered three 1001 losses in their four tries at it. And the Kings of Clutch? Absolutely, it's The Bogarts, also of G division, who took all three of their 1001 games, including the Mug match! Honorable mention to Overtime Outlaws, who also won three 1001 games, but that was out of four games and those produced no hardware…

RDL REPRESENTED AT EAST-WEST ALL-STARS

Huge success this past weekend for several of RDL's best throwers! The regionals for the East-West Nationals ADO event were held near Petersburg, VA, with 24 competitors divided into 8-man brackets. Two from each 8-man group advanced to the final round to play for the Nationals spots, with three of the six finalists coming from RDL (and a fourth was an ex-RDL member!). In the end, Wil Tan of Out Of Our Element and Brian Blake of The Shadows both qualified for the East-West All-Stars tourney in Connecticut in August. Jeremiah Millar, also of The Shadows, lost a playoff for the alternate position, losing to ex-RDL member Scott Ingrum. All very impressive.

RULINGS ON SCORING DARTS / BOARD CONTACT

Keith Moats of Rebels Without A Cause called in with a question about whether a dart counted if it was resting on top of another dart and the point was touching the wire on one number's side of that wire, but was NOT touching the bristle itself. As the RDL bows to the American Darts Organization tournament rules when our rules do not specifically state something, I've included the pertinent rule here. This rule also very likely answers another question that I am asked quite often…

ADO Tournament Rule #35: For a dart to score it must remain in the board 5 seconds after the 3rd or final dart has been thrown by that player. The tip of the dart point must be touching the bristle portion of the board.

For those who are interested, you can get the ADO Tournament rulebook at:

NEW DARTER (& NEW RED WING FAN) ALERT!

Congratulations to J.J. Yoneoka (of the Travelin Beer Bellies) and his wife Amy! On Friday, April 27, Jacob Isaac Yoneoka joined us here in RDL land. No word yet on whether his first outfit indeed had a big winged wheel on it, but I'm confident in his taste. Pictured is proud grandpa Oakie Yoneoka (also of the Travelin Beer Bellies) holding Jacob. I'm not sure he's looking so confident there though - J.J. and Amy might want to break him in slowly…

LATE-SEASON AND TOURNAMENT QUOTES

From the last two weeks of the season…

Quote #1: from RDL Secretary Heather Bohanan: "Mystery Beer Rocks!" [Uh, well, ok… This one certainly prompted a note requesting more info. As it turns out, Chubby's puts a bunch of beers in a huge can with ice and puts a lid on it. Everything in it is $1, but the trick is that you never know what will be pulled out. She assures me that there are some really some good beers in there, and some total crap too, so it's a MYSTERY!" - JK]

Quote #2: from Tom Brown, of my team, Out Of Our Element, after he noted that Jeremiah Millar of The Shadows (our top rivals this season) hit a 161-Out to complete his second 9-dart 301 of the season: "If you hit a big out, it should be a fast game. Nothing like a 150+ out to finish a 21 darter, eh?" [Why is this funny? Because a few seasons ago in the tournament, I, Tom's teammate, hit a 170-Out… to complete an 18-darter. Basrd. - JK]

Quote #3: from Martin Peers of Who's Your Ducky?, in response to a request from me for a couple details of their thrilling week 13 wins in 501 (and subsequently 1001): "Sorry, but I was the one willing Steve (Tollerton, his teammate, playing in the last game to tie the match, with the season on the line!) to miss the 118 out - didn't want him to surpass my 109 division lead!" [So, I'm guessing that Martin won the Ducks' Team Player award this season… - JK]

Quote #4: a tribute to the dedication that our man Pete Rutten has to both his hobby and his libation, from one of his opposing captains: "The fact that Pete could stand up at all and sign this legibly is a testimony to the indomitable human spirit!"

Quote #5: from Lyman Kiser of One-Armed Bandits, describing his final week race for the D division singles title with John Wells of Effects of the Influence: "Me and John were both throwing our SCrkt game at the same time in Varina, he had started a little earlier. I couldn't help watching his game and he was pretty far behind. Then I had to stop watching in order to concentrate on my game, thinking how pretty another mug would look. Next thing I know he's jumping up and down running all over the place whooping it up. I snuck up on him later on and wrapped my hands around his neck but decided jail time wasn't worth it." [Hmmm… somebody keep an eye on Lyman when I call out John's name at the banquet during the Singles Mugs presentations… - JK]

From the tournaments…

Quotes #6, #7, and #8, all of them the same: from Tami Wells of Effects of the Influence, who ended all of her match result calls the same way: "Alright, chop, chop!" [??? - JK]

Quote #9: from Bill Chaney of Rebels Without A Cause, after his team took the B Mugs in 1001: " Hey! Hey! Hey! Hey, Jason! I'm trying to talk but Daddio won't let me… We won it! Scott Butters the hero! Scott Butters the hero. Of course, I'm the one that got down to where he could hit the out, so Bill is the second hero! (then lots of background yelling...) Jim Davis ain't worth a dn! He lost all his matches! But we pulled it out in 1001. Thank you, Jason! And from the Rebels, we love ya, boy. We got a little surprise for ya… [A little surprise? Hmmm…. Do you guys think I should be afraid right about here? Maybe just a little? - JK]

Quote #10: also from Bill Chaney, who clearly has a decent sense of humor about himself: "Jason, this is Bill back from the Rebels. Now I've heard rumors that I've been nominated for Sportsman of the Year. I just wanted to verify that. I mean if I was, I thought I'd be a clear winner... (followed by uproarious laughter from both the background and himself)."

Quote #11: from Cathy Moeschet of Who's Your Ducky?, paying compliments to some of their opponents: "And even though these guys (Board 2 Death) put us through the wringer, we're gonna miss them in a weird way if we're not in the same division next season."

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

I've run this page in a few recent banquet Tons, and it seems to generate about the most interest/discussion. So, I've decided to open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. As always, this is the last thing that I'm writing and it's late, so not even I know what's about to hit the page…

--Are the rosters really all THAT much bigger in G division? Yes, I can do math and see that they average just under 9 players/team, but that isn't all that much more than other divisions. The reason that I bring this up is that if you look at the full G stats page you'll notice that many of the best win percentages aren't on the leader pages. This is because quite a few of those records were achieved by players that fell just below the minimum games played lines for awards. Some of them missed some matches, but some of them just didn't play any more because of the size of their teams. Sort of a tough spot for them.

--Did you watch the Masters? Once again, the announcers could not get enough of talking about Tiger Woods's swing problems, illnesses, how he's fighting the motion of his own swing, etc. He… finished… second… It's not like he's five strokes off the cut! Because ONE person beat him we need to analyze what's wrong with him? It's right about then that you realize when somebody has reached some sort of mythical status in his sport.

--It seems like a waste to let the whole story of Don Imus and his "nappy-headed hos" line go by without a comment. So, I think I'll nominate one of the RDL's teams to be our own Nappy-Headed Hos. Hmmm… Let me think… Ok, how can it not be John, Ted, and the rest of the Amish? They are just irreverent enough…

--The Ducks found the key to doubles success against Off Constantly in their week 14 showdown for the regular season title. They won two doubles games, both by the pair of Jason/David. I think the reason they won is obvious. So obvious, in fact, that I'll put my full name here as an electronic version of my signature testifying that I see the reason for their success: Jason David Kilts.

--Have you seen the Division II National Championship basketball game between North Carolina's own Barton College and Winona State? The last minute is absolutely unbelievable. You can find a clip of it on YouTube if you simply Google-search "Barton College basketball", or you can copy these four lines of address into your browser window address box:
http://www.youtube.com/p.swf?video_id=LFYnersg2Us&eurl=http%3A//www.google.com/search%3Fhl%3Den%26q%3Dbarton%2Bcollege%2Bbasketball&iurl=http%3A//img.youtube.com/vi/LFYnersg2Us/2.jpg&t=OEgsToPDskJ1XslZmW9B6JLJZRCtBfUd
If you are a sports fan, you really really need to see this finish…

--For those who are keeping score at home, you probably noticed that the F division total points changed for two teams after the tournament Tons. The scoresheet that wasn't mailed in time for that issue by the Designated Divers rang up a mail-in penalty, and also rang up a phone penalty because they had called in the wrong score. That necessitated an update to the point total of Left Side Doubles (their opponent) as well. Just fyi…

--Have you ever seen that Suzuki Forenza add where the people are at the football game? They drive around trying to avoid the people and other cars and then all of a sudden park in the front row. What the hl is the point of that ad? I just don't get it.

--On the other hand, the Alltel ad where the salesman is thrown into a van by the other companies' salesmen, and then he mocks their Dungeons & Dragons-ness without them noticing is awesome.

--Here are two quick trivia questions for you… Answers are at the bottom of the column (no peeking!).

Trivia question #1: How many times did a team chalk up 0.0 cricket all-star points in a match this season? (It happened quite a few time in -01…)

Trivia question #2: How many current RDL members have hit both a 170-In and a 6-Bull in RDL play and lost both games?

--Who here watches Survivor? Of you who do, who thinks that Andre ("Dreamz") was totally clueless all the time regardless of how much credit he gives himself? What an idiot. When he basically stole the truck, and then said it was 'strategy', I wanted to punch that moronic liar right in the head. Ugh.

--Two cases of Being In The Wrong Division At The Wrong Time: #1 - Jerry Shengulette of Never A Dull Moment hit the 2nd highest 'Out' of the entire season, a beautiful little 149. The only shot higher was a 150 by Tony Alcon… who just so happens to play in Jerry's division, thus allowing half a dozen people in other divisions win to awards for outs less than 149 while Jerry got nothing. #2 - Tami Wells of Effects of the Influence rang up the 2nd highest Cricket all-star point average for all women in RDL. However, the only woman with a higher ave. (by 0.00071) was Deb Blackwelder… who plays in her division. Same fate as Jerry.

--So I sent out an email reminder for this banquet yesterday, listing most of the estimated times for food/awards/LOD with the suffix '-ish'. And Mike Peoples of Cereal Killers responded with this: "Thanks for the reminder-ish". Smarta.

--I love the fact that Scott Butters can't overcome his captaining tendencies even when he's not captain. Over the last few weeks of the season, Scott simply couldn't trust Bill Chaney (his capt.) to call in the results, so he did it himself. The best parts were when Bill called in after him anyway, and made jokes about Scott not trusting him…

--You know what rocks? All-you-can-eat wings at a dart bar on a dart night. That's what rocks. (AND they have Newcastle on tap! Get one of those domed hockey games and I'm home…)

--When I grow up, I want to be a Menace to Sobriety. No, not an actual menace, a dart Menace. Many from their team seem to truly grasp the best reasons why we're out here playing. Nice.

--Oh, so this is how darts is supposed to played… In my last singles cricket set this season, in the A division Mug final, I had the 'pleasure' of facing Jeremiah Millar. After a couple of 2-mark and 3-mark turns to start the first game, I then reeled off three 5-mark turns in a row. And lost ground on every one of them! So, then I switched things up and strategically threw a 2-mark! To which he responded with a 9-mark. Good lord already! For good measure, he then threw a 3-bull. So, his last five turns were 6m / 7m / 6m / 9m / 3b. Oh, come on… Second game wasn't a whole lot better than the first, but at least my chalker (teammate Tom Brown) found humor in it - after the set he told that "he really thought I was going to outlast him in that second leg. Throwing triples really tires you out, and since he was throwing a couple every turn, he would really be exhausted soon!"

--Trivia answer #1: 4. Three of them occurred in F division - both Capital Punishment & Menace to Sobriety in week 1, and Who's Your Ducky? in week 14. The other happened in G division in week 9, and was a WIN, by the Coral Reefers!

Trivia answer #2: 1, Mike Seward. Lost the 301 to Joe Stevens and the cricket to Wil Tan. (In all fairness though, if you are hitting a 6-Bull, you're probably pretty far behind at that point.)

The "Sometimes When Things Just Come Together The Conclusion Is Obvious And Unavoidable" Edition

TOURNAMENT WINNERS

"A" Division - The Rogue Element (14-2)

The Element steamrolls through the tournament, dropping 0, 1, and 2 points in its three matches, completing the season/tournament double, and picking up a 6th set of Mugs in the last nine A seasons.

"B" Division - Shut Up and Shoot (14-6)

In a tournament that fit perfectly with the debacle known as the B regular season, #5 Shut Up and Shoot takes down the #7 Beer Bellies in the final. Even the #1v#8 quarterfinal went to the last pair.

"C" Division - The Aristocrats (13-5)

Maybe the only team in the entire RDL that might have ended up in the wrong division completes the only undefeated season, winning the season by FIVE matches and giving up 1, 5, & 5 in the tourney.

"D" Division - Dynamic Darts (13-9)

For the first time in a year and a half, Rif Raf doesn't take both their season and tournament, as Dynamic dumps them in the final for their second win over Rif Raf in just the past four weeks of play.

"E" Division - Bennington Brawlers (12+-12)

The only finals match that even reached the last 501 went beyond that, tacking on a tiebreaker! From the sounds of it, the Brawlers were just about out of this one before sneaking back for the win.

"F" Division - Damn Yankees!! (14-8)

The Yankees prove they have B2D's number, as they are the only team to beat them since week 4 (this being the 2nd time). The Yanks weren't really challenged, beating the #6 and #7 teams on the way.

"G" Division - Overtime Outlaws (13-5)

Overtime was tested in the semifinals by the Reefers, but then put it on cruise control in the finals, thumping the upstart Diddlers (who won 2/3 as many matches in the tournament as during the season).

"H" Division - The Redneckers (13-7)

Their name conjures images of double-wides, old pickup trucks, and cars on blocks in the yard, but if you look real close you'll see season plaques and tournament mugs decorating each of those.

REGULAR SEASON WINNERS

"A" Division - The Rogue Element (13 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - The Shadows

"B" Division - Nine Lives (10 wins, 4 losses)
2nd place - Cheap Shots

"C" Division - The Aristocrats (14 wins, 0 losses)
2nd place - Effectually Influential

"D" Division - Rif Raf (11 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - Dynamic Darts

"E" Division - Bennington Brawlers (10 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Duck Darters in the 21st and a Half Century

"F" Division - Board 2 Death (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Damn Yankees!!

"G" Division - Overtime Outlaws (9 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Designated Divers

"H" Division - The Redneckers (8 wins, 4 losses)
2nd place - Death Throw

NEED A SECOND WEEKLY LEAGUE?

TOURNAMENT QUOTES

Quote #1 : from a league member whose identity I will withhold, as I'm including this quote solely to illustrate exactly what happens when loud karaoke is placed immediately next to a dart match: "I don't know if you can fin' hear this because I can't fin' hear nothin' either! I don't understand how you let a fin' match go on with karaoke at the bar!" [For the record, I could BARELY make out what this caller said over the roar of the karaoke. And interestingly, this call-in wasn't made by either team in the match that had a discussion about whether karaoke at a dart establishment was actually against RDL rules. - JK]

Quote #2 : from what was left of the Reefers' Sean Jarvah, after a clearly fun quarterfinal: "Reefers took it over Punishment. I don't remember what… the… score.. was… but we won. Hopefully that's good enough.

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

So this season we added a division and a few more teams, and we thus added a few more tiebreakers as well. 40 total tiebreakers were played this season (with 3 of those coming in the tournaments). Every one of the eight divisions had at least 3 tiebreakers, and no division had more than 6, so no division really stood out as the one that was bad for those of us with heart conditions. 50 of the 60 teams played two or fewer tiebreakers, with 9 teams playing 3 extra legs, and 1 team playing 4 1001 games. Based on the outcomes of those extra games, both the Cardiac Kids award (most tiebreakers) and Heartbreakers award (most overtime losses or most important overtime losses) go to E division's Off Constantly. Off Constantly was the only team to play 4 tiebreakers, doing so out of a 7-team division. While they lost 3 of those 4, the lone win was well-timed, coming in the divisional quarterfinals. However, the last loss unfortunately came in the divisional finals!! Oh, ow. Honorable mention for both awards goes to Who Darted? , who looked to be early-season locks for both, losing 3 tiebreakers in their first 4 matches!! Their drama proved to be short-lived however, and they never saw 1001 again. Last couple of interesting notes: not one team won more than 2 games of 1001, and the four 1001 games played in A division involved all 8 teams once each.

SPRING 2008 RDL SEASON INFORMATION

These dates (or at least some of them) are on page 8, as well as on pages 1 and 36, but I am putting them in many locations because they might be the most important thing for you in this newsletter.

MONDAY, January 7th - Spring season reg., Fayetteville St Tavern
Wed., Jan. 16th - Preseason capts.' mtg./packet pickup, Fayetteville St Tavern
Wednesday, January 23rd - Start of Spring season match play
Mon., Feb. 25th - 5th week captains' meeting, Fayetteville St Tavern
Wed., Apr. 30, May 7/14 - Spring season divisional tournaments
Saturday, May 17th - Spring season banquet, site TBD

WEDNESDAY BLIND DRAWS DURING THE BREAK

Don't forget that the Upper Deck has added Wednesday blind draws to their weekly list of draws (Friday and Sunday) until next season starts. Registration closes at 8:00 p.m., and the bar at least matches the pot (and adds more if there are more than 28 entrants signed up)!!

FALL 2007 PENALTY SUMMARY

Not much room left with all those all-star point Mug listings, eh?

H division led the way this season with 8 total penalties (for 51 points), but B division actually paid the most in points (68, on 7 penalties). There were a total of 43 penalties doled out, costing teams a total of 325 points. The breakdowns by division were: A (4 penalties = 31 points), B (7 = 68), C (4 = 31), D (7 = 57), E (4 = 31), F (6=41), G (8 = 51), and H (3 = 15). There were 2 preseason captains' meeting penalties (for 10 points), 21 election ballot penalties (for 105 points), 10 phone penalties (for 50 points), and 10 mail penalties (for 160 points).

A whopping 29 of the 60 RDL teams were hit with at least one penalty. And the biggest losers? Well, Dynamic Darts took the most penalties (4), and Bag O' Nuts lost the most points, but the biggest losers are certainly Liquor Pos'se (which drops a division next season due to 26 penalty points!) and Cheap Shots (whose 2 penalties cost them the B div. title!!!).

Weekly Blind Draws

Over the past few years, weekly blind draws have come and weekly blind draws have gone. If any of these folds or if any others start up, please let me know and I will make the change to the list here in the Tons of Newsletter.

(both of these are double elim., w/ the bar matching the pot!)

Friday	Upper Deck, 8:00 p.m. (460-9977)
Sunday	Upper Deck, 8:00 p.m. (460-9977)

(and this one is a new "dart and pool challenge")

Wednesdays	Tailgaters, 8:00 p.m. (790-6800); $5 to enter, bar matches the pot, 80% for 1st, 20% for 2nd; 501/301/cricket, with pool table games also

"HOT DARTS" CALL-IN GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines you should use for the minimum number of all-star points to report when calling in your scores.

"A" Div. = 4.5 or more ASPs; "B" Div. = 4.0 or more ASPs
"C" and "D" Divisions = 3.5 or more ASPs
"E", "F", and "G" Divisions = 3.0 or more ASPs
"H" Division = 2.5 or more ASPs

Also, call in any fast games, high ins, high outs, or other amazing feats that you think warrant a little recognition (e.g., Ins & Outs higher than a Ton, 24-dart cricket games, 15-dart 301s, 24-dart 501s, Ton-70s and up, 5-Bulls+, etc.).

PENALTY LOG

Here are all the penalties assessed this season. Think the point math in your division doesn't quite add up? THE TWENTY-SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
(This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional MVPs

A Division	Mike Seward	Cereal Killers	E Division	Robb Beeson	Off Constantly
B Division	Ron Hendricks	Starving Dartists	F Division	Mike Reynolds	The Bogarts
C Division	George Bubanic	The Aristocrats	G Division	Sean Ackley	Designated Divers
D Division	David Hoyt	Rif Raf	H Division	Tolson Willis	Death Throw

All of RDL -- Tolson Willis -- Death Throw

"A" Division

Brian Blake	The Shadows	Joe Nationals, Joe States, Joe RDL…
Tom Brown	The Rogue Element	Back in the high win percentage groove.
Marshall Chavis	The Shadows	Among division leaders in everything.
Mark Knight	Dodge Darts	Clearly the power outside the top teams.
Jeremiah Millar	The Rogue Element	Don't blink or you'll miss a perfect toss…
Robbie Phillips	The Rogue Element	Gets in a zone most of us will never see.
Mike Seward	Cereal Killers	Driving force behind Mug runners-up.
Bob Terry	Lunatic Fringe	Him or Gibbs? One of my toughest calls.

"B" Division

Ron Hendricks	Starving Dartists	Put Dartists on his shoulders all season.
Mikey Hindle	Shut Up and Shoot	Good player, good team, peaked at end.
John Jenkins	Dogs of War	Probably the best addition in B division.
Timothy Lane	Craig's Swine Crew	Longtime Pig comes home, leads squad.
John Mays	Nine Lives	Led Niners to first-ever(?) spot in A div.
Brett Thomson	Bag O' Nuts	Top Nut led in both singles and doubles.
Tom Wiegand	Dogs of War	Mr. Consistency has Dogs in every match.
Wesley Vaux	Cheap Shots	Got better each and every set.

"C" Division

David Alvord	The Aristocrats	Lots of wins, and a cricket ASP title too.
Bart Bear	#D	Ok, so we just sit him in doubles cricket.
Paul Beaudoin	Bulls Hitters	Super in singles covers 0.500 doubles.
George Bubanic	The Aristocrats	2007 was his complete domination year.
Kent Butters	Effectually Influenti	Torched in singles, then just decent.
Tony Keller	#D	Not exactly 501-clutch, but still strong.
Charles Parker	The Aristocrats	Was in A last season. Should still be.
David Simpson	Effectually Influenti	Mr. 120-In one of most dangerous in C.

"D" Division

Brian Buchholz	Rif Raf	Mr. Double Sets specialist was clutch.
Chris Goodknech	Grateful Darts	14-0 in singles? That alone is enough.
David Hoyt	Rif Raf	Won 80% of his games for top D team.
Lyman Kiser	One-Armed Bandits	Yet another consistent, powerful season.
Bob Kvasnicka	Tres Equis XXX	If only this part-timer was a full-timer…
Mike Raquet	Boondock Saints	Got half of his team's DCkt victories.
Walter Taylor	One-Armed Bandits	Started slow, but later sets were great.
Tom Winters	Dynamic Darts	Great singles record and a 170-In to boot.

"E" Division

Robb Beeson	Off Constantly	Still the most out-of-division guy in RDL.
Deb Blackwelder	Wire We Here	SCkt machine sort of floated in the rest.
Brian Hobbs	Bennington Brawler	Ok, just list the team's best in 301 already.
Jon Kenney	Bennington Brawler	I guess maybe he sits 501 if they've won?
Carl Lee	The DIVE Bombers	Not the DCkt star, but way clutch in 501.
Matt Perry	Bennington Brawler	Not spectacular, but surely holds his own.
Mike Roberts	Off Constantly	Would be team star if Beeson wasn't here.
Justin Stehle	Lil' Pickled	The biggest Pickle got better with the sets.

"F" Division

Jim Doroshenko	Kozmic Debris	I'd say he needs a new Dbls partner, but…
Ronnie Knott	Board 2 Death	Captain of F's top team simply rocked.
Jonathan Lane	Board 2 Death	Less consistent, but just as good as Knott.
Vicente Martinez	Damn Yankees!!	½ of Mug's terrible twosome w/Sarantos.
Jeff Moore	Bullfrogz	New team's most dependable set-to-set.
Mike Reynolds	The Bogarts	Wow. Another absolutely fabulous season.
Alex Sarantos	Damn Yankees!!	See Martinez comment above…
Brian Smith	The Bogarts	Not really so hot in -01, but loves cricket.

"G" Division

Sean Ackley	Designated Divers	Super solid, led team to a set of plaques.
Adam Bennett	Overtime Outlaws	Compiled 31-0 SCkt total w/Clark & Tant.
Dan Clark	Overtime Outlaws	Head Outlaw nabbed team&singles Mugs.
Dave Johnson	Menace To Sobriety	A little bit of a slow starter, but then great.
Eric McCartney	Menace To Sobriety	Super winner FNG about to be FNCaptain.
Van Smith	Coral Reefers	Has a Reefer gone 11-1 in DCkt before?
J.J. Tant	Overtime Outlaws	Finished w/top record of the Outlaws' trio.
Nate Wade	Coral Reefers	Steady Eddie for the Reefers once again.

"H" Division

Dan Campbell	Where's the Bullsey	Owned people for 3 sets, then fell asleep.
Michael Guarneri	The Laoch Nog's	Put together team, then basically carried it.
Dale Lego	The Redneckers	Nice Tailgaters pickup helped big title run.
Shane Nelson	The Redneckers	Could that lull in DCkt really be accurate?
Tony Polston	Who Darted?	Tied for singles title, but sat lots in dbls(?).
Trevor Shick	One Markers	Top shot drove One Markers' upset run.
Dan Titsworth	Money Shot	Great in SCkt, then good in both doubles.
Tolson Willis	Death Throw	Took sub-0.500 team to title contention.

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

-The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): For the record, divisions D/E/G/H were at a distinct disadvantage here, as they only face 12-match schedules. Still, plenty of big success leaguewide. The big dog of the year is Mike Reynolds of F division's The Bogarts, who rang up an astonishing 11+ wins in all four sets! The runner-up spot goes to another F division thrower, Ronnie Knott of Board 2 Death, who rang up 10+ wins in each set (and who might have been joined by Ryan if he would have ever listed in 501…). In addition, we have seven honorable mentions, who had either four 9-win sets or three 10-win sets: Brian Blake of The Shadows, Keith Wall of The Rogue Element, Eric McCartney of Menace To Sobriety, Mike Seward of Cereal Killers, Alex Sarantos and Vicente Martinez of Damn Yankees!!, and the aforementioned Ryan Knott of Board 2 Death.

-IronMan/Woman Award: Again divisions D/E/G/H were at a disadvantage, but that's just the way it when the team number isn't a multiple of eight. This season we had a tie for the Iron Man Award, with both Dave Johnson of Toe the Line in A division and Brian Gaertner of Bag O' Nuts in B division playing 63 games this season. Honorable mentions as division leaders: Jon Fazenbaker of Excalibur in C with 57; Mike Raquet of Boondock Saints in D with 53; Thom Dunn of The DIVE Bombers in E with 53; a five-way tie (I'm not listing them all…) in F with 58; Shervin Ejlali of Bad News Beers in G with 51; and Sara Fulghum of The Laoch Nog's in G with 53.

-The Team Attendance Award winners: Four teams this season actually made a pretty decent run at joining the old days where a team would play the same 6 players every set all season. This season's top consistency squad is Bag O' Nuts in B div., who played only 6 players, with each in the range of 53-63 games.

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

Pretty decent season in spite of the messes that were known as B and H divisions. But that's easy to just say and not support, so let's examine the picks a bit…

In my preseason picks (which are clearly the most difficult set), I did alright. With the exception of the week 14 Shadows-Cereal match, I had A division pretty much dead on. My B pick came through in the tournament, but I completely missed out on Nine Lives (probably because they've been 0.500 for-ev-er). Next, with only a one-match difference on Effects/Hitters, I hit C division exactly. And I did even better with D division, getting that completely correct. In E div., I didn't give Duck Darters quite enough love, but everybody else was basically transparent to me. The F division plaque winners I nailed, but the teams that followed I had sort of jumbled. And in G division, I overestimated the Reefers and underestimated the Outlaws, but the rest is pretty accurate. Finally, in H div., I really overestimated Who Darted?, and I didn't see that the division would be quite that close, but I really wasn't that far off the final outcome.

My weekly prediction results you can peruse pick-for-pick on the other side of this sheet of paper. I got over 70% correct again, but I also proved that I might as well flip a coin for B and H divisions. Oh, and also that Shut Up and Shoot and Off Constantly can kiss my butt for the last half of the season…

Last but not least were my tournament predictions… And surprise, surprise - I had winning records in 6 of the 8 divisions. Which two fooled me? B and H, of course! Who would expect anything less? H had been all upsets all season, so I picked some, and I paid for it. And I flat guaranteed that B division would give us some wild stuff - I just picked the wrong wild stuff, as the #5 seed outlasted the #7 seed in the final. Alas, for the first time in years I didn't pick any divisional tournament exactly right (getting one wrong in four different divisions).

(I introduced this page eight seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the one 'o' symbol indicates the team for which I was only 0.500, and the one 'x' symbol indicates the lone team that fooled me more often than not. [After all the mess that was known as B and H divisions, I at least fought back to at least 5-7 for every team except Shut Up and Shoot, with whom I was doing alright until I tanked their last 6 in a row!]

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED

I now run this column during seasons in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers follow the questions. No peeking…

Week 3 question(s): The RDL uses a 15-mile radius from the State Capitol building as the acceptable location for RDL home establishments (with Varina being the lone grandfathered site outside the radius). How many of the league's 26 bars are more than 1 mile east of the Capitol? Which ones are they? How many of the league's 60 teams play in those establishments?

Week 4 question: What is the greatest number of darts that can be thrown in a game of 501, scoring each dart in a different scoring bed (defined as any single enclosed scoring area)?

Week 5 question(s): How many current RDL teams have at least tied for the best match W/L record in their divisions for at least the last three seasons? At least the last two?

Week 6 question(s): In the past 23 seasons (the length of time for which I have full records), how many times have RDL members been paid up for a season without ever playing during the regular season? How many people have done that more than once?

Week 7 question(s): How many teams this season have the exact same roster as last season? For those that do, which current team has had the exact same roster the longest?

Week 8 question: What is the record for most 'shirt' events won at the NC State Championships in a single year?

Week 9 question(s): Who holds the lifetime record for most NC state championship titles (all 'shirt' events included)? How many has s/he won?

Week 11 question: One last state championship question… How many people have won an NC State Championship shirt since the start of the tournament in 1990?

Week 12 question: What are the shortest and longest team names in the 23 RDL seasons prior to this one?

Week 3 answer(s): Of the league's 26 home establishments, only 4 of them are more than one mile east of the Capitol Building (the center point of the league's accepted area), with 2 of those 4 being only barely east of that 1-mile line. The four establishments are Scooters, Tailgaters, The Korner Pocket, and Overtime Sports Pub. And a grand total of 5 teams (8.3% of the teams in RDL) call those 4 establishments home. If you don't play in D, F, G, or H division, you don't head to the east half of Raleigh unless it's for a neutral-site tournament match. For a VERY cool interactive website map detailing this information (as well as contact and food/drink service information for each bar), check out: http://www.trantor.org/bars/rdl.html Galen Johnson of team C7/ Team America maintains this site, as well as a similar one for the Bull City Dart League in Durham (simply replace 'rdl' with 'bcdl' in the web address). In addition to being a longtime RDL member, Galen is the BCDL President. Like the site? Next time you see Galen, let him know you appreciate it.

Week 4 answer: Now first off, the answer is not "infinity" because the question read "scoring each dart". With that in mind, the answer is 51. That's right, you can hit 51 different enclosed scoring areas in a game of 501 (out of 82 total scoring areas on the board). That is also coincidentally the number of enclosed scoring areas which produce 18 or fewer points (18 skinny singles, 18 fat singles, 9 doubles, and 6 triples). You can't throw precisely those 51 areas though, as those total only 495 points; thus, you can win with a single target switch such as triple-8 instead of triple-6 somewhere along the way.

Week 5 answers: Three teams have at least tied for the best match W/L record in their divisions in both of the past two seasons: The Element (both in A), Travelin' Beer Bellies (in D and C), and Rif Raf (in F and E). Of those three, only the Element has a streak longer than two seasons, having had or tied for the best record in A division for eight consecutive seasons (the entire length of the team's existence). [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: The Element extended its streak to nine seasons, and Rif Raf extended theirs to three.]

Week 6 answers: In the past 23 seasons, RDL members have paid without playing during the regular season 219 times (note: they were still eligible to play in the tournaments, although I have no way of knowing if any did). That's an average of 9.52 people per season (at $20 per!). 200 different people are included in those 219 occurrences, with 14 of them doing it more than once. Two-time donators include: Doug Creech, J.D. Dixon, Joe Futima, Bob Gargan, Keith Gibbs, Keith Moats, Clayton Rodgers, Ron Shirley, Chris Stafford, Bruce Steinhauer, and Britt Whitley (sounds like more than a few of those were teams hoping they could entice a big gun to show by paying his dues, eh?). Checking in with three paid/unplayed seasons are: Bob Kvasnicka (all with Tres Equis, and all in a row in the three seasons before this one), and Stella Sutter (two with Deadstroke, one with Whompas). And the king Mac Daddy of paying and not playing? Joe Wilson of Lunatic Fringe, who was the figurehead captain and evidently unneeded super-sub for FIVE seasons after he stopped playing in the league. Not only did Joe give to the league as President for years while he was with us, but he kept giving long after, eh?

Week 7 answer(s): 3. The Misplacements (formerly Replacements) in A division, and The DIVE Bombers and Bennington Brawlers in E division. And of those three, precisely zero had the exact same roster last fall. Sort of shows how fast things can move around here. It's sometimes easy to keep a team core together, but not so easy to keep some of the less dedicated or less central members.

Week 8 answer: SIX!! Yes, that's SIX shirts! In one year. Out of seven possible championship events. Six of seven. No, I'm not kidding, I'm completely serious. And when did it happen? Two weeks ago!! Brian Blake of The Shadows won every event he could (singles, doubles, triples, four-player, men's, mixed…) except for the singles 501 title. I was going to look up what the previous record was, but then I thought 'who cares?'. That is a record that could stand for decades (or longer).

Week 9 answer(s): Bob Gargan, with 16! Julia Mack is 2nd w/ 14, Debra Parker is 3rd w/ 12, then come Ryan Barnette and Paula Delp w/ 11 each. [This year's hammer, Brian Blake, is at 8 and counting…]

Week 11 answer: Isn't actually known!! And may never be known! But we can make a pretty close guess. First off, I don't know the winners of 8 of the shirts from this year's event (6 of the women's winners and 2 of the four-player winners), and the Charlotte group that ran the tournament has not sent out result lists and seems to basically ignore email requests for specifics (you go, Ritchard!). And secondly, the winners of the four-person 701 event in 1991 were never recorded by the tournament officials, and thus may be lost into the never-never-land of darting statistics. With those extra possible numbers in mind, the answer for how many people we KNOW have won shirts is: 135! 71 of those people have won an event only once, 19 have won twice, 14 have won three times, 6 have won four times, and the remaining 25 people have won 5+ times. 7 different individuals have won an amazing 10+ titles, including current RDL member Phillip Eastmead of Liquor Pos'se (next on the current RDL leader list are Brian Blake of The Shadows, Tom Brown of The Rogue Element, and Jim Budelman & Tom Van Arsdale of Lunatic Fringe, each with 8 titles; all other current RDL members have 5 or fewer, youth events not included). [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: Once the 2007 results were finally sent out, the new total became 137 people, including an eighth individual claiming his 10th shirt this year (Neal Bedworth).]

Week 12 answer: Since the question said the 23 seasons PRIOR to this one, neither #D nor Duck Darters in the Twenty-first and a Half Century is eligible. But only one of those (#D) would have won. The shortest before now? PMS in the four seasons of Sp96-Fa97, and NBF and IBF in the three seasons of Sp02-Sp03. And the longest? Sp02's Big J's Rump-Shakin', Ego-Rakin', No-Crap-Takin' Crew of Ill Repute (featuring four current RDL members: myself, Dale Hyler, Doug Jeffcoat, and Mike Seward).

2008 RDL BOARD NOTES

Just a quick reminder that the "new" RDL Board takes over at the end of the year. Four of the seven Board members are staying on in their exact same offices (Bohanan, Huff, Howley, and Dunn), while two more are staying on but in new offices (Thomas - new President, DeMattos - new League Growth/External Organizations Director). Joining the Board as Vice President will be J.P. Evans of Toe the Line. And finally, how about one final leaguewide round of thanks for Kevin Coyne? I've been writing the Tons for 12 years now, and I'll have to check back in my records, but I think that Kevin was a Board member in ALL 12. Incredibly generous.

CONGRATULATIONS TO SOME STATE CHAMPS

The postseason tournaments of the North Carolina City Dart League (NCCDL) and North Carolina Ladies' Cup (NCLC) were held this past weekend, with some RDL members tasting a good deal of success. The Durham city team, featuring Allen Smith, Dale Hyler, Tom Brown, Wil Tan, Keith Wall, Robbie Phillips, and Jason Kilts from The Rogue Element, and Mark Knight of Dodge Darts and Paul Jacobi of Lunatic Fringe, cruised to their third straight state title, defeating Raleigh (21-7), Wilmington (20-8), and Charlotte (21-9) along the way. More state league details on pages 14 & 15. Congrats to all of my teammates!!

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

I've run this page in a few recent banquet Tons, and it seems to generate about the most interest/discussion. So, I've decided to open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. As always, this is the last thing that I'm writing and it's late, so not even I know what's about to hit the page…

--I am absolutely rooting for the New England Patriots to go 19-0 this year and win the Super Bowl undefeated. And I am rooting for that for completely selfish reasons. 'What are those reasons?' you ask… Well, I just want for myself to NEVER EVER EVER have to see those old decrepit and bitter 1972 Miami Dolphins on my TV screen ever again. This whole annual traveling pony show where they all admit to hoping that nobody matches their achievement is sad at best, and wholly annoying at worst. To top it off, some of them are trying to spin these mini-interviews into another fifteen minutes of fame. This week alone I've seen Mercury Morris offer up a sort of '70s rap he wrote, and then heard him say "1000 percent is what we accomplished. We're in the house." Oh, so you won ten times per week that year? 1000 percent, eh? I guess your Super Bowl ring sits right next to your advanced math degree. And don't even try to tell me he meant a 1.000 percentage in the standings; I already know that. But if you're being this much of a camera whore at least know what you mean to say. Gross.

--The best 'out' I saw during the tournaments this year? Wil Tan of my team threw a beautiful single-6/double-20 to check out against his opponent in the finals. Would have been even better if he hadn't had 44 left. (It would have been double-great if it had cost him the point too, as we were up 5-0 at the time and Wil was on the hook for a round of drinks if he had lost.)

--Did anybody else see the end of the Patriots-Ravens game last Monday (or was it Sunday?) night? After the Patriots scored the go-ahead touchdown, one of the Ravens committed a personal foul, which can be assessed on the ensuing kickoff. Then he took another, which can be tagged on to the first. Then the Ravens were offsides on the extra point, which can ALSO be tagged on to the kickoff. After the 35 yards in penalties were assessed, the Patriots were kicking off from the RAVENS' THIRTY-FIVE yard line. Seriously. The Patriots' kicker, rather than trying something tricky like an onsides kick attempt that could be run all the way back for a touchdown, simply kicked the ball deep into the stands at the end of the field. Crazy stuff.

--Did anybody see the end of the New Orleans-Tampa Bay game last weekend? After finally getting the lead and then getting the ball back with only a few minutes left, the Saints' coaches called a double-pitch reverse at midfield! With the RB making the second pitch! I'm sure you can guess how that debacle turned out. I think if I was the coach, I would have started crafting my resignation speech at the very moment that ball hit the turf.

--Three more examples of my ongoing campaign for an adoption of a rule in the style of baseball's 'George Brett rule'. For those who don't know, in baseball a player who does not satisfy the minimum requirement of at-bats for the batting title can still win the award if he was doing so well that he still would have won if he failed in every attempt necessary to reach the minimum. In our case, that would be like someone who is 14-0 in singles (and thus short of the 16-game minimum in divisions D/E/G/H) losing to someone who is 18-5 in singles because the 18-5 person had played 16+ games. Even if the 14-0 person had lost both of the needed games to make the minimum, he would still have won the singles title quite easily. Makes sense, doesn't it? I think so. And that example is EXACTLY what happened in D division, with Chris Goodknecht going 14-0 and going home emptyhanded. A couple more examples can be gleaned from the all-star point races: 1) Ryan Knott in F division threw 10.0 -01 ASPs in 18 games, one game below the minimum in that division. Had he thrown one more completely ASP-less -01 game, he would have satisfied the minimum AND won the ASP title. 2) Similarly, if Tony Polston in H division had played two more ASP-less -01 games, he would have tied for the ASP title in his division. I understand the need for minimums to really give the awards to those deserving of them, but if a player is that dominant and would win even with artificially added failure to reach the min. playing level, sometimes it feels like we're missing something.

--I know you all remember the item I ran earlier this season with the anonymous email angry at the fact that I had the nerve to even include the name of another darter in an item about Brian Blake (Brian, for the record, likely couldn't care less, as he is far too busy winning dart games to care what I write…). Anyway, in that item I referred to Brian's only loss at the state tournament, to my teammate Robbie Phillips. The emailer noted how Robbie did nothing but sit on his butt all day because he had been "beaten terribly in every event" so he was well-rested when he met the certainly-exhausted Blake on Sunday. I wasn't at the tournament, so even if I had wanted to argue that point, I had no knowledge of the event, so I couldn't. Well, now I have the NC state tournament results page. It turns out that Mr. Phillips finished in the money in… every… championship... event… of the weekend. Every one. He sure is good when he's sitting on his butt all day, and he sure gets paid a lot for taking such awful beatings. Do you think the doofus emailer was even there?

My congrats to Robbie on a very strong weekend, and even greater congrats to Brian on an almost unmatchable weekend…

--One last football comment, as this is still the heart of the best sports season known to man… This one is directed toward any person who even remotely wants to tell me that the college BCS is a good idea: HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!! Moron.

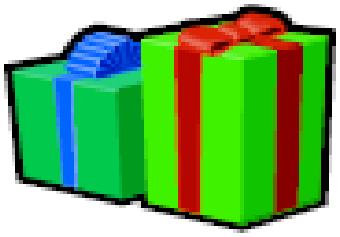
2007 North Carolina City Dart League Post-Season Tournament (November 30, and December 1 & 2 - Arnie's Place, Durham, & Upper Deck, Cary)



2007 North Carolina Ladies' Cup Post-Season Tournament (December 1 & 2 - The Green Room, Pineville)

'Tis the season… And what better way to celebrate the holidays than a little Friday night darting action? With just a bit of effort on your part, you could help make the holiday season a little (but very important) bit brighter for a child who has less than you do. It really doesn't take much to turn a sad holiday of envy into one of bright-faced joy for someone too small to have any power over their situation in life. And you can help. And you can have fun doing it. Play some darts, enjoy the company of those who share your hobby, and realize how great your life really is. And maybe, just maybe, help bring somebody else's life a tad closer to your level of happiness. Win or lose in the tournament, you'll be happy you came…

Location: THE UPPER DECK, 329 N. Harrison Avenue, Cary - 919-460-9977

Charity Super Luck of the Draw

When: Friday, December 14th
Sign-up cutoff is 8pm
Up to 64 players will be a double elimination tournament. Over 64 will be single elimination.

Entry fee $10 with an unwrapped toy
Entry $15 with no toy

Guaranteed payout of $700

The more people, the more toys we can bring to the Salvation Army which serves Children in our Area!!!
Come out and join the Carolina Dart Association on December 14th.
You can make a difference in a child's life!

We will be raffling off prizes all night long for those entered in the Luck. If you bring a toy, you double your chances in the raffle.

The "I Don't Care How Old They Are… Van Halen Was The Greatest Concert I've Ever Seen" Edition

"A" Division - Element X (13-11)

The Element jumps out to a 9-3 lead, The Shadows tie it at 9s, and then the Element closes it out winning two 501 sets with outs in the range of 56-82 each game to claim their seventh Mug in ten seasons.

"B" Division - Random Precision (14-10)

Precision completes the season/tournament double in one of only two finals matches that went to the last 501 pairing. Plus, they're still/again the only team to ever beat the year-old Aristocrats.

"C" Division - BullsHitters (14-6)

It was a weird ride for the BullsHitters, who faced the #7, #6, and #4 seeds in their Mug run. And they certainly weren't fazed by any of the upstarts, as this 14-6 score was the closest anybody got to them.

"D" Division - Tailgaters (14-8)

One of RDL's weekly shorthanded teams finally makes my preseason prediction look smart, by taking down the only remaining undefeated RDL team in the final, and being the only non-#1/#2 seed to win Mugs.

"E" Division - Off Constantly (13-4)

This season's tournament winners with the most comfortable margin of victory throughout were one of only three teams that didn't see a postseason 501 set (and one other had a bye in the quarterfinals).

"F" Division - Overtime Outlaws (12-6)

After the Outlaws outlasted The Bogarts and Irish in a 14-week race to the finish, they didn't end up encountering either of them in the tournament, instead taking out the #8, #5, and #6 seeds for the Mug.

"G" Division - The Redneckers (13-5)

After earning a first-round bye, Foxworthy's Friends loaded up their pickup trucks and double-wides with another pile of hardware, having cruised to their second consecutive season/tournament double.

"H" Division - Any Given Wednesday (13-5)

After the losing-record Archers took out previously unbeaten Money Shot, all that was left for Any Given Wednesday to do was sort of stroll their way through to the Mugs by a combined 41-11 score.

REGULAR SEASON WINNERS

"A" Division - Element X (11 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - The Shadows

"B" Division - Random Precision (13 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - The Aristocrats

"C" Division - Rif Raf (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - BullsHitters

"D" Division - Bennington Brawlers (12 wins, 0 losses)
2nd place - Just the Tip

"E" Division - Off Constantly (13 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - Board 2 Death

"F" Division - Overtime Outlaws (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - The Bogarts

"G" Division - The Redneckers (10 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Capital Punishment

"H" Division - Money Shot (12 wins, 0 losses)
2nd place - Any Given Wednesday

RDL FAX NUMBER TO CHANGE IN FALL

Due to the combination of the increasing costs of electronic mail fax services by eFax and the increasing number of competitor companies, the RDL will be switching companies prior to the Fall season. This almost certainly means that the RDL fax number for scoresheet turn-ins will be changing!!! The new fax number will be prominently advertised right from day 1 in the Fall, but I wanted to get the idea of a new number into everybody's heads right now. So, come next season, please keep the likelihood of a new fax number in mind…

NEED A SECOND WEEKLY LEAGUE?

If one night of dart league play per week isn't enough for you, maybe it's time to add another! The Bull City Dart League in Durham (and a bit of RTP) is going to start its Summer season at roughly the same time that the RDL will be starting its summer break. The league lists four players per set, and allows 4-8 on the roster, with dues of $20/player. Additionally, the entire league plays under a very innovative handicap system, unlike just about any other steeltip league in the world. Definite bonus points for originality and uniqueness of experience. If you're interested and would like more information, please contact BCDL President Galen Johnson (also a member of C division's Team America) at 673-3758 or gjohnson@trantor.org . Registration is Tue., May 27th, from 7:00 - 9:00 p.m., at West End Tavern in Durham (1647 Cole Mill Road, 383-9381).

A GREAT REMINDER FOR NEXT SEASON, AND ALWAYS…

J.J. Yoneoka of Travelin' Beer Bellies left me a message to share with everybody that could really go a long way toward maintaining great relationships between our league and the establishments in which we play. Basically, he just wanted to point out to everybody that many of our establishments bring in extra waitstaff specifically to serve the dart matches that are played there. Thus, if your match is going to be cancelled due to forfeit, if the establishment isn't notified, then there's going to be a very lonely waiter/waitress, and that person and the bar's managers aren't going to be too happy with the RDL as a whole. Thus, if you know in advance that one of your matches isn't going to be played, do everybody a favor and call ahead to the establishment as well as your teammates. They'll certainly appreciate the effort.

WEDNESDAY BLIND DRAWS DURING THE BREAK

Don't forget that the Upper Deck has added Wednesday blind draws to their weekly list of draws (Friday and Sunday) until next season starts. Registration closes at 8:00 p.m., and the bar at least matches the pot (plus, I think they still do the weekly mystery out)!!

Tailgaters will also be adding Wednesday blind draws for the summer, starting on June 4th. Draws will start at 8 p.m. and the bar will be matching the pot! (This summer draw is, unfortunately, not on the page 8 calendar listing, as that page was printed before this info reached me.)

COMPLETE CAPTAIN DEPENDENCY

Holy cow… As a longtime RDL captain (and captain in other leagues), I can appreciate the special trials and tribulations that go along with the job. But geez, do the BullsHitters ever rely on Fon Denton… I've been saving a message from Fon Denton (team captain) ever since week 5. Fon didn't play that week, but that didn't mean he wasn't still the most important member of his team. Check this out: "I was out with the flu but still managed to print the Tons and the score sheets for them, and even provide a pen (which was apparently sick too) and still they couldn't call or send in the results. I found the score sheet on my door when I got up this morning, so here it is [by fax]." Man, the rest of you BullsHitters are some serious slackers… At least you didn't call Fon and make him come pick it up at least…

ON A ROLL…

3 of the 5 teams in the box below (Element, Outlaws, Redneckers) also pulled the season/tournament double last season. None of those 3 did it the season before that, so the longest current both-award streak is two seasons. We'll see if any can keep it going in the fall season…

SPRING 2008 PENALTY SUMMARY

One season after leading the RDL with the most penalties, H division became the first non-A division to go without a penalty since the Spring 2004 season. A division was close behind with only 1 penalty. The div. totals: A (1 team, 1 penalty, 16 points), B (2 teams, 2 penalties, 10 points), C (2 teams, 4 penalties, 42 points), D (3 teams, 3 penalties, 15 points), E (2 teams, 3 penalties, 37 points), F (2 teams, 5 penalties, 36 points), G (1 team, 2 penalties, 21 points), and H (0 penalties). That makes for a total of 13 penalized teams, 20 penalties, and 177 lost points. For a team-by-team breakdown, see the penalty log on page 8.

While 9 of the 13 penalized teams felt no consequence to their actions, Rebels Without A Cause and Bull Frogz both dropped one ranking spot due to penalties, and One-Armed Bandits would have dead-tied for the next spot up. But the biggest losers? One season after having the most penalties, Dynamic Darts dropped a spot AND a division due to penalty.

For those of you wondering where any given RDL host establishment might be, a quick trip to the RDL map site maintained by Galen Johnson of BullsHitters might be in your best interest. The website listing is on the Tons calendar page every week, but I'm going to include it here for easy usage: http://www.trantor.org/bars/rdl.html I (and several others) highly recommend it. Galen has done a fabulous job with it (for no reason other than to be the nice guy that he is), so you might even want to tell him how much you appreciate it the next time you run into him.

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

Same number of divisions as last season, same number of teams as last season, same total number of matches as last season… But maybe the divisions weren't quite as uniformly competitive as last season, as our tiebreaker total fell from 40 last season to only 31 this time around (3 of those in the div. tournaments). B division led the way with 9 tiebreakers (with 1 in the tournament) and every team having played at least 1 1001. C division followed closely behind with 6 1001s (1 in the tournament), then came E with 5, H with 4, D with 3 (1 in the tournament), and F and G with 2 each. Which leaves… A division… without one single extra leg this season! 38 of the 60 teams leaguewide played in at least one extra game, with the 7 A teams joining 5 of the F teams as the lead non-tiebreaker groups.

Five teams played as many as 3 tiebreakers this season, with the title of Cardiac Kids going to B division's Bag O' Nutz, who won all three of their tiebreakers with the last of those three coming in the tournament quarterfinals. The runners-up title for that award goes to another B division team, The Aristocrats , who also went 3-0 in 1001, but whose three extra legs all came during the regular season (with 2 of those 3 coming in the first four weeks).

The title of this season's Heartbreak Kids is quite a difficult one to bestow. While Where's the Bullseye in H division lost a pair of 1001s, they also were able to pull out a 1001 win. Four teams in B division, on the other hand, had to endure a pair of 1001 losses without chalking up any victories. Thus, we will just anoint all 4 B teams as this season's somewhat Heartbreakers: Rebels Without A Cause , Swine Crew , Shut Up and Shoot , and The Locals .

ANOTHER REMINDER FOR THE FALL SEASON

I already wrote this on page 4, but I just want to keep re-iterating it for everybody: the RDL fax number for score-sheet turn-ins will CHANGE for the Fall, 2008 season!

"HOT DARTS" CALL-IN GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines you should use for the minimum number of all-star points to report when calling in your scores.
"A" Div. = 4.5 or more ASPs; "B" Div. = 4.0 or more ASPs
"C" and "D" Divisions = 3.5 or more ASPs
"E", "F", "G" Divs. = 3.0 or more; "H" Div. = 2.5 or more ASPs
Also, call in any fast games, high ins, high outs, or other amazing feats that you think warrant a little recognition (e.g., Ins & Outs higher than a Ton, 24-dart cricket games, 15-dart 301s, 24-dart 501s, Ton-70s and up, 5-Bulls+, etc.).

SEASON-LONG TROPHY DART MINIMUM GAMES PLAYED REQUIREMENTS

To be eligible for all-star point average ('01 and cricket are now separate awards) and singles win %-age awards, you must play in at least 66% of the total projected games this season:
for Divisions "B", "C", "E", and "F" (8 teams / division):
All-star pt. %-age: min. of 19 '01 games, or 19 Ckt games
Singles win %-age: min. of 19 Singles Games Played for Divs. "A", "D", "G" (except G6), and "H" (7 teams / div.):
All-star pt. %-age: min. of 16 '01 games, or 16 Ckt games
Singles win %-age: min. of 16 Singles Games Played for team G6 (due to a forfeit rcvd.): 15 in each category

THE TWENTY-THIRD SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
(This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional MVPs

A Division	Robbie Phillips	Element X	E Division	Vicente Martinez	Damn Yankees!
B Division	George Bubanic	The Aristocrats	F Division	Dan Clark	Overtime Outlaws
C Division	Ron Hendricks	Starving Dartists	G Division	Shane Murray	The Redneckers
D Division	Lyman Kiser	One-Armed Bandits	H Division	Mike Guarneri	One Markers

All of RDL -- Mike Guarneri -- One Markers

"A" Division

Brian Blake	The Shadows	Ranked what in the ADO, did you say?
Marshall Chavis	The Shadows	Plays biggest at the biggest times.
Jimmy Davis	Lunatic Fringe	The Happy Assassin loves the big games.
Mark Knight	Element X	Return to The Element was a glorious one.
Robbie Phillips	Element X	Best clutch RDL player in several years.
Mike Seward	Bullz Brothers	Another season, another A singles title…
Bob Terry	Lunatic Fringe	Quiet, unassuming, and completely deadly.
Keith Wall	Element X	Beat top competition time and time again.

"B" Division

George Bubanic	The Aristocrats	Superman says he's coming for me… Me?
Kent Butters	The Locals	Turning his brother into a Locals sidekick.
Phillip Eastmead	The Locals	Led Locals all season, in wins, as captain.
Steve Holland	Random Precicision	Dodge part I - The drop to B division…
Doug Jeffcoat	Random Precicision	Dodge part II - …seems to have worked…
Timothy Lane	Swine Crew	Quietly led Swine through first three sets.
Tim McNamara	Random Precicision	Dodge part III - …out fine for these 3 guys.
Trey Rodgers	Rebels w/out Cause	Gave Rebels a chance week after week.

"C" Division

Rob Barwick	Rif Raf	Biggest winner for regular season titlists.
Paul Beaudoin	BullsHitters	Consistent, even though he missed a few.
Donald Grubb	BullsHitters	Durham import just keeps winning games.
Ron Hendricks	Starving Dartists	So clearly the team's throwing leader…
Jess Jur	Rif Raf	Doc wins a lot, in every set, every season.
Tony Keller	No ID	10 wins in three sets, led Mug upset effort.
Chris Mori	BullsHitters	Highest win %age for Mug champs.
Tom Winters	Dynamic Darts	Needs a new DCkt partner, but still rolling.

"D" Division

Shawn Carter	Bennington Brawlers	Picked him despite weekly Buckeye note.
Kris Fischlein	Bennington Brawlers	So maybe he just sits when we reach 501.
Phil Groves	Just the Tip	Um… why does he almost never play 301?
Jon Kenney	Bennington Brawlers	Geez, is he Fischlein's weekly 501 partner?
Lyman Kiser	One-Armed Bandits	Had simply a monster season. Again.
Lee Scott	Tailgaters	Better than 2-to-1 record in all four sets.
Walter Taylor	One-Armed Bandits	Seemingly got better as the match went on.
Billy West	Tailgaters	Trump capped Mugs win with a double-1.

"E" Division

Robb Beeson	Off Constantly	Off Part I - These four guys put up…
Tom Kubel	Off Constantly	Off Part II - …about the most impressive…
Jonathan Lane	Board 2 Death	Just all-around solid for runner-up team.
Carl Lee	DIVE Bombers	Four 10-win sets for barely 0.500 team.
Vicente Martinez	Damn Yankees!	28-0 in singles? 22-6 in doubles? Whoa…
Zak Mayhew	Off Constantly	Off Part III - …set of 4 records on one…
Mike Roberts	Off Constantly	Off Part IV - …team that I've ever seen.
Alex Sarantos	Damn Yankees!	Would shine if Martinez wasn't around.

"F" Division

Travis Ackerman	Bull Frogz	Won 12 / 11 / 10 / 9 games in the four sets.
Sean Ackley	Designated Divers	Led team in three sets and both ASP stats.
Dan Clark	Overtime Outlaws	Isn't this guy supposed to be in A div.? :o)
Joshua Claypool	Bull Frogz	1 of only 4 guys in RDL w/ 3 11-win sets.
Scott Fuhrman	Overtime Outlaws	Sort of a part-timer, great when he's there.
Mike Reynolds	The Bogarts	Team flopped the week he was on vacation.
Brian Smith	The Bogarts	Provided great second fiddle to Reynolds.
Tony Williamson	Overtime Outlaws	19-2 in cricket sets, also decent in '01 sets.

"G" Division

Jeff Austin	Death Throw	Best bet as a Death Throw executioner.
Dean Cusher	The Redneckers	Here's a pick based on SCkt and 501 only.
Neal Hogan	Death Throw	Not the most special '01, but good cricket.
Nathan Knuffmar	Dartastrophy	Holy crap! 16-0 doubles? Who does that?!
Eric McCartney	Menace To Sobriety	FNG still the most menacing on Menace.
Shane Murray	The Redneckers	Finally played like I often wrote he would.
Wayne Sexton	Capital Punishment	All kinds of consistent for #2 G div. team.
Nate Wade	Coral Reefers	This guy has been winning since… ever.

"H" Division

Fulton Crowley	Where's the Bullsey	Very key to his team (when he's not capt...).
Sebastian Greene	Ale-ing Archers	Got more than half his team's DCkt wins.
Mike Guarneri	One Markers	Nobody in RDL more above team average.
Tony Polston	Who Darted?	Not really sure why he sits out 501 a lot…
Mark Powell	Any Given Wed.	No more than 3 losses in any of last 3 sets.
Bob Rube	Any Given Wed.	Superb singles record for H Mug winners.
Jeff Taylor	Money Shot	Wow, now that is set-to-set production.
Dan Titsworth	Money Shot	Even better than last season's showing.

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

-The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): For the record, divisions A/D/G/H were at a distinct disadvantage here, as they only face 12-match schedules. Still, plenty of big success leaguewide. The big hammer this season? Tom Kubel of E division's Off Constantly, whose lowest-winning set was 11-3. That's right, 11+ wins in all four sets! Holy cow! Three others in RDL this season join the club, all also from E division! - Kubel's team-mate Robb Beeson, Vicente Martinez of Damn Yankees!, and Carl Lee of DIVE Bombers. In addition, we have seven honorable mentions, who had either four 9-win sets or three 11-win sets: Mike Seward of Bullz Brothers, Tim McNamara of Random Precision, Jim Dzengeleski of Dynamic Darts, Joshua Claypool and Travis Ackerman of Bull Frogz, Dan Clark of Overtime Outlaws, and Shane Murray of The Redneckers.

-IronMan/Woman Award: Again, with two fewer matches, players in divisions A/D/G/H just weren't winning this one… Who did win? Two teammates that almost certainly enjoy their dart night more than you do: Bill Chaney and Keith 'Daddieo" Moats of Rebels Without A Cause (or enough teammates) with 65 games each! Honorable mentions as division leaders: Kevin Coyne and Dave Buckman of Cheap Darts in A with 54; Metin Balikcioglu of Team America in C with 60; Nicole Hatch and Andre Reaume of Tailgaters in D with 52; Ronnie Knott of Board 2 Death in E with 59; Brian Smith of The Bogarts in F with 57; Van Smith of Coral Reefers in G with 52; and Kristen Immen of There's/Bullseye in H with 53.

-The Team Attendance Award winners: Up to 11 teams this season actually made a decent run at joining the old days where a team would play the same 6 players players every set all season. This season's top three consistency squads are: Rebels Without A Cause and Swine Crew in B div., and Bullz Brothers in A div.

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

Despite the fact that D, G, and H divisions produced only one non-div.-winning team with a record better than 7-5, I didn't have too bad of a season pick-wise.

In my preseason picks (which are clearly the most difficult set), I was awesome. I named 5 of the 8 division winners, simply mixed the top two teams in H division, picked the D winner to finish 3rd, and had only one bad division winner pick (clearly having way more faith in the Coral Reefers than was warranted). I had all of A division exactly right from top to bottom; I hit just about all of B division (I mixed up the #2 and #3 teams); in C division I had most of it with the exception of too much faith in Dynamic; I didn't have the Brawlers higher than 3rd and didn't see Just the Tip coming in D division; E division was so dead on that I even called the B2D-Yoicks race for 2nd to the end; F division went exactly like I said other than not giving the Irish quite enough credit; G division was… a bit of a mess… really didn't too well here at all; and H was exactly what I said it would be except for having #1 and #2 inverted. All in all, you guys were pretty transparent.

My weekly prediction results you can peruse pick-for-pick on the other side of this sheet of paper. I got over 73% correct again, and only hit less than 66% in D division, the one division that had a team with which I was sub-0.500 for the season (One-Armed Bandits, at 4-8, after an 0-5 start).

Last but not least were my tournament predictions… And this time I was over 0.500 in every division except H (where I went 3-3). I even had a winning record in G, where my winner pick lost in the first round!! All in all, I predicted 5 of the 8 tournament winners, and 2 more of my picks lost in the finals. We lost two matches to forfeit in the first round, but I went 19-7 in the others, then 12-4 in the semifinals (despite picking all later rounds before the tournaments began), then 5-3 in the finals, for a final record of 36-14. 72%... sounds about right…

(I introduced this page nine seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the five 'o' symbols indicate the teams for which I was only 0.500, and the one 'x' symbol indicates the lone team that fooled me more often than not. [Dangit! For 4 of the 5 teams for which I was only 0.500, I only fell to that level because I got their last match wrong. Still, not bad, considering I was 61+% in every div., including the mess known as D.]

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED!!!

The Raleigh Dart League in conjunction with the Carolina Dart Association is proud to announce that we will be hosting the 2008 NC State Dart Tournament. The Tournament will be held October 3-5, 2008 at the VFW Hall on Reedy Creek Dr, Cary (Site of many RDL banquets). This is the first time the State Dart Tournament has been hosted in the Raleigh area in over 10 years. We want to make sure that we will be selected again in the future. In order to do this, we need volunteers and lots of them. We need volunteers in the following areas: setup/teardown, registration, graphics design, fundraising, sponsorship and printing. If you are interested in assisting with the preparation for the state tournament, please send an email to tournament@raleighdartleague.org.

SPONSORSHIP AND FUNDRAISING ASSISTANCE NEEDED!!!

The Raleigh Dart League is seeking sponsorships of the boards at this year's NC State Dart Tournament. Any players who run their own businesses and would like to purchase a board sponsorship can do so for the low price of $25 – normally $40. This offer is also extended to bars that sponsor RDL teams. We are also looking for Gift Certificates and door prizes to help raise funds to offset costs of running the tournament. Examples of gifts would be gift certificates, shirts, hats, gift packs, beer steins, etc. If you have some- thing that you would like to donate or would like to sponsor a board, please contact the Tourn. Director at tournament@raleighdartleague.org as soon as possible.

FALL 2008 RDL SEASON INFORMATION

These dates (or at least some of them) are on page 8, as well as on pages 1 and 36, but I am putting them in many locations because they might be the most important thing for you in this newsletter.

Wednesday, July 23rd - Fall season registration, High Park
Monday, July 28th - Preseason RDL Board meeting, site TBD
Wed., Aug. 6th - Preseason capts.' mtg./packet pickup, High Park
Wednesday, August 13th - Start of Fall season match play
Monday, Sept. 15th - Fifth week captains' meeting, High Park (maybe we'll all be good, and we can cancel this meeting again…)
Wed., Nov. 19, Dec. 3/10 - Fall season divisional tournaments
Saturday, December 13th - Fall season banquet, site TBD

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED

I now run this column during seasons in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers follow the questions. No peeking…

[We didn't start up the trivia questions until almost midseason this time around. Maybe we'll start earlier next season…]

Week 7 question(s): The Aristocrats are now on a 23-match win win streak. How many of the other five remaining undefeated teams have win streaks extending back to before this season? Whose is the longest streak in that group?

Week 8 question(s): (this one by request from one of our teams at the end of last season) How many teams in the past 12 years (the amount of time for which I have complete records) have started the season 0-3 and still won their regular season division title? Who are they?

Week 9 question(s): Presently, the High Out in D div. is a whopping 73. Six more weeks, and that could be a plaque. We've only had divisional High Outs a few seasons now, but… What is the lowest High Out award given in the last 12 years?

Week 10 question(s): Which division has had the "bye" the most times in the past 25 seasons (counting this one)? How many?

Week 11 question(s): What is the highest number of undefeated teams (season + tournament) RDL has had in one season in the past 12 years (the amount of time for which I have complete records)? How many seasons with 0 undefeated teams?

Week 12 question(s): What is the highest number of winless teams (season + tournament) RDL has had in one season in the past 12 years (the amount of time for which I have complete records? How many seasons with 0 winless teams?

Week 7 answer(s): 3. The Element won their final five matches last season, and the Brawlers and Redneckers each won their final three matches last season. Neither Off Constantly nor Money Shot ended last season with a Mug, so their win streaks started this spring (note: the Redneckers' streak ended the week this question was asked). [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: Only Money Shot and the Bennington Brawlers managed to roll those win streaks all the way into the tournaments.]

Week 8 answer(s): Very conveniently… 1. It was, of course, the team that requested the question. A few others started 1-2 and came back for title gold, but only one team has gone from 0-3 to a division title: the Fall '07 fan favorite… The Redneckers!!

Week 9 answer(s): 80, last season, in G division, by Adam Bennett of Overtime Outlaws. Three other divisional high out awards over the past two seasons were also two-dart possibles: Fa07 - 85 - Rob Knight of Tres Equis XXX in D division; Sp07 - 98 - Tim Caldwell of Dogs of War in B division; Fa07 - 100 - Sebastian Greene of One Markers in H division. The lowest "leaguewide" high out awards were at Ton-26, in the Spring, 2000 season, won by Lee Scott (Industrial Strength) & George Sutphen (Horsemen). [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: Just a couple weeks after this question ran, the High Outs in many of the divisions started jumping almost weekly. In the end, all eight divisions had High Outs of 106 or more.]

Week 10 answer(s): Despite complaints from pretty much every division whenever they get the bye (along the lines of "aw, man, our division always gets the bye"), it's pretty clear that isn't true. In the past 25 seasons, B and D divisions lead the way with the bye 13 times (four times no division had a bye). But right behind B and D are E division (12), A division (11), C and G divisions (10 each), and H division (2 times, out of the only 2 times we've had an H division). Not getting their share of the off-weeks at all, however, is F div., which has had the bye only 6 times in the past 12½ years. It appears F-leaguers get more darts for their money…

Week 11 answer(s): 3 (out of 7 divisions that season), in the Fall, 1996 season (A-Lunatic Fringe, B-Top Dead Center, C-The Dart Party). Overall, there have been 20 undefeated teams during the past 24 seasons, with 9 of those seasons going without even a single perfect record. Also, all 7 divisions (we just added H last season) have had at least one undefeated team in that time, and no division has had more than five during that 24-season span. [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: We nearly had our 21st undefeated team in the last 25 seasons this spring (until the D division final), and almost also had the RDL's first ever undefeated H division team.]

Week 12 answer(s): 5!! In the Fall, 2003 season, teams in A, D, E, F, and G divisions all went winless. Amazingly, there have only been a total of 12 other winless teams in the other 23 most recent seasons, with no more than 1(!) in any one season. Even more amazingly, there was a SIXTH team in the Fa03 season that went through the regular season winless, but they actually pulled out TWO tournament wins and lost in the Mug final in C division (Dogs of War III). And for those keeping track at home, the per division totals of winless teams in the last 12 years: A=8, B=0!, C=4, D=1, E=1, F=2, G=1, H=0 (only one prior season with H). [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: add 1 more on to the G division totals for this season…]

QUOTES FROM YOU, THE RDL'S WEEKLY WARRIORS

It just seemed like we had more news, more teams, more stats, more everything, this season. Which left less room for the sillier stuff in the weekly issues of the Tons of Newsletter such as the weekly quotes column. I didn't just toss the quotes though… No, instead I saved the ones for which I didn't have room and compiled them all right here. Enjoy. Some of you are nuts…

Quote #1 - week 8 - from William McEwen of Tres Equis XXX: "Jason Kilts… William McEwen… Tres E-Quess! I got so tired of your 13-11 predictions that we decided to smash you in the stat column where it hurts. There ya go. I think it was like 18-5, but don't quote me on that. And you can predict us to win next week too, because we've got a bye! G'bye!" [Wow, is this what it's come to for the guys of Tres Equis? They have to talk smack to me and my predictions on the week before they have a 'bye'? And just for the record, I hit all five results for XXX after their bye (1 win, 4 losses) to finish 10-2 on my predictions of their matches. - JK]

Quote #2 - week 8 - from Dave Johnson of Menace 2 Sobriety: "Menace, 16-8. And if I wasn't mistaken, I'd say three in a row is a streak. So, we're hoping to keep that going. Go Menace!" [At the time it sounded sort of like some toss-away comment, as the Menace had simply climbed to 3-4 so far. But they kept on going, winning 4 of their last 5 after this, nearly claiming 2nd place, and playing so well that I picked them to win the G tournament out of the #3 slot. After which they promptly tanked to a shorthanded team in the first round. Geez, thanks a lot, gang… I look brilliant now, eh? - JK]

Quote #3 - week 10 - from Robb Beeson of Off Constantly: "Also want to report, first time I've ever seen it, and I have no idea how much you keep record of it, but… we had two people in 301 throw two Tons and lose." [Whoa, that's weird. I don't have any sort of stats about this at all (especially since I can't differentiate 301 tons from 501 tons), but this is pretty remarkable. Just can't happen that often. - JK]

Quote #4 - week 10 - from Mike Seward of Bullz Brothers: "Mike Seward threw a 9-mark in a 16-dart singles cricket, which should have been a 12, but fin' Joel Eason pointed me, and I couldn't do it." [Isn't that always the way? Ya get a fast game going and that other shmuck has the nerve to keep trying? Geez, some people's kids… Sid Mitchell almost did the same thing to Mike's fast doubles cricket-throwing teammates later in the season, hitting a 3-bull in one of his team's only three turns. - JK]

Quote #5 - Week 11 - from Phillip Eastmead of The Locals, via the scoresheet comments box: "How do you lose a 501 DBL when you hit 3 T in a row?" [Well, off the top of my head I would say 'by not hitting a double', but maybe you should talk it over with Robb Beeson (see quote #3 above). - JK]

Quote #6 - Week 11 - from Dave Johnson of Menace To Sobriety: First call: "Next week man, I just want you to go ahead and predict us to lose. Even though you predicted us to win this week, go ahead and predict us to lose." Second call a bit later: "I just wanted to clarify that we do have a bye next week, so I still want you to predict us to lose next week, alright?" [Dave, have you been out drinking with William McEwen (see quote #1 above)? - JK]

Quote #7 - Week 11 - from Dogs of War vs. Bag O' Nutz scoresheet: "Singles cricket: Rick [Bradshaw] starts with 9mark and Jose [Aguilar] hits 2 7marks to come back and win!" [Now THAT'S a game, eh? Maybe we should move both of their teams up to A division right now, don't ya think? :o) - JK]

Quote #8 - Week 11 - from Steve Hoffmann of Lunatic Fringe (after giving me the score of the match and nothing more): "That's it, and you're lucky you got it! 'Cause I'm getting drunk as hell…" [He called back the next day to make sure that he had put in the score. I guess the Fringe had a good time that night… - JK]

Quote #9 - Week 12 - from a friend of mine on another team, who shall remain nameless for obvious reasons here: "I hate to tie up the voicemail and everything, but I just want to say one thing. If I ever have a nose hair, and I mean not growing in my nostril but on the outside of my nose, that extends greater than a half an inch… if you don't tell me, I will kick your a."

Quote #10 - Week 12 - from Tim Caldwell of Dogs of War: "The feral Dogs finally found a format favorable to our fortune. Wow, alliteration and all. Make it Felipe's birthday, and have us playing their guys' friends from Fuquay, and it quickly turned into a drinking contest. … I had a fun night, it consisted of leading players of both teams to the line, pointing them toward them board, telling them what game they were playing, and going 'it's your turn, shoot'. Drunk, and they still did it…" [Anyone who has ever played either the Rebels or the Dogs is probably smiling and slowly nodding his/her head in agreement as they read this one… - JK]

Quote #11 - Week 13 - from Thom Dunn of DIVE Bombers: "Ya know, Mr. Kilts, I know that I'm not captain of the DIVE Bombers anymore. However, this warranted a call from me, because once again, the lowly Davids have taken/defeated the giant Goliaths, and we took down a number one seed in our division, undefeated with a really nice record. Very similar to the way we took Rif Raf down a couple of seasons ago. So, just goes to show you that the DIVE Bombers can take out anybody we want when we set our minds to it." [Hmmm… I guess that means you guys didn't set your minds to knocking out the Yanks in the first round of the tournament. :o) - JK]

Quote #12 - Week 13 - from Mike Seward of Bullz Brothers, when he reported his team's win when Kevin Kendall and Mike Peoples tossed a 10-dart doubles cricket game: "And, for the grand finale, probably the best dart game I have seen since I've been playing for, what, 15 years… Kevin Kendall and Mike Peoples, 10 darts, TEN dart doubles cricket game. Frickin' incredible, man. It's things like that is what we come out to play darts for, to throw things like that." [Wait, THAT'S why we come to play?? If so, then I might as well quit right now, because otherwise I'm just going to continually extend a lifelong string of fruitless nights out. I've thrown 14-darters quite a few times, but it is a looooooooong way from 14 darts to 10 darts… - JK]

Quote #13 - tournament quarterfinals - from Joe Kunesh of Any Given Wednesday: "Also, the guys wanted me to make sure that I told you 'that Brian Donahue finished out three straight games with three bullseyes." [Geez, I hope those games are partly in singles and partly in doubles. Otherwise, we might need to review the rules for winning the best-2-of-3 format for H division. - JK]

Quotes #14 and #15 - tourn. quarterfinals - from Steve Hoffmann of Lunatic Fringe (who was also the author of quote #8): (on Wed. night) "We won tonight. Noone can figure out what we won by, but we won." (and on Thur. morning) "Ah Jason, Steve Hoffman here. Lunatic Fringe won last night, and I can't remember the score. JT [Jason Thomas] would probably know." [As it turned out, JT did know the score. He also says that he was next to Steve telling him the score during the first time they called the result in to the VoiceMail. Lost in translation, I guess? - JK]

Quote #16 - tournament quarterfinals - from Tim Caldwell of Dogs of War, who beat the Swine for the third time this season, which also happened to be how many times I predicted the outcome of that pairing incorrectly: "Hi Jason, Tim Caldwell here, and I would say 'surprise', but it can't be a surprise to ya that the Dogs beat the Swine for the third time this season. Can't be a surprise. Anyway, the match saw the return of John Carroll to league play, and he helped the Dogs sweep doubles cricket en route to a 14-8 victory." [You brought back Carroll for the tournament!? No WONDER I get these dang picks wrong. I got a few of yours wrong earlier in the season after he was added to the roster because I thought he was going to play. And now you bring him in when I don't expect it??? How the heck am I ever supposed to get picks right? Ack! - JK]

Quote #17 - tournament finals - from Jason Roman-Cusher of The Redneckers, after winning the G tournament, after being predicted to lose the G final: " Jason, we've taken a consensus, and the entire team loves you. BUT... this time The Redneckers have to tell you to eat… some… crow… Redneckers take the whole dn thing, 13 to 5!! Thank you very much, sir… [At first I thought this was an invitation to some some sort of celebratory redneck dinner party, but then I realized they meant the metaphorical "crow". Dang. And I was hungry too… - JK]

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

I've run this page in several recent banquet Tons, and it seems to generate about the most interest/discussion. So much so, in fact, that I've increased this column to TWO full pages!! So, without further ado, let's open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. As always, this is just about the last thing that I'm writing and part of this was written when it was really late, so usually not even I know what's about to hit the page…

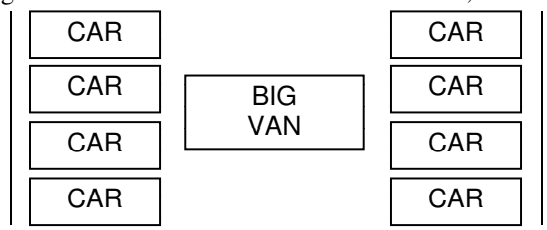
--"It's just a fking stick!!" If you don't know what that means or where it's from, then you are dead to me between the hours of 8 and 9 p.m. on Thursdays.

--I'm not much of a baseball fan, but I do watch just about any other sport, and thus my remote often finds it way to ESPN. When I was watching SportsCenter the other day, there were highlights from a game hosted by the Washington Nationals. Now when a baseball field is freshly trimmed and the mower creates the back-and-forth color scheme in the grass, that's pretty cool. But in centerfield at the Nationals' games, they also cut the curvy swervy Nationals logo right into the grass! Very extra cool…

--You darters are sick drama-driven hounds on the order of the ladies that grab the magazines at the grocery checkout lanes. This season had lots of good stories in it - the match that ended with two teams thinking they won, two divisions that almost had a 0.500 team finish in second place, a couple of establishments with conditions so poor the complaints started off almost weekly (both have apparently upgraded already), an almost-certain league record game, and a few matches that were just huge at the end of the season. But what was the one thing that I got asked about most this season? The guy who got banned from his own home bar early in the season. I know no more about it now than I did then (which is next to nothing), so don't bother asking me. Evidently, he just wasn't welcome there anymore and that's the end of it. Dirt-grubbing drama lovers…

--Best golf quote I've heard in a long time came this weekend when Sergio Garcia won The Players Championship in sudden death (at the island green! - how American made-for-tv is that?). After being given the trophy, Sergio said "First of all, I would like to thank Tiger, for not being here this week…"

--I got a real image of how "real men" go to dart matches when I visited an E division tournament match this season (my team had the quarterfinals week off). Very first thing I noticed was that both Matt Huff and Fred Flowers of the DIVE Bombers were chalking… in flip-flops! Not two minutes after I noticed (and then thought 'holy crap, what a couple of idiots…'), sure enough, a dart zinged off the board and nearly impaled itself in Matt's foot. Yikes.



--When I went home this past holiday season, I got one of the most poignant reminders of just exactly 'where I'm from' that I've ever received. In my hometown, there is exactly one 'gentlemen's club' (and I use the term gentlemen quite loosely in this instance). And when I was there, this fine establishment in central Michigan had this message on the scrolling light-up sign for passers-by: "Free admission with valid hunting license". Seriously.

--Just a personal note to anyone of you who at any point felt the need to ignore the water restrictions over the past year, and wash your car or water your lawn or whatever on days when it was no longer allowed: "You frickin' suck, you self-important arrogant moron! If my two sons had ever had to leave their home to get the one life-sustaining liquid on the planet because you care more about your stupid Trans-Am or Firebird or F-150 than you do about human life, I would have come over and kicked your dumb a myself…"

--I've heard people say so many times in the past that A division always has one team that can't be beaten, we should break them up, whatever. I'm not sure that has ever been more untrue than it is right now, with the top four in A being very competitive. Quick, when was the last time an A team went undefeated? Spring, 2003.

--Several weeks ago, Kevin Kendall and Mike Peoples of Bullz Brothers threw a 10-dart doubles cricket game. And at that time I pointed out that Tex Mozzetti of Projectile Dysfunction had set (or at least tied) the record for fewest marks hit in a game of cricket in A division (or any division, obviously) with 0 (in his three total darts that game). Well, I guess it's also likely that Mike Peoples set a record in that game too - for the fewest marks hit in a game that won an award: FOUR! To be fair though, Mike scored all four darts he threw (s17,s17,s17,dB needing one), and that last dart with a 10-darter on the line had to have a pucker factor of about 12.5 on a 10-scale associated with it…

--A little over a year ago I took a joint position between the Duke department of Psychiatry and the Durham VA Med. Center. Now I love where I work, I love the people with whom I work, and I really appreciate the clinical population with whom we work (the veterans, obviously). But I have got to tell ya… parking in the VA parking deck is a comedy routine and a test of patience at the same time. To get to the main portion of the employee parking section, you have to go through two levels of visitor/patient parking. And the people parking on those levels suuuuuuuuuck at parking. First of all, 80% of them feel the absolute need to back their vehicles in to the spot every time - and with the number of huge pickup trucks and conversion vans these people drive, that is quite the time-consumer, let me tell ya. They often pull up and back 4+ times to get the vehicle into the space, and they do NOT do it quickly. Second, they all seem to drive right… in… the… middle… of the driving space. Not to the right (or even to the left), so when you are coming toward someone, there is a very high-panic, low-speed shifting of position that leaves cars in angles the designers of the deck almost certainly never pictured. And finally, some of the parkers there seem to change their mind about what they are going to do, and do not just undo whatever their previous move was. My favorite example of this was a lady in a conversion van in the center parking aisle (of three on every level), which is just a couple feet narrower than the left or right parking aisles. I think she must have decided to turn around to go back, and she was going to turn around in that precise spot. When I got to that level and came around the corner, this is what I saw:

She must have executed a roughly 16-point turn just to get to the position she already achieved, and it was going to take another just like it to get her out. I, by the way, backed up and used the other ramp upward to get to the employee section that day.

--At the bottom of the previous column I wrote about how long it has been since an A div. team went undefeated. While that is remarkable, I think the week 11 trivia question really highlighted how competitive the RDL is from top to bottom. It could easily be argued that it's likelier for an out-of-place lower division team to go undefeated every season, but that doesn't seem to happen either. We've averaged <1 undefeated/season for over 13 years…

--The AllTel ads with the My Circle 5/10/20 people, and Chad and the four geeks from the other phone companies? Decent at first, fantastic for a few ads, and now simply annoying. The wizard?! What in the friggin' hl does that have to do with telephones? Plus, the fact that the Sprint guy changed from the rather funny glasses-wearing dork to the fuzzy-headed moron is disappointing.
--Earlier this season as I was typing out an item for the Tons, I had a real quick typo for Lil Pickled. Sometimes if the typo is funny, I'll actually leave it in, but in this case it really could have changed the tone of the night for those guys. I had typed them in as Lil Pickles. May be true, but certainly not for me to say…
--Sometimes as I'm perusing the statistics for the different divisions, I come across things that just sort of catch my eye. One of those types of things is people who put up drastically different numbers in one set of singles from the other (or the same in doubles). This season I thought I might share a few with you, so that you can wonder along with me as to how these happened:

C div. - Eugene Foushee - Excalibur - 2-13 in 301, 11-2 in SCkt
C div. - Britt Phillips - No ID - 8-6 in 301, 2-11 in SCkt
F div. - Jeremy Cominole - WF One - 9-3 in 301, 2-10 in SCkt
F div. - Carl Hiller - Sharkshooters - 2-10 in DCkt, 9-5 in 501
G div. - Jeff Austin - Death Throw - 10-2 in DCkt, 4-8 in 501

--I'm telling you right now, George Barnes (of Capital Punishment) and Mike Young (of Hostile Amish) have better taste in hockey teams than almost all of you do. If you can't root for the Red Wings with the three of us, at least tell me that you can appreciate the art form that is the Wings' puck possession game. Thing of beauty.
--Do you watch Survivor? If no… loser! If yes… then please read on. Two things from this season… #1 - Could Parvati's last name be any more appropriate? Shallow! That is just beautiful. #2 - I've decided that there are only two things on the show that I simply can not tolerate from the contestants: one is looking through another's personal bag/belongings, and the other is arrogance (especially in regards to how smart you think you are). Have these people never watched the show they're on? None of them ever know anything for certain. Ever. Regardless of what they think they know. Fools.
--At one of my tournament matches, Jim Davis of Lunatic Fringe pointed out to me that the highest overall ASP average player in A division wasn't going to win either the '01 or cricket category. That was a pretty interesting observation… and what do I generally do when an item like that pops up? Research the past history of course! So that's just what I did. This is our third season of split ASP Mug categories, and it turns out that this season's A division example wasn't alone. In the Spring '07 season, every overall ASP leader won at least one (and in many cases both) of the two divisional ASP Mugs. That wasn't true in the Fall '07 season though, as Sean Ackley of Designated Divers in G division had the highest overall ASP ave. in the division with a 0.705 average, finishing behind Nate Wade in '01 ASPs and Eric McCartney in cricket ASPs. (Julie Wilcox didn't win either ASP Mug in C division ladies in Fa07, but she also didn't play enough '01 games to qualify in that category.) Which brings us up to this season… and as it turns out, the highest overall ASP average player didn't win either Mug in THREE different divisions! Robbie Phillips of Element X (2.116 overall ASP ave.) in A division lost out to Tommy Gelhar in '01 and Jimmy Davis in cricket; Lee Scott of Tailgaters (0.861 overall ASP ave.) in D division lost out to Billy West in '01 and Lyman Kiser in cricket; and Mitch Colton of Money Shot (0.721 overall ASP ave.) in H division lost out to both Dan Campbell and Mike Kyle in '01 and Mike Guarneri in cricket.
--I still can't believe my team beat another by 48-0 in 2 matches…
--One of my favorite (and most amazing) dart stories in RDL history occurred this season, and I'm guessing that very few of you knew about it. Since it's completely at the humorous expense of one of our league brothers, it wouldn't be my style to not share it with all of you, now would it? Especially considering that I am the one that caused the whole thing (even though it was wholly unintentional). So, let me set up the story for you… Dan Clark of Overtime Outlaws in F division had a great night in week 8. In addition to winning several games, Dan hit TWO 9-marks that night. I thought that was pretty good (especially for an F-leaguer, right?), so when Dan faxed in his scoresheet the next morning, I sent him what I thought was a brief humorous/congratulatory reply. Here is roughly what I wrote: "Week 8 fax was good. And nice 9-marks. Pursuant to RDL Rule for Match Play 17.B.2.c.iii, as a lower division player hitting two perfect throws in one match, you will be randomly assigned to one of the bottom three teams in A division beginning with this coming week's matches." I thought Dan would see it, chuckle, and reply with a "very funny…" type of message. Uh, that's not what happened… Four days later I received a phone message from R&G Director Thom Dunn asking me if I had been yanking an F league captain's chain. Thom said that Dan had filed a very eloquent grievance explaining how he thought the rule punished players in lower divisions for trying to do their best, and that it punished that player's teammates by taking away their player with no notice, and so on and so forth in a four-paragraph explanation. Thom told me that he wasn't going to burst the bubble on this one for me and that he would play along for a bit. So Thom sent a message to Dan and me and the rest of the Board stating that the Rules Committee would take the grievance under consideration, and would be temporarily suspending RDL Rule for Match Play 17.B.2.c.iii (in case you didn't already figure this out, there is no such rule, and RDL rules are generally categorized to about one subsection heading, not four… :o). I followed that up with a message to Dan with a copy of the RDL Rules attached, expecting that he would reply with a "that's not a real rule, is it?" message. Uh, again, that's not what happened… After several hours of no response, I decided to call Dan. It turns out that during that several hours, Dan had sent that copy of the rules to some of his teammates, that none of them were able to find Rule 17.B.2.c.iii (no kidding…), and they were going to ask me to send him a copy with the rule in question highlighted so that they could better pursue their grievance. It took about two seconds after I said "uh, Dan… it was… a joke" for him to say "oh man, one of my teammates asked me if it was real, and I just thought it was… you got me… you got me good." [And yes, for those of you that are worried that I'm overly embarrassing an RDL member here in print, I did ask Dan if I could run this story in the Tons. He said that if he's gullible enough to buy that line, he deserved to have it shared for a quick giggle for everybody.]
--Did you know that the NFL season is less than four months away? So that means that the fantasy football season must have started… about two days after the Super Bowl earlier this year.
--The relatively new ASP rule that splits the award by '01 and cricket sure does make some quick shelf-filling for some of the RDL's ladies. There were women in only 6 of the 8 divisions, and in 4 of those 6 the same woman won both ASP Mugs (including one division where only one woman played).
--I hope everybody has a great summer. Enjoy the sun, the warm weather, and the long days. Remember you only live once, so make it count. See you guys back here for the Fall season…

The "If I Had To Choose Between The Two, That's Certainly The One I Would Have Chosen" Edition

"A" Division - Buddy Holly and the Shafters (12+-12)
The Shafters use 301 to get a lead, 501 to come back from a later deficit, and 1001 (where Kevin Kendall led off with a Ton-80!) to seal the deal and end Element's bid to be RDL's only undefeated.

"B" Division - Cleveland Rocks (13-3)
In one of the more foregone conclusions of the tournament, the Rocks only see 501 once, and that was in a match that had the oddly reported final score of 14-5 (maybe it was 12-5 at match dart?).

"C" Division - Starving Dartists (13-11)
If nothing else, the Dartists managed to make their tournament experience an interesting one, going to the final set and winning 13-11 three times in a row, toppling the heavyweight Brawlers.

"D" Division - Tailgaters (13-5)
The 'Gaters finally overcome their #1 (and only?) nemesis, really taking it to Off Constantly in the final, ending it in doubles cricket, and winning their three matches by continually larger margins.

"E" Division - Respect Da Bull (?-?)
Respect finally earns a little respect, putting together the season/ tournament double that some writers (read: me) thought was a lock months ago, winning both matches by a mystery score of ? to ?.

"F" Division - The Redneckers (14-8)
The Redneckers make it a Trailer Park Triple Play, claiming their third consecutive set of Mugs, finally sliding past both teams that had inched ahead of them in the final regular season standings.

"G" Division - Money Shot (13-7)
Money Shot claims the season/tournament double in the only division to have a team as low as the #7 seed claim a tournament victory (after which, that #7 seed promptly forfeited in the semis!).

"H" Division - Coral Reefers (14-4)
After Big Bulls won their quarterfinal by the odd score of 9-4 and then beat the Archers, they unfortunately encountered the Reefers and their newfound Wilcenski (coming to an H div. store near you!).

REGULAR SEASON WINNERS

"A" Division - No Element of Doubt (12 wins, 0 losses)
2nd place - Lunatic Fringe

"B" Division - Cleveland Rocks (13 wins, 1 loss)

QUOTES FROM THE TOURNAMENT… AND EARLIER!

Quote #1 : from Scott Butters of Cleveland Rocks, after the tournaments, and after he had already called to thank a few people: "I also want to go ahead and give a kudos to everybody that we elected as our officials, 'cuz if it wasn't for you guys, it sure wouldn't be the same for the rest of us."

Quote #2 : also from Scott Butters, this one from back in week 9, when he was explaining a response to a comment from RDL President Jason Thomas about Scott being his… uh… what was that… oh, yes, his bih: "As I said on the VoiceMail… Oh JT used to beat me every time we played back when he was in B division. Therefore the term "bih". But he needs to watch out now because my luck is changing for the better. You ask how I know this? Well let me tell you, the reason I know my luck is changing for the better is because both my kids look like my wife. Thank god!!!" [I think it's safe to say that Scott speaks for all of us on this one… - JK]

Quote #3 : from Keith Feller of It's Pointless, who is just irreverent enough and politically incorrect enough to share a tale from his team's week 14 match: "When you see the score sheet you will see how absurd our victory was. After trailing 3-9 in singles we battled our way back into the match in doubles cricket. Then we did a football-style huddle where everyone put a hand in and on three shouts "NO FUQUAY" (we didn't want play in the tourney there). SURPRISINGLY, this did not make us popular guests at the Cleveland ale house. Any-way, we won in 1001. A good time was had by… us." [When asked if he minded if I printed this, he responded by saying 'I assume anything I say is fair game'. Teammate Tony Keller merely responded with 'I'm ok with the quote, just make sure you attribute it to Keith. There are a couple of people in Fuquay that I get along with…' :o) - JK]

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

The number of divisions is the same as last season, and we have only one fewer team than last season, but it would make a bit of sense for us to have a few fewer tiebreakers this season, if for no other reason than the number of forfeits that the RDL had this Fall. And, as it turns out, that's exactly what we had. There were only 31 legs of 1001 this season, with 28 during the regular season and 3 in the tournaments. F division led the way with 8 extra legs, while H division only had 1 match determined in overtime. Nine different teams were involved in 3 legs of 1001, while 20 different teams never played the fifth set even once. Usually, we have a team or two that claims a handful of wins in 1001, but not a single team won three tiebreakers this season (5 teams went 2-1 while 4 went 1-2). Thus, this season's Overtime Heroes award doesn't go to the team that won the greatest number of 1001s, but rather to the team that won the most important one: Buddy Holly and the Shafters, who used their only tiebreaker of the season to claim the A division Mugs! The Cardiac Kids award goes to Hammered Heads, who played in three 1001s this season, including in back-to-back tournament matches. And finally, the Heartbreakers award goes to The Redneckers, who lost two tiebreakers this season, and only lost the F division by a measly three points. Bummer, eh?

SPRING 2009 RDL SEASON INFORMATION

These dates (or at least some of them) are on page 8, as well as on pages 1 and 40, but I am putting them in many locations because they might be the most important thing for you in this newsletter.

MONDAY, January 5th - Spring season reg., High Park Bar & Grille
Wed., Jan. 14th - Preseason capts.' mtg./packet pickup, High Park Bar & Grille
Wednesday, January 21st - Start of Spring season match play
Mon., Feb. 23rd - 5th week captains' meeting, High Park Bar & Grille
Wed., Apr. 29, May 6/13 - Spring season divisional tournaments
Saturday, May 16th - Spring season banquet, site TBD

WEDNESDAY BLIND DRAWS DURING THE BREAK

While the RDL is off this holiday season, many of you may need to find something to do on Wednesdays. Well, to help you out with that, both Mac's Tavern and the Upper Deck will be holding blind draws at 8 p.m. each Wednesday until the spring season starts, and both bars will be matching the pot each week!!

THE PLAYERS WHO BEAT THE SINGLES %-AGE WINNERS

Who beat Billy Hamilton of Lunatic Fringe in A division?
in 301: Mark Sellers (wk.5).
in cricket: Tom Brown (wk.6).

Who beat Jimmy Davis of Cleveland Rocks in B division?
in 301: Nobody. Not a soul. Not one person all season.
in cricket: Again with the nobody! Undefeated! Seriously? Wow.

Who beat Phillip Eastmead of The Locals in C division?
in 301: (none).
in cricket: Billy Mitchell (wk.8).

Who beat Lee Scott of Tailgaters in D division?
in 301: Jim Lewis (wk.4), Wayne Taylor (wk.8).
in cricket: Metin Balikcioglu (wk.9).

Who beat Jeremy Dziczkowski of Respect Da Bull in E division?
in 301: Bob Carawon (wk.2), Mike Reynolds (wk.13), Fred Flowers (wk.14). in cricket: (none).

Who beat Mike Glendy of Ducks, Lies and Videotape in E division?
in 301: J.J. Tant (wk.7). [One off night, and then Mike in cricket: Dan Clark (wk.7). barely played anymore.]

Who beat Jason Bowman of Irish We Were Drunk in F division?
in 301: Barry Thompson (wk.3), Jeff Jones (wk.10).
in cricket: Vince Martinez (wk.6).

Who beat Rick Thorne of Money Shot in G division?
in 301: Neil Garratt (wk.3), Rob Knight (wk.11).
in cricket: Mark Pfahlert (wk.7).

Who beat Jim Britt of Coral Reefers in H division?
in 301: (none).
in cricket: Dan Campbell (wk.5).

A few quick observations about the singles winners:

#1 - Only one of the singles winners lost as many as 3 games in either the -01 or cricket category (Dziczkowski, 3 in -01). Pretty rare.

#2 - I know that the byes and the forfeits meant fewer matches in some divisions, but these 9 winners amassed only 18 losses… total. Wow.

#3 - And 10 of the 18 losses were "quality losses" meaning they came against other top players in that division (at least by won/loss record). Biggest upset? Likely Pfahlert over Thorne for his only singles win.

FALL 2008 PENALTY SUMMARY

Well, this season the number of penalties dropped a bit (36, down from 43 last season), as did the point loss from those penalties (261, down from 325 last season). B division led the way with 9 penalties for a total cost of 78 points, spread over 5 of the 8 teams. D division wasn't far behind with 8 penalties for 62 points. Finally, C division had the fewest penalties (only 1), but A and G divisions paid the fewest penalty points (15 each). The breakdowns by division were: A (3 penalties = 15 points), B (9 = 78), C (1 = 16), D (8 = 62), E (3 = 26), F (6 = 30), G (3 = 15), and H (3 = 19). There was 1 preseason captains' meeting penalty (for 5 points), 15 election ballot penalties (for 75 points), 12 phone penalties (for 60 points), 7 mail penalties (for 112 points), and 1 ineligible player penalty (for 9 points). [In addition, two teams were removed from play due to having three forfeit losses during the season, one in A and the other in H.]

In all, 25 of the 59 RDL teams were hit with at least one penalty. And the biggest losers? Rebels Without A Cause in B div., who led the league in penalties (4) & penalty points (31), and was one of two teams that dropped a place in the standings due to penalties (the other is The Pirate Bombs).

THE RDL FAMILY GROWS!!

The RDL family recently grew by two!! First up, Shawn Carter (of Bennington Brawlers) and wife Erin (formerly of Bennington Brawlers) had a 7 pound, 3 ounce healthy baby… well… just a healthy baby. You see, I emailed Shawn and teammate Jon Kenney asking for details, and Jon sent me a response with the baby's weight and deferred to Shawn for the rest. Being an Ohio State fan, I'm assuming that using the computer intimidated him too much, so I was left with only that much information. In any case, congrats to Shawn and Erin, and we wish you all the best.

Not long after the Carter family expanded, Kenny Persson (of Buddy Holly and the Shafters) and his wife Jenn became the proud parents of Shane Hudson Persson on November 17th. Shane entered the world at a rather healthy 9 pounds, 3 ounces, so our condolences to Jenn are most decidedly in order on that. Oh, ow. Anyway, everybody is healthy and happy, and the Perssons were willing to share a few of their photos from which I could choose (below, Shane with Daddy Kenny) one for the Tons. (I've resisted the urge to pick my favorite of the bunch - the one where both father and son are crashed out in what appears to be a recliner, during their first night at home. Had a touch more drool been visible on Dad, I'm sure I would have opted for that one…)

Congratulations to both the Carters and the Perssons, and here's to hoping that both kids are far better at darts than their fathers… always good to keep the goals well within reach at first.

"HOT DARTS" CALL-IN GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines you should use for the minimum number of all-star points to report when calling in your scores.
"A" Div. = 4.5 or more ASPs; "B" Div. = 4.0+ ASPs;
"C,D" Divs. = 3.5+; "E,F,G" Divs. = 3.0+; "H" Div. = 2.5+
Also, call in any fast games, high ins, high outs, or other amazing feats that you think warrant a little recognition (e.g., Ins & Outs higher than a Ton, 24-dart cricket games, 15-dart 301s, 24-dart 501s, Ton-70s and up, 5-Bulls+, etc.).

Extra note: it's also ok to call in "fast games" in each set, even if they don't necessarily meet the maximum dart counts above.

SEASON-LONG TROPHY DART MINIMUM GAMES PLAYED REQUIREMENTS

To be eligible for all-star point average ('01 and cricket are now separate awards) and singles win %-age awards, you must play in at least 66% of the total projected games this season:

for Divisions "B", "C", and "D" (8 teams / division):
All-star pt. Ave.: min. of 19 '01 games, or 19 Ckt games
Singles win %-age: min. of 19 Singles Games Played for Divisions "E", "F", "G" (except team G2), and teams A1, A2, and H6 (7 teams / division):

All-star pt. Ave.: min. of 16 '01 games, or 16 Ckt games
Singles win %-age: min. of 16 Singles Games Played for teams A3, A5, A6, G2, H4, and H5 (due to 1 fft. rcvd.):

ASP Ave., Singles win %-age: 15 games in each category

for teams A4, A7, H1, H2, H3, and H7 (due to 2 ffts. rcvd.):
ASP Ave., Singles win %-age: 14 games in each category

THE TWENTY-FOURTH SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
(This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional MVPs

A Division	Robbie Phillips	No Element of Doubt	E Division	Jeremy Dziczkowsk	Respect Da Bull
B Division	Jimmy Davis	Cleveland Rocks	F Division	Mark Lamb	Imports & Domestics
C Division	Phillip Eastmead	The Locals	G Division	Rick Thorne	Money Shot
D Division	Jerry Oakley	Tailgaters	H Division	Steve Wilcenski	Coral Reefers

All of RDL -- Robbie Phillips -- No Element of Doubt

"A" Division

Tom Brown	No Element of Doul	Just another 0.800+ season in the pile…
Billy Hamilton	Lunatic Fringe	Switch to Fringe clearly agreed with him.
Dale Hyler	No Element of Doul	Simply a machine the whole season.
Kevin Kendall	Buddy Holly…	Mr. Fast Game was Mug match hero.
Mark Knight	No Element of Doul	Wins games faster than humanly possible.
Robbie Phillips	No Element of Doul	Dart domination incarnate.
Mike Seward	Buddy Holly…	Not his best season, but still just deadly.
Bob Terry	Lunatic Fringe	Another season of unassuming excellence.

"B" Division

Jose Aguilar	Cleveland Rocks	In Davis's shadow, but just kept winning.
Paul Beaudoin	BullsHitters	Power singles winner needs new partner.
Scott Butters	Cleveland Rocks	Awesome record, and the nicest guy ever.
Jimmy Davis	Cleveland Rocks	We need a new no-Davis-below-A rule…
Donald Grubb	BullsHitters	Biggest stick for the top contenders.
Josh Hall	One And Done	Team disappointed, but he sure didn't.
Michael Lovelace	Cleveland Rocks	Didn't play them all, but nearly won 'em all.
John Murdaugh	Rebels Without…	Big in singles… too much fun in doubles?

"C" Division

Phillip Eastmead	The Locals	Valiant effort to carry C cellar dwellers.
Kris Fischlein	Bennington Brawle	Best win percentage on a dominant team.
Ron Hendricks	Starving Dartists	Led team of "veterans" to 2nd and a Mug.
Tony Keller	It's Pointless	Played very well for late-starting squad.
Jon Kenney	Bennington Brawle	Three 10-win sets, and the fill-in captain.
Bob McCredie	Traveling Beer Belli	Pretty strong, but team slowly stumbled.
Billy Mitchell	Just the Tip	Mr. Cricket wasn't quite the same in -01.
Matt Perry	Bennington Brawle	The last of the Brawlers' Big Three…

"D" Division

J.P. Evans	The Pirate Bombs	League's VP was 70%+ in all four sets.
Tom Kubel	Off Constantly	33-6 in first 3 sets for Tailgaters' nemesis.
Randy Lueneburg	Off Constantly	Played 50 games with only 3 losses/set.
Vicente Martinez	Hammered Heads	Other than 501, nearly unbeatable again.
Zak Mayhew	Off Constantly	Doubles not as high as singles, but good.
Jerry Oakley	Tailgaters	Super addition to team won 11+ per set!
Kevin Scott	Team America	Unassuming… polite… very dangerous.
Lee Scott	Tailgaters	Singles champ, div. winner, Mug winner.

"E" Division

Dan Clark	Overtime Outlaws	Bit of a slow starter, but then gets rolling.
Jer. Dziczkowski	Respect Da Bull	New arrival clearly started in wrong div.
Mike Glendy	Ducks, Lies…	Much better in singles, but part-timer-ish.
Jeff Lyons	Respect Da Bull	Put together tough team, then led them.
Sal Reitano	DIVE Bombers	Top gun for team that surprised many.
Mike Reynolds	Bogarts	Another season of being team's stalwart.
J.J. Tant	Overtime Outlaws	Decent in singles, then gets even better.
John Wells	Still Got Pepsi!	John Boy said goodnight to many opps.

"F" Division

Sean Ackley	Designated Divers	Led upstarts in basically every category.
Jason Bowman	Irish We Were Dru	Wow, now that is a good singles record…
Robert Dudley	Imports & Domesti	Uh, soft in 301… but then very strong.
Mark Lamb	Imports & Domesti	Super consistent, and led rookies to title.
Shane Murray	The Redneckers	Reddest of the necks is also their big gun.
David Simpson	Wire We Here	Came up big at some of the biggest times.
Barry Thompson	Wire We Here	Solid record, fill-in captain… he does it all.
Glenn Tourout	Imports & Domesti	Part of new F power trio w/ Lamb/Dudley.

"G" Division

Dave Johnson	Menace 2 Sobriety	Nothing flashy, just solid and consistent.
Rob Knight	Projectile Challenge	Pretty nice record, then we'll sit him in 501.
Nathan Knuffmar	Dartastrophe	Part-timer could've/would've helped a lot.
Eric McCartney	Menace 2 Sobriety	FNG has certainly become the BMOC.
Bob Rube	Any Given Wed.	Fabulous in cricket, but under 0.500 in '01?
Rick Thorne	Money Shot	Captain of the Thorne Birds was a hammer.
Dan Titsworth	Money Shot	Huge singles winner needs new partner.
Tolson Willis	Death Throw	Mr. Consistent still in seat #1 on Deathrow.

"H" Division

Jim Britt	Coral Reefers	21-1 outside DCkt is just flat awesome.
Dan Campbell	Nice Dittles	Not overpowering, but still pretty decent.
Patrick Coalson	Ale-ing Archers	Not the best in doubles, but good enough.
Paul Hudson	Big Bulls	Living proof that you don't need ASPs.
Dave Mushow	Ale-ing Archers	Great cricket record, decent 301, for H #2.
Chris Toolan	One Markers	Got more than half of team's doubles wins.
Nate Wade	Coral Reefers	Season after season, 1 of my easiest picks.
Steve Wilcenski	Coral Reefers	Made A all-star team… why not in H too?

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

-The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): Only three divisions had 14-match schedules, so about 60% of the league was at a big disadvantage here (and it shows in the list of winners). The undisputed king for this season, with not just four double-digit win set but actually with four 11+-win sets, is Jerry Oakley of Tailgaters. Jerry's 47-9 record included no less than an 11-3 record in each set. Wow. Nice. Honorable mentions for having three 10-win sets and/or four 9-win sets: Mark Knight & Robbie Phillips in A division, Donald Grubb in B division, Ron Hendricks & Jon Kenney in C div., and Lee Scott , Tom Kubel , Randy Lueneberg , & Vicente Martinez in D division.

-IronMan/Woman Award: A bunch of teams were basically eliminated from contention for this award, as not only were there 5 of 8 divisions with two byes in them, but a couple of those divisions were also chock full of upsets. In the end, Fritz Herman of Starving Dartists in C division stood alone with a solid 66 games played this season. Honorable mentions for division leaders go to: Robbie Phillips of No Element of Doubt in A with 49; Dave Buckman and Mikey Hindle of One And Done in B with 57; Ronnie Knott of Cobra Kai in D with 60; four players on Bogarts in E, each with 51; Mark Lamb of Imports & Domestics in F with 51; Tolson Willis and Rick Dysard of Death Throw in G with 48; and Phil Barletta of One Markers in H with 44 (44 led a division?? wow...).

-The Team Attendance Award winners: Three teams this season made a passable run at joining the old days where a team would play the same 6 players every set all season. All three teams played a 6-player core for nearly every set of the season, each having a couple of substitutes that filled in a couple times when one of the core six was absent. This season's most tight-knit groups were: Cobra Kai, Bogarts, and Wire We Here.

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

Well, my weekly picks weren't quite up to last season's standard, but my sets of preseason and tournament picks were slammin'! And then a minor recap ensues:

In my preseason picks (which are clearly the most difficult set), I did pretty doggone well. I declared 4 of the 8 division winners, and picked 2 more teams that finished second. In addition I got pretty close to the exact order for several of the divisions. I don't know why we even bother to play the games… we could just have me tell you who wins… Ha! Well, actually, I DO see why we don't use that system. For example, what was I smoking when I wrote the paragraphs for E and F divisions?? I picked Still Got Pepsi! and Irish We Were Drunk… No, really, I did… At least Pepsi finished 0.500, but both of those teams finished in the bottom half of their divisions. Ugh. But while I hit many winners, I think the pick of which I am most proud is that G division would really be void of any standouts in terms of either individuals or teams - and look at that division, any team or person could have won almost any game or match. Parity at its finest.

My weekly prediction results you can peruse pick-for-pick on the other side of this sheet of paper. I dropped to 68.6% correct this season, but it did turn out that I was at 61.9% or better in every division (F was tough!). In the end, it was a season of streaks for me (see pg10), which unfortunately included incorrect pick strings of at least 4 wrong in a row for SIX different teams. Wow. That's new…

Last but not least were my tournament predictions… And surprise, surprise - we go to best-of-three and my picks start rocking even more (unless, you happen to play in C division… in which case, kiss my butt). I finished 37-12 (even though it's possible to get later round matches wrong by getting an early one wrong), hit 5 of the 8 tournament winners, and absolutely sailed with my Sure Things picks (except for the Robbie Phillips/perfect throws prediction - turns out he's human…).

(I introduced this page nine seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the eight 'o' symbols indicate the teams for which I was only 0.500, and the three 'x' symbols indicate the teams that fooled me more often than not. [I had some pretty long losing streaks with each of the three teams that fooled me more often than not - 6 straight for Hammered Heads, 4 for Designated Divers, and 4 to close the season for Rif Raf. Ugh.]

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED

I now run this column during seasons in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers follow the questions. No peeking…

(We had a lot of stuff in the early issues of the Tons this season, so we didn't start the Trivia column until week 7 this time around…)

Week 7 question(s): In honor of RDL's hosting of the upcoming NC State Championships… Where have the last ten state championship tournaments been held?

Week 8 question: (by reader request!) What is (at least in the past 13 years - the time for which I have full records) the record for number of consecutive seasons a team has moved up a division?

Week 9 question(s): In the first half of this season, the entire RDL tossed only 18 perfect throws (not counting the two 160-Ins). What is the lowest season total (regular season plus tournament) of perfect throws in the past 13 years (the amount of time for which I have complete records)?

Week 10 question: What is the fewest number of darts a player can throw while going 4-0 in an RDL match with no forfeits or blockers?

Week 11 question: What is the lowest number of darts that could be used to complete a game of 501 if every dart had to hit a different number wedge (or bull), you could only hit one double, and you couldn't hit a triple until your second turn?

Week 12 question(s): What is the worst won/loss record to win a division in the past 13 years (the amount of time for which I have full records)? Who did it? What is the worst won/loss record to claim a set of second place team plaques?

Week 13 question: What is the closest anyone in RDL has come to a perfect game in each of the four sets in the past 13 years (the amount of time for which I have complete records? (Note: this question is a derivation of a question submitted by one of the nicest guys in the RDL, Paul Jacobi of Lunatic Fringe, who actually asked if there were any perfect games thrown. Of course, Paul's question included more specifics for each set, with my favorite part being "…or, for that matter, a perfect 7-dart Cricket? I know the latter is harder due to opponents being able to point on their first turn." Oh sure, it's your opponents pointing that makes it difficult to complete the 7-dart cricket… J Upon me pointing out the humor of his line, he responded with a funny, yet possibly accurate, line: "I don't know… I've seen Robbie Phillips get on a pretty good roll before. I'm not sure he couldn't hit a triple-bull.")

Week 7 answer: Well, since I've been around doing the Tons for the past 12 years prior to this one, I can actually give a bit more of an answer than the last ten years, so here they are: 1998,1999,2000, 2001,2003,2004,2005,2006 = Greensboro American Legion Post 53; 1996 = Durham Omni and Convention Center; 1997 = Raleigh Radisson Plaza Hotel; 2002 = Boone High Country Inn; and 2007 = Charlotte Ramada Airport Conference Center. [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: 2008 = Cary VFW Post 7383, the likely location for the 2009 State Championships as well.]

Week 8 answer: While many teams have climbed a div. 3 seasons in a row, only 6 teams have climbed 4+ seasons in a row (during my tenure). The ladder-climbing kings were Diddler's Choice, who made the 5 steps from F to A in 5 seasons ('96-'98)! They could soon be matched by one of the 5 teams to jump 4 in a row, but Rif Raf (F to B, '06-'08) has some serious work to do in the second half of the season. The other 4-jumpers were: Stik It (F to B in '95-'97), Friends of the Devil (F to B, '97-'99), Bullweiser (F to B, '95-'97), and the Horsemen (G to C, '97-'99). As you can see, it's that final jump to A division that trips up most of the fast-climbers. While it appears that the string engineered by Rif Raf might be ending, theirs might be the most impressive, as they are the only team to finish 1st in 4 consecutive different divisions (Diddler's Choice was 1st 4 times also, but not consecutively). Extra note... 4 more to watch, as all 4 are presently riding 2-season climbs, with the first 3 in the list enjoying back-to-back 1st place finishes already: The Redneckers (presently in 1st again), Overtime Outlaws, Bennington Brawlers (presently in 1st again), and Board 2 Death / Cobra Kai. [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: the Bennington Brawlers managed to win C div., and the Overtime Outlaws finished second in E, but neither of the other two were able to finish in the top two spots of their division; The Redneckers were awfully close though, and also won their div. tournament final.]

Week 9 answer: In the past 25 seasons, the RDL has only thrown fewer than 55 perfect throws once, in the Fall 2001 season when we tossed only 49 (eek!). For comparison, the three seasons prior to the current one produced the relatively high totals of 71, 88, and 76 perfect throws. The average during the last 25 seasons is 65 per season. [Note: RDL perfect throws recognize only 9-marks, 6-Bulls, Ton-80s, or Ton-70-Ins/Outs.] [Extra note added for the banquet edition of the Tons: there were 67 perfect throws this season.]

Week 10 answer: 22. 7 in 301 (a diddle plus 6 for the game), 9 in singles cricket (a diddle plus 8 for the game), 3 in doubles cricket (partner diddles, leads, & finishes), and 3 in doubles 501 (partner diddles, leads, and finishes). [We had many guesses at this one, but only Paul Jacobi, Tom Brown, and one other person (Keith Wall?) got it right the first time. Several people said 20 (forgetting the unforfeitable diddles), and John Jenkins & Kenny Persson offered what we'll call more "creative" answers… - JK]

Week 11 answer: 13. There are several ways to do, but I'll just provide one example here: 12,10,9 - trip20,trip19,trip18 - trip17, trip16,trip15 - trip14,trip13,trip8 - double bull. [A handful of RDL members got this correct on their first try, including Keith Gibbs, Paul Jacobi, Linda Jones, and Jeremy Dziczkowski. A few more got it after a couple of "other" guesses. The first answer from Jeff Lyons was probably my favorite: "I'd say probably less than 14".]

Week 12 answer: The worst division-winning record was 9-5, by the Starving Dartists in D division in the Fall, 2000 season. The worst plaque-winning record (for a second place team) is a tie at 6-6 between the Fall, 1999 Kozmic Debris squad in D division, and the Spring, 2002 Dazed & Confused team in B division. That's right, plaques for losing as often as you win… nice… [Note added for the banquet edition of the Tons: the mess that was known as F div. this season nearly produced similar types of records. After that big tangle was sorted out, it only took an 8-4 record to claim 1st place.]

Week 14 answers: Singles 301 - 7 darts - Tom Brown, The Fifth Element, Fall, 2005 (outdistancing 14 8-dart games, including one by Brown himself). Singles cricket - 12 darts - four-way tie - Greg Crumpler, Burnt Weeny's Revenge, Spring, 1997; Jim Budelman, Lunatic Fringe, Spring, 1999 tournament; Paul Jacobi, Here for the Beer, Spring, 2004 tournament; Brian Blake, The Shadows, Fall, 2007. Doubles cricket - 10 darts - Kevin Kendall & Mike Peoples, Bullz Brothers, Spring, 2008 (this was one of only two sub-13-dart games in the past 13 years - the other being a 12-darter by Jim Davis & Bill Chaney in the Spring, 2007 tournament). Doubles 501 - 11 darts - John Carroll & Jerry Oakley, Dogs of War, Fall, 1999 (alone just ahead of a small handful of 12-dart RDL games). [Extra note added for the banquet edition of the Tons: Felipe Wilkie of Dogs of War made a very nice run at the singles 301 record (Felipe finished in 8 darts), but all of the records listed above are safe for the time being.]

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

I've run this page in several recent banquet Tons, and it seems to generate about the most interest/discussion. So much so, in fact, that I've increased this column to TWO full pages!! So, without further ado, let's open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. As always, this is just about the last thing that I'm writing and part of this was written when it was really late, so usually not even I know what's about to hit the page…

--It has become almost tradition here in the Fall banquet Tons…the first random thought is always about Survivor. So…: If you don't like Bob and the rest of the people on the "Good" side fighting the "Evil", then you officially suck.

--Geez, that was a really fabulous upset that Dartastrophe pulled off in the G division tournament, knocking off the #2 seed from the #7 position. Of course, it would have been a lot more fabulous if they hadn't promptly forfeited their semifinal match. Sad, really…

--Ok, the big news in sports this week is the preposterous contract the New York Yankees gave to C.C. Sabathia. I'm nowhere near the baseball fan I was when I was a kid, but I've simply had to follow the story because it's just impossible to escape this story lately. New York is going to pay Sabathia 161 million dollars over the next 7 years. Yes, that is $161,000,000. To throw a ball. In about every fifth game. And only during the months of April-October. Sigh… A bit of quick math brought me to the following realizations: #1 - The Yankees are going to pay Sabathia roughly 70 cents per second every second, of every minute, of every hour, of every day, for the next seven years. Regardless of whether Sabathia is eating, sleeping, peeing, playing baseball, or badmouthing his manager to the press, Sabathia is paid 70 cents per second. #2 - If Sabathia can remain healthy for the entire seven years (a friggin' HUGE 'if'), and he is able to pitch a normal workload, the Yankees will paying Sabathia a figure approaching $100,000 per inning pitched. Seriously. That is ludicrous. Baseball is broken, and it sucks. And the Yankees are the anti-Christ. Hard to fault Sabathia for simply saying "ok" though.

--Trivia question time! Of the 59 teams presently in the RDL, two (Sharkshooters and One Markers) have lost in the div. tournament quarterfinals four seasons in a row each. Only one team is currently on a longer losing streak. Which team, and how many seasons? [Answer is included at the bottom of the next column.]

--My teammate Robbie Phillips sent me the link to the Urban Dictionary website today. He described the site as a million crazy, funny, stupid things. As an example, he included the definition of vegetarian: 'A bad hunter. Someone who survives by consuming not food, but the stuff that food eats.' Ha! That's excellent. For the interested: www.urbandictionary.com

--Those of you that always read every issue of the Tons have likely noticed that every now and then I do a quick examination of how many throwers lead their division in both -01 ASP average and cricket ASP average. At the conclusion of this season, it turned out that the same person won both Mugs in 4 of the 8 divisions. And… if Jim Davis hadn't been sat in the final 501, he would have qualified for that award and we would have a 5th of 8. And finally… in the remaining 3 divisions, we were exactly ONE all-star throw from the same person winning both ASP Mugs in each of those divisions.

--What's the biggest vehicle you've ever followed on the highway? Several weeks ago, I was driving on I-40-West in south Raleigh, and I ended up behind the biggest friggin' truck I've ever seen. It and its load, were a FULL two lanes wide. Not part of two lanes. Not two trucks carrying one big thing. It was ONE truck with ONE big thing (still not sure what that was) and it was TWO lanes wide. Two full lanes. Imagine the planning that it takes to do the simplest things… like exit the highway! Many exit ramps aren't wide enough to hold something that large. Incredible.

--I've seen so many of us celebrate wildly when we hit a perfect throw, and it's fantastic. But that's one perfect throw. Robbie Phillips knows no such simple celebration. He is so "in the zone" lately that he not only led the RDL w/ 4 perfect throws (as one of only 2 RDL members to hit both a 9m & a 180), but he's tearing it up in other leagues and pickup games too. A few examples… Example #1: Phillips hit TEN perfect throws in the first six weeks of play in the Bull City Dart League, including two nights during which he tossed 3 each time. Example #2: Phillips and I threw pickup games of 501 for about an hour after our match several weeks ago - in that hour, he hit seven dang Ton-80s. Example #3 (and this one is, by far, the funniest): one recent night, Phillips was playing pickup games with Mark Knight (who, incidentally, is the one other RDL member to hit both a 9m & a Ton-80 this season). Phillips was so on fire that he was hitting double-bull diddles with such astonishing regularity that Knight diddled first, hit a single bull, and walked to the board conceding the diddle! Of course, Knight did manage to hit a double-bull diddle himself before one of the games… but I suppose it should be noted that he didn't win that diddle either… Example #4: Phillips has hit so many perfect throws during our matches (which each earn you a dollar from each of our teammates) that a few of our teammates decided to put in to get Robbie a Christmas gift from the team… a shock collar (for him to wear during matches). Picture it… Triple… triple… buzz!!!

--Not one team below a #3 seed made a divisional tournament final this season. I think that's sort of out of the ordinary.

--Anybody ever play Mario Kart on the Nintendo Wii? That game is so addictive. I've always loved playing the Mario Kart series of games (I'm not much of an RPG guy), but driving with the wheel in hand in that game is just even that much better.

--Yes, I'm still a Detroit Lions fan. And I still will be even if they are the first 0-16 team in NFL history. I'm faithful to my guys to the end. Plus, I look at rooting for the Lions as the penance that I for being lucky enough to get to root for the Red Wings.

--At the NCCDL state tournament last weekend, Charlotte took out both Raleigh and Cary in tiebreakers in the same day (in the quarterfinals and semifinals, respectively). That means that the Charlotte guys played ten rounds of best-two-of-three sets, plus two rounds of 1-game-of-1001 sets in the same day. THAT is a long day of competition. Might explain part of their Sunday performance, I suppose. Thanks to the Raleigh and Cary guys…

--I love me some Maridy Knight. She is a fabulous woman, and is married to one of the most fiercely friends any of us could ever have. Which is why I apologize in advance for typing this… Secret QB/TE meetings? Jessica who in the luxury box? Owner mocking his stud RB's toughness? Please… make the Cowboys go away. Take them from my television. Please, I beg of you…

--How huge was Kevin Kendall's Ton-80 as the first thrower in the 1001 tiebreaker in the A division tournament final? It's hard to get much more clutch than that.

--Answer to the trivia question: Grateful Darts, who have lost in the quarterfinals of their tournament in each of the last NINE seasons. Oh, ouch, sorry guys… At least the Gratefuls always get a nice long between-seasons break.

THESE ARE YOUR FRIENDS? YIKES…

Anybody here hang out with the blind draw crowd at the Upper Deck lately? If so, you might want to be careful that you don't get in too tight with the likes of Jeff Lyons, Mark Knight, Wil Tan, Mike Seward, Angela Gaulthier, Doug Jeffcoat, and whoever else happens to be with them. You see, the members of this particular motley crew like to prank each other (and you too, if you get too close). It all sort of started with the moving of Jeff's car to other parts of the parking lot during the blind draws. Then it advanced to the rearranging of all the furniture in a house when one of the group went on vacation (complete with wrapping of the kitchen squirter handle so that the resident got sprayed when he turned on the kitchen faucet). After that, things got even better and sucked in helpers (this is where guys like Seward and Tan come in). And it's also right about here that we start getting video evidence of the "damage". First up, we have Jeff's effort (with the help of Mike), wrapping both Mark's and Wil's cars with a roll of Caution tape. Not bad, not bad… But in my opinion, not nearly as funny as Mark's and Wil's response - when they covered Mike's car with commercial sticky notes while Mike was inside at his dart match. Just look at that… That's awesome. I can't look at that last photo without lauging. Every time.

RDA GLORY - AND THESE ARE HUGE!!

Robbie Phillips of No Element of Doubt recently qualified for ADO Nationals (there are four national events per year). While he didn't win Nationals, he did won both the singles 501 and doubles 501 in the associated tournament. Then, he came back home and promptly qualified for the NEXT ADO Nationals.

Pretty good, right? Of course it is. But check THIS one out… visit the ADO Webster (www.adodarts.com) and look who is the #1 ranked player in the entire nation (and still will be when the final 2008 rankings come out): Brian Blake of Shadows Fall! He kept the #1 spot! Incredible! RDA has the USA's #1…

STATE CHAMPS CONGRATULATIONS… AGAIN!

The postseason tournaments of the North Carolina City Dart League (NCCDL) and North Carolina Ladies' Cup (NCLC) were held once again this past weekend (for the 13th consecutive year), and once again some RDL members had good reason to celebrate. The Durham city team, featuring Allen Smith, Dale Hyler, Tom Brown, Wil Tan, Jeremiah Millar, Mark Knight, Robbie Phillips, Keith Wall, & Jason Kilts from No Element of Doubt, and Paul Jacobi of Lunatic Fringe, fought through to their fourth straight state title (and sixth in the last nine years!), defeating Wilmington (21-11), Asheville (20-8), and Charlotte (21-7) along the way. More state league details on pages 14 & 15. Congratulations again to all of my friends and teammates!!

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK - PART II!!

We had just a bit of room left, and my head wasn't quite empty yet… (Save the jokes, butthead) So, here are just a few more…

--Every now and then a doubles pair on one of our scoresheets grabs my attention, simply due to the names of the people playing, and the order in which their names are written. I saved a couple of the interesting pairs to share now. First up is the week 12 pair of Billy Hamilton & Joel Eason for Lunatic Fringe, listed of course, as Billy/Joel (play me a song, you're the Piano Man!). And second is the week 2 pair of Jim Foukes & Craig Cleveland of Money Shot, listed of course, as Jim/Craig ("Do you believe in miracles? Yes!" And if you don't know this Jim Craig reference, don't talk to me, you anti-American non-hockey-loving bozo… - JK).

--There's a church on the corner near my house, and they're pretty active in terms of hosting events, including some to which the general public is invited. One of those is going to be a Christmas program this coming week, in which I might be more interested if the light-up sign out front didn't read "Chrismas program". Seriously? A church misspelling Christmas? They DO know that the base word of the holiday name is Christ, right? Eek.

--If your team ends up in a division with a bye next season, I wholeheartedly recommend that your team skips out on a chance at an extra practice night (let's face it, most of us are still going to suck anyway). Instead, head over to Charlie Goodnight's and catch a comedy show. Wednesday nights are Fajita Margarita nights, so fajita dinners are 10 bucks, pitchers of margaritas are 10 bucks, and if you get one of the feature dinners (like the fajitas), you get into the show at the comedy club for free. My team (or some of us, at least) hit the comedy club on two of our off-Wednesdays this season, and it was great. Just a thought. Nice to do something with this set of friends that isn't necessarily darts (assuming, of course, that your teammates actually ARE your friends, I suppose…). Maybe we'll see you there.

--In a few months it will be NCAA basketball tournament time, and you'll start hearing all the statistics about how a #1 seed has never lost an opening round game. Which got me to thinking… How often does an RDL #1 team lose in the opening round? As it turns out, not very often. I just quickly searched the results of the past 18 seasons (see pages 13 and 14), and found that only 1 first place team was dumped in the quarterfinals: Mojo's Jerk-squad (predecessor to today's Wire We Here) in Fall, 2005, after winning F at 13-1. So, no data from before 2000 in this analysis, but it looks like the answer is maybe about once per decade?

--It's right about here that I sometimes include a brief 'feel good' message, so here's the one for this time: I feel very fortunate that my life is so fabulous that a dart game can seem important. Here's to years more fun together. Be safe this holiday season. Peace.

NINE YEAR (18-Season) TEAM PROGRESSION RECORDS (this page and the next)

Ok, those of you who weren't around in 2003 (the last time I made one of these) are probably wondering what the heck this is. Well, it's a table listing where each team has finished in each of the last 18 seasons. You can track just how your team has moved up or down over the past eighteen seasons of play, and maybe relive that one great season just one more time. What each set of information means: Division / Regular Season Finish Position / W-L Record / Tournament Result (xx = first round loss) (Whenever a team changed its composition significantly from season to season, I just did the best I could.) (This list only includes teams that played in the current season.) (Whenever possible, I also included the different team names for those groups that change their name from season to season.) [Note: H division came into existence in the Fall, 2007 season.]

NINE YEAR (18-Season) TEAM PROGRESSION RECORDS (this page and the previous)

Ok, those of you who weren't around in 2003 (the last time I made one of these) are probably wondering what the heck this is. Well, it's a table listing where each team has finished in each of the last 18 seasons. You can track just how your team has moved up or down over the past eighteen seasons of play, and maybe relive that one great season just one more time. What each set of information means: Division / Regular Season Finish Position / W-L Record / Tournament Result (xx = first round loss) (Whenever a team changed its composition significantly from season to season, I just did the best I could.) (This list only includes teams that played in the current season.) (Whenever possible, I also included the different team names for those groups that change their name from season to season.) [Note: H division came into existence in the Fall, 2007 season.]

"A" Division - Who's the Daddy? (13-9)
After digging out of a 12-6 hole in the semis against Name to be determined, Who's the Daddy? Defends their A Mug title when captain Kendall takes out 76 in the 3rd leg with a 1st-dart triple-3(?).

"B" Division - Rif Raf (13-11)
Rif Raf completes the extremely rare season/tournament double victory by a team with losing records in both singles sets, sliding past both the Rebels and Appetite for Destruction in the final 501.

"C" Division - Off Constantly (14-8)
After a 1-2 start to the season, Off Constantly ripped off 14 wins in a row to claim the C season and tournament, taking down their constant competitor/rival The OG's (formerly Tailgaters) in the final.

"D" Division - C-Minus (13-9)
Long since forgetting that they were 2-5 and in 7th place at the mid-way point of the season, C-Minus extends their win streak to 10, shooting down the Outlaws' bid for a season/tournament double.

"E" Division - Imports and Domestics (14-8)
Didn't take the Imports long to start finding RDL hardware… last season (their first) they won their season, and this spring they add a season/tournament double, with no tourney win closer than 14-8.

"F" Division - Money Shot (12+-12)
Oh, wow… F division was a little bit close throughout the season, but nothing like the tournament… the final was a tiebreaker, both semifinals were tiebreakers, and a quarterfinal was a tiebreaker!!

"G" Division - Coral Reefers (14-4)
After being surprisingly pushed to the final 501 pair in the semis by the Irish, the Reefers take care of business in the final to make it two seasons in a row with both season and tournament victories.

"H" Division - Ale-ing Archers (13-3)
The Archers clearly establish themselves as RDL's most dominant team during the tournament, giving up a paltry seven total points in all three of their matches combined (13-1, 14-3, and 13-3).

REGULAR SEASON WINNERS

"A" Division - A Dozen Elements (11 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - Who's the Daddy?

"B" Division - Rif Raf (9 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Appetite for Destruction

"C" Division - Off Constantly (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - The OG's

"D" Division - Overtime Outlaws (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - C-Minus

"E" Division - Imports and Domestics (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Tater Fried

"F" Division - Money Shot (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Fowl Play

"G" Division - Coral Reefers (10 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Any Given Wednesday

"H" Division - Ale-ing Archers (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Nice Dittles

INAPPROPRIATE BEHAVIOR NOTICE - PLEASE READ!!

FROM THE RDL BOARD : It was brought to the attention of one of the RDL board members that there was an incident during the first match of the tournament this season. According to the bar owner, members of a team behaved inappropriately at his establishment, including but not limited to, upending beers onto the floor, yelling, and overturning/tossing chairs about. As the owner of the bar, he cut them off and was preparing to toss them out of his establishment. After a request from the opposing team captain to let them finish if they could all behave, the owner agreed. This was very generous on his part, as no establishment should have to continue to allow RDL teams/players to remain in their bar after they have disrespected it.

Everyone gets frustrated once in awhile and might act inappropriately, however this type of behavior is more than unsportsmanlike. Physical altercations are not acceptable, no matter the circumstance. All RDL members are representing the league when they play at bars, both their home bars and away bars. Behaving in such a way as to have the owner/ management have to ask you to leave is unacceptable. The Board takes this kind of behavior very seriously, and the entire league should as well, therefore the Board is investigating this matter. It reflects poorly on the league, as a whole, and is detrimental to the to all members of the RDL. This is not the reputation the RDL wants to have, hence the investigation. League probation and suspensions for both teams (each player on both rosters – present or not, during the incident) are pending.

Start getting your team together for the Fall season now!! Don't forget and miss out! Information is below, and on pages 1 & 40.

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

This spring appeared to be pretty standard in terms of tiebreakers when the regular season ended, as we had 30 extra legs played, right about average for this many teams in this many divisions. Nothing really all that remarkable about that. But then the tournaments came… We had a whopping EIGHT games of 1001 during the tournaments (out of the 52 matches played, meaning that >15% of the matches ended up tied). More amazing than that is the fact that 4 of the 8 were in the same division (F)! That is some high drama right there… Anyway, 20 of our 61 teams never felt the rush of the 1001 pressure this season, while 5 teams played three 1001 legs, and 3 teams played FOUR 1001 legs. Several teams went 2-0 in tiebreakers, and one team (He Hate Us) went 3-1 with two of those wins coming in the tournament. But the Cardiac Kids award for the team that used the tiebreaker to their greatest benefit goes to Money Shot, who not only won 2 of their 3 tiebreakers, but saved both of those wins for the last two rounds of the tournament!! At the other end of the spectrum, we have a couple of teams that went 1-2 in tiebreakers, and a couple that even went 1-3 (One-Armed Bandits and Drunk Luck, both in E), but the Heartbreak Award absolutely goes to Nine Lives, who not only went 0-3 in 1001, but who lost all 3 to the pair of teams ahead of them (meaning that if they had won those tiebreakers, they would taken the C season title).

FALL 2009 RDL SEASON INFORMATION

Wednesday, August 5th - Preseason capts.' mtg./packet pickup, High Park Bar & Grille
Wednesday, August 12th - Start of Fall season match play
Mon., Sept. 14th - 5th week captains' meeting, High Park Bar & Grille
Wed., Nov. 18, Dec. 2 / 9 - Fall season divisional tournaments

SUMMER DARTING OPTIONS

Looking for something to fill in your summer darting needs? Well, in addition to the regular weekly blind draws at the Upper Deck (see page 8), there's an extra blind draw starting and another local league just taking registration now.

== WEDNESDAY BLIND DRAWS: The Upper Deck will be adding a weekly Wednesday draw until RDL starts back up. Same setup as the Friday and Sunday blind draws (see page 8).

== TRIANGLE DART LEAGUE in Chapel Hill: Summer season reg. is ongoing through this coming Thursday. You have until roughly 4 pm or so on Thursday to get in. Info: 968-0702, stgmngr@aol.com

SPRING 2009 PENALTY SUMMARY

Excellent job, captains!! Granted, there were no ballots to deal with this season, but the fact remains that there were fewer than half as many penalties as in the past few seasons. We only had 17 penalties, for a total point loss of 162 (compared to 36 and 43 penalties the past two seasons). H division led the way with the most penalties (6), the highest total point loss (74 points), and the most teams penalized (3). C division, on the other hand, had ZERO penalties this season… yes, I said ZERO! Nice… There was 1 preseason captains' meeting penalty (for 5 points), 9 phone penalties (for 45 points), and 7 mail penalties (for 112 points). In all, only 12 of the 61 teams incurred a penalty, and who the biggest loser was depends on how you look at it. Rebels Without A Cause in B div. was penalized most often (as usual, right?) with 3, while He Hate Us in H div. lost the most points with 32. But the biggest loser almost has to be Big Bulls, whose 21 points on 2 penalties cost them a set of plaques for 2nd place in H div.

"DISCUSSING" THIS SEASON'S NEW RULE…

Remember this from the wk7 Tons?… {At a match a couple of weeks ago there was a disagreement about what counted as a "thrown dart". If you are standing at the line and you just drop it but it lands in front of the line does that count? If someone bumps you and you stumble forward therefore technically having a 'forward motion of the arm' does that count? Although there will always be some gray area, the RDL Board added some clarification to the rule (basically to rule out dropping it or being bumped before you were even throwing) so the rule now is as follows (bold italics are the change): MATCHES, Sec. F, #3, a, #1: A thrown dart is one that leaves your hand with a forward motion and with the intent of scoring , at the toe line toward the dartboard.}

Well, this is a bit of an odd clarification in the eyes of more than a few RDL members, some of whom shared thoughts on the topic with me. The biggest speaker on the topic has been Keith Feller of C-Minus, but he is by no means alone. I'm including a couple of Keith's notions (and a funny one from Mike Johnson too) here in case anybody wants to dig into this topic, maybe discuss, maybe even let the RDL Board / Rules Committee know what you think.

Feller offering #1: "If I understand correctly...hypothetically if I had 2 left in an 01 game and I decided to throw outside the double ring therefore not intending to score and my dart lands on the floor and I miss with my 2nd and 3rd dart I can then pick the dart up and hit my out (or try to)." [Note added by JK: Why does it have to land on the floor? Intent is intent.]

Feller offering #2: "We were practicing darts last night… I needed 2 bulls to end a cricket game. My first dart was a single 20, and the dart stayed in the board but hung down causing the flight to completely block the bulls. So my options are..... A) throw at the bulls anyway; B) turn my second dart sideways in my hand and toss it underhand at the board 'not intending to score' but to knock down the first dart so I could pick up the second dart and throw my last two darts at the bull. Of course I went with A but I should have gone with B."

Mike J.'s offering: "A thrown dart is one that leaves your hand with a forward motion and with the intent of scoring… Does that mean that if someone, as has been known to happen, throws their darts into the wall out of frustration it doesn't count as thrown darts since there was no intent of scoring?"

"HOT DARTS" CALL-IN GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines you should use for the minimum number of all-star points to report when calling in your scores.
"A" Div. = 4.5 or more ASPs; "B" Div. = 4.0+ ASPs;
"C,D" Divs. = 3.5+; "E,F,G" Divs. = 3.0+; "H" Div. = 2.5+
Also, call in any fast games, high ins, high outs, or other amazing feats that you think warrant a little recognition (e.g., Ins & Outs higher than a Ton, 24-dart cricket games, 15-dart 301s, 24-dart 501s, Ton-70s and up, 5-Bulls+, etc.).

Extra note: it's also ok to call in "fast games" in each set, even if they don't necessarily meet the maximum dart counts above.

SEASON-LONG TROPHY DART MINIMUM GAMES PLAYED REQUIREMENTS

To be eligible for all-star point average ('01 and cricket are now separate awards) and singles win %-age awards, you must play in at least 66% of the total projected games this season:

for Divs. C, D, E, F (except C1, F5 & F6), H (8 teams / div.):
All-star pt. %-age: min. of 19 '01 games, or 19 Ckt games
Singles win %-age: min. of 19 Singles Games Played for teams C1, F5 & F6 (due to 1 fft. rcvd.): 18 in each category for Divisions A, B (except B4), and G (7 teams / division):

All-star pt. %-age: min. of 16 '01 games, or 16 Ckt games
Singles win %-age: min. of 16 Singles Games Played for team B4 (due to 1 fft. rcvd.): 15 in each category

THE TWENTY-FIFTH SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
(This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional MVPs

A Division	Robbie Phillips	A Dozen Elements	E Division	Mark Lamb	Imports and Domestics
B Division	Sid Mitchell	Appetite for Destruction	F Division	Mike Glendy	Fowl Play
C Division	Jerry Oakley	The OG's	G Division	Steve Wilcenski	Coral Reefers
D Division	J.J. Tant	Overtime Outlaws	H Division	Sebastian Greene	Ale-ing Archers

All of RDL -- Jerry Oakley -- The OG's

"A" Division

Robb Beeson	Who's the Daddy?	Sort of carried the team along for a while.
Tom Brown	A Dozen Elements	Approaching 15 years of RDL domination.
Scott Butters	95% Drunksten	Because he's nicer/cooler/funnier than you.
Jimmy Davis	95% Drunksten	So close to taking the A singles crown.
Keith Gibbs	Name to be determi	Would he be better or worse if he cared?
Robbie Phillips	A Dozen Elements	Consistently the best RDL has to offer.
Mike Seward	Who's the Daddy?	Bottom line? He won Daddy the Mugs.
Wil Tan	A Dozen Elements	If only he didn't work every other Wed.

"B" Division

Randy Baldwin	Pickled Pig Darts	Not too flashy, just all solid all along.
Rob Barwick	Rif Raf	1-2 punch with Hoyt for division champs.
David Hoyt	Rif Raf	The climb is complete, A competition time.
Timothy Lane	Pickled Pig Darts	Led Pigs to the verge of a B division title.
Sid Mitchell	Appetite for Destru	And he won under his favorite team name.
Sean O'Brien	Pickled Pig Darts	Looks like past injuries are in the past.
John Pharo	Appetite for Destru	Helped bring team right back to A div.
Trey Rodgers	Rebels w/out a Cau	Wow, nearly never loses a doubles game.

"C" Division

Barry Brown	Dogs of War	Pretty obvious he's lead Dog in this War.
Matthew Copple	Nine Lives	Great record for near-miss heartbreakers.
Tom Kubel	Off Constantly	Q-Ball biggest stick for C div. champs.
Randy Lueneberg	Off Constantly	Really good in cricket, decent in the '01s.
John Mays	Nine Lives	A few more DCkt wins and he's at the top.
Jerry Oakley	The OG's	The line for beatings begins here…
Andre Reaume	The OG's	Would've shined, but Oakley plays here.
Matt Varnadoe	Off Constantly	Step up from part-time was huge for OC.

"D" Division

John Dunleavy	Respect Da Bull	Fabulous in singles, mediocre in doubles.
Phillip Eastmead	The Locals	Absolutely, unequivocally drives Locals.
Tony Keller	C-Minus	Led the charge from C basement to Mugs.
Jeff Lyons	Respect Da Bull	Had a nearly perfect season for a while.
Tim McNamara	Jack Nine	What a freakin' find for a D division team.
Alex Sarantos	Hammered Heads	I'm still surprised Heads didn't win more.
J.J. Tant	Overtime Outlaws	Four 10+-win sets consistently awesome.
Tom Winters	Dynamic Darts	Pretty much a C/D all-star team staple.

"E" Division

Deb Blackwelder	Drunk Luck	Best Drunk in both singles and doubles.
Jeff Gower	The Pit Crew	31-4 in first 3 sets excuses the soft 501.
Mike Hall	Tater Fried	11+ wins in every set? Seriously? Wow.
Lyman Kiser	One-Armed Bandits	That he gets picked as a blocker is nuts.
Mark Lamb	Imports and Domes	See comment for Mike Hall 2 lines above…
Sal Reitano	The DIVE Bombers	Clearly biggest Bomber in the squadron.
Glenn Tourout	Imports and Domes	Won a lot, AND abused the President.
Jason Walters	Tater Fried	If only he could type as well as he throws.

"F" Division

Jeff Fournier	Salute-A-Bulls	Built a new team, then put it on his back.
Mike Glendy	Fowl Play	Became more full time, won even more.
Ronnie Lee	Fowl Play	Clutch 501 hammer was solid everywhere.
Shane Nelson	The Redneckers	Ok, so we simply sit him out of the 501s.
Sean Roseman	The Redneckers	Maybe we sit him next to Nelson in 501?
Jon Thorne	Money Shot	Geez, no one wins 501 games around here.
Marshall Thorne	Money Shot	Work late? Why no 301s for team's best?
Dan Titsworth	Money Shot	No wonder Money won… they're loaded.

Jim Britt	Coral Reefers	Reefer Domination Course Instructor #1
Jim Gallagher	Coral Reefers	Reefer Domination Course Instructor #2
Mark Powell	Any Given Wednes	He wins on Every Given Wednesday.
Bob Rube	Any Given Wednes	Been making all-star teams since my start.
Rod Stacy	Sharkshooters	Team didn't win a lot, but he certainly did.
Nate Wade	Coral Reefers	Reefer Domination Course Instructor #3
Steve Wilcenski	Coral Reefers	Reefer Domination Course Instructor #4
Tolson Willis	Death Throw	Mr. Urgent Voicemail rolled after the 301s.

"H" Division

Aaron Fitzgerald	Big Bulls	Biggest Bull won 34 games in last 3 sets.
Sebastian Greene	Ale-ing Archers	12-0 in 301 enough, but rest are great too.
Corbett Gupton	Big Bulls	Needs DCkt partner to join him in 501 too.
Jim Hunsberger	Ton Up Tossers	Played sparingly by design, still best in H.
Nathan Knuffmar	Dartastrophe	Oh, if only he could've been a full-timer.
Mike Kyle	Nice Dittles	Kyle/Strickland nice 1-2 for near-champs.
Andy Schwochow	Ale-ing Archers	Another excellent newcomer, won a ton.
Jon Strickland	Nice Dittles	Kyle/Strickland nice 1-2 for near-champs.

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

-The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): 3 of the 8 divisions had 12-match schedules, so about 35% of the league was at a big disadvantage here (and it shows in the list of winners). We have two guys in E division bringing home top honors this season, both with four 11+-win sets! Congratulations to Mark Lamb of Imports and Domestics and Mike Hall of Tater Fried on a pair of incredible seasons. J.J. Tant of Overtime Outlaws gets runner-up honors for his four 10+-win sets in D division. Honorable mentions also go to: Jerry Oakley of The OG's in C and Jason Walters of Tater Fried in E for their four 9+-win sets that include three 11+-win sets, and also Robbie Phillips of A Dozen Elements in A and Tolson Willis of Death Throw in G for their three 9+-win sets in only 12-week seasons (due to their divisions with byes).

-The Iron Man/Woman Award: I'll just note Charles Parker of The Aristocrats in A division first, because he was the only person in A/B/G divisions (the three with 2 byes) to play as many as 50 games - so he's the short-division honorable mention. The other five divisions provided some pretty good game numbers, but one man stood well ahead as this season's Iron Man: Lyman Kiser of One-Armed Bandits in E division, with 64 games played. Why anyone would pick the guy with the 5th best record in E as a blocker is beyond me… Honorable mentions: Jerry Oakley of The OG's in C with 58; Jim Lewis of Dynamic Darts in D with 59; Frank Balena of Better At Pool, Shane Nelson of The Redneckers, and Brian Dyment of Boys' Night Out in F, with 57 each; and Aaron Fitzgerald of Big Bulls in H with 59.

-The Team Attendance Award winners: No less than 10(!) teams this season made a passable run at joining the old days where a team would play the same 6 players every set all season. Some were really close (e.g., Nine Lives, C-Minus, The DIVE Bombers), but none were as close as the six-man Tater Fried. Easy call, that one.

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

Just like last season, my weekly picks were sort of my normal rate of success, and both my preseason and tournament picks kinda rocked! A brief recap of each:

In my preseason picks (which are clearly the most difficult set), I did about the same in each of the divisions. For most of them, I just got one thing wrong in each (but not for all). First, A division finished exactly in the order I predicted. Next, I missed just a single team in B division (didn't give Appetite quite enough credit); I missed a single team in D division (had the Outlaws much farther down the rankings); I missed a single team in E division (had the Imports much farther down the rankings); simply had the top two teams inverted in F division; simply had the top two teams inverted in G division; I missed Nice Dittles in H division, and also expected that Dartastrophe would have enough players. Finally, there was C division… for the second season in a row, I completely blew the entire set of C picks. My top picks finished near the bottom of the division, and I pretty much got just about nothing right… Glad that C season/division is behind us.

My weekly prediction results you can peruse pick-for-pick on the other side of this sheet of paper. I climbed a bit to nearly 71% correct this season, and was over 69% in 7 of the 8 divisions. I did horribly in D division, getting barely 55% of those matches. Oh, ugh. It was also in D division where 3 of the 4 teams play that fooled me more often than not. So… I'm not going to miss this D set either.

Last but not least were my tournament predictions… And once again, we go to best-of-three and my picks get even better, no matter what division you call home. I hit 22 of 28 first round matches (the other was a forfeit), 14 of 16 second round matches, and 5 of the 8 finals. That puts me at 41-11 for the tournament, despite having to pick 2nd and 3rd round matches before the 1st round was over. And my "Surest Things"? They were exactly that. Not too shabby.

(I introduced this page ten seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the four 'o' symbols indicate the teams for which I was only 0.500, and the four 'x' symbols indicate the teams that fooled me more often than not. [The Hammered Heads, pretty representative of D division as a whole, confused me all season. Had a few rough spots along the way with some teams, but at least I rebounded from a 1-6 start with Nice Dittles.]

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED

I now run this column during seasons in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers follow the questions. No peeking…

Week 3 question: [A reader-submitted question that I had been saving for more than a season. Thanks to David Hoyt of Rif Raf for the idea for this one.] What is the greatest number of points that a division-winning team has been behind another team in the division (since this league runs on match wins rather than points)? [Note: this question only applies to seasons starting from Spring, 1996, as that is the timeframe for which I have complete league records.]

Week 4 question(s): How many people have played in every RDL season since I became statistician (Spring, 1996 - 26 seasons prior to this one)? Who are they?

Week 5 question: Which RDL team currently has the longest winning streak? (No looking back at last year's Tons…)

Week 6 question: What is the highest number of undefeated teams in the RDL in one season (in the last 26 seasons, the amount of time for which I have full records as statistician)?

Week 7 question: (This one was adapted from a question posed by RDL Vice President J.P. Evans this past week. His question was based solely on results through week 6, but I've extended it to a full season question.) How many teams (in the past 26 seasons) have averaged 14+ points/week, but had 0.500 or worse W/L records?

Week 8 question(s): In the last 26 seasons, what is the greatest number of teams that has finished tied for first in terms of match win/loss record (meaning the division winner was decided on points)? How many times? What teams were in the ties?

Week 9 question: How many matches in the past 26 seasons (the amount of time that I have been statistician) have gone unreported in the league statistics because neither team was able to produce its copy of the scoresheet?

Week 10 question(s): Which team has won the most division titles in the past 26 seasons (my statistician tenure)? Which team has won the most divisional tournament titles? How many for each?

Week 11 question: Let's see how well you remember recent RDL history… how many of the teams currently leading their divisions have won a regular season title in the past 3 years?

Week 12 question: How many one-turn dart sequences are there that can be used to take out 14 in a game of double-out '01 (with no bounce-outs or 0s)?

Week 3 answer: Ok, so there are actually several ways to answer this question, and since nobody hazarded a guess at the answer, I'll feel free to answer it in a couple different ways. The most technical answer is ONE HUNDRED! In the Spring, 2003 season, Mangina Douche (never one of my favorite names…) won F division despite not outscoring even one team in their division in terms of points. They went 12-2 and accumulated 8 penalties for a total of 106 points. In that group was SIX late scoresheet penalties, leading to the update of that rule that starting with the 3rd of that type of penalty, the team loses the match win also. Oh, gee, they're famous… In all, 25 teams in the last 26 seasons have won their division without the highest point total in the division. If we remove the 6 of those 25 that were only in that situation due to penalties (as well as any others who had a small deficit increased due to penalties), the greatest point deficit for a division winner was 33, in the Spring, 2007 C division, by the Travelin Beer Bellies. The Bellies won that div. by two matches, but Bag O' Nuts scored 2.4 points per week higher.

Week 4 answer(s): Surprisingly, I would bet, the answer is 37!!! Yes, that's right, 37 people have been on a roster for each of the last 26 seasons. I used "on a roster" as the criterion because we don't have records of who did/didn't play in tournament matches (plus, I'm not even sure if any of these 37 had a season in which s/he didn't play during the regular season - to be honest I didn't even look because of the tournament caveat). Anyway, 35 of those 37 are on rosters again this season, with Connie Austin and John Jenkins being the two missing diehards. The remaining 35 are playing on only 13 of the RDL's 61 teams, with not a single one of them playing in D, E, or H divisions. The 35 are: 6 Starving Dartists (Kevin Hartley, Ron Hendricks, Fritz Herman, John Howell, Bob James, Marc Shown), 5 Grateful Darts (John Iager, John Lilienthal, Tony McGrail, Rick Perkins, Phillip Simpson), 4 Lunatic Fringe (Jim Budelman, Don Butman, Steve Hoffmann, Bob Terry), 4 Pickled Pig Darts (Eric Bonar, Randy Deemer, Timothy Lane, Pete Rutten), 3 Elements (Tom Brown, Jason Kilts, Keith Wall), 3 Wednesdays (Joe Kunesh, Chuck Rouse, Charlie Wilkinson), 3 One And Done (Kevin Coyne, Mark Sellers, Randy Warren), 2 Ducks (Bob Carawon, Cathy Moeschet), 1 Reefer (Nate Wade), 1 Excalibur (Gary Burney), 1 Niner (Butch Smith), 1 Sharkshooter (Michelle Stacy), and 1 Daddy (Mike Seward). [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: John Jenkins, despite not playing (at least during the regular season), DID run out and get himself on the Dogs of War roster to preserve his streak.]

Week 5 answer: Probably surprisingly, of the 6 RDL teams that are still undefeated this season, only ONE of them has a winning streak that extends prior to this season. The only undefeated team so far that also survived its tournament in the Fall was Who's the Daddy? (known as Buddy Holly and the Shafters last season). Daddy is now 4-0 this season, plus 3 tournament wins last season, plus they won their final 2 matches of the regular season in the Fall (as long as you count their auto-forfeit win from Shadows Fall, otherwise it was only 1 at the end of the season). Thus, they are presently on a 9-match win streak (or 8, if you're a stickler for the team actually playing the match). Kind of says a lot for the parity of the league that we're limited to just that one team crossing from season to season with a streak intact. [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: Who's the Daddy? finally lost in week 7 of this season, and actually lost 3 of their last 7 matches, proving that success is fleeting even for those who appear most on top at times.]

Week 6 answer: In the last 26 seasons, only 20 teams have survived both the regular season and tournament without losing even one match, with none in 11 of those 26 seasons. But the season with the most undefeateds was the Fall, 1996 season, with 3 (Lunatic Fringe in A, Top Dead Center in B, and The Dart Party in C).

Week 7 answer: In the last 26 seasons, only ONE team has done this - FYL&EMS in E division went 6-6 with 168 points, for a weekly average of exactly 14.0 points. Only Tony Polston (of Who Darted?) is still around from that team, as I'm sure the others are still trying to figure out how they scored 10+ in every match and finished 5th of 7. (Side note: highest average for a 0.500 or worse team in an 8-team, 14-week season is 13.07/ wk in Fall, 2000, by Cheap Shots in C div.)

Week 8 answer: The greatest number of teams that have finished at the top of a division with the same record is 3, and it has happened four times in the past 26 seasons. Two times three teams have been at the top of an 8-team division, with 11-3 records both times, and with a point spread of 34 (Fall 1997 B division) and 37 (Spring 1998 G division). The other two times three teams have finished at the top of a division occurred in 7-team divisions, and they're both recent… Fall 2007 H division and Fall 2008 F division, both with ties at 8-4. But there are two pretty amazing facts about those two team packs… #1 - in the first one, the three teams were separated by ONE point, and in the second one, the three teams were only THREE points apart; and #2 - The Redneckers were involved in BOTH of those races, finishing 1st in the first and 3rd in the second.

Week 9 answer: Well, it appears that RDL captains are getting better over time. It still happens that a team loses its scoresheet every now and then, but it is the rare occasion now that the opposing team also loses its sheet (or simply fails to keep it). The RDL has lost 8 scoresheets in my 26 seasons as statistician, but none in the last 11 seasons. The only season in which more than 1 sheet was lost was Fall, 1997, when 2 scoresheets in B division were lost in the same week! How weird is that?

Week 10 answer: Well, if you've been in the RDL for a while this one was pretty easy. Lunatic Fringe won 13 regular season titles and 11 tournament titles in that time span (although none since Sp05, so maybe they're due), with all of them in A division, of course.

Trivia answer portion continued on page 13, left column…

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED…

Week 11 answer: Four, with all four having won at least TWO regular season division titles in that span. The four: A Dozen Elements (four divisions in the last six seasons: Sp06 A division, Fa07 A division, Sp08 A division, Fa08 A division); Off Constantly (two divisions: Sp07 F division, Sp08 E division); Overtime Outlaws (two divisions: Fa07 G division, Sp08 F division); and Money Shot (two divisions: Sp08 H division, Fa08 G division). [Note added for the banquet edition of the Tons: all four of those teams held on to claim another division crown.]

Week 12 answer: Are you ready for this? The answer… is… 126!! That's ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-SIX! Seriously. I would list all of the possible sequences here, but space is short, so for those that want to investigate the answer for themselves, there are 40 sequences that end with double-1, 31 that end with double-2, 24 that end with double-3, 17 that end with double-4, 10 that end with double-5, 3 that end with double-6, and 1 that ends with double-7. Keith Feller (of C-Minus) offered the best answer though: "Too many. Don't be 'cute', stop thinking, throw the double-7, dammit." Tony Williamson (of the Overtime Outlaws) came the closest by far, missing only two of the shots that ended with a double-5.

THE REAL WORLD HITS THE DART WORLD…

I'm not entirely certain how many of us follow the news each day (or week, or month), but I'm wondering how many of you saw the NC Senate vote result this past week. What vote you ask? The one about banning smoking in all bars and restaurants in the state. And no, this version of the bill does NOT grant an option to any private clubs or to any establishments that don't permit minors. It simply bans smoking in ALL of the establishments. It passed in the Senate by a solid 30-18 vote and was thus subsequently sent to the House. If it passes, it would likely take effect at about the start of 2010. I'm a non-smoker so this really wouldn't bother me personally, but can you imagine the number of delays we will initially encounter as we send people outside to get the next thrower on the list for his/her game? And how do those of you who smoke and use a cigarette as a calming tool or as part of your routine feel about that? Times, they may be a'changin'…

JUST A FLUKE, RIGHT? WRONG.

Sometimes we have a fast game or high out that is so good that it's likely even the thrower is surprised by it. Kind of an "I'll never do that again" situation. Well, you might think an 8-dart 301 game (1 off the league record) is just that type of game. Unless it was Dale Hyler of A Dozen Elements doing it, I suppose. Hyler tossed an 8-darter to claim the A division Fast 301 during the season, and then… he tossed another 8-darter in the tournament! Yikes.

TOURNAMENT QUOTES

Quote #1: from Shawn Carter (and others) of the Bennington Brawlers: "Ton-80 for Shawn Carter. Just wanted to make sure that got in there. It's my first one." [If they called in four times total to do nothing but report that Ton-80, does that mean that I should have ordered him four plaques? - JK]

Quote #2: from Mike Seward of Who's the Daddy?: "I like spotted dick. It's good." [No comment really needed… - JK]

Quote #3: from Paddy Diamond of Rif Raf: "Hey, this is the F-Jason Kilts Hotline. I can be more appropriate, F- Jason Kilts's predictions. Rif Raf wins B division, baby! Jason Kilts is wrong once again. We will see you next year, baby. See you next year!" [Well, that was eloquent. We'll certainly be seeing you… :o) - JK]

YOU'LL LAUGH… YOU'LL CRY… I DID… WELL, I LAUGHED SO HARD I CRIED AT LEAST…

This is from RDL Secretary Heather Bohanan, recounting their semifinal match. It is both the most painful and most hilarious dart story I've heard in a while. Fabulous of her to share with us…

"Last night the dart gods were messing with me. We are playing Money Shot at Varina. My goal for my team (cause Frank Hall is captain of record, but not really, it's somehow morphed into me) was to make it to week #2 of the tourney and have a 50% or better record [during the season] - reasonable since we only won one match all last season. So, we accomplished both of those, but I am greedy, I wanted the WIN last night. If American Legion team (#8 seed) could be one game away from forcing Money Shot into 1001 in week #14 I figured we could beat them in 2/3 format. Our first match against them was 19-5, and the second one was 17-7, but so what!?

So I list, we start playing 301 and Frank Hall takes the scoresheet to the other end of the bar and he is marking the wins. So at the end of 301 its 2-4 in our favor! What?? Wow!!! We are actually up on Money Shot at the end of a set? This is looking good! Frank H. gives me the scoresheet back to list Cricket. I am very excited. We end Cricket 3-3 for a total score of 5-7 us. So I tell my guys, sweep doubles cricket and we are done, yes? So we drop two doubles cricket, but that is ok. I am sweating the lineup like crazy, but we are all good for 501. Long story somewhat shorter, it comes down to the last 501 match. It's the 'Halls of Justice' (Danny Hall and Frank Hall) and literally I can't breathe or even look as I fist my hands and pray that Money Shot continues to bust on their remaining "5" so the Halls have another shot. Halls of Justice take it in 2 games! We are thrilled - hugs, high 5's, etc.!

Mitch is looking at us like we are crazy cause we are all like great match, ya'll' and all that. He says 'Um, we gotta play 1001.'

WTF?!??!??!?

Turns out William did NOT win his 301 match and damn Frank Hall wrote it down wrong (and apparently the 10,000 other times during the night that we looked at the scoresheet he didn't realize it then either!). #*%! cuss, cuss, cuss, cuss!

We play a very poor 1001 game and lose. I get that we lose, that wasn't even so bad (it would have been a long shot to win), but it was thinking we had won and then having it taken away from us (me) that hurt!!! DAMN FRANK HALL!!! (He is not allowed to touch the scoresheet anymore!) Do you remember when this team was named "IBF"? (Before Tres XXX?) You know what that stood for? I Blame Frank. Well, I wasn't on the team then, but I still do!! (haha) Ok, I could blame anyone else, cause one more winning game and we would have won, but Frank H is the most fun to blame - that is kinda what he is there for."

RDL ALUMNI CONTINUE TO SHINE

Jeremiah Millar, most recently a member of the Element, moved to greener (colder) pastures in Michigan, but that doesn't mean he gave up the game we all love (given the conditions there, maybe he'll play even more). And he has already hit paydirt there, winning the 501 Regionals last weekend, and earning a spot at the Nationals in Connecticut in August. Nice…

HOW'S THIS FOR A SCHEDULE?

I hadn't even noticed until Bill Buckley of Hostile Saints pointed it out to me, but E division had among its teams 1 in Garner, 1 in Wake Forest, and 2 in Fuquay-Varina. Holy crap, that is a lot of driving for just a standard regular season, regardless of which bar is your host location. All of us non-E players need not complain…

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

I've run this page in several recent banquet Tons, and it seems to generate about the most interest/discussion. So, I certainly couldn't let it die out just yet. Without further ado, let's open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. As always, this is just about the last thing that I'm writing and part of this was written when it was really late, so usually not even I know what's about to hit the page…

--The Fall tradition reaches to the Spring banquet this year! The first random thought is about Survivor... I think that once I finish with my time here at the Tons, I'm going to call in a favor and have a military chopper drop me into the Brazilian rainforest with only a canoe and my will to escape the indigenous people. I'm not sure how I can make all of that happen, but I'm sure Coach help tell me.

--I want to pass a new law. I want to pass a law that television newscasters are not allowed to say the name Brett Favre for at least 6 years. Just about every ounce of respect that I had for him is gone (and I respected him a lot). Just retire or don't, but either way, please stop making me hear about it month after month, year after year. No more, please.

--Quick one to all those playing in A in the last decade… Doug Jeffcoat of Who's the Daddy? told me that this season he won his first A division tournament Mug. Anybody else sort of stunned that that could be the case? I simply wouldn't have guessed that.

--For anyone out there who would love to find a way to really bug the living crap out of me (and yes, I know there are a few), I have the way for you. Just park like crap in any parking garage or parking lot where I'm headed. Park over the lines, take up a couple spaces, leave your car on some goofy angle, etc. Nothing makes me happier than seeing that. If you are a brown-noser and want 'extra credit', then back into the spot poorly… absolutely nothing pleases me more than seeing that. Oh, and, try this too: wait until I'm coming around the corner and make me wait while you 'try' to back in, pulling forward and back repeatedly. … … … Grrrr… I'm getting all angry just thinking about it. Stupid crappy drivers.

--Sometimes as I go through different newsletter stuff to make sure that everything is included, I just notice an odd item or a random statistic. For example, check this one out: Rob Rexrode of The Bogarts is 9-5 in singles cricket and 0-13 in doubles cricket. That seems nearly impossible, but it's true.

--Another one from the category of 'I just couldn't make this up'… Those of you in E/D division the last couple seasons (or in A where her husband plays) probably know Jamie Dziczkowski of Respect Da Bull. But did you know this about her? She has close to 200 pairs of shoes?! (Initial estimates were actually 250, but were subsequently toned down.) How about that she has 100-150 handbags?! Or 70+ belts?? Holy crap!! Does her family have stock in every leather producer in the free world? That is really amazing. And a little bit frightening.

--A few more entries in my favorite doubles listings this season: I noted it once before, but Lunatic Fringe still sometimes pairs up Billy/Joel. And Boys' Night Out last season had the very freaky duo of Rick/James. But not to be outdone on the music front, in week 11 Name to be determined offered up Tommy/Lee (no word on whether Pam was there, or if any videos were recorded). And then Mack the Knife fans were given Bobby/Darren by Jack Nine in week 13. But if you're less of a music fan and more of a sit-at-home-on-my-butt-and-watch-poker type of guy, then maybe the Ton Up Tossers' Norm/Chad duo is more for you.

--How much do you have to suck at darts or pi off your captain to be sat out of one of your best sets (SCkt) when your team only has 6 players? You'll have to ask Robb Beeson. Captain Kendall opted for Joey Gaglione twice in that set instead of Robb once.

--Almost forgot to include something from a few weeks back… Justin Harvey of the Ale-ing Archers said that the guys from Who Darted? do an incredible karaoke rendition of Bonnie Tyler's Total Eclipse of the Heart. Oh, the hidden talents we bear…

--We had a minor resurgence (2 instances) this tournament season of teams (or at least of select members) bolting out the door the moment the other team wins, without shaking hands or offering any sort of sportsmanlike finish to the match. Very classy, don't ya think? Don't be one of those guys. If you already are, then stop being one - because you know who you are, and unfortunately so do the rest of us.

--The Manny Ramirez 50-game suspension prompted one of my teammates to offer up that he would be glad to not take drugs for $25 million per year. Ramirez… is… a… dumba. Much like countless others. It's sad really, but baseball has pretty much lost any shred of credibility. I can't believe how much baseball I watched as a kid… now I just simply couldn't care less. That really sort of bums me out a little.

--One of our teams shared with me a brief recap of one of their tournament matches, and it wasn't the recap that I remember, but rather the fact that the match next to them ended two and a half hours before theirs did. Wow, that's… pretty much an entire regular season night. That is not an insignificant chunk of time.

--How is this for perspective? Robbie Phillips of A Dozen Elements won both all-star point average titles in A division this season. In doing so, he threw more '01 ASPs than 9 RDL teams, and more cricket ASPs than 23 RDL teams (yes, that says 23 entire teams). Now, take note that Phillips played in a 7-team division and thus had two bye weeks(!).

--Ok, there are 524 league members this season, of which 508 actually threw a dart during the regular season. Of those 508, how many do you think have a higher all-start point average in '01 than in cricket? Of those, how many do you think more than 5 games each of '01 and cricket? Finally, of those who played more than 5 of each game, who do you think has the highest '01 over cricket difference? (Answers at the end of the column.)

--Have you seen the Verizon ad with the 10 sprinkles on the ice cream? Where the guy pours the entire bucket of sprinkles over an ice cream to simulate the number of Verizon network members. The worker who offers him whipped cream on that is priceless.

--Anybody want to make any side bets on which team will make it farther, the Hurricanes or the Red Wings? If you have to ask what sport that is… don't even bother talking to me.

--Hey, want to do something good for darts in the area (and maybe for your competitive game)? Turn to page 18, check out the Wreck at the Deck flier, pick an event (or more than one, if you're all gung ho), and come out and play. It takes quite a lot of effort to bring an event like that to your back yard, and nothing would kill it faster than lack of participation.

--Is it just me, or do banana peppers on just about anything make whatever it is better?

--Answers to the mini-trivia questions above: 45 people have higher '01 ASP averages; 40 of those 45 have played at least 6 '01 games and 6 cricket games; and of those 40, Dean Cusher of The Redneckers has the most '01-heavy average (0.500 to 0.192).

THE HISTORY OF JK'S SEASONAL ALL-STAR TEAMS - 25 SEASONS - PART I

(On this and the following page is some summary information from the divisional all-star teams that I have selected in this and the previous 24 seasons. See yourself in here anywhere?)

Each season I select my own personal 8-player all-star team for each division, as well as a lone divisional MVP, and a lone leaguewide MVP (except for one season when I named a pair of leaguewide co-MVPs). In general, it's obvious that players who win more often will be more likely to be selected for my all-star teams, but I admit that I take into account pretty much anything that I think is important (percentage of team's success, dependability, good captainship, buying me a beer, whatever…). While being picked by me doesn't really carry any real honor with it, I imagine that it is still pretty cool to be recognized in the season- ending issue of the Tons as being among the best in your division. That being said, here are some historical records of the teams that I have selected over the past 25 seasons. I hope you enjoy…

Listed below on this page are the 48 people that have been selected to one of my divisional all-star teams in 7 or more of the 25 seasons. Obviously, players in lower divisions are not competing against the same competition as those in higher divisions. But these teams aren't necessarily all about who the best 48-56 players in the entire league are - rather, they're just to recognize the players that excelled at whichever level their teams were.

[Key: letter represents the division for that player for that season, underline = div. MVP, italic/underline = leaguewide MVP]

THE HISTORY OF JK'S SEASONAL ALL-STAR TEAMS - 25 SEASONS - PART II

(On this and the previous page is some summary information from the divisional all-star teams that I have selected in this and the previous 24 seasons. See yourself in here anywhere?)

So the previous page gave you a list of the players that have made the team the most often… This page will give a few of the more noteworthy things I've noticed, as well as a list of every player that ever put on one of my teams more than once…

17 seasons (4 with 8 divisions, 17 with 7 divisions, 4 with 6 divisions) = 175 divisions = 1400 all-star team spots
That means that there have been 175 division MVPs, as well as 26 league MVPs (one season had co-MVPs).

486 different people have been named to an all-star team. 1 person has made 21 teams, 1 has made 17 teams, and the rest are:
15 teams = 3 people, 14 teams = 1 person, 13 teams = 2 people, 12 teams = 2 people, 11 teams = 4 people, 10 = 4 people, 9 = 4 people,
8 = 12 people, 7 = 14 people, 6 = 18 people, 5 = 27 people, 4 = 34 people, 3 = 53 people, 2 = 95 people, and 1 = 211 people

114 people have been named the division MVP, with 39 of them earning that distinction more than once
Pat Crowley is still the king of the divisional MVP title, having earned that title FIVE times

25 people have been named the leaguewide MVP, with J.D. Dixon being the only two-time leaguewide MVP

Longest streak in terms of seasons on an all-star team = 13, Mike Seward
Coincidentally, this streak is also the longest streak in A division AND the longest current streak in any division

46 people have secured a spot at least once in RDL's "A" Division, a pretty impressive feat if you ask me…
Those people, with the number of times on the A division team: 21 times - Tom Brown, 15 times - Wil Tan, 13 times - Jim Budelman, Mike Seward, 12 times - Bob Terry, 10 times - Mark Knight, Robbie Phillips, 8 times - Keith Wall, 7 times - J.D. Dixon, Dale Hyler, 6 times - Jimmy Davis, Allen Smith, 5 times - Don Butman, Phillip Eastmead, 4 times - Brian Blake, Keith Gibbs, Lee Whitehead, 3 times - Robb Beeson, Marshall Chavis, Steve Hoffmann, Doug Jeffcoat, Timothy Lane, Jerry Oakley, Billy West, 2 times - Stef Bogaerts, Mike Hall, Kevin Kendall, Joe Kipping, Kurt Kunttu, Jeremiah Millar, Brian Selby, 1 time - Kevin Barton, Neal Bedworth, Scott Butters, Todd Camplin, Joel Eason, Joe Gaglione, Bob Gargan, Chuck Greer, Billy Hamilton, John Jenkins, Todd Lemons, Donnie Simpson, Frank Telesz, Chris Wandscher, Steve Wilcenski

All 180 players that have been named to an all-star team at least three times (with number of teams)

The "Ginger Ale and Tie Dyes" Edition

"A" Division - Sugar Daddy (12+-12)

Daddy claims 1001 in which all 12 throwers missed the out at least once, becoming what might be the RDL's first team to ever win three straight Mugs without winning a regular season title.

"B" Division - The Beleagured (13-7)

The Beleagured enjoyed the league's most dominant romp through the tournaments, the finals being the first match in which they even played 501, and then only needing the first result in that set to win.

"C" Division - Overtime Outlaws (13-9)

Overtime claims the Mugs in a tournament that went completely by the book in terms of better seeds winning, but that also boasted one of the oddest results in league history (an 8-8 quarterfinal).

"D" Division - Jack Nine (14-6)

Jack Nine cruises to the season/tournament double, avoiding a re-match with The Locals and their hopes of dropping the 500 lb. gorilla again, instead getting their 2nd win against Helter Skelter.

"E" Division - Pit Crew (14-8)

In another bracket that went straight along seeding lines, Pit Crew muddled through a couple of close matches, just like pretty much every match in this division throughout the entire season.

"F" Division - The Redneckers (12+-12)

The Redneckers won the Mugs in back-to-back matches that obviously at least tie a league record, whitewashing Menace 14-0 before being taken to 1001 in the next match by the Reefers.

"G" Division - Irish We Were Drunk (12+-12)

The Irish re-use a formula (battle to a tie and win 1001) they used to become the only team to take down the Archers during the season, taking them down once again for the tournament title.

"H" Division - Big Bulls (13-7)

The Bulls, the team with the largest margin of victory over second place during the regular season, found things a bit more difficult in the tournament, but managed to slide by the Tossers and Beer.

REGULAR SEASON WINNERS

"A" Division - Elements of Mass Destruction (10 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Sugar Daddy

"B" Division - Off Constantly (10 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - The Beleagured

2nd place - D-Parted

"D" Division - Jack Nine (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - The Locals

"E" Division - Pit Crew (10 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Money Shot

"F" Division - The Redneckers (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Coral Reefers

"G" Division - Ale-ing Archers (13 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - Death Throw

"H" Division - Big Bulls (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Sharkshooters

RULE CHANGES FOR SPRING 2010!!!!!
From the RDL Board…

Ladies and gentlemen, what is included below might be the most important thing in this edition of the Tons. This information will be reiterated at the beginning of the Spring season, but it would great if everyone was to recognize these things now instead. Please read the following notice from the Board:

There will be two new rules for Spring 2010. The first is more of a revocation of a prior rule. The NC General Assembly has enacted legislation that bans smoking in most host establishments. Therefore the RDL must respect the law, and boards are no longer mandated to be located in a smoking section. Some bars (cigar bars, clubs such as the American Legion) may still allow smoking, and that is great, but the vast majority of them will not. And, before it becomes an issue, please be mindful that you go out on Wednesday nights to play darts. By that we mean, clearly a large number of league members will want to go outside between their games and grab a smoke, but it's the Raleigh Dart League, not the Raleigh Cigarette League. Please enjoy yourself, but be polite and mindful of your teammates. Do not expect that you can run outside and smoke every time you are not playing and expect your non-smoking teammates to keep score all the time. That is unfair to them. And certainly be mindful of when your next game starts and if there is not time for a smoke, wait until after your game. Per the RDL rules (Matches, Section C, Rule #8), when a match is called, players have a maximum of five (5) minutes to report to the line ready to begin play. If after five (5) minutes a player has not come to the line, he is considered to have forfeited the game. Don't make your opponent wait 4 minutes and 50 seconds to start so you can smoke. That is rude, and if you make a habit of it, it might even be considered unsportsmanlike conduct!! While we don't think this 5 minute rule has ever resulted in a forfeit since its inception, we would guess that if it ever will, it will be this season, over a smoke.

The second rule has to do with High Ins in 301. The spirit of the rule was always meant to imply that the high in was only applicable if you went in on your first throw, but it was not clearly stated so people who went in with a Ton 60 on their 8th try were still getting the award. That is great that you threw a Ton 60, and you deserve ASP for throwing it, but that is not as impressive as someone who didn't miss the board 21 times but only scored a Ton 20. So, we have now added to the rules that High Ins only count if it is your first turn at the line. (Note that it does not have to be your first dart, you can miss your first dart, your other two darts are still a part of your first turn at the line.)

New rule version copied from the actual rules:

B) Individual awards:

2) High In award (301) – one award per Division. (Note that high ins are only counted on a player's first turn at the dartboard.)

Start getting your team together for the Fall season now!! Don't forget and miss out! Information is below, and on pages 1 & 40.

SPRING 2010 RDL SEASON INFORMATION

These dates (or at least some of them) are on page 8, as well as on pages 1 and 40, but I am putting them in many locations because they might be the most important thing for you in this newsletter.

Wednesday, January 6th - Spring season registration, High Park (online registration available in days immediately prior to the 6th)
Sometime in Jan. 7-12 - Preseason RDL Board meeting, site TBD
Wed., Jan. 20th - Preseason capts.' mtg./packet pickup, High Park
Wednesday, January 27th - Start of Spring season match play
Monday, March 1st - Fifth week captains' meeting, High Park
Wednesday, May 5/12/19 - Spring season divisional tournaments
Saturday, May 22nd - Spring season banquet, site TBD

RDL MEETING TIME CHANGES - PLEASE TAKE NOTE!

Captains (and other team representatives), please note that the start times for registration meetings and captains' meetings have changed. Instead of the old 7:30-8:30 time window, those meetings will now be held during the time slot of 7:00-8:00. Please don't let the old times just stick in your head and show up too late for any important stuff.

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

A decent total of 39 tiebreakers this season, with a relatively standard distribution. Every division had at least 1, with E and G leading the way with 8 each (with 1 of G's coming in the tournament final). F was next with 6 tiebreakers (1 in the tournament final), C and H had 5 each (with one of C's in the tournament), B had 4 (1 in the tournament), A had 2 (1 in the tournament final), and D had only 1. 7 teams played at least 3 1001 games this season, with this season's Cardiac Kids award going to Dive Bombers in E division (who went 3-2 in a whopping 5 extra legs). The Heartbreak award goes to both Any Given Wednesday in F and Rush Hour Darting in G, both of whom lost all 3 of their 1001s… ugh. But the team that might love 1001 the most despite only playing 2? Projectile Dysfunction in F, who won only 2 matches this season… both in 1001.

FALL 2009 PENALTY SUMMARY

Well, it was an election season, so clearly we were going to have a few more penalties than the prior season, and that's exactly what happened. There were only 27 penalties in the end, for a total point loss of 212. At least one team was penalized in every division, with no more than four teams in any division. We had 3 captains' meeting penalties (for 15 pts.), 12 election ballot penalties (for 60 points), 5 phone penalties (for 20 pts.), and 7 mail penalties (for 112 points). The most penalized team in the league was He Hate Us in H division, leading both in number of penalties (3) and total points lost (26). He Hate Us did not, however, lose the most due to penalties - that honor absolutely unequivocally goes to The Beleagured, who lost the B division title due to their week 7 mail penalty! 3 Grams & Ham in E also could have climbed a spot without their penalty, but that was only possible because The Bombers were also penalized.

IN MEMORIAM…

Ladies and gentlemen of the RDL, it is my very sad duty to share with you the fact that our darting family is down one man. What follows is a brief item prepared by Nelson Williams in memory of his very dear teammate. I can only hope that each of you lives your life in such a fashion as to make your friends feel about you the way the Coral Reefers felt about theirs.

Hue Hodge, member of the Coral Reefers, lost a mercifully brief battle with cancer on Monday, November 30. He was 50. He was survived by his wife Lorna and sons Eric and Alex. In the 1970's, Hue attended Sanderson High School with several of his Reefer teammates. He had been playing darts in the RDL off-and-on since the early 1980's.

Hue conquered his personal demons and gave up alcohol more than eight years ago. He remained sober until his untimely passing. Hue and his glasses of ginger ale were a fixture at Reefer matches. His inner strength was an inspiration to everyone who knew him. And his services as a designated driver were always appreciated. He would often laugh about the irony of being the one alcoholic on the team driving van loads of drunks home after matches.

Hue was smart and funny. He was generous and warm-hearted. In short, he was a good man. And he threw very respectable darts for decades. When his dart game got into a rut, he would ask a teammate to punch his shoulder. But when punched, no matter how lightly, this 6' 2", 270 pound mass of angle-iron would complain that you hit him too hard and ruined his game; usually with a laugh. He will be missed.

If you were fortunate enough to know Hue, please raise a glass of ginger ale in his honor.

SMALL FOLLOW-UP, RE: MEMORY OF HUGH

Following Hugh's passing (his closest friends call him Hue), the Hodge family set up a college trust fund for Hugh's sons. The Reefers cut in more than $500 at their very next match in a matter of minutes. The Leftovers (their opponents for the evening) and a few spectators also gladly chipped in, which was a touching and classy gesture. Pat Cullen, who attended grade school with Hugh and was his childhood neighbor and friend, collected the funds on his behalf.

As a further gesture showing how much Hugh will be missed by his teammates, you might notice that none of the Coral Reefers are carrying any awards around with them at today's banquet. Instead, the entire team requested that the value of their awards be donated to the college trust fund rather than having their awards made this season.

Some days… I'm pretty proud to be in the darting family.

"HOT DARTS" CALL-IN GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines you should use for the minimum number of all-star points to report when calling in your scores.
"A" Div. = 4.5 or more ASPs; "B" Div. = 4.0+ ASPs;
"C,D" Divs. = 3.5+; "E,F,G" Divs. = 3.0+; "H" Div. = 2.5+
Also, call in any fast games, high ins, high outs, or other amazing feats that you think warrant a little recognition (e.g., Ins & Outs higher than a Ton, 24-dart cricket games, 15-dart 301s, 24-dart 501s, Ton-70s and up, 5-Bulls+, etc.).

Extra note: it's also ok to call in "fast games" in each set, even if they don't necessarily meet the maximum dart counts above.

SEASON-LONG TROPHY DART MINIMUM GAMES PLAYED REQUIREMENTS

To be eligible for all-star point ave. & singles win %-age awards, you must play at least 66% of this season's projected games:

for Divs. D, F, G, & H (except G6, H5, H8) (8 teams / div.):
Singles win %-age: min. of 19 Singles Games Played
All-star pt. Average: min. of 37 Total Games Played for teams H5, H8 (due to 1 forfeit rcvd.): 18 singles, 35 total for team G6 (due to 2 forfeits received): 16 singles, 32 total for Divs. A, B, C, & E (except team E7) (7 teams / division):

Singles win %-age: min. of 16 Singles Games Played
All-star pt. Average: min. of 32 Singles Games Played for team E7 (due to 1 forfeit received.): 15 singles, 30 total

THE TWENTY-SIXTH SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
(This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional MVPs

A Division	Robbie Phillips	Elements of Mass Destruction	E Division	Jason Thomas	Pit Crew
B Division	Jon Kenney	The Beleagured	F Division	Shane Murray	The Redneckers
C Division	Tony Keller	D-Parted	G Division	Jeff Fournier	Salute-A-Bulls
D Division	Joe Work	Traveling Beer Bellies	H Division	Aaron Fitzgerald	Big Bulls

All of RDL -- Jon Kenney -- The Beleagured

"A" Division

Tom Brown	Elements of M.D.	Came up clutch too many times to count.
Jim Davis	95% Drunksten	Finally added a state championship too.
Jeremy Dziczkow	Elements of M.D.	Sophomore A season certainly agreed.
Billy Hamilton	Lunatic Fringe	Wow, is this guy back with a vengeance.
Kenny Persson	Sugar Daddy	Simply helped his team win all season.
Robbie Phillips	Elements of M.D.	The best player in RDL makes the team.
Mike Seward	Sugar Daddy	He's like the Energizer Bunny to this team.
Wil Tan	Elements of M.D.	Sadly, perfect throw string ended at 19.

"B" Division

Matthew Copple	Nine Lives	Pretty clear he's the power on his team.
J.D. Dixon	Pheasant Pluckers	Part-time or not… too dangerous to omit.
Steve Holland	Pheasant Pluckers	Super solid for upset-oriented Pluckers.
Jon Kenney	The Beleagured	What an addition this guy proved to be…
Tom Kubel	Off Constantly	Best player all season for runners-up.
Billy Lloyd	The Beleagured	Almost identical record to that of Kenney.
Jeff Lyons	Off Constantly	Just solid across sets gets it done.
Jeff Reygers	The Beleagured	3rd reason Beleagured have the Mugs.

"C" Division

Travis Ackerman	Cork Screwers	Superb singles, good-enough doubles.
Eugene Foushee	Excalibur	Really a great season for mid-level team.
Cody Gaulthier	Cork Screwers	After 301 he was just killing it all season.
Ron Hendricks	Starving Dartists	Mr. Singles needs a doubles partner.
Tony Keller	D-Parted	Kicked a and took names from day one.
J.J. Tant	Overtime Outlaws	8-0 in the 501 clutch? Seriously? Wow.
Tim Vann	Excalibur	Maybe tip up a couple fewer before 501.
Tom Wiegand	Dogs of War	Certainly the lead Dog in this War pack.

"D" Division (wow, this division was DEEP on top talent…)

Aaron Downs	Helter Skelter	Only RDL member with three 11-win sets.
Phillip Eastmead	The Locals	Monster driving force for Locals again.
Keith Gibbs	Jack Nine	Half-timer may have highest upside in D.
Mark Lamb	Imports & Domestic	Mr. Wake Forest Blind Draw is a rock.
Vicente Martinez	Hammered Heads	Joe Cricket can sit 301/501 if need be…
Tim McNamara	Jack Nine	Only guy chasing Eastmead in any stats.
Mike Raquet	Helter Skelter	Who the heck picked Raquet as a blocker?
Joe Work	Traveling Beer Belli	Could a guy be more important to a team?

"E" Division

Ryan Bradley	3 Grams & Ham	Most dominant Grammer, by a whole lot.
Stan Converse	The Real Decoys	Got better with every set of the night.
Mike Glendy	The Real Decoys	Team is so much better when he's around.
Chad Hayes	Cobra Kai	2/3 or better in every set for middle team.
Sal Reitano	DIVE Bombers	The SCkt numbers alone got him here.
Jason Thomas	Pit Crew	MVP despite sitting out in week 14.
Jon Thorne	Money Shot	If only he was at more of the matches…
Dan Titsworth	Money Shot	Winningest player for division's #2 squad.

"F" Division

Dean Cusher	The Redneckers	Huge in cricket, and really great in -01 too.
Jim Gallagher	Coral Reefers	First part of huge 1-2 punch for Reefers.
Galen Gillett	Better At Pool	Proved he can still take down the big guns.
Shane Murray	The Redneckers	Maybe the easiest selection in all 8 divs.
Shane Nelson	The Redneckers	Another successful Redneck season.
Mike Stone	The Leftovers	Great rookie player for good rookie team.
Nate Wade	Coral Reefers	Just as dangerous as ever, wins a lot.
Steve Wilcenski	Coral Reefers	Second part of Reefers' huge 1-2 punch

"G" Division (like D, this division was way deep on top talent)

James Clough	Irish We Were Dru	Cricket specialist with great '01 stats also.
Jim Dunham	Nice Dittles	Mr. Singles Wins needs a few doubles too.
Jeff Fournier	Salute-A-Bulls	Is the picture of team leader and captain.
Sebastian Greene	Ale-ing Archers	Geez, record looks just like Schwochow's.
Chris Montesi	Irish We Were Dru	Top record for Mug-winning anti-Archers.
Ryan Ohnmacht	Ale-ing Archers	Does he just show up too late for 301?
Andy Schwochow	Ale-ing Archers	Could have been MVP with some 501 Ws.
Tolson Willis	Death Throw	Death Throw captain holds the team switch.

"H" Division

Jim Dzengeleski	Grateful Darts	Nearly put all of Grateful Darts on his back.
Aaron Fitzgerald	Big Bulls	Boom, boom, pow… W after W after W.
Dennis Fitzgerald	Big Bulls	70%+ in each of first three sets is sweet.
Matt Goss	Ton Up Tossers	Carried upstarts halfway up H ladder.
Jim Hunsberger	Ton Up Tossers	Still the best at this level, even half-time.
Lyman Kiser	One-Armed Bandits	The glue that holds the Bandits together.
Michelle Stacy	Sharkshooters	Led team for three sets, slid by in 501.
Chris Toolan	Just Here for Beer	Captain Beer was cricket rock, '01 stone.

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

-The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): 4 of the 8 divisions had 12-match schedules, so about half the league was at a big disadvantage in this one. And the resulting list of Quadruple Double winners is: … … … Yup, that's right… not one person. The best we have to offer is a handful of honorable mentions… In the 8-team divisions, we had 3 players ring up four 9-win sets with three of those being 10+-win sets: Mike Raquet of Helter Skelter in D, Shane Murray of The Redneckers in F, and Matt Goss of Ton Up Tossers in H. In the 7-team divisions, the best we could offer was 3 players with three 9+-win sets: Robbie Phillips of Elements of Mass Destruction, Tony Keller of D-Parted, and Tim Vann of Excalibur.

-The Iron Man/Woman Award: Ok, technically, this race is a dead heat between 4 throwers spread across 3 divisions. But I'm going to go ahead and proclaim a lone winner from the group, because he played a 12-week schedule while the other three had 14-week schedules. Thus, the Fall 2009 Iron Man is Fritz Herman of the Starving Dartists, who played 60 games this season (5 per match, without the benefit of even one tiebreaker). Honorable mentions: Bob Terry of Lunatic Fringe and Jamie Dziczkowski of AA in A with 48 games; Donald Grubb of Ocheholics, Ron Ridenour of Pheasant Pluckers, and Mikey Hindle of Slop Counts in B with 50; Mike Raquet of Helter Skelter in D with 58; Ronnie Knott, Jonathan Lane, and Chad Hayes, all of Cobra Kai, in E with 52; Kory Holland and Jon Krug of Designated Divers in F with 60; Neal Hogan of Death Throw in G with 57; and Brian Ketcham of One-Armed Bandits in H with 60.

-The Team Attendance Award winners: Three teams made a run at this award this season: AA leaned primarily on the same six players, as did the Designated Divers, but none were quite so close to being a permanent six-man as the Dogs of War.

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

Just like the last several seasons, my weekly picks were sort of my normal rate of success, but both my preseason and tournament picks ruled! A brief recap:

In my preseason picks (which are clearly the most difficult set), I was almost perfect in picking out the top team in each division. Some divisions finished in exactly the order I called, and some had just a team or two out of place. And if one of the teams hadn't re-formed after de-forming right before the preseason captains' meeting, I would have had that winner too. My only two real mis-steps were to pick N A Pigs I for 2nd in B, and to drop Pit Crew to 4th in E. Neither of those is really all that earth-shaking though, so I'm quite pleased with the out-come. Sort of makes me wonder if I couldn't just save everybody the time and the drive and just tell everyone what would have happened.

My weekly prediction results you can peruse pick-for-pick on the other side of this sheet of paper. I climbed a bit for the second consecutive season, to over 72.6% correct, and was over 61% in all 8 divisions. It was C division where I did the worst (not surprising since it was D that was my worst last season, and some of those stupid confusing teams had moved up), and D division where I did the best (which is out of the ordinary since I usually do best in my own division). In the end, 4 teams fooled me more often than not, with 5-7 being my worst record.

Last but not least were my tournament predictions… And once again, we go to best-of-three and my picks get even better, no matter what division you call home. For the second straight season, I hit exactly 22 of 28 first round matches and 14 of 16 second round matches. I improved my Mug prediction rate though, nailing 6 of the 8 picks (and losing both of the remaining two in 1001 games), to give myself a final tournament record of 42-10, achieving that despite picking both the second and third round winners before the first round was played.

(I introduced this page eleven seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the three 'o' symbols indicate the teams for which I was only 0.500, and the four 'x' symbols indicate the teams that fooled me more often than not. [I almost fought all the way back to 0.500 with those dang Ocheholics and Cork Screwers, but while I was busy with them I let Just Here for Beer slide to the same 2-games-under-0.500 spot. Buttheads…]

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED

I now run this column during seasons in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers follow the questions. No peeking…

Week 5 question: How many bars have hosted an RDL team in each and every one of the 28 seasons that I've been newsletter editor (Spring 1996 through the current season)? Which are they?

Week 6 question: What is the highest dart total to ever win an RDL fast game award?

Week 7 question(s): Which RDL member has the longest current string of seasons in which s/he has hit a perfect throw (this season not necessarily included since it's not over yet)? How many seasons?

Week 8 question: Assuming that darts hitting the wire would be deflected to one side or the other and stay in the board, approximately how big are the double-bull and single-bull in total area?

Week 9 question(s): How many current RDL members have won a North Carolina State Championships event? Who are they?

Week 10 question: [By reader request… and this one is going to require a bit of help from you, the membership, to get the correct answer.] Who is the oldest current member of the RDL?

Week 12 question: What is the earliest point in a season (in my 28 as newsletter editor) that every team in the league has had at least one loss?

Week 13 question: Which team has the best cumulative 1001 record in the past 5 seasons? What is that team's record?

Week 5 answer: While we presently have 28 host establishments in the RDL, only 5 of those 28 have been around for the entire time that I've been editor (this is my 28th season). Those 5 are... Upper Deck, Snooker's at Ridgewood, Sharky's Place, Players Retreat, and High Park Bar & Grille (which participated as The Profile for the first 7 of those 28 seasons, as the Upper Deck Profile for the next 16 seasons, and as High Park for the last 5 seasons).

Week 6 answer: Sometimes we go all season and nobody reports a fast game for a specific division in a category or two. So… a final week entry might just win by default. Just ask Dean Cusher and Jason Crabtree of The Redneckers. They claimed last season's F division doubles cricket awards with a… 99-darter!!!! Nice…

Week 7 answer(s): Well, 17 RDL members have hit at least one perfect throw in each of the last 2 seasons. Of those, 9 have hit a perfect throw in each of the last 3 seasons or more. Those with 3 seasons are Dale Hyler, Lee Scott, and Mike Seward; those with 4 seasons are Phillip Eastmead and Kevin Kendall; and the person with 5 seasons is Bob Terry. But that leaves three people racing for the longest current streak, with all three currently playing for Elements of Mass Destruction, and all three working on incredible streaks. Robbie Phillips has a streak of 9 seasons prior to this one, dating back all the way to his return from Pennsylvania. Next, Mark Knight pulls into second place with the 12 seasons prior to this one. And finally, Wil Tan holds the perfect throw longevity crown with 19(!) seasons prior to this one!! The only thing keeping that string from being longer is the fact that he didn't play in the RDL in 1999. Wow. [Note added for banquet edition of the Tons: Unfortunately, Tan's string of 19 seasons ended this time around, leaving Knight's string (now at 13 seasons) as the newly longest current streak.]

Week 8 answer: I pointed out that I'm including darts that ride in off the wire because answers that you'll search out on the web include only the area "inside" the wire. Well, most darts that catch wire ride to one side or the other, so that's the way I formed this question/ answer pair. Anyway, the double-bull (+ accompanying wire-riders) encompasses a grand total of 0.221 square inches. That's it. Less than a quarter of a square inch… yikes. The single-bull includes the 1.144 square inches around the double-bull, giving the bull areas together a total of 1.365 square inches. Makes a 6-Bull all that much more impressive, doesn't it? [And a note to anyone thinking that trying to double-in on the bull is ever a good idea: each and every outer-ring double is nearly FOUR times as big as the double- bull… and that's not even considering next-door darts that are just as functional.]

Week 9 answer: TWENTY-EIGHT!! Seriously… no joke. 28 different current RDL members are owners of at least one state title, and a few of them have ten or more… wow, right? The 28 champs, listed alphabetically, with number of state titles in parentheses: Robb Beeson (2), Deborah Blackwelder (1), Tom Brown (10!!!), Jim Budelman (8), Don Butman (4), Jim Davis (1), Paula Delp (11!!!, RDL's current career leader), Jamie Dziczkowski (1), Phillip Eastmead (10!!!), Mike Hall (3), Nicole Hatch (2), Steve Hoffmann (5), Dale Hyler (2), Doug Jeffcoat (1), Maridy Knight (1), Mark Knight (1), Tim Lane (1), Gina Oakley (1), Jerry Oakley (1), Sean O'Brien (1), Robbie Phillips (6), Lis Pleasant (1), Julie Scheppele (1), Mike Seward (3), Allen Smith (3), Michelle Stacy (4), Wil Tan (5), and Keith Wall (3). That's a total of 93 "state shirts"… not too bad.

Week 10 answer (AND STILL ONGOING): [Answer updated as the season progressed… the final answer that we have so far for this question is included here.] We again have a new leader!: James Marsden of Nine Lives is 73 years young. I still suspect there are still a couple out there who are older… Let's hear from you guys…

Week 12 answer: Well, this one was sort of a prescient question now, wasn't it? I guess maybe I sort of knew that the Archers' days were numbered… Anyway, in the 28 seasons that I've been editor, there have been one or more undefeated teams 15 times. In the remaining 13 seasons, the last team to be undefeated has gone down in week 10 or later 9 times. In the Spring seasons of 2006 and 2007, the last undefeated team tasted defeat in week 9. But the record was set in both the Spring 1998 season and the Spring 2009 season (yes, just last season!), when the last undefeated teams took one on the chin in week 7!! Yup, one schedule rotation into the season and nobody made it through unscathed. Wow.

Week 13 answer: When you start following the lineage of the current teams, sometimes it's hard to determine exactly which teams are really the same as a previous team. Teams split into two groups, they re-form into different alignments, etc. But I did the best I could and I came up with 85 separate team lineages in the last five seasons. Of those 85 teams, 79 have had at least 1001 game in that time span (and all 6 of those without a 1001 were one-season teams). 10 teams (that played a 1001) did not lose a 1001 in the last five seasons, with 3 teams winning only 1, 2 teams winning only 2, and another team winning only 3. But that leaves us with only four at 4-0 or better. The three teams at 4-0 are: the now defunct Bag O' Nutz, the also defunct Dartastophe, and the reigning A division tournament champion Sugar Daddy. And the recent 1001 kings (and queens), with a 6-0 overtime record in the last five seasons, is the Cork Screwers!! They've been 1-0 or 2-0 in every season of their existence.

A couple extra notes: the DIVE Bombers have both won the most 1001s (8) and played the most 1001s (12) in that time span; and the One-Armed Bandits have lost the most recent 1001s (6 of their 8).

[Funny sidebar to this question… this question was actually inspired by a comment from one of our teams with a member who was thinking their team had never lost in overtime. I assumed that their team could be the answer, right up until I saw that they are actually 3-1. Ahhhh, we all remember only the good stuff most of the time, don't we? - JK]

TOURNAMENT QUOTES

Quote #1 : (this one isn't technically from the tournaments, but it was in reference to the tournaments, so I included it here) from Chris Haynes of Jack Nine, referencing Phillip Eastmead's witty use of my 500-lb. gorilla early in the season: "Tell Eastmead the Gorilla is coming. Hope he is there!" [Unfortunately, the much-anticipated rematch never materialized. The Locals were quite unceremoniously dumped by a bunch of Darturds. I'm sure the rivalry can be revisited in a later season… :o) - JK]

Quote #2 : (also not necessarily from the tournaments, but it was uttered recently, so I saved it too) from my teammate Keith Wall of Elements of Mass Destruction, running into the gas station convenience store when we were on our way back from an NCCDL match: "I'm gonna go inside and get a bag of chips, because I'm big and fat, and that's what big and fat people do…" [That is SO politically incorrect for me to include, but it made me friggin' laugh, and since it was him that said it, I thought maybe it would give you a chuckle too. I'm betting it did. Right? - JK]

Quote #3 : from Michelle Stacy of Sharkshooters, describing her team's progress through their tournament bracket: "Onward through the fog…" [Man, have I ever felt that way before… - JK]

AND AN EXTRA-SPECIAL SET OF QUOTES!!!

Those of you who called the RDL VoiceMail system along in the rough timeframe of about weeks 12-14 are probably well aware of my month-long battle to escape the throng of phone-bearing annoyances all looking to reach Juan DiMartinez Lopez about his pending mortgage loan. Well, a handful of you decided to play along with the game that was my VoiceMail and left several specialized messages when you called in your scores. I saved a few of my favorites for inclusion here, but you'll have to do a little work yourself to imagine the voice/accent that each caller used.

From Mitch Colton of Money Shot (in a low sort of hushed Hispanic criminal voice as though he was warning me): "Hey Juan… don't answer the phone, man…"

From Tim Caldwell of Dogs of War (in a higher-pitched woe-is-me type of voice, as if someone just stole his pinata): "Aye carumba, what's happened to my loan?!"

From Julie Payne of Cork Screwers (who somehow made herself sound like a young confused Hispanic man): "Juan Pablo is not here? You got it wrong, man."

From Dave Johnson of Menace 2 Sobriety (who sounded much like an angry version of the fat cousin of Speedy Gonzalez in the Looney Tunes cartoons): "This is Juan Martinez, I'm so pied that you're talking about me and my loan."

And while I also got pretty good lines from both Paul Jacobi of Lunatic Fringe and Scott Butters of 95% Drunksten, my absolute favorites were left in very proper styles (now keep in mind these were left in response to my VoiceMail message that proclaimed loudly and clearly that our phone number was not Juan DiMartinez Lopez's number, it never has been Juan DiMartinez Lopez's phone number, and it likely never will be Juan DiMartinez Lopez's phone number): "This message for Juan DiMartinez Lopez, please call xxx-xxx-xxxx…" and "Message for Juan Martinez Lopez, regarding a personal business matter." My favorite part of those two (which are just representative of at least a dozen more calls)? That the second of those was followed by 35 seconds of typing during which they never hung up. What a bunch of tools, man…

HEY, DON'T FORGET…

The NC state law banning smoking in most of our establishments will be in effect when next season begins. Plan accordingly…

MY COMPADRE IN FRUSTRATION

It seems that I have unintentionally started a bit of a tradition in my JK's Random Thoughts column in the banquet edition of the Tons (see next page for this season's offerings). Every now and then I've included a quick story about something I notice that drives me nuts about people, thinking that maybe you might have experienced the same thing and might get a chuckle out of it (or maybe I'm just a big grump, I suppose). Well, if I'm a grump, then RDL Secretary Heather Bohanan is going to be a grump right along with me. Heather has sent me not one, but two of her best people-are-stupid-and annoying stories since the last banquet. And who would I be to not share such treasures with you guys, the loyal readers? So, without further ado… Heather's funnies…

"You know how you said your peeve is people who can't park in parking decks? (And I remember the article from a couple of seasons ago that made me laugh so hard I hurt myself with the blow-by-blow version of some moron's stupidity. Well, can I share mine with you? (the parking deck is #2 or #3 with me, but since I get to work at 7 its not so bad for me) People that are waiting to get on the elevator that stand right in front of the doors when they open on the 1st floor so that the people already on the frickin' elevator can't get the he off!!! Then these da dumbaes get mad when you a) ask them to move or b) crash the he into them (sometimes I like to do this). Only once have I not been able to take it and said 'Hey, if you would move your butt and let us get OFF the elevator your fat a can have the whole thing to yourself.' Probably shouldn't have done that, and no one would look at me afterward, but at least 4 other people on the elevator laughed. And I felt better, isn't that what matters???"

"And as a preview to the "things that get on JK's nerves" banquet issue tomorrow, here is something to make you go WTF?????? Ok, I am on the elevator going downstairs for a smoke and the security guard tells me to go back upstairs, in my office, and lock the door (hello, I have no office and no door). Turns out there is a 'suspicious person' in the bldg. But we are not supposed to be alarmed, but we are on lockdown. We cannot use the elevators, stairs, or leave the bldg. Yeah, right. So if there is a crazy person in here, it makes a whole lot of sense to make me stay IN here with them, instead of leaving like I was going to on my original smoke plan…… But ok, sure I won't be alarmed that my work has locked me down like I am some sort of inmate. (And why do my taxdollars pay for a security guard who realizes a 'suspicious person' is in the bldg but didn't bother to stop him until they lost him in an 11 story bldg?!?!?!?!. BTW – I know you have not been here but the ONLY way in the building is to walk right in front of the security guard……..that is unless he is taking a pee break, getting a snack, or outside talking to a friend on his cell phone……)"

HOLIDAY BLIND DRAWS

For those of you looking for some darting competition over the holiday break, Cruisers (at 1402 East Williams Street in Apex, 919-362-5254, under Ocean Stars Seafood Restaurant) will be holding a blind draw each Wednesday until the Spring season of RDL begins. The bar will be matching the pot if 10+ players enter, and adding an extra $50 if 30+ players enter. 1st place in the draw takes 50% of the pot, 2nd gets 30%, and 3rd gets 20%. Also, Cruisers will be running a $2 special on all beers each of those nights. [In addition to the Cruisers draw, All-Star Billiards, The Upper Deck, Oh'Mulligan's-Wake Forest, and RallyPoint Sport Grill will be holding non-Wednesday draws over the break. Please see page 8 for more details.]

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

I've run this page in several recent banquet Tons, and it seems to generate about the most interest/discussion. So, I certainly couldn't let it die out just yet. Without further ado, let's open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. As always, this is just about the last thing that I'm writing and this time all of it was written when it was already today, so as always not even I know what's about to hit the page…

--It's tradition! This column starts with a Survivor item… So… Has there ever been a contestant on the show that has gone so far from despised by the viewers (at least me) to respected and cheered for by the viewers (at least me) as Russell? That guy is completely nuts and horribly grating, but he simply plays the game harder (and often smarter) than the others. Gotta respect it.

--Wow, I can't tell you how surprised I am that the Board has changed the High In rule to a first-3-darts-only rule (see page 4). But I also can't tell how much sense that I think it makes. I'm certain that this change is going to rile some feathers and create quite a bit of discussion (and possibly upset more than a few). But you can start the list of those that like the change with me (well, ok… you sort of HAVE to start it with Keith Feller, who proposed the idea in the first place, but I'll gladly be second). Now just to make sure that everyone remembers the rule when playing their matches next season and calling in their hot darts…

--So I'm listening to the radio this past week, and it turns out that Eric Clapton is coming to town in a couple months. And the opening act is going to be Roger Daltrey. But what struck me is that instead of saying "with special guest Roger Daltrey", every time the ad referred to him it said "with very special guest Roger Daltrey." Oh, VERY special guest… well, I wasn't going to go to the show, but since the opening act is a VERY special guest, how can I possibly say no? Gimme a break. We all know Daltrey, we all like The Who… but save me the "very" crap…

--Every now and then I try to drop you guys a reminder about all the things that your Board members do for the league, and also remind you that they do them for free. Well, sometimes the Board members do things that aren't actually even among their normal responsibilities, just because they genuinely love the RDL and the people in it. And this past tournament quarterfinal night had a prime example… President Jason Thomas had a bye that night, and was out hanging with some friends. One of our quarterfinal pairings found themselves at a bar where the league boards are put away, and the manager had gone for the day, taking the key to the storeroom with him. Rather than have the match played on the old whipped out boards, President Thomas went to another of our establishment's, picked up a pair of good boards, and personally delivered them to the match. Seriously. He's just that nice of a guy. Incredible, right? (And while you're at it, maybe thank the manager and/or waitstaff today, as it was High Park that lent the boards for the evening. If you're at the banquet, you already know that they take good care of the RDL, but this is just extra proof.)

--Football fans please take note of this one… A friend of mine forwards me this football column each week, and in the column last week was a link to a YouTube clip of that SportScience show. They had Drew Brees on the show, throwing passes at targets used by Olympic archers. If you are really a football fan, you… have… to… see… this… It's A-MAZ-ING. Just call up YouTube and enter search terms like 'Drew Brees SportScience'. It's about an 8-minute segment, and it so completely worth seeing. Wow.

--I love the new ad that 96.1 has on their station. The one that says "WBBB… the best station at this frequency in your area!" Makes me chuckle every time I hear it.

--I guess this as good of a place as any to include what I know Heather Bohanan is waiting for (see page 13). Yep, it's time to include a couple things that drive me nuts, with both once again being based around people's driving habits (I was going to say 'talents', but that certainly wasn't the right word). This season's driving pet peeves seem pretty obvious to me, but I share them anyway, because they're clearly not obvious to everyone…

Driving pet peeve #1: People… when an ambulance or a fire truck is coming down the road with its lights and sirens going, do me one small favor: GET THE HELL OUT OF THE WAY!! Absolutely nothing that you are on your way to do is as important as whatever either of those two vehicles is doing. Ever. Don't even bother trying to argue with me on this one. And if you 'didn't notice' the vehicle because your radio was too loud, or you were on your cell phone, or you were eating/drinking/shaving/rifling through stuff/whatever, then please give me your driver's license right now and never go try to get another one. This is not up for debate. If you pull out in front of either of those vehicles, you are an ahole. And I warn you this now… if I see you cut off an ambulance on the way to an emergency, I'm going to follow you, run you off the road, then strategically block the ambulance that would be coming for you. So I'm thinking we're clear on this one, right?

Driving pet peeve #2: And yes, rest assured that this one is a bit more light-natured… Ever pull up to a stoplight in the right lane, all prepared to turn right, but you're the second vehicle in that lane and the car in front of you is going straight? And sometimes there is a bit of an extra portion of lane that veers to the right to enable easier right turns on red… But the car in front of you is sitting several feet short of the stop line… And that car just doesn't seem to get it that they could just scoot up a few feet and you could easily get past… Oh, man, that kills me. I'll get right up close behind them, and sort of wiggle my car to the right a bit to make it clear where I'm going. But I just don't have it in me to tap the horn. Call me a wuss if you want, but it just doesn't seem important enough to warrant a honk. I just wish more drivers paid more attention and were more in tune with helping each other out…

--Oh man, how is this for both painful and impressive? Mike Lovelace of 95% Drunksten popped a beautiful triple-19 / triple-19 / double-18 for a fabulous 150-Out against my team in the tournament semifinal! And it would have been even better if he hadn't had 140 left instead of 150…

--So I'm at a Carolina Railhawks game many weeks ago, and it's almost game time. Now before I go on with the story, let me say that I am not the most ridiculously patriotic and demonstrative person, but I love the country where I live and I respect it very much. Thus, while I don't feel the urge to sing along with the national anthem, I absolutely understand its importance and what it represents. And I respect those things. And I have to say that I expect you to respect them also. Which is why what happened at the Railhawks game bugged me. So I'm standing during the anthem and hear this odd scritchy-scritchy noise that I couldn't quite identify. Then I realize… the woman behind me is filing her nails. During the anthem. She couldn't wait 60 damn seconds?!

A 28-SEASON HISTORY OF RDL TEAM NAMES

Every season several dozen groups of people sign up as teams here in RDL-land. And every one of them comes with a team name of some type that we use to identify them all season. Some teams keep their same team name year after year after year, while some teams change it up just about every season. In the end, what we're left with is a sometimes interesting, sometimes humorous, sometimes very poignant list of monikers. And that list grows every season. And what's some teams' worst fear? Repeating something that has been used before. So… what follows below and on the following page is every team name that has been used in the RDL in the last 28 seasons (my tenure as RDL statistician). I've removed the repeat names as much as possible, but kept somewhat descendent names if they sort of indicated a different team at any point. Should be good for a chuckle or two…

[And the answer to the question that some of you might have is: there are 5 teams that have had the same name in each and every one of my 28 seasons: Excalibur, Grateful Darts, Lunatic Fringe, Nine Lives (or 9-Lives), and Starving Dartists.]

MOREHEAD CITY NCCDL TEAM REMOVED FROM PLAY

Morehead City failed to show up for its final match of the season, going so far as to have their home bar sold, not give any dart information to the new owners, not return emails to the visiting team, set their captain's phone to "not accepting incoming calls", and have not a single player show up on match day. I, the Director, have subsequently sent emails and left phone messages for whatever Morehead City people for whom I had any contact information, and have yet to receive a single response. The Morehead City team is now ineligible for play in 2010 and will not be included in the schedule. Discussion as to whether Chapel Hill (NCCDL & NCLC) or Cary (NCCDL only) should be moved from the 2010 West division to the 2010 East division will be had by the NCDO officers and NCCDL & NCLC directors soon.

CARY NCLC TEAM REMOVED FROM PLAY

CHAPEL HILL NCLC TEAM REMOVED FROM PLAY, REINSTATED FOR 2010

Due to their forfeits of a third of their matches, both the Cary and Chapel Hill NCLC teams were removed from the remainder of the 2009 schedule. The Cary team evidently really never formed, and will not be included in the 2010 schedule. The Chapel Hill team appears to have only forfeited out due to some severe illnesses among the leadership of the team, and their team has re-tooled and subsequently requested and received a positive reinstatement vote from the ladies' captains for 2010.

RDL REPRESENTED ON BOTH STATE CHAMPION TEAMS!

While neither of the RDL teams was able to bring home the 2009 State Titles (and the other nearby teams also were not successful), that doesn't mean that RDL isn't still going to boast a state champion or two. Jerry Oakley (far left in left photo, of AA) is a long-time Wilmington NCCDL member, while Julie Scheppele (far left in right photo, of Cork Screwers) is a several year member of the Pineville NCLC team. Check out page 18 for their tournament championship paths.

The "What The French, Toast?" Edition

"A" Division - Elemental Truths (13-5)

The Element ends Daddy's three-season tournament stranglehold, becoming the only team in the RDL this season with an undefeated season, and also being the only tournament winner to not see 501.

"B" Division - Pheasant Pluckers (13-9)

The Pluckers picked a great time to finally slide past BB, breaking up their bid for a perfect season, and highlighting their win with a couple of perfect throws and a 301 game averaging over 100/turn.

"C" Division - Dogs of War (13-9)

In easily the wildest tournament this season (a #3 and a #5 in the final), the Dogs bring home the Mugs with a clutch win in the next-to-last 501 (with C division dominator Eastmead in the final pair).

"D" Division - Imports & Domestics (14-8)

The Imports claimed the Mug in the same fashion that it appeared they won the season - with relatively little competition. Eek!

"E" Division - Like To Party (13-11)

The Reefers left E division's winningest player at home on finals night, and Like To Party took advantage, with the Metin Monster punching out the last 501 (setting off a choreographed celebration?).

"F" Division - Ale-ing Archers (14-10)

Just as predicted, this was the most exciting division (4 of 7 matches ended in the last 501 or 1001), and the Archers were the least tested.

"G" Division - Big Bulls (14-8)

Big Bulls had to be nervous, facing the only team (Salute) to beat them (twice!) in the finals… but the third time was the charm…

"H" Division - Grateful Darts (13-9)

After stomping teams in the quarters and semis, the Dynamic… uh, I mean… Grateful… Darts… avenged their week 14 loss to the Sharks, claiming the Mugs by about the same score the Sharks used.

"I" Division - Mug Hunters (13-3)

The Hunters simply roll in the biggest finals blowout, in a match punctuated with chants and cheers: "Who are we?! MUG Hunters!!" vs. "Who ain't ready?! Y'ALL ain't ready!!!" Yikes…

REGULAR SEASON WINNERS

"A" Division - Elemental Truths (12 wins, 0 losses)
2nd place - Mac-Daddy

"B" Division - BB (14 wins, 0 losses)
2nd place - Pheasant Pluckers

"C" Division - Jack Nine (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Put A Cork In It!

"D" Division - Imports & Domestics (13 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - Pit Crew

"E" Division - Coral Reefers (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Like To Party

"F" Division - The Leftovers (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Ale-ing Archers

"G" Division - Big Bulls (10 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Salute-A-Bulls

"H" Division - Sharkshooters (9 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Grateful Darts

"I" Division - Mug Hunters (11 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - Y'All Ain't Ready

(Rosters of all division- and/or tournament-winning teams can be found on page 4.)

SPRING 2010 RDL DIVISIONAL TOURNAMENT RESULTS

SUMMER DARTING OPTIONS!!!!

Need to fill that weekly dart fix over the summer? Well, lucky you! Lots of options this summer…

CADC - Mixed Doubles League

The Capital Area Dart Club returns for another round of summer Mixed Doubles play! Michelle Stacy is accepting registration right now, and can be reached at pmgaffney@aol.com or you can sign up at Sharky's Place. They are planning to start play on June 8th and will have a meeting the week before to give out schedules and collect league fees. As always, dues are $10 per player for the season. Also, if you don't have a partner but still want to play, let Michelle know and they will try to find one for you.

BCDL - Durham Handicapped Steel-Tip League

The Bull City Dart League continues its year-round play with a summer season that is almost perfectly suited to RDL members. Registration is this coming Tuesday night at Bralie's Sports Bar (1725 Carpenter Fletcher Rd, Durham) starting at 6:30 p.m. The league plays Tuesday nights throughout Durham and RTP, and uses a rolling handicap system to level the playing field quite a bit. Teams consist of 4-8 players (about 6 is the norm), and dues are $25 per player (I think) for the season. For more information, contact President Matt Heimbach at 919-923-0092 or matt.heimbach@gmail.com .

RALLY POINT - Summer Tournament Series

Well, Rally Point has certainly hit the Raleigh dart scene at full speed! To continue their demonstration of support for the local darters, Rally Point is hosting a summer series of tournaments in which entrants will be broken into three flights based on talent level. It will be a 10-week series with prizes at the end that are really bordering on flippin' nuts!! For more information, check out the flier that is included on page 18 of this edition of the Tons. And yes, just for clarification, that prize list DOES say iPads, iPods, gift certificates, and cash. For all three flights. Wow, eh?

CDA - ADO Regional Qualifiers

Interested in taking your game to the regional or national level? Well, what better place to start than a local series of ADO qualifiers? The Carolina Dart Association is hosting FIVE in the next two months for you! See page 18 for full information.

Start getting your team together for the Fall season now!! Don't forget and miss out! Information is below, and on pages 1 & 40.

FALL 2010 RDL SEASON INFORMATION

These dates (or at least some of them) are on page 8, as well as on pages 1 and 40, but I am putting them in many locations because they might be the most important thing for you in this newsletter.

Wednesday, July 21st - Fall season registration, Rally Point (online registration available in days immediately prior to the 21st)
Sometime in July 23-26 - Preseason RDL Board meeting, site TBD
Wed., Aug. 4th - Preseason capts.' mtg./packet pickup, Rally Point
Wednesday, August 11th - Start of Fall season match play
Monday, Sept. 13th - Fifth week captains' meeting, Rally Point
Wed., Nov. 17, Dec. 1/8 - Fall season divisional tournaments
Saturday, December 11th - Fall season banquet, site TBD

MINIMUM GAMES PLAYED REMINDER FOR SEASON-LONG AWARDS

I'm writing this reminder to all of our captains, but this message is really for EVERYONE in the RDL, as everybody is responsible for their own knowledge when it comes to league matters. Please, please, pleeeeeeease… in the future, pay attention to the minimum games played requirements for season-long awards (singles win percentage and all-star point average). Again this season we had a few people who thought they were in line for an award (or had a captain who thought they were), only to realize that they hadn't played enough games to qualify for that award category. People, I publish the games played requirement for EVERY division in EVERY issues of the Tons of Newsletter. Plus, it's in the RDL Rules (with which you are supposed to be familiar). Aaaaaaand… I run reminders in the Tons a couple times per season as we near the final weeks. If you miss out on award because you fell a game or two short of the minimum, trust me that that is neither my fault nor the Board's fault. You are all given full information all the time, so that one is simply on you (and your captain/team).

SPRING 2010 PENALTY SUMMARY

Oh, dang… this season wasn't even an election season (and ballot penalties are always the biggest source of losses) and we still increased the number of penalties on the season. There were 29 total penalties for a total loss of 204 points, with 22 of the 68 teams penalized at least once. I division led the way with the most teams penalized (4 of 7), most penalties (7), and most points lost to penalty (57). On the other end of that spectrum was H division, in which the teams did not garner even one penalty in the whole season (yay, H division!!!). All in all, we had 3 preseason captains' meeting penalties (for 15 total points), 10 5th week captains' meeting penalties (for 50 pts.), 10 phone penalties (for 50 pts.), 5 mail penalties (for 80 pts.), and 1 ineligible player penalty (for 9 pts.).

And this season's painful penalty award goes to the One Armed Bandits in I division and their 4 penalties for 57 points (only team in the league with more than 2 penalties) that cost them 2nd place plaques!! Honorable mention in that category goes to The Beleagured in A div., who likely dropped to B division next season due to a late mail penalty (after losing the B crown to a mail penalty just last season - ouch!).

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

We added another division this season, and the tiebreaker total went up accordingly, but nothing too drastic. 43 total tiebreakers this season (with 5 of those in the postseason tournaments). Every division had at least 2, with E division leading the way with 7 (all during the season). C and H divisions each had 6; D, F, and G each had 5; B and I divisions each had 3; and A division rolled in with the fewest at 2. Nine teams played at least 3 tiebreakers this season, and 17 teams didn't play in any at all.

Of the 9 teams that played 3 or more 1001 games, 6 of them posted either a 2-1 record or a 1-2 record, so they're kind of boring. The other three, however… First up, we have this season's Cardiac Kids award, going to Jack Nine of C division, and their 3-2 record in 1001s (making them the only team this season to play more than 3 1001s, and also tying them for the RDL record as far back as records are available). And then we have this season's Clutch Kings award winners (which replaced the Heartbreak Award this season since nobody really died much in 1001), the only two teams to go 3-0 in tiebreakers this season: Pit Crew of D division, and the Designated Divers of F division (who got TWO of their three 1001 wins in the tournament!).

RDL MEMBERS TRIUMPH ELSEWHERE!

THE TWENTY-SEVENTH SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
(This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional (and League) MVPs

All of RDL -- Randy Wilcox -- Like To Party

A Division	Tom Brown	Elemental Truths
B Division	Jerry Oakley	BB
C Division	Phillip Eastmead	The Locals
D Division	Aaron Downs	Helter Skelter
E Division	Randy Wilcox	Like To Party
F Division	Tony Thomas	The Leftovers
G Division	Dave Tanner	Projectile Dysfunction
H Division	Chris Toolan	Just Here For Beer
I Division	John Wilson	Mug Hunters

"A" Division (I really wanted to pick 9 here…)

Tom Brown	Elemental Truths	Hit the big clutch shot time and time again.
Doug Jeffcoat	Mac-Daddy	Mr. SCkt was still pretty good in other sets.
Jon Kenney	The Beleagured	Played top guns tough for lower team.
Robbie Phillips	Elemental Truths	Joe Nationals is simply the best RDL has.
Mike Seward	Mac-Daddy	Consistently scary good every season.
Allen Smith	Elemental Truths	Uh-oh... the late-90s Allen is really back.
Wil Tan	Elemental Truths	Textbook strategist? Nope. Winner? Yup.
Bob Terry	Lunatic Fringe	Season after season… smiles and wins.

"B" Division

Ryan Anderson	See Ya	Took down other big dogs all season long.
Rob Barwick	Rif Raf	Made top "other" team hard to handle.
Jim Davis	Pheasant Pluckers	Hell, he wins like this in A division…
Steve Holland	Pheasant Pluckers	Steadily gaining on the league's top group.
David Murray	BB	What a friggin' addition this guy was, eh?
Shane Murray	BB	Probably one of the top dozen in the RDL.
Jerry Oakley	BB	Now that is how you push a team up to A.
Trey Rodgers	Pheasant Pluckers	Unassuming and jovial, but dangerous.

"C" Division (this division had a LOT of worthy choices)

Whit Bryant	The Locals	Made great 1-2 punch with Eastmead.
John Dunleavy	Put A Cork In It!	Season was just too good to go title-less.
Phillip Eastmead	The Locals	28-0 in singles. I'll stop typing now…
Cody Gaulthier	Put A Cork In It!	Young talent is only getting better.
Keith Gibbs	Jack Nine	Not always there, but dominant when he is.
Tim McNamara	Jack Nine	Would be MVP if Eastmead wasn't here.
Tim Vann	Excalibur	What a monster for the upset kings.
Tom Wiegand	Dogs of War	Had to have led that awesome Mug run.

"D" Division

Dean Cusher	Imports & Domestics	Yes, he's here… despite week 14 'absence'.
Aaron Downs	Helter Skelter	10+ wins in every set for a 4th place team.
Mark Lamb	Imports & Domestics	List, throw, win, repeat as needed.
Vicente Martinez	Hammered Heads	If Vince & Vicente played a 101-game set,
Vince Martinez	Imports & Domestics	who would win? How could we tell?
Mike Raquet	Helter Skelter	Great record, except… what is that DCkt!?
Jason Thomas	Pit Crew	Refuses to record ASPs… but records Ws.
Glenn Tourout	Imports & Domestics	Ok, the Imports have too many weapons…

"E" Division

Jim Gallagher	Coral Reefers	Not his best ever, but SCkt record was nice.
Ronnie Knott	Board 2 Death	Easily top winner for a tough #4 team.
Carl Lee	Dive Bombers	Seemed to pick up entire team sometimes.
Kevin Scott	Like To Party	Too much celebration? 501 is a bit… off?
Nate Wade	Coral Reefers	Big winner overshadowed by teammate.
Jason Walters	Damnifino	Really tried to carry my preseason pick.
Steve Wilcenski	Coral Reefers	So dominant. Just wins week after week.
Randy Wilcox	Like To Party	Huge addition, revived team completely.

"F" Division

Sean Ackley	Designated Divers	Strong in singles, decent in doubles.
Patrick Clark	Ale-ing Archers	Steered the Archers all the way to Mugs.
Stan Converse	The SurReal DeCoys	A bit of a DCkt slip, but still very solid.
Jim Gotlibowski	Designated Divers	So 301 isn't his specialty? The rest are.
Neal Hogan	Death Throw	Quite a standout in a very even division.
Steve Polenz	Menace 2 Sobriety	Slowly trailed off as the night wore on.
Andy Schwochow	Ale-ing Archers	Does the singles champ not like 501?
Tony Thomas	The Leftovers	Big cricket winner for division champs.

"G" Division

Jason Bowman	Irish We Were Drunk	Captain needs to list himself more often.
Aaron Fitzgerald	Big Bulls	Top gun for the division double-winners.
John Jenkins	Salute-A-Bulls	He's clearly back and feeling just fine.
Chris Montesi	Irish We Were Drunk	I sure wouldn't sit him in 501. Or any sets.
Mark Powell	Any Given Wed.	Ok, so we'll just list him in cricket sets.
Ryan Raymond	Projectile Dysfunctio	Would be team star if not for Tanner.
David Simpson	Salute-A-Bulls	Not so hot in doubles, but big in singles.
Dave Tanner	Projectile Dysfunctio	G dominator won a huge amount of games.

"H" Division

Adrienne DeFontes	Sharkshooters	25-8 outside of SCkt is very strong.
Jimmy Dzengelesk	Grateful Darts	Never sat out a set, & won most of them.
Matt Goss	Ton Up Tossers	Up-and-comer will challenge Jim H. soon.
Ben Harpster	Sharkshooters	Once 301 ended, he became a dart terror.
Storm Kincaid	Boondock Aint's	Top reason the Aint's ain't just also-rans.
Rod Stacy	Sharkshooters	Three sets of solid and some SCkt power.
Chris Toolan	Just Here for Beer	Put whole team on his back sometimes.
Tom Winters	Grateful Darts	I'm only surprised he didn't win more dbls.

"I" Division (oh man, I so wanted to pick 10 guys here)

Clint Bankes	Mug Hunters	How does a 32-6 guy get so little notice?
Seth Fagan	Y'All Ain't Ready	Strong rookie for the 2nd place finishers.
Lyman Kiser	One Armed Bandits	The glue that holds the Bandits together.
Patrick Merkle	Backyard Bistro	Biggest non-Hunter winner for the season.
Joe Munroe	Backyard Bistro	Northerner clearly found RDL to his liking.
Alberto Sandoval	Mug Hunters	Put together, then led, a double-title team.
John Wilson	Mug Hunters	20-2 in cricket and an ASP title. Nice find.
Harris Winters	Backyard Bistro	Didn't need lots of ASPs for lots of wins.

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

--The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): 4 of the 9 divisions had 12-match schedules, and thus a huge disadvantage… but that's life, I guess. Four league members put up 4 9-win sets with 3 of those being 10+ wins, but that's not good enough this season… because we have SIX players who achieved the 4 10+-win sets: Shane Murray and Jerry Oakley of BB in B division, Aaron Downs of Helter Skelter in D div., Dean Cusher and Mark Lamb of Imports & Domestics in D div., and Randy Wilcox of Like To Party in E division.

--The Iron Man/Woman Award: It's nigh impossible for a 7-team division player to win this one, so we'll just start with an honorable mention for David Fagan of Y'All Ain't Ready in I for his 51 games (barely outrunning Keith Stark's 50 for 75% Drunksten in A, and the 49 by nine people in G and H). But the real Iron Man for this season was Dave Buckman of Pounding the Neighbor's in B with a stout 63 games played. Close behind (and nearly making it an Iron Woman award?) were Jennifer Buckley of Helter Skelter in D (with 62), and Felipe Wilkie of Dogs of War in C and MaryJane Bradshaw of Crazy Beaches! in F (each with 61).

--The Team Attendance Award winners: Nobody ever rolls the same 6 players every set all season anymore. Just doesn't seem to happen. But we had three decent runs at it this season: Pounding the Neighbor's went lean and went so far as to only register 6 players; H1 Pigs Zero only had 7 guys, and one of those was a true sub; and Sammy's Tap & Grill mostly rode the same 6 guys despite a roster that included a nearly full capacity roster of 9.

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

Just like the last several seasons, my weekly picks were sort of my normal rate of success, but both my preseason and tournament picks ruled! A brief recap:

In my preseason picks (which are clearly the most difficult set), I was again nearly perfect in picking out the top team in each division. I really missed on Like To Party, but that was before they picked up League MVP Randy Wilcox. Same with BB adding Mo'Tea after my picks… Missed the Mug Hunters too, but they were brand new out of the box, so… oh well. Heck, I even told you in the preseason that the best pack races would be in F and H. Nice, eh?

My weekly prediction results you can peruse pick-for-pick on the other side of this sheet of paper. I climbed a bit for a third consecutive season, to above 73% correct, and was over 63% in all 9 divisions. It was E division where I did the worst, but D and F were not far ahead. Man, figuring out some of those teams was next to impossible. And it was B division where I flat-out owned you guys (over 87% right - that's huge!). In the end, only two teams (both of them in that infernal D division) fooled me more often than not, with 6-8 as my worst.

Last but not least were my tournament predictions… And once again, we go to best-of-three and my picks get even better, even though I have to pick later weeks before the pairings are known. I went 44-15 overall in the tournaments, hitting 4 of the 9 champions (could've been 5 if I had known one of the league's best would be absent). I got three divisions (A, D, and I) completely correct, and even told you that D division would have about the least drama. I'll take it.

JK'S TEAM-BY-TEAM, WEEK-BY-WEEK MATCH PREDICTION RESULTS

(I introduced this page twelve seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the seven 'o' symbols indicate the teams for which I was only 0.500, and the two 'x' symbols indicate the teams that fooled me more often than not. [I can 't believe I got more match picks wrong for the Starving Dartists than I did for ALL of B division put together. But when 6-8 is my worst effort, I can certainly live with that… But D and E divisions? They're tough to live with...]

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED

I now run this column during seasons in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers follow the questions. No peeking…

Week 4 question(s): The RDL Board does about a hundred things that you'll never see every season to make sure that your hobby keeps rolling, and they don't get paid so much as a nickel. So, officers that keep coming back year after year are pretty valuable to you, the league membership. Which current Board member has the longest tenure on the Board? How long?

Week 5 question(s): How many Board members have served during Heather Bohanan's current tenure as an RDL Board member? Who are they?

Week 6 question: How many seasons since 1995 has the RDL Board simply operated for a season without an officer in one or more of the offices?

Week 7 question: I've been writing the Tons for a while now. Including this issue, how many issues of the Tons of Newsletter have I written?

Week 8 question(s): I've been writing the newsletter since the start of 1996, and I played in RDL a year before that. That's a total of 30 seasons prior to this one. Which RDL member has been part of the most regular season-winning teams in those 30 seasons? Which RDL member has been part of the most teams to win tournaments in those seasons? How many for each?

Week 9 question: What is the record for number of people in a single season who hit two perfect throws in one match and also ended up with only those 4.0 ASPs in those matches?

Week 10 question: Who is the only husband/wife pair that each hit a perfect throw for the same team in the same match in the most recent 30 seasons of the RDL?

Week 11 question(s): What is the greatest number of midseason bar closings in a single RDL season in the past 14 and a half years? When was it?

Week 12 question: (a re-use of a question from a few years ago, but included by request from three different readers) What is the greatest number of 1001 tiebreaker games played by one team in the same season (in the past 29 seasons anyway, as it appears that records prior to that often did not include specific 1001 results)?

Week 4 answer: Every last one of the current Board members is working at least his/her 5th consecutive season of service, so those people must really like you guys for some reason. I haven't figured out why, but that's not for me to say. Vice President J.P. Evans is in his 5th season, Treasurer Matt Huff is in his 6th, Membership Director John Howley is in his 7th, Rules/Grievances Director Thom Dunn is in his 8th, and President Jason Thomas is in his 9th (please note that not all of those people have served in only their current positions). But the Queen of RDL Board Longevity (not sure if that's an honor or a confirmation of super- dorkness) and the answer to this question is... Heather Bohanan (formerly Thomas), who is presently serving in her 19th consecutive season on the Board, in no less than 3 different offices. Wow… my many thanks… and condolences…

Week 5 answers: 21. Those officers are/were: Barry Barker (1 season as President, 1 as Vice President), Dave Berry (3 as Pres.), Billie Churchwell (2 as External Organizations Officer), Barbara Cotton (2 as Secretary), Kevin Coyne (1 as Treasurer, 12 as Ext. Org.), Rick DeMattos (4 as Pres., 2 as VP, 2 as Ext. Org.), Thom Dunn (8 as Rules & Grievances Director), Kellee Enos (6 as Treas.), J.P. Evans (5 as VP), Michelle Gaffney (Stacy) (2 as Sec.), William Holland (1 as Pres.), John Howley (6 as Membership Director), Matt Huff (6 as Treasurer), Jim Hunsberger (2 as Sec.), Jennifer Jolly (2 as Sec.), Anthony Martin (7 as VP), Cathy Moeschet (9 as Memb.), Julie Payne (3 as Sec., 4 as Memb.), Brian Selby (4 as Pres., 1 as VP), Jason Thomas (5 as Pres., 4 as VP), and Mark Wackerman (6 as Treas.). In those 19 seasons, Heather Thomas/Bohanan served 8 seasons as Secretary and 11 as the Rules & Grievances Director. [Even Heather couldn't remember all of them, but she did WAY better than I expected. She only missed 2 of the 21, and for one of those two she could remember his office and his face, but just not his name. I was both impressed and frightened… - JK]

Week 6 answers: 4 times in the last 31 seasons, the RDL operated for an entire season with a vacancy in 1 of the 7 Board positions (there were seven offices until 2009, when the External Organizations office was dropped). There have also been a handful of times when an office was vacant for a portion of a season, but the full-season vacancies were: Spring 1998 and Fall 1998 with no Membership Director (yes, an entire year straight!), Fall 2000 with no External Organizations Officer (no, I don't think anyone actually noticed), and Fall 2005 with no President (that's right, I said "no President" - Eek!).

Week 7 answers: Given that this is my 29th season as the editor of the Tons of Newsletter, and that there are 16 issues of the Tons per season, last week's issue was my 455th. Seriously. Holy crap, that is sort of embarrassing, eh? You'd think I would have more to do in my day… Or maybe I just can't stop loving all you guys… Nah… pretty sure that's not it… :o) [Note added for banquet Tons: You're presently holding issue #464 during my tenure. Yikes.]

Week 8 answers: I'm going to be honest that I didn't even bother researching more than one person in the league for this answer. It is that much of a butt-whoopin' in terms of this "title". The completely unquestioned and unchallenged winner over the past 15 years of RDL is Tom Brown (currently of Elemental Truths). Brown has played 30 seasons prior to the current one, all of them in A division. And in those 30 seasons, Brown's teams (2 seasons with Pigs, 15 seasons with Fringe, 13 seasons with Element) have claimed an astonishing 23 regular season titles and 19 tournament titles. On top of that, in the 7 regular seasons that his team didn't win, they finished 2nd 5 times; and in the 11 tournaments that they didn't win, they lost in the finals 9 times. That's 28 top-two spots in the season AND in the tournament in 30 seasons. In A division. That is freakin' sick. [Note added for banquet Tons: Brown's team did indeed win both the regular season and tournament, so up that total again!]

Week 9 answer: Three! And that answer might increase because it happened this season, and we still have a month remaining in the regular season. In week 1, Tim Vann of Excalibur hit both a T80 and a 9m, and no other all-star point throws. One week later, Jason Bowman of Irish We Were Drunk joined him with both a 9m and a 160-In. Then, in week 7, Randy Lueneberg of Off Constantly hit a grand total of a T80 and a 9m. Nice when your small peaks in a match are so high relative to the rest of the night, eh?

Week 10 answer: Randy (T80) and Julie (9m) Wilcox are the "perfect" husband/wife pair (let the jokes begin…), performing the feat in week 7 of this season!! Randy and Julie both play for Like To Party, and the team evidently needed a few more perfect tosses, as they lost a heartbreaker that night, 13-11 to Damnifino.

Week 11 answer: Sadly, the "when" portion of that answer is now this season. The loss of All-Star Billiards (along with the previous losses of Cruisers, Half-Time, and Trackside) brought this season's total to 4. It had been tied with a season from the late '90s at 3.

Week 12 answer: The record for both "regular season only" and "regular season + tournament" is the same: 5 tiebreakers. It has happened 7 times in the past 29 seasons, with the most recent being THIS season! Jack Nine in C division played five 1001 games (3-2). The previous occurrence of a five-tiebreaker team was just last season, when the Dive Bombers put up a respectable 3-2 record of their own.

THE BIG PAGE OF HOT-BUTTON DEBATE TOPICS!!!

IS THE CHALKER ALWAYS RIGHT?

Have you ever heard the phrase 'the chalker is always right'? It pertains to the use of the chalker as a source for what remains to be scored in a game of '01. For example, a player who is a bit rough at math is sitting on 78 and throws a triple-18. That player can ask the scorekeeper one or more of several questions, all of them relating to what has already been thrown and/or what score remains (but never what the 'out' shot is). But let's suppose that the thrower asks the chalker in this instance, and the chalker incorrectly replies that 26 remains. If the thrower then hits the double-13, has the thrower busted, or won the game?

I have personally heard this very item discussed repeatedly for years, including at one of my own team's matches this season (an instance that ended in quite a long heated post-match 'debate'). And while I've heard it said over and over that the chalker is always right, I realized that I had never seen a rule indicating one way or the other on this topic. So… I went hunting…

And it turns out that finding any mention of this one way or the other is really difficult. The closest I have found is a mention in the tournament rules for the British Dart Organization (BDO) that indicates that scores do not stand until the chalker, the checker (a score double-checker), and the player all concur. It also says in one subset of rules that it is up to the player to check all throws and resulting scores. Since most leagues in the free world don't employ both a chalker and a checker, we'll have to sort of extract the important parts of that item to make them be of any use to us.

When I try to apply the pertinent portions of that rule, it sounds to me like the player is ultimately responsible for hitting the proper out. What do you guys think? And… if anybody ever finds a written rule regarding this topic, PLEASE by all means send me a copy. I am really dying to know if this is really a rule or just a word-of-mouth tradition.

TWO-UP / TWO-DOWN RULES…

Every season in the RDL, teams anxiously track whether their teams are going to corral a top-two (or, unfortunately, maybe a bottom-two) finish. Why do they care? Because that is generally the guideline used by the Membership Director to decide which teams move up a division and which teams move down a division next season (provided the league has the same number of divisions again, of course). But is a simple finish in the top or bottom pair of the standings really the best measure?

Every so often (including in both A and I divisions this season), a team that generally would have moved up or down a division is changed because a penalty has altered the order of teams in the standings. I'll use the aforementioned A and I division examples to illustrate exactly what I'm talking about…

In A division, The Beleagured finished with the fifth-best match and point result in the division. However, a mail penalty dropped them to sixth. Should they drop down now despite the fact that they were tougher for their competition than the new fifth place team was?

In I division, One Armed Bandits dropped to third from second due to a small pile of penalties. The avoidance of even 1 of their 4 penalties would have put them in second and moved them up to H. Should the new second place team move up to H now, or should the Bandits? Is it fair to leave the team that was the tougher competition down in I again (and by "is it fair?", I also mean is it fair to the other teams still in I)?

To be honest, I'm not really sure on which side of this I sit…

REGULAR SEASON VS. TOURNAMENT

In the tournament Tons, I included an item where I brought up a discussion I have had with several league members over the past several years. The discussion was based around whether it is more impressive/important/desirable/whatever to win the regular season or to win the tournament. I said then that the choice was very easy for me, and that I value the regular season far far far far more than the tournament. One of my competitors later kidded me about it, as my viewpoint was logical for a team member that had lost a couple tournaments in a row. Well… my team has now just won its tournament, and I am here to tell you that it still means far less to me than any of the regular season titles do.

Winning a regular season title requires effort, commitment, consistency, and extended periods of success that tournaments just don't match. As longtime RDL member Jim Britt noted so eloquently for me in the previous issue I wrote, "I never could figure out why the plaques and mugs weren't switched. Any team can get lucky for 2 or 3 matches." That is precisely the way I see it! And then, as if by request from me, another local league that just ended its season crowned a league champion that sported the following achievements during the season: a losing match record, a losing games record, and a next-to-last place finish in a 5-team division. They put together a 5-7 record that included 3 wins against a winless team that is likely widely considered to have been mis-slotted for that division. Now, to be fair, I don't think the luck in this instance occurred during any of their tournament matches, but rather in the fact that they were even in the tournament at all. Since the only requirement for getting into an RDL postseason tournament is to not forfeit 3 or more matches during the season, the bar is even lower here.

Using this season's Dogs of War as an example (I only feel I can do this without insulting them because Tim and company are so jovial), I ask you a question: which was more impressive, Jack Nine's regular season win in their race with the Corkers and Locals, or the Dogs' three-week run after their 6-8 season?

ARE THE 'A' PLAYERS TO BLAME FOR EVERYTHING?

I hear this one over and over and over… The A players don't have to deal with that. The dn A players. It's the A players' fault. Them fin' A players. Over and over and over. It seems that at least three-quarters of people in the lower divisions think the A players are a bunch of whiny, snotty, spoiled little rich kids. A players would never this, A players caused that, etc.

Well, please allow me to let you in on a little secret… I hear the A players on a weekly basis. And I hear the non-A players on a weekly basis. And I can tell you without the shadow of a doubt that on a per player basis, players from lower divisions actually complain more than the A players. And I'll pause now while those of you who say that stuff roll your eyes, grumble another complaint, and finally re-collect yourselves and return to the article… … … … go ahead, one more eye roll… … … There, feel better? Now accept it as truth.

It was truth at the start of the season when a member of H1 Pigs Zero railed on at me about the fact that the change in the High In rule just had to be because some A player was slighted. It wasn't - that originated in D. And it was truth when a member of Damnifino railed about conditions at a bar that A players wouldn't put themselves in during the tournament. Despite the fact that there isn't one A player on the Board…

YOU'RE GETTING OLDER…

… and the competition is getting younger. Remember back in week 4 of the Spring 2009 season when I introduced most of you to Cody Gaulthier (now of Put A Cork In It!)? He was barely old enough to drive and he was kicking butt and taking names. Well, now we've got a dart bada who isn't even old enough to drive! A 15-year old. And he's holding his own. In A division!! Who might you ask? Cody's younger brother Kyle Gaulthier (of Off Constantly)! Kyle finished just under 0.500 for the season, and he has also already added a whole pile of local blind draw titles.

And since we evidently aren't enough competition for him, Kyle fills in his free time by doing things like qualifying for the Youth Nationals that will be held August 6th in Stamford, CT. Top 8 win college scholarships, and the winner gets a trip to England to compete in the Masters. (And just to make sure he gets his props too, big brother Cody took 4th at the same Nationals last year!)

AND WHILE WE'RE TALKING NATIONALS…

What discussion about ADO-sponsored Nationals events would be complete around here without mentioning Robbie Phillips (of Elemental Truths). Robbie recently qualified for not one, but TWO ADO Nationals events! In March, he qualified for the Masters Nationals in Houston, TX on June 11-13; and in May, he qualified for the All-Star Nationals in Stamford, CT and will be representing the East All-Star team on August 6-8. Next time I see him, I'll try to remember to ask him how many Nationals that makes for him in the last couple years (I believe they host 4 per year). I'm guessing this has to make it about 5 or 6 for him. That's flippin' crazy.

WANT A SHOT AT MR. PHILLIPS YOURSELF?

The next regional for the US Team Nationals will be on July 24th and will be held right here at Rally Point. Winner gets sent on to Denver on October 8-10. See page 18 for qualifier information.

LATE-SEASON QUOTES

Quote #1 : from Billy Maccini of The Locals, after reading my regular week 15 column about the award leaders that sit out in the final week: "If I would have known that we could've got Phillip [Eastmead] on the st list, I woulda sat him that last week so that he would be 26-0, not 28-0. Next time let me know, because we can put him on the st list in the Tons!"

Quote #2 : from J.P. Evans of Jack Nine, in reference to their final night point race with Put A Cork In It!: "Last night was awesome. Jack 9 needed 22 points to clinch first place in C. The Corkers (also battling for first) were at the same bar, but had a forfeit (unfortunately). So they were more than willing to cheer on our opponents from the Hibernian. That's cool, it made for a great atmosphere. So you can imagine our celebration when we hit the last dart in the last game to get our 22nd point. There aren't many situations where you can justify jumping around like idiots when you beat a team 22-2. But I hope this is one of them. I also hope our opponents, the Hooligans, know that we were not so much celebrating beating them, but rather what we had just accomplished. In any case, they handled it graciously and showed a lot of class. Welcome to the league Hooligans, I hope you stay for a long time."

Quote #3 : from Tom Brown of Elemental Truths, in response to being the answer to the week 8 trivia question (see page 12): "I have been fortunate to play with some of the best darters the RDL has ever had including multiple state champions. I could have never accomplished any of these "titles" if it were not for the players on our teams. Many of these teams would've beaten just about every NCCDL team out there. That says a lot. These guys, and lady, have been some of the best people I have met and still have long lasting friendships with many. Special thanks to Doc Hoffman for calling and asking me to play for Pig Tour back in 1995. The rest, as they say, is in the books. DP2BAWU"

My apologies for the small size of this flyer, but it just arrived Friday night, and this is the only space I have left…

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

I've run this page in several recent banquet Tons, and it seems to generate about the most interest/discussion. So, I certainly couldn't let it die out just yet. Without further ado, let's open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. As always, this is just about the last thing that I'm writing and nearly all of this was written after midnight (translation: today!), so as always not even I know what's about to hit the page…

--The tradition continues! This column starts with a Survivor item… If Parvati had won, I'm not sure that I could have watched my currently favorite show ever again. How can a supposedly 'hot girl' be so friggin' repulsive? Ugh… But she lost. So now I'm ready for the next season to start right about… now.

--I had a minor realization this season when I was picking the divisional all-star teams. It's nothing earth-shattering, but just something that makes me a little sad dart-wise. When you're in a lower division and you're almost good enough to make the all-star team, but not quite… it's ok, because you'll get a shot next season and maybe some of the guys who made the team this time will have moved up (or down, I suppose). But when you move into A division, those opportunities just aren't there in the same way because guys have nowhere to which they can move up. So, probably more than half the spots are already taken by the guys who simply have been the RDL's best for years (the Phillipses, Browns, Sewards, and Terrys of the world, to name a few). I desperately wanted to put Matt Heimbach on the A team, but there just wasn't room. And what about guys like Zak Mayhew, who isn't there quite yet but gave my team all they could handle this season, and is only getting better? What for him in a few seasons? Nothing, that's probably what. And that's a bummer.

--Anybody here like classical music? If yes, does that mean you can tell me what the hl good a conductor is? Those guys get so animated and so full of themselves, but the musicians don't even seem to ever look at them (um, sheet music much?). Plus, if the musicians didn't already know the piece, the overdone hand waves aren't going to make them hit the right notes at the right time. Until someone convinces me otherwise, I'm putting music conductor at the top of my personal Pointless Jobs list. Oh, and… who is so pretentious enough to have someone call them "maestro"? Oy.

--If we were to lock Bob Terry, Scott Butters, and Allen Smith in a room and tell them they couldn't come out until somebody did something genuinely mean to one of the other guys, do you think they would ever get out? Imagine trying to write a television ad for that event… the world's first… nice-off(?).

--Kevin Kendall of Mac-Daddy is a way funny guy, and he's way smart on top of that. Excellent combination if you ask me. Anyway, late this season, Kevin said that he was going to try to "retrieve some semblance of respectability" by proposing some new award categories. His first offering was "Most All-Star Points Per Win", which is interesting in that it is won by the person who hits the most big shots with the least final outcome success (which is, of course, Kevin's whole point). Not coincidentally, Kevin was leading that category, prompting him to comment on why Robbie Phillips wasn't leading that category (like the many others he generally leads): "Quite simply, he won too many games. That boy needs to learn how to lose more often." [Extra note here: Kevin's successful week 14 night destroyed his chances at this new 'award'.] Just as funny as Kevin's self-mocking was his extra offer: "with enough XL manipulations I've found a category Justin [Berstler] can win too!"

--Anybody else ever notice that if someone invites you to a party and asks you to BYOB, if you respond on behalf of at least you and another person, your response is that 'yes, we will BOOB'? Gives a whole new view on the party now, doesn't it?

--I promised our good friend Fulton Crowley (of Nice Dittles) that we would all go back and re-live the most Fulton-est of Fulton-isms in this issue, so here it is. Fulton, you see, is a bit of a legend in these parts. As the captain of Mangina Douche (oh, geez, that's special already), Fulton inspired both a rule change and a pseudo-award given by me in some seasons. You see, in the fateful season of Spring, 2003, Fulton's team claimed the F division title despite chalking up a ballot penalty, a phone penalty, and SIX(!!) mail penalties. They finished 100 points behind the 2nd place team, but were a match up, so they won the division anyway. Shortly thereafter a starting-with-the-3rd-mail-penalty-we-take-away-a-match-win rule was instituted, and I began listing the worst penalty-taking teams each season as the winners of the Fulton Crowley award. What a legacy, eh?

--Ever try to throw away a broken trash can? Just exactly how do you do that?

--Speaking of Fulton Crowley (see above), I saw him and his kickball teammates (yes, kickball! How completely cool is that?) at High Park this past Wednesday. They and another team were there with their team shirts. One team was the 'Master Batters', and the other was 'Where My Pitches At?' Those are excellent.

--You know the Somalian pirates and all the havoc they have caused? Well, just imagine how much trouble they would be if they were smart. Or even just acceptably average? But no, they're not. They're just big dangerous idiots. Although I suppose the ones that started to attack the U.S.S. Nicholas war-ship last month are less dangerous now… I mean seriously, a U.S. warship? It's not like they're disguised as daytrippers. If we had shot them, that would have just been natural selection.

--Why in the hl do people feel the need to slowly wave their hands back and forth if they're in the audience at a concert and a slow (or rather, just 'not fast') song is being played? You know what? Cut it the hl out!! You look like a sea of smitten 13-year old girls. And you're piing me off. So just stop it.

--Have you seen the Orbit Gum ad yet in which the women call each other Cootie Queen and Lint Licker? Presently my favorite ad on TV, and by a lot. After thinking about it though, I believe we should have a dart league division in which each of the teams names themselves from one of the non-cuss putdowns in the ad. We could have the Stinky McStinkfaces, the Cootie Queens, the Lint Lickers, and the French Toasts!! That would be awesome! I want to be on the Cootie Queens, just so I can chicken-neck and say "who you callin' a Cootie Queen, you Lint Licker!?" with that woman's exaggerated southern drawl.

--If you watch sports news at all, then you know that the overly dominant story lately is not about any of the NHL or NBA playoffs, or baseball scandals, or cycling scandals, or even Tiger Woods. It's "where should LeBron James sign?" Well, I'm not a huge NBA fan, but I can tell you now I have the answer: he should sign and play in… CLEVELAND!! Too few players in any sport nowadays join a team and stay there for an entire career. But it's the big stars that do that become legends. I think a legacy is so much better when you are great AND are identified with a lone team. Derek Jeter, Walter Payton, Mario Lemieux? LEGENDS! Shaq, Brett Hull, A-Rod? Mere hired guns. So sad.

18-SEASON LISTING OF REGULAR SEASON & TOURNAMENT WINNERS

Lots of us like to think back to "that one great season when it all came together." Others like to brag about how many times in a row their team came out on top. Probably even more of us like to refute the crap story that the bragging butthead is spouting about how many times his/her team won. Well, things like that are the reason that I run pages like this. Hard to make stuff up when the historical record is sitting right in front of you. So, here is a list of the recent season- and tournament-winning teams, listed by division. See your team anywhere? [Note to those who are curious: the regular season winners in these 18 seasons also won the tournament 56% of the time. Not counting I's 1-season history, in no division are the season winners doing better than 67% in the tournaments.]

The "One Hundred Thirty-Seven To Mugs In A Matter Of Seconds" Edition

TOURNAMENT WINNERS

"A" Division - Element Horizon (13-9)
Element completes what might be A division's first-ever undefeated calendar year in an absolute 'instant classic' with Phat Daddies, punctuated by Jon Kenney's monster third-leg 137-Out in 501.

"B" Division - Jack Nine (14-2)
J-9 completes what had to be one of the most boring seasons in recent RDL memory, giving up a total of 6 points in the tournament after winning the regular season by 3 matches. Time to move up…

"C" Division - Domestic Rednecks (14-8)
Domestics get pushed a bit in the finals by Schleprock, but since the Domestics are probably one of the best half-dozen or so teams in the entire RDL, they won anyway. For their 26th match in a row.

"D" Division - Coral Reefers (14-10)
The Reefers are so deep for a D team that they routinely send off 3 or 4 players per week, to work, to vacations, to wherever… and they roll onward anyway. Party gave 'em a fight in the finals though.

"E" Division - Mug Hunters (14-6)
The Hunters, who boast awesome roster balance, were never really pressed in this one, and they didn't even get a shot at the big rubber match w/ the Archers (since B2D dumped the Archers in the semis).

"F" Division - Big Bulls (12+-12)
The Big Bulls were this season's big Cinderella team (although not to me, as they were my Dark Horse pick prior to the tournament), coming out of the #6 hole to take down the Mugs in a finals 1001.

"G" Division - Grateful Darts (14-8)
The Gratefuls are the 6th team in this list to pull off the season/ tournament double, taking two tough matches that were seemingly representative of the whole top-four-in-G scene all season long.

"H" Division - JoCo Bullies (12+-12)
In a bracket featuring a fist fight, two bar ejections, three player suspensions, a double-forfeit, and a subsequent automatic forfeit, the Bullies claimed a title they probably felt they had earned earlier.

REGULAR SEASON WINNERS

"A" Division - Element Horizon (14 wins, 0 losses)
2nd place - Phat Daddies

"B" Division - Jack Nine (14 wins, 0 losses)
2nd place - OT Outlaws

2nd place - Excalibur

"D" Division - Coral Reefers (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Damnifino

"E" Division - Mug Hunters (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Ale-ing Archers

"F" Division - Salute-A-Bull (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Top Kill Junk Shot

"G" Division - Grateful Darts (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Projectile Dysfunction

"H" Division - Liquor Posse (10 wins, 4 losses)
2nd place - JoCo Bullies

STORIES FROM YOUR LEAGUEMATES

Story #1 : from Bill Buckley of Helter Skelter after week 14: "I have to share a couple stories not worth anything other than to tell. First in Jenn [Buckley]'s 301 game Marshall [Thorne] almost had a 9-dart game. He was shooting out before Jenn even got in. Still had a chance for a 10, 11 and 12 dart game - got stuck on double 1 and Jenn hung in there and won. Great shooting by Marshall - hit a 103 and 102 before getting hung up - and even greater never quit attitude by Jenn. I think her dad taught her that." [Gee, I wonder who her Dad is… - JK]

Story #2 : also from Bill Buckley of Helter Skelter (if you read the first one, you probably noted that it said he had a couple - you didn't think I would keep the other for myself now, did you?): "I knew Peter [McGettigan] was going to be late getting to the match due to work but I didn't realize how late. He showed up during the last game of doubles cricket still in his suit and tie. At first I wasn't going to shoot him in 501 but he made the effort to get there as soon as he could so I told him it was up to him. He said 'play me in the third game.' Long story short he got left on 54 - 18 double-18. His first dart was just outside the double 18, second dart was low for 4 scored and 3rd hit the double bull - game, set, match… pretty cool ending to a fun season…"

Story #3 : from Kevin Brody of Salute-A-Bull, also after week 14, highlighting a night when team competition ends as it should (provided safe drivers are also available, of course… :o): "We celebrated [our division title] last night with Big Bulls. They stayed after the match and we all played a 1001 game and did shots afterward. Whoa!"

Story #4 : from the U.S. Interstate Highway Commission (provided by Mike Seward of Phat Daddies). Now I know this one isn't really a story, and it's actually sorta nerdy, but I just think it's cool. Anyway… I'm sure that most of you have taken I-40 down to Wilmington. Well, when you leave Wilmington, have you ever noticed the sign right where I-40 actually begins on your way back toward the Triangle? It gives you the distance down I-40 to Barstow, CA, the city at the other end of I-40. Well, what would you expect to be at the start of the other end of the highway in CA? You guessed it…

Story #5 : from Jeff Lyons of Off Constantly, who responded to an item in the newsletter with his own new trivia question. The answer is a bit obvious, but if his numbers are accurate, this is a pretty brutal run. Also, keep in mind that he wrote this with a little bit of the regular season still to go too…: "Here is a trivia question for you. Who has the most points checked out against them in 301 in the history of RDL (single season)? Answer - Jeff Lyons! So far against me: 40 by Kenny Persson, 80 by Jeremy Dziczkowski, 110 by Dave Alvord, 111 by Mike Seward, and 112 by Billy Hamilton. I can't remember the 6th." [Holy cow… that is a lot of points to end games week after week! Obviously, this isn't the kind of statistic I can track for a trivia question (nor can I confirm Jeff's numbers, I suppose), but that seems like a list that would be pretty tough to beat. I have to admit that I'm a little bit glad that Jeff knows how those big outs taste though… he has checked out from 90+ against me in 3 of the last 4 times we've played in 501. - JK]

Oh, geez… The total number of penalties this season was nothing out of the ordinary, but oh my, the cost of those penalties was pretty devastating this time around. There was a total of 26 penalties (not too bad for an election ballot season), with every division receiving at least 2 penalties. There were 13 election ballot penalties (for 65 total points), 4 phone penalties (for 20 points), 4 mail penalties (for 20 points), and 5! ineligible player penalties (for a total cost of 42 points and one match win). H division led every category: 6 total penalties, assigned to 4 of the 8 teams, for a total loss of 58 points and the removed match win.

Three teams lost at least a spot in the standings due to the penalties, but one of those (The Usual Suspects in B) paled in comparisons to the other two in terms of actual loss. Both the Ale-ing Archers in E div. and the JoCo Bullies in H div. penaltied themselves right out of a regular season division crown. The Archers took two penalties, with the early mail penalty costing them. The Bullies also took two penalties, but it was obviously the rule-change-inspiring 1001 ineligible player penalty that was the difference-maker for them.

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

I can't decide if I think this season's total of 42 tiebreakers is a lot or a little. We dropped down a division back to 8, but that also meant that every team was playing every week so we actually had more matches played. Of no consequence really, as it's really just the teams that lost a bunch of these or won a bunch of these that interest most of us. B and E divisions had the fewest tiebreakers (2 in the season, 0 in the tournament each), while F (6 season, 1 tournament), H (7 season, 2 tournament), and D (9 season, 1 tournament) led the way. And this season, both the Cardiac Kids (most tiebreakers played) and Heartbreak (most tiebreakers lost) Awards go to the same team. The poor, poor Backyard Brawlers… FIVE tiebreakers this season, and only one win. And their last of those losses? It came in the H tournament final. Oh, the sadness… Combine that with Joe Munroe's terrible luck (see page 14), and that bunch is becoming quite the bunch of sad sacks… Yikes. Oh, and the team that likely loves AND hates the 1001 the most at the same time? The JoCo Bullies, who went 3-0 in that set, including the tournament final win, but also ended up losing the H season title due to a 1001 they actually won but then for which they took their ineligible player penalty.

HOLIDAY BREAK BLIND DRAWS

This holiday season, some of the standard days that are often considered as potential extra holiday blind draw days fall on regular blind draw days. The Upper Deck in Cary already hosts the most blind draws in the area (with regular weekly Friday and Sunday night blind draws), and they are also the place that most often adds blind draws on Wednesdays during RDL breaks. Well, this holiday season is no different! The Deck will be hosting an extra blind draw every Wednesday until the RDL starts back up in January. In addition, despite the fact that both Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve fall on Fridays, the regular weekly draw will indeed be held! So, if you're interested, head on over. Signups close at 8 p.m. for all of those different days, and it only costs $5 to play. All of the draws are double-elimination, the bar matches the pot, and there are often extra fun things like the nightly triple-shot. Good luck…

"HOT DARTS" CALL-IN GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines you should use for the minimum number of all-star points to report when calling in your scores.

"A" Division = 4.5 or more ASPs
"B" Division = 4.0 or more ASPs
"C", "D" Divisions = 3.5 or more ASPs
"E", "F", "G" Divisions = 3.0 or more ASPs
"H" Division = 2.5 or more ASPs

Also, call in any fast games, high ins, high outs, or other amazing feats that you think warrant a little recognition (e.g., Ins & Outs higher than a Ton, 24-dart cricket games, 15-dart 301s, 24-dart 501s, Ton-70s and up, 8-Marks+, 5-Bulls+, etc.).

Extra note: it's also ok to call in "fast games" in each set, even if they don't necessarily meet the maximum dart counts above.

THE TWENTY-EIGHTH SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
(This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional MVPs

A Division	Robbie Phillips	Element Horizon	E Division	Scott Stankevich	Leftovers
B Division	Lee Whitehead	Jack Nine	F Division	John Jenkins	Salute-A-Bull
C Division	Shane Murray	Domestic Rednecks	G Division	Rod Stacy	Sharkshooters
D Division	Nate Wade	Coral Reefers	H Division	Joe Munroe	Backyard Brawlers

All of RDL -- Robbie Phillips -- Element Horizon

"A" Division

Tom Brown	Element Horizon	22-0 in doubles? Crazy. Plus 18-5 singles.
Matt Heimbach	Lunatic Fringe	Mr. 1001 Winner led Fringe all season.
Sid Mitchell	Appetite for Dest.	Simply best player outside top 3 teams.
Robbie Phillips	Element Horizon	Do I really even need to write anything?
Mike Seward	Phat Daddies	You should've seen his SCkt vs. Phillips.
Allen Smith	Element Horizon	Back to being one of RDL's very best.
Wil Tan	Element Horizon	Even his losses were really good games.
Bob Terry	Lunatic Fringe	Takes down all the other guns in singles.

"B" Division

Dan Clark	OT Outlaws	Big singles winner, just moderate in dbls.
Aaron Downs	Jack Nine	If only his team would let him play 301…
Phillip Eastmead	The Locals	Propping an entire team on his shoulders.
Tommy Gelhar	Jack Nine	Hard to argue with 31-3 in the Ckt sets.
Keith Gibbs	Jack Nine	Welcome back to A where you belong.
Jimmy Kerr	OT Outlaws	Mr. 501 Clutch can just sit out DCkt.
J.J. Tant	OT Outlaws	Mr. All-But-501 can just sit out that set.
Lee Whitehead	Jack Nine	What a return to competitive darting…

"C" Division

Rick Bradshaw	Three Dart Night	Easily the top dog for these C newcomers.
Dean Cusher	Domestic Rednecks	Somebody had to drive this crazy train…
Jeremy Gower	Schleprock's Reven	I guess dbls is after his regular bed time?
Josh Hall	Excalibur	The best of Excalibur's many additions.
Dave Krasnow	Traveling Beer Belli	He sings, he throws, he does it all. Well.
Mark Lamb	Domestic Rednecks	Nearly perfect 27-1 in the cricket sets.
Shane Murray	Domestic Rednecks	Most out-of-place player in all of RDL.
Sean O'Brien	Pigs in Chains	Certainly not the runt of darting Piggies.

"D" Division

J.D. Dixon	Damnifino	VERY different team when he's absent.
Jim Gallagher	Coral Reefers	Throw, win, write team newsletter. Repeat.
Ron Hendricks	Starving Dartists	Every season, he's the least Starving…
Vicente Martinez	Hammered Heads	7th straight season with >78% singles.
Dan Titsworth	Money Shot	Money Shot sorely needed this guy back.
Nate Wade	Coral Reefers	Mr. Dependable for division's top team.
Steve Wilcenski	Coral Reefers	I don't care if he missed some matches…
Randy Wilcox	Like To Party	Best player for one of best upset teams.

"E" Division

Patrick Clark	Ale-ing Archers	Oh, so close to taking the E title back…
Sebastian Greene	Ale-ing Archers	Could be top gun for winningest E team.
Chad Hayes	Board 2 Death	Big singles winner can maybe sit doubles?
Carl Lee	Dive Bombers	How can this guy still surprise opponents?
Alberto Sandoval	Mug Hunters	4 10-win sets for season/tourney winners.
Andy Schwochow	Ale-ing Archers	Mr. Cricket was still decent in '01 too.
Scott Stankevich	Leftovers	Won 19 of his team's 39 doubles wins.
Tony Williamson	Tips & Shafts	With more doubles help, he's league MVP.

"F" Division (not one player from the #2-#4 finishing teams? Weird…)

Sean Ackley	Designated Divers	Monster singles covers mediocre doubles.
Stan Converse	Duckin' D'Oh! Nuts	Now THIS is an iron man winner.
Debera Dudley	Yippers	The change of teams served her WELL.
Aaron Fitzgerald	Big Bulls	The Fitzgeralds carried the Big Bulls all
Dennis Fitzgerald	Big Bulls	the way to the F division tourney title.
John Jenkins	Salute-A-Bull	Top winner for division's top finishers.
Andy Keestalude	Yippers	Wow. Toted the whole team some nights.
David Simpson	Salute-A-Bull	Great in singles, decent in doubles.

"G" Division

David Gelberg	Irish We Were Dru	This guy ended my BCDL season w/a 180.
Matt Goss	Ton Up Tossers	12-0 in SCkt, plus 10-2 in 501 is enough.
Kevin McFadden	Grateful Darts	Just another big gun for G div. winners.
Chris Montesi	Irish We Were Dru	Led Irish with superb singles record.
Rob Rexrode	Projectile Dysfuncti	Very solid, at least until the final set…
Rod Stacy	Sharkshooters	Actually got better as the night went on.
Tim Welborn	Grateful Darts	Every set being 9-4 or better is very nice.
Tom Winters	Grateful Darts	11+ wins in every set? Can't argue that.

"H" Division

Josh Frumkin	Backyard Brawlers	Soon surpassing Munroe as team's tops?
John Keleher	Where's the Budd?	Winning 40 games for #5 team isn't easy.
Ted Marks	Liquor Posse	3 sets of excellence for season winners.
Chad Massengill	JoCo Bullies	31-4 in first three sets? So friggin' good.
Joe Munroe	Backyard Brawlers	Leader of the always-just-so-close team.
Shane Richardsor	One Armed Bandits	If only he was really a full-time player…
Nathan Watkins	Liquor Posse	Singles cricket record carried the day.
John White	Backyard Brawlers	Any team can use a doubles specialist.

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

-The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): All 8 divisions had 8 teams this season, although the C teams got kind of shorted by having a team forfeit out midway through the season. Oh well… In the end, this club houses FOUR members this season! No need to consider the 12 players with three 10-win sets, or even the 5 players with four 9-win sets, this time around. First up, we have the three players who rang up four 10-win sets: Robbie Phillips of Element Horizon in A(!) division, Nate Wade of Coral Reefers in D, and Alberto Sandoval of Mug Hunters in E. But then we have this season's top winner, ringing up four 11(!)-win sets!! It's Tom Winters of Grateful Darts in G division, who actually came within one 301 win of having four 12-wins sets. Wow.

-The Iron Man/Woman Award: When I first looked this one up this season, I was thinking I might have a new record holder. Why, you ask? Because Bob Carawon of F division's Duckin' D'Oh! Nuts played an astonishing 83 games this season!!! Guess that's what happens when you mostly have the same four guys playing all the sets all season. (Turns out the record during my tenure is 92 by Dave Wilser of Get Over It in the Spring of 2001.) Honorable mentions for this season, as division leaders: Ron Ridenour of Fun Below Me in A with 60; Whit Bryant of The Locals in B with 63; Shane Murray of Domestic Rednecks in C with 54; Fritz Herman of Starving Dartists in D with 58; Gregg McCurry of Leftovers in E with 56; Travis Buckingham of Dem Bones in G with 61; and Adam Voos of Where's the Budd? in H with 59.

-The Team Attendance Award winners: Hmmm… Not sure to whom to give this one… Do I go with the three teams that ran a primary six with one part-time sub all season (Just Drunksten in A, OT Outlaws in B, and Dem Bones in G), or the team that basically ran only 4 players the entire season (Duckin' D'Oh! Nuts in F)?

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

A little bit different than in some recent seasons for me. I got a lot of preseason stuff correct, but I missed on HALF of the division winners. Eek! Hit about the same rate as usual in the season and postseason. Let's break it down…

In my preseason picks (easily the toughest each and every season), I nailed the winners of each of the first four divisions. In addition, I called most of the finishing spots for most teams. I even told you beforehand that F division would have the best top-to-bottom race. Niiiiiiice… What I missed though was the emergence of the OT Outlaws in B and of Money Shot in C. And I had WAY too much confidence in Designated Divers in F, Irish We Were Drunk in G, and the One Armed Bandits in H. My E pick (Board 2 Death) didn't win either, but they pulled in third, then made the tournament final, so that was pretty close.

My weekly prediction results you can peruse pick-for-pick on the other side of this sheet of paper. After three consecutive seasons of improving, I matched last season to within 0.02%! How is that for consistency, eh? Unlike last season (in which D was my best division), D was easily my worst this time around (not even reaching 61% correct). A division was my best, as I only missed 7 matches there all season (4 of them involving Off Constantly). Only two teams fooled me more often than not (Hammered Heads at 6-8 and JoCo Bullies at 6-7)

Last but not least were my tournament predictions… And as usual, we go to best-of-three and my picks get even better in pretty much all divisions. We lost a few matches to an odd set of double-forfeit followed by automatic forfeit in H, so I'm just ignoring that half of that bracket. I hit 24 of 31 first-round results, 10 of 15 semifinals, and then 6 of the 7 non-forfeit-affected finals!! And the one tournament winner that I didn't pick? They were a #6 that I listed as my top 'dark horse' pick!! Yeah, baby!! Oh, and… all of my 'surest things'? They were. Again.

JK'S TEAM-BY-TEAM, WEEK-BY-WEEK MATCH PREDICTION RESULTS

(I introduced this page thirteen seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the four 'o' symbols indicate the teams for which I was only 0.500, and the two 'x' symbols indicate the teams that fooled me more often than not. [That stupid three-match wrong streak to close the season dropped my record with the Hammered Heads to 6-8, my worst for any team this season. At least I got their two tournament match results correct…]

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED

I now run this column during seasons in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers follow the questions. No peeking…

Week 5 question: What is the longest regular season singles win streak since I started doing the newsletter (1996), and who has it? [Note: RDL doesn't track tournament statistics.]

Week 6 question: What RDL rule is affectionately known as the "Fulton Crowley rule", and why?

Week 7 question: Seven divisions presently have an undefeated team. In my 30 seasons as statistician, what is the greatest number of divisions that have had a team go the entire season/tournament undefeated, and when was it?

Week 8 question: In my previous 29 seasons as statistician, 21 teams have gone undefeated through the entire season and tournament. How many teams did it more than once, and who were they?

Week 9 question: At the state tournament this weekend, there was talk about dropping some events and adding others. Which events have been played in the past at the NC State Championships that are no longer part of the annual event?

Week 10 question: Every now and then a team forms that is immediately placed in A just because it should be there, but more often teams have to climb the ladder and win their win into A from the lower divisions. Staying in A div. and performing well is a whole different issue though. Today's question comes with that in mind… During my tenure as statistician (this is my 30th season), which teams playing up from B division had the best first seasons in A division, either by final finishing position or by win-loss record?

Week 11 question: If you were to play a game of 501, and you could only score on numbers with an odd base value (1s, 3s, 5s, etc., not 2s, 4s, 6s, etc.), and each turn could have no more than one single, no more than one double, and no more than one triple in it, what is the lowest dart total possible?

Week 12 question: What's the worst record to win a division title title since I became statistician in 1995?

Week 5 answer: This one took a bit of digging to come up with the answer… The key to this question lies in the fact that it's "all singles games". If the answer were just cricket (since 301 appears to be more random), the answer might have been different. But in the end, despite nice runs by guys like Jim Budelman (all in A division!), Jim Davis, and J.D. Dixon, the record goes to Phillip Eastmead of The Locals, at 59!! The record includes 23 in D in Fa09, 28 in C in Sp10, and 8 this season in B. And, of course, as soon as I asked the question, he lost 301 to Jeff Watson, Sr. Jinx!

Week 6 answer: Back when I started as the RDL statistician in 1996, the penalty for a late scoresheet mailing was loss of all points from the match AND loss of the match win. Ouch! It was decided that penalty was too steep, and the loss of the match win was revoked (and the point penalty was later standardized to 16 for all late mailings, since it was the same offense regardless of how much your team scored). But… what that created was the opportunity for a team that got a couple of late mailings to lose all incentive to send in their sheets… pretty much at all. Enter Fulton Crowley. Fulton and his Spring 2003 Mangina Douche team (and that name is whole other story…) claimed F division with a 12-2 record despite not mailing me HALF of his scoresheets on time. After a while, he began just saving them up and sending them 2 or 3 at a time. Despite finishing 100 points behind the 2nd place team, Mangina Douche still took 1st by one match win. And the RDL Board immediately put in the following rule (known to all those in the know as the "Fulton Crowley" rule): starting with a team's 3rd late scoresheet, the match win is also taken away.

Week 7 answer: 3, back in the Fall of 1996. Lunatic Fringe claimed A division (with current RDL members Joe Wilson, Tom Brown, Jim Budelman, Don Bingham, Phillip Eastmead, Steve Hoffmann, & Bob Terry), Top Dead Center claimed B division (with current RDL members Joe Gaglione, Wil Tan, and Lee Scott, and The Dart Party claimed C division (with myself being the only current RDL members from that team). In 13 of my previous 29 seasons as statistician, exactly zero teams were able to go the distance without a loss. [Update for the banquet Tons: this season tied that record of 3 undefeated teams, with Element Horizon claiming A division, Jack Nine taking B div., and Domestic Rednecks rolling through C div.]

Week 8 answer: Those 21 undefeated seasons were achieved by 16 different teams, with only 2 of them doing it more than once. First, Wireless claimed C and then B divisions in Fa04 and Sp05 for their two clean sweeps. And the other, with FIVE undefeated seasons (all of them in A division!) is Lunatic Fringe. Their five undefeated seasons were Fa96, Sp97, Sp00, Fa01, and Sp03. I suspect that when I dig into the old historic newsletters that Joe Wilson gave me, they'll tag a couple more onto that list from pre-JK days… [Update for the banquet Tons: that total is now up to 24 undefeated seasons, and another multiple-time undefeated has been added to the list. Element Horizon added a second season, having rung up two undefeated seasons in a row now, both in A division.]

Week 9 answer: Well, a few experiments have come and gone at the NC State Championships (such as the double-elimination singles events debacle), but only one event is truly not played at this time (although a second event has been morphed). First, the morphed event is the four-player 701, which has been played as a men's four-player and a women's four-player three times in the 1990s (the event is now just one open four-player 701 event). And the one event that is no longer played? Mixed Doubles 501. Maybe not surprisingly, the re-addition of that event (possibly in place of the four-person event) was one of the two possible changes discussed at this year's meeting.

Week 10 answer: If we include teams that dropped down from A to B and then back, the number of teams that made somewhat of a splash (5th or higher) can't be counted on two hands. But if we include only teams that truly climbed the ladder, that count shrinks considerably. However, the one true answer to this question is the same either way you measure it. In the Fall of 1998, a little group of guys known as Shameless & Aimless VII (their 7th season as they climbed up) hit A division, and immediately bolted all the way to an 8-4 record that was good enough to let them their point their way into second place (behind Lunatic Fringe, of course)!! And the next season, they took the A division regular season title, and the next season… they folded. Sigh. Anyway, congrats to current RDL members J.D. Dixon, Joe Gaglione, Bill Chaney, and John Jenkins, all of whom were members of Shameless & Aimless VII.

Week 11 answer: 17 darts. The total score can actually be reached in 16 darts using only the various odd number multiples needed, but you can't end the game with an even number of odd-scoring darts (which is what you need to do if you take it out on the first dart of any turn).

Week 12 answer: Twice in the past 30 seasons, a team has come home with the biggest hardware with only a 9-5 record! In the Fall 1997 season, No Clue claimed D division, and in the Fall 2000 season, Starving Dartists claimed D division. [Update added for banquet Tons: no team really came all that close this season, as the only division that was even as low as 10-4 was only at that point due to a very rare 1001 tiebreaker ineligible player penalty.]

IMPORTANT NOTICES FROM THE RDL BOARD

The following items come to you directly from the RDL Board. This is a pretty important set of stuff for you to read. Maybe the most important in this entire newsletter.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN COOLER HEADS DO NOT PREVAIL…? DOUBLE-FORFEITS AND SUSPENSIONS!!!

Last week [Ed. note: this actually refers to the quarterfinal round] various members of RDL received notification of an incident that happened at Mac's Tavern during the first round of tournament between the captain of Liquor Posse and a member of He Hate Us. The Board met to discuss this and considered the messages from members of both teams, as well as the account of the incident from the owner of Mac's who was brought into the situation when the incident escalated into an assault.

Although no one filed an official grievance this was brought to the attention of the Board, who took action based on the rules under M 4. Special Circumstances. Everyone who is at an RDL match, both players and guests, are representatives of the league the entire time they are in a host establishment. As such they should behave in an adult manner and be respectful of the bars and other people there. The Raleigh Dart League has a zero tolerance policy for behavior that reflects poorly on the league, particularly when it degenerates into physical violence and forces owners of our host establishments to step in and eject league members from their bar.

There are a number of correct ways to deal with an emerging "situation" before it escalates into assault. First, within the league if a player on the opposing team is causing a problem with a member of your team or a guest, is creating an unpleasant environment, or is behaving in an unsportsmanlike manner making the match unpleasant for everyone, the first step is for the captain to speak to the other captain about his player. If that does not alleviate the issue, depending on what the issue is, the captain may take the issue directly to the bar staff. Physically attacking a player is never acceptable while representing the Raleigh Dart League.

There was a situation that ended with the captain of Liquor Posse punching a member of He Hate Us.
Based on all information at hand the board has determined to issue the following penalties:

==> The match shall be ruled a double forfeit.

==> Daniel Caputo, the captain of Liquor Posse and the person who punched the other player is determined to be guilty of a major offense, and therefore shall be suspended for the maximum time allowed, one entire season (Spring 2011).

==> Nick Kilgore, the member of He Hate Us, was determined to be offensive enough by the owner of Mac's to be ejected from the bar, is also determined to be guilty of a major offense, and therefore shall be suspended for the maximum time allowed, one entire season (Spring 2011).

==> Shervin Ejlali, captain of He Hate Us is determined to be guilty of a second minor offense and is suspended for 8 weeks, beginning with week #1 of the Spring 2011 season. This offense is based on the rule, C.1 under Captains Responsibilities, stating that captains shall bear ultimate responsibility for team conduct. Although realistically captains do not have total control over players at all times, this issue was building for over 3 hours, plenty of time to realize that his player was severely intoxicated and causing a problem. This is a second offense as this team was involved in a brawl at Varina Sports bar in Spring 2009. Because both teams were "away" teams the owner could not tell who started it, so the teams were put on probation as it was considered a "first offense".

A RULE CHANGE IN RESPONSE TO A REQUEST FROM THE STATISTICIAN -- 1001 PLAYER NAMES

This one is featured in the Matches section of the Rules: "Each player that participates in the game of 1001 must be listed on the score sheet by first and last name. Failure to do so will result in a penalty for failure to mail a score sheet correctly as listed in the penalties section." Everybody got that? That means that if you leave the 1001 Players box on the front of the scoresheet blank when you play in a tiebreaker, you will be penalized 16 points. Do it again, be penalized 16 points. Do it more than twice in a season, and you'll be penalized both the 16 points AND the match win. Bottom line? Report who plays in the tiebreaker games.

NEW GUIDELINES/CLARIFICATIONS FOR TEAM PLACEMENT AT THE START OF EACH SEASON

From the Schedules section of the Rules: "Changes to a team's roster (addition of players from higher divisions, loss of strongest players, addition of multiple inexperienced players) may affect their position." There is also a further clarification about how far teams with a roster completely identical to the previous season can be moved. Check out rules 6) and 7) in that section for those.

A WHOLE NEW TAKE ON THE 'SCOREKEEPER SCORE REPORTING' INTERPRETATION…

The Board is breaking new ground on this one… Pretty interesting… From the Matches section of the Rules: "If the scorekeeper is asked the remaining score and reports it incorrectly, and the player hits the winning dart(s) for the score they were quoted (thinking they just won the game) the following rules apply: 1) If the scorekeeper is on the opposing team, whatever was stated becomes the out for 01 or a valid mark in Cricket (for that turn) and if the player hits darts that win the game based on what they were told, they win the game. (If they fail to hit it, and IF the mistake is noted when the score is recorded, at their next throw the player should aim for the actual out (01)/marks needed to win (Cricket). If the mistake is not noticed at that time, and the incorrect information is recorded on the scoreboard, Section d1 and d2 will apply.) 2) If the scorekeeper is on the same team as the thrower and states incorrect information, the player does not win the game but may proceed with their turn if they have darts remaining and have not busted."

There are also updates to rules about pulling darts during the diddle, especially for scorekeepers. Either way, it is clear that the take-home message of this entire page is this: get an updated copy of the Rules, and learn them!! Thanks.

DO YOU REMEMBER YOUR 'BIGGEST SHOT'?

Well, do you? I think I do. Not positive, but I think so. But before we go on, let's define 'biggest shot'. Biggest shot is not just the most points you ever hit on one turn, or your first perfect throw. Hell, I checked out a 170 in a tournament match, so it's pretty much impossible to get 'higher' than that… but it was in 301, in a match that my team won handily. Big shot, but not real earth-shaking in terms of importance… Which I guess means that my biggest shot was a simple old double-10, in my first RDL tournament final in A division in my first season in the league. I was the sixth man, I was listed with the fifth man, and we drew the big money pair for our opponents (including one guy who still plays now). Everyone in the place clearly expected us to lose, and when one of our other pairs went down, making our pair necessary to push the score to 11-11, most thought it was basically over. But it wasn't, I guess. We stole the points on my out, leading to our last pair taking the last set and the Mugs. A pretty small shot in the dart world, but it was the unexpected winner that carried a whole team of guys. Those are the best.

AND ON THAT NOTE…

How would you script proposed biggest shot? Would it be in the tournament final? Would it be in your first A division tournament final? Would the match be tied going into the 501s? Would you pair up with a multi-time regional champion? Would you play against the opponents' best two players all season, one of whom is one of the winningest players the RDL has ever seen, and who are both presently on freakin' fire? Would the set go to a third game after both teams absolutely tore through each of the first two games, each claiming one of the wins? Would the third leg be a Ton-fest, with your opponents ending up on 40 after only 15 darts? And would you then calmly check out from 137 (triple-20, triple-19, double-10) to take the set and set up your team's pair on the other board for the Mug-winning finish in their next leg? And would it seal the deal on your team's undefeated regular season/ tournament pairing? Well… if that's how you would script your biggest shot, then you're either some sort of psychic clairvoyant who can adopt the experiences of others, or you're stalking Jon Kenney (my teammate on Element Horizon) and trying to claim his life as your own. If that's what you're doing, cut it out, creep. If that's not what you're doing, then go back and re-read this item and really absorb the setting and what he did. THAT, ladies and gentlemen, is a 'biggest shot' moment…

TOURNAMENT QUOTES

Quote #1 : from Jon Kenney of Element Horizon, the morning after the shot listed immediately above: "I tried to call in 'awesome' from work today. My boss told me to eat st and get my a in here. Clearly not a dart fan." [HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!! Can you imagine that phone call? Uh, sorry boss, not going to be in today, I'm awesome. I wish I could just see the look on an employer's face if somebody really called in and said that. - JK]

Quote #2 : from Dean Cusher of Domestic Rednecks, who went 41-1 in DCkt in the season, then appears to have gone 8-1 in DCkt during the tournament: "[Shane] Murray and Anthony [Brownd] lost again at doubles cricket. The only two to lose all year, and they lost to JT [Jason Thomas] & Antique [Joe Thomas]. Again."

Quote #3 : from Nelson Williams of Coral Reefers (this one is actually saved from about week 13): "Van had the line of the night. Someone worried whether or not my all-star points were counted. I said, 'I don't think it matters. It's not like it'll earn me a plaque at the end of the season.' Van replied, 'Yeah, what's the difference between a 0.01 and a 0.02 all-star percentage?' Thanks, buddy."

COMPLETING THE RDL AWARD PANEL

Every now and then I come across something that I find to be really an amazing achievement. This item most decidedly points out one such achievement. Please allow me to explain…

The RDL presently offers 14 different awards. There are 3 types of perfect throws (9-mark, Ton-80, 6-Bull); 2 additional throw awards (High In, High Out); 4 fast games (301, SCkt, DCkt, 501); 2 season-long individual awards (singles win percentage, all-star point average); and 3 types of team awards (regular season first place, regular season second place, tournament first place).

Earning awards in more than half of those categories is likely a loftier goal than most of us will reach. But what if I told you that the RDL has a league member who not only has earned an award in each and every one of those 14 categories, but has done so all while playing on the same team? In A division? And has done so all in the last 11 seasons?! Well, it's true. With his week 10 152-Out, Tom Brown of Element Horizon has done just that. Just incredible…

I don't know if anybody else even approaches that type of achievement level, but there are a couple of guys that certainly fit the 'most likely' category for me. Mr. Terry? Or maybe Mr. Seward? Maybe this one will be a future trivia question.

OH, SO CLOSE FOR JOE MUNROE

If you peruse the singles leaders in each division for this season, you'll see that Joe Munroe of Backyard Brawlers ended up 2nd in H division. Just one guy ahead of him in the race for that Mug. Dang that Chad Massengill of JoCo Bullies, right? Well… wait until you hear this… Massengill actually didn't win a higher percentage of his singles games, but he won anyway!! No, seriously… For the first time in my tenure as statistician, a player who won a higher percentage of his games and played at least the minimum number of games required, did NOT win the singles title. So, why is Massengill's number higher in those listings, you ask? Because in week 7, the JoCo Bullies (Massengill's team) was hit with that now infamous ineligible player penalty for listing a player in 1001 who hadn't been in any of the four main sections of the match (see new RDL rule regarding this situation on page 13). Thus, the Bullies' statistics were wiped clean per RDL rules. And what was wiped away? A singles cricket loss by Massengill to Samantha Watkins of the Liquor Posse. In some ways, it sucks for Munroe, but in other ways, it seems right for Massengill since his team lost the H division race because they were attentive to including tiebreaker information that other teams ignored (thus leading to the new rule making that information mandatory).

OH, BUSTED…

Hey, ya know what's awesome? Hitting the high out.

Know what's not? Having your team forget to record it so that the statistician has to double-check it with the other team, and the statistician finds out that you slopped part of it in a double/single/double. Then the statistician tells the newsletter guy (who, in this particular instance, is the same person), and it ends up… here.

Well, such is the fate of Mike Raquet of Helter Skelter in D division. When I dropped him a line about it, he was good-natured and funny, saying "Tell me about it. Was going for the triple but the double got it instead. Only off by about 3 inches so not too bad. So I stayed there, hit the single, and then aimed for the triple again and hit the double to win. Lol"

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

Ok, it's just a fact… this column has become a banquet Tons staple. I have no idea why so many are so keen on taking a peek into the oddness that is my head, but you are. So without further ado, let's open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. As always, this is just about the last thing that I'm writing and once again much of it was written when it was already today… soooo, also as always not even I know what's about to hit the page…

--The tradition continues... This column starts with a Survivor item… Can you possibly imagine gearing yourself up for being on Survivor, then heading out to wherever the heck they send your butt, then playing the game for four weeks, and then, with only 11 days left between you and a million bucks, just quitting? WHAT IN THE HELL?! The people that do that just suck! Don't believe me? Just ask the people on the jury who have been voted out and wanted to keep playing more than anything in the world, who have to sit and watch those whiny babies leave. Oh, ugh… whiny crappy babies like that make me angry. Yes, the conditions are terrible, but you signed up willingly .

-- And speaking of whiny crappy babies… how about a note about Mike Seward? Ha! Psych! You thought I was going to go forward and bust on him. Nope, quite the opposite. He was once again a monster against us in the A division finals, and he was clearly genuine in his post-match sentiment that he enjoyed that match more than any in years. He threw darts that 99% of us don't even dream of throwing, and he lost a couple of his sets anyway (that's what happens when you play guys like Robbie Phillips and Jon Kenney, I suppose). But not once during the match did he scream, pound, vent, or even so much as grunt. And when he wins, it's with pretty much the same smile he has as when he loses. He loves to play, but doesn't love it too much. For me, he's approaching the hallowed Bob Terry-level of having it all in perspective dart-wise. (Oh, and… he's a Survivor fan, so he REALLY has it all in perspective!)

-- Ha, I love this one… The other day I'm driving behind a little mini-SUV type of vehicle near my work when I notice a bumper sticker that makes me chuckle: "Your child might be an honor student but your driving sucks." And then right about 3 seconds after I read it and chuckled, that car swerved into the oncoming lane for a moment, then when it turned the corner it cut too tight and ran right up over the curb.

-- I'm wondering if Duckin' D'Oh! Nuts became the first team in RDL history to "unforfeit" this season. In week 14, they were scheduled to play Death Throw (at least I 'think' it was week 14), and they thought they weren't going to be able to get 4 throwers together. So, they very dutifully notified me and their opponents, and their opponents said they were going to go out and hang around and practice anyway. When the opponents got there, an unexpected member of the Ducks was there and was surprised to find out his team was forfeiting. Well, a round of phone calls and a hurried finish to a buffet dinner later, the Ducks had 4 at the bar and off they went. Thus, they sort of… "unforfeited". (And for the curious, no, Death Throw did not win as many points as they would have had from a forfeit - but they didn't care, since they are like most darters in that they would just rather play.)

-- How about a little fashion advice from me, a guy who is clearly a metrosexual style maven? Ok, this one is deep… And it's mostly for the guys… Fellas, when you start going bald on top, accept it! Do NOT go for any sort of combover anything. You are not fooling anyone , and you look ridiculous. A combover draws ten times the attention to your head than any amount of baldness ever could. If you combover guys could only see the headshakes and looks of pity that trail behind you. It's just a bad idea. Trust me.

-- How frickin' cool is this? It's not a dartboard… It's a cake!! Amy Williford (if you've played against Off Constantly, she's the woman in the back that is WAY out of Jeff Lyons' league) made it. I forget for whose birthday it was made, but that's the unimportant part to me. It's cake. And it's darts. And now I have to say... I'm really hungry for cake. Dang.

-- Here's one for all the NFL fans out there… My favorite moment of the season so far? When New Orleans Saints head coach Sean Payton went for the last-half-second timeout prior to a field goal try by the opposition. The kicker missed that try at the field goal that no longer counted, and then on the real one, he nailed it for the win! Yeah, baby!! That is simply one of the most annoying features of an NFL game. I friggin' love that it cost a team a game. I wish they could figure out a way to legislate that out of the game. (Instead of legislating out other features… such as… contact.)

-- Another one for the NFL crowd, and I apologize now if it angers the Panthers fans here. But… it's simply true. Panthers fans, on the whole, suck as live in-stadium fans. They get to the game late, many of them skip the game entirely when the team isn't winning, and they leave WAY early (what traffic are they beating? Many people didn't show up at all). I was at the Panthers' one win so far this year, and people were pouring out of the stadium with an entire quarter left in a one-score game. Can you even imagine that happening in Green Bay? Or Philly? Or Kansas City? Or… almost anywhere else? Sad. (As a quick comparison, while the Hurricanes simply can't come close to selling out 41 home games in a season, the RBC Center is widely recognized as the 'loudest barn in the league'. What you can't get in fan quantity, they certainly make up for in fan quality.)

-- In the left column, I gave the guys a bit of fashion advice… Now it's the ladies' turn. And this one is simple. If you need a trowel to put on your makeup, or a handpump to get enough perfume to spray, that's too much. Should that need to be said?

That simply isn't enough Random Thoughts… see the next page for more mostly useless ramblings…

MORE(!) RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

No, really… I have more silly pointless stuff to share. Interested? Then read on… and leave yourself wondering why you didn't have something better to do… Sad for you, right?

-- Out of curiosity, are you an organ donor? Have you ever considered it? If you're a quick "no way" responder, should I assume that when one of your loved ones becomes ill and needs an organ that you are not interested in receiving a transplant from a donor? Because that's pretty much the logical conclusion there. On a related note, a friend of mine sent me a column with a link to a video clip detailing what came of the early death of Cincinnati Bengals wide receiver Chris Henry. Henry was a bit of a problem in terms of behavior, but his death led to organ donations that benefitted several families. By all means, if you have about nine free minutes, visit http://www.cbssports.com/video/player/play/videos/CdypPOxkRyMWxJjEkoxYqBr_XWjB6WQe (combine the two lines into one website). If you watch that and you don't feel yourself tearing up, don't take an airline flight anytime soon, as the full-body scanners will immediately reveal that you are indeed some sort of non-human cyborg.

-- Did you know that the University of Connecticut women's basketball team has won 87 games in a row? That's only 1 short of the UCLA men's team's NCAA record. And we talk about the John Wooden teams as the gold standard of sporting success (which I personally will argue against until the sun goes down, given the old geographical style of regionals slotting, but that's not the point here). The Lady Huskies are building a legend. Take a second to respect…

-- Ok, here is where I get up on my soap box about the same thing I've said dozens of times here before… But this time it's to praise someone else rather than to knock us down. If you have read the Tons in basically any of the last many seasons, you already know that I personally think a regular season title is worth many times the value of a tournament title. I've listed all my reasons from time to dedication to longevity to depth to simply getting lucky for a tournament match or two - you've heard it before, and I still believe it (by the way, some of the historic RDL Board members must have recognized it too, as we use season standings to decide which teams move up and down next season, not tournament results). But you know who also "gets it" with me? My 9-year-old son's youth soccer league!! I coached his team this season, and they ran the frickin' table (the kids were just awesome this season) with a 12-0 regular season and a 3-0 run through the double elimination tournament. And you know what they won? Giant-a trophies with their names on them for the regular season, and a small generic medal for the tourney title. Perfect!! [And don't bother dropping any failed logic on me such as "well, the Lombardi trophy goes to the Super Bowl winner, not the team with the best record." That is true, and our situation would be similar and I would agree with you if our post-season tournaments included only about the top 3 teams in each division.]

-- Holy crap, there are some advertisements on television and/or radio right now that I just can't stand! Oh, ugh! Shoot the dang people that put these things on… First up, we have a whole set of commercials rather that a single one - the set of ads for 'male enhancement' products. Oh, wow, those are annoying!! Who in the hell buys those things?! Do some research people!! It's not possible!! Are you so insecure that you will ignore all scientific evidence and logic, and just basically throw your money down a garbage disposal? And could they possibly find any more sadly bimbo-istic (that's a word as of… right now) women with wildly vapid demeanors? I feel dumber just for having heard them. Ok… second up? Megan Mullaly hawking one of those butter substitutes. You know the one… where they morph "Turn The Beat Around" into "Turn The TUB Around". Are… you… serious?! And who decided to have her "dance" next to the actual dancer?! She barely even moves her hip, and he looks like he's auditioning for an Alvin Ailey production. She looks as though she has a musculoskeletal disorder next to him. Who casted that? And, finally… the Mac-Daddy (term chosen very intentionally) of ads that absolutely pi me off right now… the McDonald's ad with the guy who rudely cuts off anyone that tries to talk to him before he gets his morning coffee. OH… MY… GOD… I want to take up smoking, just so I can put out a lit cigarette in that character's eye!! What the hell makes him so important? He's going to friggin' McDonald's! That was a key to my day when I was 9! I don't really ever drink coffee, but I can tell you now that if I did, it would NOT come from McDonald's for this reason alone. … … Ok, I feel better now…

-- While we're talking about things that have been proven to not work… here's one that actually might save some of you a bit o' cash… Have you seen the "Shape Up" shoes that are shaped with extra padding on the bottom, supposedly to make your legs work harder in specific ways that they claim will help 'tone' your legs, butt, etc.? Do a little research here too people… The shoes DO work parts of you excessively. But it's things like your ankle joints and knees, NOT your less-than-toned thighs and butt. You are more likely to develop joint strain than the figure you want. Want that figure? Eat healthy and start exercising. Sorry, no shoe is giving you that shortcut…

-- In case anyone is curious, I think I've just decided the #1 way to make me angry at you. Lie right to my face. You can feel free to be a butthead, treat people meanly, be selfish, be arrogant, whatever… and all of those suck. But I just don't think there is anything worse than someone respecting you little enough that they will stand right in front of you and lie. Just my two cents on that subject…

-- Is there any artist on the planet more annoyingly insipid and emptyheadedly arrogant as Kesha? (And let's get one thing straight now. I am not now, nor will I ever, put a stupid-a dollar sign in place of the 's' in her name. I'm afraid that if I bow to ridiculousness that extreme that I will actually drop a couple IQ points each time I do it.) I have three step-children who LOVE G-105 and the 7 songs that it plays repeatedly every half-hour or so, and I often don't mind having that station on for them when we're driving around. But we have one rule: NO Kesha. None. Immediate station-changer… Did you know that her upcoming 2011 tour is named "Get Sleazy"? I'm tellin' ya… sometimes this column just writes itself…

-- Not that 99% of you will ever meet her, but if you ever get the chance to meet my sister Georgeann, you'll be better for it. I have five other siblings, a wife, my parents, two children, three step-children, and countless cousins, nieces, nephews, and lots of friends. And I love them and like them all (well, most of them, at least…). But my sister Georgeann never ceases to amaze me. She is just the best person with the best attitude and the best thing to say all the time. Really. All the time. I wish I could grow up to be like her…

NCDO / NCCDL / NCLC MEETING AT THE NC STATE CHAMPIONSHIPS

NCDO: not a whole lot of news here… mostly two things… #1 - attendance was low at the state championships this year. Really low. That sucked. #2 - League representatives are to go back to their associations and discuss the possibility of dumping the four-player 701 event in favor of one of two possible things - either a men's singles 301 and a women's singles 301, or the reinclusion of mixed doubles 501. The vote for next October will be taken at the March NCDO meeting.

NCCDL and NCLC: One association added an NCCDL team (Capital Area), and three associations added NCLC teams (Hickory, Asheville, and Carolina Dart Association). That means that both leagues will have 14 teams in 2011. Based on the scheduling precedent set over the past two years, 2011 will again be divisions of Central and Beach/Mountain. Each team will play one match against each of the seven teams in the other division. Division alignments are:

Central: Piedmont, Chapel Hill, Durham, Raleigh, Fuquay-Varina, Cary (NCCDL only), Capital Area (NCCDL only), Hickory (NCLC only), and Carolina Dart Association (NCLC only). [Side note: we really need an easier location-based name for the Carolina Dart Association (CDA)… sigh…]

Mountain/Beach: Asheville, Lake Norman, Charlotte, Pineville, Jacksonville, Wilmington, Port City (NCCDL only), and Boone (NCLC only).

HISTORY OF THE NCCDL…

It was back in 1995 that Tim Lane (presently captain of the Cary NCCDL team) first introduced the idea of the statewide year-long season style of play to replace the old "one team holds the cup against a string of challengers" sytem. There may never have been a more popular and successful idea for anything larger than a local league. Here are the 15 tournament finals results since then:

1996: Raleigh over Charlotte(?)
1997: Piedmont over Durham
1998: Piedmont over Raleigh/Charlotte(?)
1999: Wilmington over Raleigh/Charlotte(?)
2000: Durham over Charlotte
2001: Durham over Wilmington
2002: Wilmington over Durham
2003: Wilmington over Durham
2004: Wilmington over Durham
2005: Durham over Wilmington
2006: Durham over Charlotte
2007: Durham over Charlotte
2008: Durham over Charlotte
2009: Wilmington over Charlotte
2010: Wilmington over Durham

Sorry, guys… We didn't run this year's state championships, so I don't have the original results file. And since this one was distributed in pdf form, I wasn't able to highlight all of the RDL members' names below. Oh well… In any case, congratulations to this year's RDL State Champions: ROBBIE PHILLIPS and TOM BROWN. Sort of a low-return year for us a group this year… at least until you realize that Phillips and Brown garnered five shirts between them…

The "I Guess The End Of The World Is Today, Right? Sounds Like The Perfect Time For A Party..." Edition

"A" Division - The Missing Element (12+-12)
The Element jumped out early in singles, but a run of four doubles by Little High brought on the 1001, which The Element punched out in an absolutely smokin' 37 darts (27+ points per dart).

"B" Division - Domestic Rednecks (13-7)
The Rednecks decorate the trailer park with hardware once again as they head to A division, this time as the only team in any division to give up no more than 7 points in any tournament match.

"C" Division - Can't See The Board (13-9)
Well, the Can't Find My Teammates crew transformed themselves back into Can't See The Board, and now they Can See The Mugs, after claiming the wildest of all eight divisional tournaments.

"D" Division - Mug Hunters (14-8)
And just like that, the Spring 2011 season comes to a close without a single fully undefeated team, as the Hunters use big outs to roll through the previously undefeated Leftovers and take home the title.

"E" Division - Salute-A-Bulls (14-10)
After what was one of the craziest seasons in league history, E division goes ahead and produces the ONLY #1 seed to win Mugs this season (ya think that's the lowest number of #1s ever in RDL?).

"F" Division - Big Bulls (12+-12)
In what can only be described as a "raucous" event over at High Park, team stalwart Aaron Fitzgerald checks out the 1001 winner after a match that had the Bulls way behind, then ahead, then tied.

"G" Division - Dublin-Dublout (13-11)
It got progressively tougher and inspired more nail-biting with each tournament round, but D-D claimed their Mugs on a path (through the #4, #1, and #3 teams) matched only by Can't See The Board in C.

"H" Division - One Armed Bandits (13-11)
It took until the final set of 501, but Captain Kiser finally delivered the Bandits the victory, and produced one of my favorite quotes of the entire season, in part to due their opponents' humor (see pg. 14).

REGULAR SEASON WINNERS

"A" Division - Just A Little High (13 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - The Missing Element

"B" Division - Off Constantly (13 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - Domestic Rednecks

"C" Division - Money Shot (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - Traveling Beer Bellies

"D" Division - Leftovers (14 wins, 0 losses)
2nd place - Mug Hunters

"E" Division - Salute-A-Bulls (11 wins, 3 losses)
2nd place - Death Throw

"F" Division - Lords of Da Board (13 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - Big Bulls

"G" Division - Sharkshooters (12 wins, 2 losses)
2nd place - BullsHitters

"H" Division - Backyard Brawlers (13 wins, 1 loss)
2nd place - One Armed Bandits

Rosters of all season- and tournament-winning teams are on page 4.)

FALL 2011 RDL SEASON INFORMATION

These dates (or at least some of them) are on page 8, as well as on pages 1 and 40, but I am putting them in many locations because they might be the most important thing for you in this newsletter.

Wednesday, July 20th - Fall season registration, The Upper Deck (online registration available in days immediately prior to the 20th)
Monday, July 25th - Preseason RDL Board meeting, site TBD
Wed., Aug. 3rd - Preseason capts.' mtg./packet pickup, Upper Deck
Wednesday, August 10th - Start of Fall season match play
Monday, Sept. 12th - Fifth week captains' meeting, The Upper Deck
Wed., Nov. 16/30, Dec. 7 - Fall season divisional tournaments
Saturday, December 10th - Fall season banquet, site TBD

I LOVE REAL DART EXCITEMENT

Every now and then I get a glimpse into the real heartfelt joy that one (or many) of our league members feels when something great happens. It doesn't even have to be the most earth-shaking of shots. Case in point: the photo to the right is the double-8/double-8 that One Armed Bandits captain Lyman Kiser used to punch out the Brawlers in the H final. The title of the attachment? "Glory!"

SUMMER DARTING OPTIONS!!!!

Usually this is the spot where I tell you guys about all the other local leagues that are about to crank up. Or maybe it's where I list a bunch of bars that are hosting summer time blind draws… Well, not this time around! The Bull City Dart League (Durham) and Triangle Dart League (Chapel Hill) have seasons that aren't aligning very well for us this time around. And other local leagues that have played summer seasons in recent years (Cary Dart League, Capital Area Dart Club, etc.) don't appear to be active in terms of league competition at the moment. So, maybe a bunch of bars sent me notice of an extra blind draw on Wednesdays throughout the summer to fill the RDL void? Nope! Just one this time around! So, here it is… In addition to the standard weekly blind draws that are listed on page 8 of this edition of the Tons, the Upper Deck in Cary is adding weekly Wednesday blind draws until our league cranks back up for the Fall 2011 season. The start time for those Wednesday draws will be 8 p.m. just like their regular Friday and Sundays. In addition, they will be run in the same double-elimination format with the bar matching the pot.

Start getting your team together for the Fall season now!! Don't forget and miss out! Information is above, and on pages 1 & 40.

Pretty decent season in terms of penalties (or rather lack thereof, so good for you). 28 total penalties for a total of 205 points, which isn't so bad if you ask me. And on top of that, we had one division (C) that didn't rack up even one penalty! That was a weird division all season, but at least they were careful about their stuff. There was 1 preseason captains' meeting penalty (for 5 points), 12 fifth week captains' meeting penalties (for 60 total points), 1 ineligible player (4 points), 8 phone penalties (40 total points), and 6 mail penalties (96 total points) H division led the way in just about every possible category: 96 points lost, on 11 penalties, with 5 different teams being penalized (tied with G). Overall, 20 of the 64 teams received at least one penalty (only four teams leaguewide received more than one).

But the biggest question? Who lost the most due to penalties? Well, the untrained eye would say Just Givin' It A Shot, who tied for most penalties with Farmandu at 4, and lost the most points with 42. [Interesting note there: those teams got 8 total penalties but only 5 total wins!] But the real penalty losers are the Bar Hoppers, who lost 3rd place in H due to their mail penalty, and Designated Divers in E, who would have dead-tied for 2nd place hardware if they had sent a representative to the fifth week meeting.

THIS SEASON'S TIEBREAKERS

Holy cow, we had a pretty significant lack of tiebreakers this season. We started out looking like we were going to break all sorts of records, but then the matches… just… stopped tying… We ended up with only 33 total tiebreakers, tournaments included. Every division had at least 2 tiebreakers, and only one division had more then 5. C division led the way with a total of 8 (7 in the season, 1 in the tournament), followed by G division (all 5 during the season). D division had the fewest 1001 games with only 2 (both of which were won by Helter Skelter, whose tiebreaker wins represented a full 40% of their successful nights this season).

This season's Cardiac Kids award (for most tiebreakers played) goes to Can't See The Board in C division, who ended up with a 2-2 record in 1001. Not an overpowering record, but that second win came in the tournament semifinals over the regular season C winners, so big kudos there.

The Heartbreak Award (for most tiebreakers lost) is shared by C division's Cork A Diddle Do! and G division's Bel Biv Dethrow, both of whom slid to 0-3 in 1001. Only six teams leaguewide were in as many as three tiebreakers, but only these two teams tasted defeat that many times.

And one last tiebreaker note: 2 of our 8 tournament finals (yep, a full 25% of the finals) were decided in the extra leg, with both of them even taking place in the same bar (High Park)!

THE DADDIES' NEW DADDY (AGAIN)

Ladies and gentlemen, please help me in welcoming Alana Debra Persson, the new daughter of long-time RDL member Kenny Persson (of the Daddies). Alana joined us on April 28th and checked in at 8 lbs., 15 oz., and 21.5 inches long (or is that tall? can you be "tall" if aren't able to stand yet? Or even sit up?). Word has it that everybody is healthy and happy in the Persson household, with the possible exception of Kenny's nearly certain recent sleep deficit. Congratulations to the Daddies' daddy and family.

"HOT DARTS" CALL-IN GUIDELINES

Here are the guidelines you should use for the minimum number of all-star points to report when calling in your scores.

"A" Div. = 4.5 or more ASPs; "B" Div. = 4.0 or more ASPs
"C", "D" Divisions = 3.5 or more ASPs
"E", "F", "G" Divs. = 3.0+ ASPs; "H" Div. = 2.5+ ASPs

Also, call in any fast games, high ins, high outs, or other amazing feats that you think warrant a little recognition (e.g., Ins & Outs higher than a Ton, 24-dart cricket games, 15-dart 301s, 24-dart 501s, Ton-70s and up, 5-Bulls+, etc.).

Extra note: it's also ok to call in "fast games" in each set, even if they don't necessarily meet the maximum dart counts above.

PENALTY LOG

Here are all the penalties assessed this season. Check here to see who lost what when.

THE TWENTY-NINTH SEMI-ANNUAL EDITION OF : JK'S DIVISIONAL ALL-STAR TEAM PICKS

(Players within each division are listed alphabetically) (Players are chosen any way I damn well please - not purely by the numbers!)
(This is not purely my own guesses at who is simply the best thrower, but also who is important to their team, who is good in the clutch, etc.)

Divisional MVPs

A Division	Marshall Chavis	Just A Little High	E Division	Sean Ackley	Designated Divers
B Division	Mark Lamb	Domestic Rednecks	F Division	Randy Crites	Garage Band
C Division	Jason Thomas	Antique's Roadshow	G Division	David Gelberg	Dublin-Dublout
D Division	Scott Stankevich	Leftovers	H Division	Joe Munroe	Backyard Brawlers

All of RDL -- Randy Crites -- Garage Band

"A" Division

Brian Blake	Just A Little High	How can you argue with 46-10 in A div.?
Tom Brown	…Missing Element	Played better the more clutch the spot got.
Marshall Chavis	Just A Little High	Best season EVER in RDL? See page 17.
Matt Heimbach	Lunatic Fringe	Fears nobody. Often beats anybody.
Garrett Meshaw	Just A Little High	No, really… 30-8 is 4th best on their team.
Dan Naylor	Just A Little High	Played his best against best opponents.
Robbie Phillips	…Missing Element	Another season. More domination.
Mike Seward	Daddies	"Off" season… but who wants to face him?

"B" Division

Phillip Eastmead	The Locals	Season after season, he's just killing it.
Kyle Gaulthier	Off Constantly	Uh-oh… the kid's game is blowing up now.
Donald Grubb	The Usual Suspects	Bright spot for team that is always "close".
Mark Lamb	Domestic Rednecks	What didn't he throw/win this season?
Jeff Lyons	Off Constantly	27-12 outside SCkt. 14-0 in SCkt. Bang.
David Murray	Domestic Rednecks	Mo'Tea and the Big Oak are now headed
Jerry Oakley	Domestic Rednecks	back to A where they both belong…
Matt Varnadoe	Off Constantly	22-0 in cricket. Twenty-two… and… oh.

"C" Division (nobody from the 2nd place team? Weird…)

Bobby Austin	Money Shot	Crazy season winner lead trio member #1.
John Dunleavy	Cork A Diddle Do!	Leader of near-comeback up full C ladder.
Kyle Gardner	Money Shot	Crazy season winner lead trio member #2.
Ed Grubb	Cork A Diddle Do!	Grubber dominated through first 3 sets.
Vicente Martinez	Can't See The Boar	Would've been MVP if not for the Pres.
Sean Roseman	Money Shot	Crazy season winner lead trio member #3.
Eric Taylor	Seein Dublin	The short step from A has done him well.
Jason Thomas	Antique's Roadshow	Put the team on his shoulders in last 3 sets.

"D" Division

Lonnie Bullington	Mug Hunters	Easily on team before Alberto campaigned.
Patrick Clark	Ale-ing Archers	Top shot for what is really a balanced team.
Ronnie Knott	Double Ones	Ummm… maybe we'll just sit him in DCkt?
Justin McCurry	Leftovers	Two 10-win sets helped put up 14-0 season.
Alberto Sandoval	Mug Hunters	8-3 or better in every set for Mug champs.
Scott Stankevich	Leftovers	Hurry up and come play in A already…
Brent Thomas	Leftovers	Got better and better as the match went on.
Randy Wilcox	Like To Party	Good until 501… maybe… likes to party?

"E" Division

Sean Ackley	Designated Divers	Had more than half his team's DCkt wins!!
Tony Alcon	Party to the Mac's	Rough season for the team, but not Tony.
Kevin Brody	Salute-A-Bulls	Sort of "quietly" claimed the E singles title.
Tim Bunn	Minor Threat	Sat some 301s, then rolled the other sets.
Neal Hogan	Death Throw	Ended up as lead DeathThrow executioner.
Dave Johnson	Menace 2 Sobriety	What a huge jump for the primary Menace.
Jack McAlpin	Designated Divers	A couple 10-win sets is a great start.
David Simpson	Salute-A-Bulls	14-0 in SCkt, 2nd in both singles & ASPs.

"F" Division

Randy Crites	Garage Band	He is the real freakin' deal, people…
Jimmy Dzengeles	Lords of Da Board	Indistinguishable Dynamic Dart #1.
Jeremy Kring	Banzai Darters	King thrower for the Kings of Blinco's.
Ronnie Lee	Duck Tails	If only the Ducks had a full six each week.
Jerry Shengulette	Garage Band	Cleans up whatever Crites leaves behind.
Chris Toolan	Big Bulls	Looks like a new team agreed with him.
Tim Welborn	Lords of Da Board	Imagine the Leftovers if he was still there.
Tom Winters	Lords of Da Board	Indistinguishable Dynamic Dart #2.

"G" Division

Adrienne DeFont	Sharkshooters	Is becoming a real regular on this page.
David Gelberg	Dublin-Dublout	Clear dominant thrower for Mug champs.
Ernie Gilyardi	BullsHitters	What a fabulous new BsH addition.
Matt Goss	Ton Up Tossers	Good in singles, then a monster in doubles.
George Guenther	Ton Up Tossers	Three 11-3 sets, then tourney 180 & 6-bull!
Chad Massengill	BullsHitters	Top winner for league's #1 so-close team.
Chris Montesi	Dublin-Dublout	Great record, then led them to some Mugs.
Steve Polenz	Ton Up Tossers	14-0 in SCkt was probably enough alone…

"H" Division (only one player outside the top two teams…)

Lisa Dendy	Bar Hoppers	Without her the Hoppers get thumped.
Josh Frumkin	Backyard Brawlers	About to pass Captain Joe as top Brawler?
Lyman Kiser	One Armed Bandits	Tourney hero is always just solid.
Rob Lewis	Backyard Brawlers	But why oh why does he sit SCkt so often?
Pat Merkle	Backyard Brawlers	Pretty darn good fourth fiddle for any team.
Joe Munroe	Backyard Brawlers	Just too much game to be in H any more.
Phil Murphy	One Armed Bandits	Simply needed to not be captain to shine.
Shane Richardson	One Armed Bandits	Yet another simply superb season.

QUICK STAT TIDBITS

-The Quadruple Double Award winners (double-digit wins in all 4 sections): All 8 divisions had 8 teams this season, and only a couple teams took a forfeit so the playing field is pretty level. We have SEVEN club members this season, so no need to consider throwers with four 9-win sets or three 10-win sets or stuff like that. This season's seven with four 10-win sets: Dan Naylor and Brian Blake of Just A Little High in A division, Vicente Martinez of Can't See The Board in C, Scott Stankevich of Leftovers in D, Chris Toolan of Big Bulls in F, and Josh Frumkin and Joe Munroe (who had four 11-win sets!) of Backyard Brawlers in H.

-The Iron Man/Woman Award: Well, this season's highest games played total is no record or anything, but I think we might have a bit of history in another way. Bob Carawon of F division's Duck Tails led the way this season with a stout 73 games played. What's so historic about that? Nothing by itself, but when you combine that season title with his 83-game RDL-leading total from last season, we might have a new two-season total record (156!!). Honorable mentions for this season, as division leaders: Charles Parker and Billy Lloyd of Bad Things Man in A with 58; David Romanchek and James Marsden of Nine Lives in B with 59; Barry Thompson of Can't See The Board in C with 65; Scott Fink of Sharky's Machine in D with 62; Kenny Spencer of Tips & Shafts, and Bryan Hartley of Starving Dartists in E with 62; David Woodard of Bel Biv Dethrow in G with 60; and Jeff Gillespie of Total Eclipse of the Dart in H with 60.

-The Team Attendance Award winners: Wow, we almost got back to the days when teams brought the same six every set all season. SEVEN teams played in a fashion somewhat like that, but in my opinion two teams epitomized that same-six format more than any other: the nearly undefeated Leftovers in D division, and the large-roster-with-three-of-them-almost-not playing Banzai Darters in F div.

MY PRESEASON, WEEKLY, & TOURNEY PREDICTION RESULTS

This stuff is starting to get repetitious for me… My overall pick rates are pretty close to where they have been for many seasons now, but the specifics of what type of stuff I get right and wrong vary a bit each season. Let's break it down…

In my preseason picks (easily the toughest each and every season), I only hit 3 of the 8 first-place teams, but I'm adding B as a hit too, as I made my pick among the top two based on a guy who ended up on a different team. In general, within a place or two, I nailed most of A, B, D, F, G, and H divisions. I wasn't all that far off in C, but that division was a mess, and I hit about half of E. Plus, a couple more of my picks (Rednecks and Big Bulls - see Fitzgeralds, I DID pick you yet again) at least took their tournaments. I will be the first to acknowledge though that I had overexpectations of both Total Eclipse of the Dart and Jack 9. Oops.

My weekly prediction results you can peruse pick-for-pick on the other side of this sheet of paper. For a fourth time in five seasons, my record improved, this time by 2 full percentage points!! I got more than 3/4 of the picks correct, of which I'm DAMN proud, considering how many absences and stuff there are. I freakin' owned F division (52-4, with 3 of those 4 involving Projectile Dysfunction), and sort of owned D too (45-9). C, as you all know, was my nemesis, but I fought back to a respectable 31-25 there. And I ended up at least 6-8 for every team.

Last but not least were my tournament predictions… And as usual, we go to best-of-three and my picks are pretty good, but I did so well in the season this time that the rate was almost identical. I hit 28 of the 32 first-round results, 11 of 15 semifinals (the 16th semifinal was forfeited), but only 2 of 8 in the finals. Eek! Count the forfeit winner (which I had picked as advancing) and I end up at 42-14 for a 3/4 correct pick rate again. Nice! The one real downfall I had this season though? My 'tournament surest things'. Well, they… clearly weren't… Oh, yikes.

(I introduced this page fourteen seasons ago, and it has become almost expected as a newsletter staple. Feast your eyes on the success...)

For several years, many of you have taken no greater pleasure in your weekly darting endeavors than to call the RDL VoiceMail and point out to me just how wrong I was in my prediction of your match result. On a related note, I have noticed that many of you seem to have relatively selective memories saving only the weeks when I was wrong. Further, many others of you regularly embellish your statistics of how often you fool me. It's not so easy to get away with those rambles anymore, however, as you can see below. Each W is a week when I picked your match correctly, and each L is one I picked incorrectly. Division totals are to the right of the team totals, weekly totals are at the bottom, and in the space between the 14 weeks and the team totals, the two 'o' symbols indicate the teams for which I was only 0.500, and the three 'x' symbols indicate the teams that fooled me more often than not. [Sure, I only went 31-25 in C and all three teams for which I was sub-0.500 are in C, but considering I was 20-24 through week 11, that's a pretty strong finish, don't ya think? And 52-4 in E - yeehaw!]

THIS SEASON'S TRIVIA QUESTIONS… REVISITED

I now run this column during seasons in which I've included trivia questions all season. Each question is listed exactly as it was during the season, so there is potential for a question to now be out of date, but it's usually not too much of a problem. Each question is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers follow the questions. No peeking…

Week 7 question(s): Last week we had the season's first match with a shutout result. In the past decade (20 seasons), how many perfect 24-0 match results has the league had? Which teams have won that way more than once?

Week 8 question: Who had last season's longest leaguewide winning streak (all five sets)? How many wins was it?

Week 9 question: We had a dang forfeit in RDL last week. Those suck. When was the last season we didn't have any forfeits?

Week 10 question(s): Since the RDL split its high in/out and fast game categories into divisional-based awards in Spring 2007, which team(s) have claimed the greatest number of the six award categories in a single season? How many categories was it?

Week 11 question(s): This season, Cork A Diddle Do! in C division has upset the match predictions by me 8 times in just the first 10 weeks of play. Since I started tracking team-by-team pick results in Fall 2003 (I could go back farther and create those tables for previous seasons, but I'm just not going to bother solely for a trivia question), which team fooled me at the greatest rate for an entire season? What was my prediction record for them?

Week 12 question(s): By reader request, we have a re-use of a question we used several seasons ago, which I can now extend a bit due to the older newsletters provided by Joe Wilson. Since 1990, what is the worst record to claim a division title? Who did it, and when?

Week 13 question: What is the longest winning streak in any one set (301, SCkt, DCkt, or 501) by any one team in the RDL this season?

Week 7 answer: Well, after researching the answer, I sort of wish I hadn't asked the question. I didn't realize how self-serving the answer would be… dangit… Anyway, there were twelve 24-0 match results in the decade before this season, with 11 of those being in A division. And the only team to do it more than once? The Element, which actually has 8(!) of the 12 results (including a pair of 24-0 scores against the same team in the same season). [Answer update for the banquet Tons: we had a second shutout happen in week 13 this season, but not by a team that has ever had one before.]

Week 8 answer: I really thought this answer was going to come from a lower division, just because it seems like we sometimes get a player a bit out of place. But it didn't. Instead Lee Whitehead of Jack Nine in B division took that honor with a nice string of 23 straight Ws. Lee finished 2nd overall in the league in terms of total win percentage, so it's not a huge surprise that he had the string, but to do it in B is pretty impressive.

Week 9 answer: This answer makes me sad… The last season we had with no forfeits was the Spring 2001 season. And the sadder part? That is the only one of my 31 seasons as statistician for the RDL when there were no forfeits. Forfeits suck. [Answer update for the banquet Tons: we even had a forfeit in the tournaments… in the semifinals!]

Week 10 answer: Prior to this season, we've had divisional high in/out and fast games for 8 seasons. In those 8 seasons, we've had one season with 7 divisions, one with 9 divisions, and six with 8 divisions. Thus, we've had 64 divisional sets of awards so far. And in those 64 division-seasons, a total of 6 teams have claimed awards in at least four of the six categories. In Fall 2007, B division's Dogs of War took three awards and shared a fourth. In Spring 2009, B division's One And Done did the same. Going a bit further, the Fall 2009 B division Pheasant Pluckers claimed four categories outright. Even better than that were the Fall 2008 Coral Reefers in H division, who took four categories outright and shared a fifth. But then we come to the clear top two in this set of winners... The runner-up, with five outright category wins and doing it in A(!) division, was Fall 2009's A Dozen Elements (missing only the High In). And the top plaque-takers in the divisional era so far? The Spring 2007 Effects of the Influence in D division, who claimed five categories outright and also shared the High In! Wow. [Answer update for the banquet Tons: The Missing Element in A division jumped way up on to this list this season, taking three of the six categories outright, and tying for two more.]

Week 11 answer: In the 15 seasons prior to this one, there have been 829 RDL teams. Of those 829, exactly 35 have fooled me more often than not throughout an entire season. Only once did more than 4 teams fool me, and only once did I have a division in which I was sub-0.500 in picks - not coincidentally, they were at the same time, in Sp04, when 4 confusing C teams dropped me to 27-29 for the season. Well, this season's C division is in position to break both of those records for me (oh, joy). But can any of them catch my worst individual team record? As it turns out, yes! And THREE of them (Corkers, Reefers, and See The Board) all could! The present record for prediction futility is shared by two teams, Fall 2003's Modena in E, and Spring 2006's Bennington Brawlers in F. My record for those two pains in my rump? A lowly 3-9 each. Ack! [Answer update for the banquet Tons: I sort of dominated in my late-season C division picks, so not a single team could pull me down to a pick record lower than 6-8 this time around.]

Week 12 answer: It turns out that I had the final standings for each season back through Fall, 1989. Thus, this answer covers the past 43 seasons, and in that time, two teams have come home with the biggest hardware with only a 9-5 record! In the Fall 1997 season, No Clue claimed D division, and in the Fall 2000 season, Starving Dartists (not really the same as the current Dartists roster) claimed D division. Only one division this season (E) has any shot to match that lowest winning line, and that would take some pretty seriously surprising results in the last two weeks. [Answer update for the banquet Tons: only one division this season even came in with a winner below 12-2, and that winner (in the mess that was E) still managed an 11-3 record. Really gives you a perspective on how wild those seasons won by a 9-5 team must have been.]

Week 13 answer: First off, let me define something here. The first 2, second 2, and third 2 games in a singles set are defined for the purposes of this question as being at the same time. Thus, if you split the last 2 games of a set, you are presently on a 0-game win streak. Similarly, in doubles, the first 2 games are considered to be at the same time. That said, this season's longest single-set win streak was the 22-game DCkt win streak during weeks 3-10 by Just A Little High (in A division!). Honorable mentions go to: The Missing Element in A (for their 18-game SCkt streak during weeks 4-7), and Designated Divers in E (for their 15-game 501 streak during weeks 7-12). Three teams have put together 10-game 301 win streaks so far, with Just A Little High and the Ton Up Tossers presently sitting with their 10-game strings waiting to grow in wk14. [Answer update for the banquet Tons: The 301 win streaks for both Just A Little High and the Ton Up Tossers were unceremoniously dumped in the first pair of games in week 14, leaving no teams with a 301 win streak any longer than 10 games this season.]

THIS SEASON'S LYRICS QUIZZES… REVISITED

Much like the column of this season's trivia questions on the previous page, I've listed here each lyrics quiz from this season. Each lyric is listed exactly as it was during the season. Each lyric is listed under the week number when it ran, and the answers are listed at the bottom of the page. No peeking… So who's ready to re-play "Name the band/singer and song"?

Week 2 lyric: "And we're glowing like the metal on the edge of a knife, glowing like the metal on the edge of a knife..."

Week 3 lyric: "Stuttering, cold and damp, steal the warm wind, tired friend"

Week 4 lyric: "I left my home in Georgia, headed for the 'Frisco bay, 'cause I've had nothing to live for, and look like nothin's gonna come my way"

Week 5 lyric: "Newspaper taxies appear on the shore, Waiting to take you away"

Week 6 lyric: "I close my eyes and see you before me, Think I would die if you were to ignore me, A fool could see just how much I adore you, I get down on my knees I'd do anything for you"

Week 7 lyric: "Well I lie and I'm easy, All of the time I've never sure why I need you, Pleased to meet you"

Week 8 lyric: "Well he looked to be sixty, maybe I was ten, Momma used to whoop me, but I'd go see him again"

Week 9 lyric: "I pushed her away, I walked to the door, I fell to the floor, I got down on my knees"

Week 10 lyric: "Yeah I'm looking for the king of 42nd street, He drivin' a drop top Cadillac, Last week he took all my money"

Week 11 lyric: "Wonder this time where she's gone, Wonder if she's gone to stay"

Week 12 lyric: "With no loving in our souls, And no money in our coats"

Week 13 Lyric #1: "All these changes taking place, I wish I'd seen the place, But no one's ever taken me"

Week 13 Lyric #2: "And you get in your car and you drive real far, And you drive all night and then you see a light"

Week 13 Lyric #3: "Only hope can keep me together, Love can mend your life, But love can break your heart"

Week 13 Lyric #4: "Hey I didn't mean to cause a big scene, Just give me an hour and then, Well I'll be as high as that ivory tower that you're livin' in"

Week 14 Lyric #1: "Fresh new kicks, advance, You gotta like that, Now you know you wanna dance"

Week 14 Lyric #2: "Plant a seed, plant a flower, plant a rose, You can plant any one of those, Keep planting to find out which one grows"

Week 14 Lyric #3: "Bum rush the speaker that booms, I'm killin' your brain like a poisonous mushroom"

Week 14 Lyric #4: "I'm in love with you girl 'cause you're on my mind, You're the one I think about most every time"

ONE OF OUR OWN IN THE 'APP STORE'!

Holy crap, this is so freakin' cool!! I personally don't have an iPhone, iPod Touch, or iPad (yet), but for those who do, here's something you might want to check out. Justin Berstler of the Daddies has a game in the iTunes App Store!!! Seriously, he programmed a game and you can now buy it and play it. It's called Rhymo, and looks to be pretty fun and innovative, with multiple ways to play, but all using word rhymes to score points. Justin said that he and his buddy (who helped write it) have lots of ideas for new levels and enhancements, and if there is enough interest in the game, they'll continue to work on it. The game can be found at: http://itunes.apple.com/us/app/rhymo/id430508807?mt=8&ls=1

The game costs a whopping 99 cents, and I have to say that if I had a proper Apple device right now, I would buy it just because a fellow RDL member made it. I'm a bit in awe.

AND ANOTHER OF OUR OWN IN THE JUKEBOX!

While you're busy playing an iTunes App game made by an RDL member on your handheld (see left column), you can sit around in several of your favorite establishments and listen to an RDL member on the jukebox too! Seriously. Dave Krasnow of the Traveling Beer Bellies has gotten his CD "Kras - In The Shadows" on AMI brand jukeboxes everywhere. Simply search him by name (I think he's listed as "Kras" only) and play away. Much like the iTunes game to the left, I'll play this when I get the chance simply because I think it's cool that an RDL member is the one doing it. Sometimes darters get a bit of a bad rap due to several factors such as where we play, when we play, with whom we sometimes play, that dang Zoosk ad(!), etc., so I think it's just flippin' cool when RDL members do something that is so real-world popular.

THIS SEASON'S LYRICS QUIZZES… REVISITED (the answers to the lyrics at the top of the page)

Week 14 answer #3 = "Ice Ice Baby" by Vanilla Ice === Week 14 answer #4 = "Girl You Know It's True" by Milli Vanilli.

QUOTES FROM AROUND THE LEAGUE

Quote #1 : from right after the H division tournament final, via email from Lyman Kiser of the One Armed Bandits. After Joe Munroe of the Backyard Brawlers had his evil fun of convincing Lyman that the tournament winners only get a plaque, Lyman emailed me to ask if he could just buy his team Mugs. After I told him that they already get Mugs, he said "I am so gullible. Joe said we only got a plaque. And I had used the mugs as a very big carrot through the week. Thought I was going to have to get a pottery wheel." [Ha! I friggin' love the image of Lyman sitting at home firing up a stack of ceramic mugs for his teammates. The Lyman-made mugs are NOT pretty in my imagined scene… - JK]

Quote #2 : from Kevin Kendall of Daddies (well, usually of Daddies, but not so much this season), in response to the lyrics quiz I ran when it was the Stones: "Ooh ooh ooh - pick me, pick me! The song is Angie by the Rolling Stones - or maybe they covered it from someone else, but theirs is the only version I ever heard so its 'new to me'. I used to play that pretty good on guitar at one time and sung it exactly like a Mick Jagger William Hung." [He bangs, he bangs… Oh baby, when Kevin moves, he moves…]

Quote #3 : from Robbie Phillips of The Missing Element, in one of the best jabs at our beloved RDL President that I could ever even imagine. In an email discussion of what to name our Durham league team (that has President Thomas on it - see right column), it was pointed out that we have named our team after JT's throws on two occasions already and that we can't always name ourselves after JT's throws, can we? To which Robbie responded with: "We can't name the team 'Blank' because people will ask us when we're going to come up with a name."

Quote #4 : from Keith Feller of Traveling Beer Bellies, after one of their weekly matches this season, highlighting why sometimes random little fun dart things happily live forever: "Long ago when we played on the Horsemen, Steve Knight would end up having to throw at double-7 very often. It had gotten so bad that we started calling it the Double-Steve and we joked that he should patent it and get royalties from anyone who hit a Double-Steve. As luck would have it, that was the out Bob [McCredie] left me last night. I hit it, and when I got to work this morning I handed Steve a dollar. He said 'what is this for?' I replied 'at darts last night…' and Steve interrupted me and said 'you took a double-7 out'. I said 'yep, and it was the match winner'."

Quote #5 : from the Backyard Brawlers and their week 13 score-sheet submission. They submitted an extra page of handwritten notes that they evidently keep each week for themselves, and my favorite note was this: "Joe Munroe - King of 4-marks." You see, they were jotting notes about near-ASPs like 4-marks too. The funny part? Josh Frumkin, listed immediately below Joe, had twice as many 4-marks as Joe, yet Joe was anointed 4-mark King. I'm guessing that either Joe made a much bigger deal about his near-ASPs, or that maybe Joe just anointed himself this time around…

Quote #6 : from one of our team captains whom I will keep nameless for this item, and who is probably now glad that I used a bit more discretion midseason than s/he did, speaking about a teammate that hadn't played in a while: "Let [speaking captain] know if you're scared. [Missing player] is a puy-a scared bih!! I question [missing player's] manhood. I want you to put that in the damn newsletter for everyone to read!" [I bet you're glad now that I didn't then… - JK]

Quote #7 : from Lyman Kiser of the again. I'm not including the entire quote, just enough to highlight that H div. is a different place than the A I'm used to…: "I just checked my Chinese astrological chart, from which I was able to divine our winning strategy."

RDL MEMBERS CLAIM ANOTHER LOCAL TITLE

Congratulations to some of my great friends on our recent league championship over in the Bull City Dart League. That league is handicapped every game, and only about half the teams in the league qualify for the all-divisions postseason tournament, so winning it all in that league is kind of a big deal. Pictured below are the members of The Return of Double-3!, one of only about 3 or 4 teams in the history of the league to go undefeated through both the season and tournament. From left to right: yours truly (of The Missing Element), RDL President Jason Thomas (of Antique's Roadshow), Tom Brown and Robbie Phillips (both also of the Missing Element), and Paul Jacobi (of Lunatic Fringe).

THE "BATTLE FOR BLINCO'S" GOES TO…

There was a small handful of pretty big upsets in the divisional tournaments this season, right? A #4 and a #5 taking titles, and only one #1 getting Mugs, etc. Well, those upsets are all well and good, but they aren't the biggest ones to come from this postseason. That award goes to an unofficial matchup held by the two teams that play out of Blinco's. You see, the F division 5th place Banzai Darters agreed to a 'friendly' with the C division 2nd place Traveling Beer Bellies. Should be a whitewash, don't ya think? Guess again, sucker! The Banzais swept 501 and captain Oakie Yoneoka punched out the winner to knock off the C runners-up!! The Banzais own Blinco's! And the Beer Bellies? Well, we're sending them up to B in the Fall season…

THE RDL IS A LITTLE LIKE THE USA NETWORK SOMETIMES… "CHARACTERS WELCOME"

At the exact same time, I can't believe I'm typing this, and I also know that I should expect no different… The photo to the right? That's Keith Gibbs of Jack 9. He's carrying a Thor hammer, and wearing a Thor helmet and a Tampa Bay Lightning sweater with the name Mjolnir on it (which I have found out is the name of said hammer). And he wore this stuff the entire night during his quarterfinal match against my team at Tir na nOg. Seriously. His beer glass barely fit between those two helmet protrusions to reach his mouth. Keith... is clearly nuts. And to reiterate that nuts-ness, he showed up at our tournament final match with a Green Lantern shirt and Green Lantern ring!

AN ADO TOURNAMENT IN YOUR BACK YARD!!!

Take a minute to turn to page 19. Bottom half of that page? A flyer for an ADO tournament this summer right here at the Deck!

RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

Ok, it's just a fact… this column has become a banquet Tons staple. I have no idea why so many are so keen on taking a peek into the oddness that is my head, but you are. So without further ado, let's open up my head again and see what falls out. Some of these observations are dart-related, and some of them clearly are not. As always, this is just about the last thing that I'm writing and once again much of it was written when it was already today… soooo, also as always not even I know what's about to hit the page…

-- Our standard recent tradition here has been to start this column off with something about Survivor. Well, that's a nice tradition, and this was a really good season on that show. But… we'll have to get to that later, because there is something so much bigger, so much more ridiculous, and so much stupider that I just simply can't resist leading off with it here. The royal (no, I'm not putting a capital R on royal) wedding of William and Kate. HOLY CRAP! What a colossal waste of time, money, and resources. I am truly amazed that people still give a crap about this! What did William do besides… be born? What did Kate do besides fall in love (I hope, at least) with a guy whose family lineage at some point oppressed a bunch of people throughout their country, and that now holds basically no importance of any kind? (And no, don't even try to hand me that "political head of the Anglican church" line of garbage.) This is just two people getting married. Nothing more. And it's two people who don't even really have to do work to support themselves like real people. They are people carried through life on the efforts of others, with no real responsibilities or concerns other than stuff like "acting properly". Seriously? The English people just dropped well over SEVENTY MILLION dollars on their wedding?! Why? No, really… why? I want someone, anyone, to give me a legitimate concrete reason. Not "it's tradition" or any non-answer like that… I want a real reason. I don't think one exists. And even more ridiculous than England paying that wholly mockable amount? People around the world getting up at very odd hours to watch it!! Why, people?! Like there wouldn't be photos later? And heaven help the people that are franctically collecting as much royal wedding memorabilia as they can find. My personal favorite is the William & Kate ash trays. Nothing says love for the royals like jamming out a butt on their faces…

-- Funniest thing I saw during this season's tournaments? At our A division quarterfinal match against Jack 9, Tommy Gelhar headed outside to the small patio area immediately in front of Tir na nOg. While he was outside having a drink and a quick smoke, he was approached by one of the homeless guys in the neighborhood. I think he might have given him some change or something, but that has little to do with the funny part. When Tommy was sitting there, he realized that he wanted something from inside the bar, so he got up for a few seconds to go get it. In the very brief time that he was gone, the homeless guy chugged Tommy's beer and then took off! Ha! Even funnier? A little while later we were hanging outside for a few minutes again, and the SAME guy came up to Tommy and asked him for change!! Excellent.

-- Any hockey fans out there? Who saw Joe Thornton of the San Jose Sharks take the soccer-style writhing-in-agony dive in the conference semifinals? He immediately flopped to the ice, clutching his face like he had been in a knife fight. The problem with that? He had been hit (softly) in the shin. Seriously. Not even the referee was buying that garbage, and he gave Thornton an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty for it. Priceless. I have since taken to referring to Thornton only as Captain Puy.

-- Big time thumbs up to Jon Krug and the Designated Divers. They had a tournament forfeit due to a huge collection of issues)ranging from work issues, international travel, illness, and who knows what else. But they figured out their dilemma early and notified the opposition in plenty of time to save them the trip. Very cool of them. The kind of guys with whom I like to share my hobby. Puts me completely in mind of Ryan Knott and the Double Ones, who were cool enough to do the EXACT same thing when they had to cough up a forfeit during the season.

-- Geez, I really am going to miss you guys… And it seems a bit wasteful to have spent so much time writing this issue of the Tons… You see, if the people in the know (and by "people in the know", I mean "radical fruitcake fanatics with overly literal interpretations of ancient texts") are correct, if you didn't read this column by 6 p.m. today, then you never will. As I hear it, the world comes to an end today. Yep, that's right, it's Judgment Day, everybody! Holy crap, what ever will I do? And why did I put so much of my last several days on earth into this newsletter? Oh wait, I know why… Because that is so dumb it's hard to even comprehend. My favorite part is that some groups within the pile of extremists have calculated that the world actually even has an ending time-of-day. It's 6 p.m. In what time zone, you ask? Well, in all of them, they say. Somehow the judgment will come one time zone at a time in a revolving sequence around the planet. Oh, of course… Good thing we set those non-linear broken-up time zone markers on just exactly the right place according to each individual person's God's plan. Otherwise, somebody might be expunged from existence an hour early or an hour late. And it's a REALLY good thing that we are 100% certain that the calendar was designed perfectly and set to start at just exactly the right moment in time. Otherwise, this could all be really confusing…

-- I really think the guys on Bad Things Man are great. I do. They are some of the nicest guys I've played in years. But… I think I might have to reconsider dubbing them "one of the best teams in the RDL"… at least going forward. Immediately after I wrote that, they got drubbed twice in a row by the fourth place team in the division. Then I heard that the team might be doing something a little different next season to boot (in terms of roster and who is/isn't playing)… Oh well, I'll miss the competition, as well as the company.

-- Update on the royal wedding crap… I just heard on the news that the English people are paying for their friggin' honeymoon too, at a price tag of tens of thousands of dollars per day. That is, once again, just silly and completely laughable. Stupidity.

-- Have any of you seen a video clip of how smart dolphins are in terms of hunting and catching fish that are too fast for them to keep up with? They have figured out that they can roil up a dirt and sand circle that entraps the fish, forcing them to leap over the dirt circle in the water. Right to where the dolphin's friends are all waiting to catch them. It's genius. It's incredible. It's easy for them to pull off. I was floored the first time I saw it. See it here: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=htlZCoJ1IEI

-- Not that I love forking out cash to Time Warner every month (sorry, Mitch), but being at the sports bar last weekend during a storm made me love cable. It started storming, and seconds later every TV there (all with satellite) froze for nearly 30 minutes.

That simply isn't enough Random Thoughts… see the next page for more mostly useless ramblings…

MORE(!) RANDOM THOUGHTS FROM JK

No, really… I have more silly pointless stuff to share. Interested? Then read on… and leave yourself wondering why you didn't have something better to do… Sad for you, right?

-- One of the kids on my son's 9/10 Boys soccer team has maybe a bit more cool in him than is healthy. The other day when I was picking up my son, his teammate Sebastian came over and gave me the standard 'hey Coach' and a fist bump. Then he hung out next to me in the lobby for a couple minutes, during which about a dozen kids walked by and were saying things like "hey Sebastian", "wassup Sebastian", "yo Sebastian", "have a good day Sebastian". I finally turned to him and said "man, you know everybody around here don't you, man?" To which he coolly replied, while slowly and slyly turning his head to the side, "nope… but…. they all know me."

-- Hey, here's an observation… You know what sucks? When your laptop eats a registry file and has to be rebuilt. In the week prior to the writing of the banquet Tons. What a friggin' pain in the a! At least I keep backup files so I didn't lose progress.

-- Ok, now it's time for this season's Survivor item (since the royal ridiculousness took the lead item spot). Can you believe that Boston Rob was dropped into the start of the game, with everyone knowing him and putting a giant target on his back, and he still played what can only be called the most perfect game of Survivor in the history of the series? Every single thing that he could do went perfectly according to plan. I am in awe of how dominant he was in every single phase of the game. And I'm also amazed that everyone else would allow him to be. He even got the two least supportable contestants as his opponents for votes in the final three for the money. Wow.

-- So just yesterday I went in for a full cardiac workup (something I've done every now and then since I had my fluke heart attack back in 2003). It was a full-on stress test and stuff, but I also signed up for a research study that examined the effects of mental stress on my cardiac performance. That study included three "mental stressor" examinations, two of which were not very stressful at all (the math one was really too much up my alley to be fair, I guess). But the third mental stressor? It was what they call a Mirror Trace test. And it flippin' drove me nuts! You have to reach down in between these two angled metal plates to trace a six-pointed star with a pen-style electrode. The catch is that you can only see a reflection of the star, so the forward and backward are actually in reverse of what you see. The star is relevantly thin and you have to keep the electrode point ON THE STAR. You can't touch inside the star, and you can't touch outside the star. And every time you do, it flippin' beeps. And beeps. And beeps. And friggin' beeps some more!! And the whole time, the guy administering the test is saying things like "you've been going for one minute, you have 43 errors" and "that's 66 errors, you should try to keep under 70" in these syrupy-sweet passive aggressive tones. Holy crap! Shut up before I beat you about the head and shoulders with this dang electrode! I wanted to throw the whole damn machine out the window!!!!! But I was strapped to the stupid EKG and couldn't get away. Arrrggghhh!

-- Just a quick note about the way the "A" division tournament final ended. It says on the front page that my team took the Mugs with a 37-dart 1001, and that in itself is an impressive number. But did you really consider what that means? It means my team had a turn average of greater than 81!! Including the out! And we even missed three darts at the out. That is flying, people. And at the absolutely highest-pressure moment possible in the entire season. Against the toughest team the Element has ever faced. Keith Wall's turn of 20/19/19, which would generally be a very solid turn, was the LOWEST for our team in that game (aside from the out). Man, my friends are really good at this game sometimes.

-- Two weekends ago, a bunch of us went down to Charlotte for the Carolina Rebellion, a hard rock festival with 19 bands in it, including about a dozen of my favorite bands in the world. That day was fking AWESOME!!!!! What an excellent thing to have show up in our state. I wish you all had been there (Paul Jacobi, John Stepp, Doug Jeffcoat, Angela Gaulthier, Kyle Gaulthier, and Cody Gaulthier all were, at the very least). We took a lot of photos, but unfortunately they're on my son's camera instead of mine, and this newsletter has to be handed out in just a handful of hours. That sucks because there are three that I just wish I could share with you right here. First, I wish I had a photo of the day-after version of Paulie J. - he went without sunblock on his face, but was wearing sunglasses, thus leading him to dub himself the Red Raccoon. He was right. Wow. Ouch. Second, I took a photo of Angela G.'s view immediately after her sons arrived. We had staked out a pretty nice place to see both main stages, with good visibility. Then Cody (Angela's 6-foot+ son) showed up, thanked roughly 5'1" mom Angela for holding down the fort, and he immediately took a position DIRECTLY in front of her. I don't think she could see the light towers on the sides, much less the stages. Gotta love your kids… And finally, I took a picture of a clothing company that had a shop set up at the show. It, and the array of clothing they were actively selling, were very funny in the context of a concert/festival. But I really can't imagine any of their stuff being useful in any respectable real world setting. The company? I♥Vagina.com Seriously. Tough to argue with the sentiment, but I'm not wearing a shirt around town that declares myself as a vaginatarian.

-- The hugest of kudos from me to Randy Crites of Garage Band. He is apparently out on Wednesdays for a bunch of the right reasons, with good old head-to-head competition being one of them. In the final week of the season, Randy was in a tie for the divisional singles lead and had the opportunity to play the guy with whom he was tied. As reports to me have it, Randy was all about setting up the head-to-head battle for the crown. His offer was not met with the same enthusiasm, however, and the first round of mano-a-mano didn't happen. Way big ups to him for manning up at the biggest moment though.

-- Nine teams finished the season with fewer points than Duck Tails did this season. Yet the Ducks will go down in history as this season's only winless team. A bunch of that fate might've come from their oft-shorthanded roster, but that still probably doesn't make the nearly weekly heartbreak go away. They lost in a tiebreaker once, by 1 point once, by 2 points five times, by 3 points once, by 4 points once, and by 5 points once. Bummer.

-- I actually watched a bunch of the episodes of Celebrity Apprentice this season. It's a weird show, but oddly enjoyable for some reason. And what did I learn? That Gary Busey is one weird cat. He doesn't march to the beat of his own drum, he more meanders sideways to the scratch of a washboard or something.

-- Hey, you know what? If you find yourself addressing a thrower while s/he is in the middle of a throw, or discussing that thrower while s/he is throwing, and you don't immediately stop… you're an ass. Cut it out. Seriously. I shouldn't need to say that.

36 SEASONS OF "A" DIVISION-WINNING HISTORY

If you ask me, the highest competitive achievements that a darter can have here in RDL land are the ones in which s/he ends up on top of the top division. Taking the top spot in the top division in the largest, most competitive dart league in the state is quite a thing, don't ya think? Listed below are all of the people that played on an A division-winning team (only players that actually threw a dart are listed), people that won an A division singles title, and people that led A division in overall win/loss percentage. All records starting from the Fall 1993 season are included -- I attempted to include more since Joe Wilson supplied me with records back to Fall 1989, but the records of who was/wasn't on any given roster, and often who had what win %-ages, weren't included in the newsletter prior to Fall 1993. And many of the statistics and/or roster listings from Fall 1993 through Fall 1995 seem partial at best. Sooooo… this is all you're gonna get…

My most sincere congratulations to all listed below. These players have climbed the entire mountain here in RDL. (And a note here: the players listed on winning rosters are from regular season-winning teams. Anybody who has read my newsletters in the past knows what I think when comparing the several-month commitment needed for a regular season vs. the few-hour randomness of tournament victories.)
